THE INFLATION BILL

The inflation-farm relief bill passed by the Senate is one of the most extraordinary and sweeping measures ever adopted by an American Congress.

It gives President Roosevelt full control over the nation's money. It permits—but does not order—expansion of billions of dollars in currency.

It places the secretary of agriculture in control of farm production in a frankly experimental attempt to eliminate excess output and raise crop prices.

It provides for government refinancing of farm mortgages to the extent of two billion dollars.

The inflation section grants the President authority:

The people want protection from the power of the utility companies. They want to know what they are getting for their money. They want to know what they are getting for their money. They want to know what they are getting for their money.

ARQUILLA, May 11 (Special)—Miss May Bell Bennett has returned from a mission in the southern states for the U. S. D. S. She was given Thursday evening at Arquilla, a D. S. hall in her honor. The program was given by the church members. Miss Bennett was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. W. Bennett. She was given a certificate of appreciation by the church members.

Few can realize the stupendous importance of the measure, or its eventual influence should it pass both houses and receive the approval of the President.

But it is headed in that direction, so the best that each person can do is to be familiar with its provisions, and contemplate, for himself their possible effect, not only on his personal fortunes, but on the welfare of the nation, which they are designed to benefit, and doubtlessly will.

OUR ERRATIC ROBINS

A careful perusal of the newspapers this spring might well cause the reader to wonder what on earth has been coming over our tribe of robins lately.

Ordinarily the most sensible and well-balanced of birds, they have taken to fighting shadows. First it was a Kansas City robin that leaped his reflection in a window pane; then a robin in Illinois took it up, and the first thing we knew the habit had spread all over the country, so that a city which could not report a battle between a local robin and its reflection had to hang its head in shame.

What we should like to know, is all of this about? Have the robins become infected with that strange craze for distinction which leads human beings to indulge in flag pole sitting and marathon dance contests? Has the general giddiness of the times extended even to the birds? Can't President Roosevelt, or somebody, do something about it?
