Senate Probing Act to Delve Into Starting Charges Against Brown

QUIZ HITS HOOVER AID

Ex-Postmaster General Denies Destruction of Official Documents

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—A thorough search of the post office department for missing documents relating to Brown and air mail subsidies was underway today as a senate investigating committee prepared to inquire further into starting testimony that official files were destroyed when former Postmaster General Walter F. Brown retired from the department last March.

Added by postal inspectors, committee investigators hoped to discover copies of some of the documents required for the air mail inquiry.

The committee received a frank admission from John Mayer, a stenographer of 18 years experience in the department, that on orders from Brown's secretary, he tossed official and personal files into a furnace.

The committee planned to call one of Mayer's fellow employees who was reported to have been present.

Other disclosures, following close behind Mayer's statement included:

1. That Brown awarded about 6,000 miles of mail contracts without competitive bidding soon after Congress passed the act.
2. That an official of an independent passenger transportation company expressed the opinion to a fellow officer that Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of the former president, and a radio technician for Western Air Express, was "talking too much" in Washington in 1930 during negotiations for consolidation of Western Air with Transcontinental.

Kearney pointed out, however, that his industry desires neither a "raid on the treasury nor price fixing." He challenged Secretary Wallace to "inform us of any specific objections to relief contemplated for our best farmers in the comprehensive sugar stabilization agreement which our farmers have wholeheartedly and unreservedly endorsed."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Continued curtailment of veterans' benefits was provided for today in the $566,435,000 independent offices appropriation bill, first of the supply bills for the new fiscal year to be reported to the House by its appropriations committee.

The total recommended for the establishment covered by the measure was $50,296,562 less than appropriations for the fiscal year ending March 30 and $2,141,200 less than budget estimates.

The largest provision was $255,355,801 for the veterans' administration, a reduction of $46,852,100 from the present year, made possible by contemplated continuation of the agency's pension and disability allowance decrease.

THOMAS TO LEAD HOARDING FIGHT

Agled Senator Attempts Rally From Sickbed to Fight Gold Battle

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 10 (AP)—Fighting with the sugar lobby, Senator Charles S. Thomas, 81, from his sickbed here today, attempted to rally his falling strength to lead his constituents in the fight against the executive order of President Roosevelt forbidding the hoarding of gold.

At stake in the anticipated court fight was vindication of the federal gold law, which charges of having in his possession in September of 1933, $3,000 in gold.

Two indictments were returned against him. One charged that she failed to report her gold holdings; the other that she illegally held the yellow metal.

Conviction on the charges carries a possible fine of $10,000 or 10 years imprisonment, or both.

It was feared today that Senator Thomas might not rally sufficiently to carry on the case, a possibility which would leave the anti-hoarding order deprived of people of their property without due process of law.

Bowling 'em Over

with Fred Stone

Believe it or not, the Community Gas won out of three.

Howard, owner and manager of the gas team, observed that he's going to be bench manager from now on. However, his double in the first and second games helped, anyway.

Jimmie Mullins, our old bowler, pushed 'em right down the alley. Look at that last game.

Craig Coleman, another young bowler of the gas team, had quite a bit of trouble with his legs, but he was high man for his team in the second game.

Speed Ball McDonald was smacking them right by those single pins. However, his last two games were pretty good.

Nobly Bill Swisher was present, and how—he had a double in every game. Nice improving, huh?

Watch Elmer... and watch Elmer. The boys did in the last game. Two doubles and then four in a row to end the game with a score of 225.

Neat Metcalfe, the usually young bowler of the gas team, was away off, his last total of strikes for the three games was four. When you can't get neither, you can't get scores. What say, Neal?

Community Gas captured two out of three games last night from Swift's Packers to boost its percentage in the winter bowling league.

Elmer Althoff 225 set a new high mark for January. From score, noting out the previous record of 224 held jointly by Clyde Elmer and Red Rost to be today. Also high three game total last night.

Big Bill Tilden, at 42, Still Goes Marching On

BY HENRY McLEMBRE
NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—William Tilden, 42, and the last survivor of sports' diamond decade, kept marching on.

But, his best shot, it is a mocking reminder of the days of old. Remedy, fat of cheek and light, wouldn't let a round with the Terrie of Toledo Jones, weary of the strain of courtship, watches from the border of the fairway. Numb, no longer the thrives one, read of his market being shattered by youngsters. Simple, fat as a cherub, trainer but doesn't ride. Helen Wills Mackay is no longer queen. He is dead.

But Big Bill marches right on. His service as doctoer off the ground with the velocity of a bullet. His forehead and backhand, 124, hammer down the sides and middle, and his amazing skill, still thunders and roars. He is just one month this side of 42. Yet how much would you care to wager against him in a match with any tennis player in the world?

Tonight, on the striped canvas that is the indoor court of Madison Square Garden, Big Bill goes out against Ellsworth Vines, a young man just half his age and a fellow who has a tennis ball as hard as onyx. Vines, a 14-year-old boy, who is a 1-2 favorite to win? The two youngsters with all the speed and stamina, and their court enough to win the all-England and French championships in 1925? No, the old fellow whose legs and eyes were thought to have outlasted him as long as five years ago.

Yes, yet, the amazing veteran is playing such a tough game that there are those who believe he will "carry" Vines along to victory.
