

BOISE, Feb. 2 (U)—Fred Ford, a sheep herder, was sentenced today to serve from 10 to 15 years in prison following conviction on a charge of murdering Pete Storvick.

Deliberating but five hours, the jury convicted Ford of stabbing Storvick to death during a tournament over a game of cards. Now, 7. Officers called to investigate the killing found Storvick slumped lying on the doorstep of Ford's cabin, just outside of town.

Valentine, one of two witnesses, testified Ford ordered him to murder William Storvick in the cabin. Storvick trailed behind him, said then suddenly staggered to the floor, a knife wound in his side.

Defense testimony claimed Ford was

NRA CHIEF ENDS FIREMILAND PROBE

Sol Rosenblatt Returns East
Ready to Make Report
To Roosevelt

(Copyright 1934, United Press)
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (U.P.)—Sometime after March the film colony will know what Sol Rosenblatt thinks of it.

The NRA film club administrator completed his 10-day visit last night and returned to the east with the announcement he would have his report ready to submit to President Roosevelt by the end of the month.

Rosenblatt's stay here was a comparatively quiet one, as far as social engagements were concerned. Otherwise, he was interviewed, actor, agent, executive and technician in an effort to find what adjustments are necessary in the industry. Much of the fear occasioned by his visit was dispelled the first day when he announced he would make no recommendation to establish a national safety limit.

His findings were closely guarded as he left.

There were several hundred disappointed girls in Hollywood today because "Ed" Carow passed them by but it was no more than they could have expected.

They stood in line for hours waiting to receive the once-for-all from the producer in his "search" phase of the film industry. The girls in town, when he will use in a "Vanities" picture. Seven girls, mostly from the "Vanities" crowd, were called, leaving the other contestants crest-fallen that they had become victims of a studio publicity stunt.

Mac West disappointed several hundred admirers yesterday when he returned to court in the same way as he had. He was not called, but he was not called, leaving the other contestants crest-fallen that they had become victims of a studio publicity stunt.

U. S. PREPARING NEW GOLD NOTES

Public Won't Be Handled by
Federal Reserve
Federal Reserve

WASHINGTON city—A new form of money is being prepared by the United States government in carrying out its dollar devaluation program, but this new money will never see the light of day so far as the public is concerned.

The money, similar in appearance and other characteristics to the once freely circulating gold certificates, except that it bears a "yellow back" will be given to the federal reserve banks for the $3,000,000,000 in gold which they surrender to the treasury.

Large Denominations
The new money is in denominations of $10,000 to $100,000. It is in one sense a form of receipt for the gold tendered to the government and will change hands between the banks and the treasury depending upon the actual gold transactions between the two agencies.

When federal reserve banks require actual gold for settling foreign trade transactions they will be able to present the certificates to the treasury to obtain the metal. Conversely, if they acquire metal they will return it to the treasury in exchange for certificates. They are prohibited by law from paying out the paper to the public.

Former Twin Falls Instructor Plans New Course for Women

Duan Alice E. Gibson, of Lindenwood college, St. Louis, Mo., a former Twin Falls school instructor, and sister of Edgar A. Gibson, employed in the office of the Twin Falls Canal company, has introduced a curriculum at the young women's school which threatens to overturn educational methods according to copies of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat received here.

Duan Gibson, whose former residence at Caldwell, and who is the brother also of J. H. Gibson, head of the Caldwell Press, has a revolutionary plan on the theory that the ordinary college course does not fit a woman for the duties which devolve upon her in life, and is about designing a practical course calculated to fill these requirements.

Chief Weakness
"The chief weakness of present women's colleges," she says, is that the curriculum is patterned "too much after men's colleges." She has been given a free hand by the board of directors to put her ideas into effect.

A training in taste and culture interest in contemporary including music and art. Courses will be given in child development, in psychology or human relations, in the economics of the household, in artistic planning and furnishing of homes, in heredity and all other subjects. "A knowledge of family relations is important in woman's education; the educated woman should not be ignorant of the care of a home," she advises.

The course she proposes will train women in leadership in her community, in domestic problems, recreation and playgroups, poverty and relief, juvenile delinquency, and social intelligence, leadership. It will train her in states and national government, in voting, history of her country, and wherein it has failed and wherein it has achieved worthwhile things.

BOISE city—Suits for foreclosure and sale of the Wood Livestock company of eastern Idaho and southwestern Montana to satisfy a defaulted $500,000 dollar in bonds have been filed in the United States district court by the Title Insurance and Trust company of Los Angeles and W. P. Hervey, corporate and personal trustees of the bondholders.

The suit urged $500,000 is for the interest of all the parties that the properties subject to the lien or charge of the indenture be sold in one parcel and as an entirety, with the trustee being given the privilege of bidding.

Confederates in the suit were the Wood Livestock Investment company, Harry Dunn, H. C. Wood, C. W. Hardy, John W. Hurt and Katrina D. Hardy.

The Wood Livestock company, long considered one of the largest livestock companies in the west, had holdings pledged in support of the bonds in Bonanza, Jefferson, Clark, Lemhi, Custer and Fremont counties in Idaho and Beaverhead, and Madison counties in Montana.

NAZARENES PLAN ALL-DAY SESSION

Idaho-Oregon District Head
Will Preach at Morning
Rites, Sunday

Rev. Lyman D. Smith, pastor of the local Nazarene church, announced plans for an extensive all-day meeting at the church here Sunday.

At the morning service Rev. Earl C. Housh, Nampa, district superintendent of the Idaho-Oregon district, will preach. Rev. Housh, Rev. Mackey J. Brown and Rev. Smith will participate in a dedication service for babies at this time.

All neighboring Nazarene churches are invited to attend the services at 2 p. m., when an old-fashioned "love-feast" will be held in charge of Rev. Theodore Rayner, Nazarene pastor at Kimberly. Following this, a special musical program will be presented from 2:30 to 3 p. m. The church orchestra will play.

Mr. Smith, who has made an extensive study of Soviet Russia's propaganda in the United States, will deliver a lecture between 3 and 4 p. m. on "The Soviet Russia Set a Day to Establish a Soviet U. S. A." This lecture will be broadcast.

Evangelistic services at 7:30 p. m., in charge of the local pastor will close the all-day meeting. A basket lunch will be served at noon.

Butte Girl Furnishes Clue
In Blarney Death Near
Salmon, Idaho

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 2 (U.P.)—Spurred by fears of a Butte girl that the victim may be her father, Sheriff Larry Weir began an investigation here today of the blarney death near Salmon, Idaho.

Weir has wired Sheriff Harry Rayner at Dubuque, Idaho, asking that he run down the suggestion of Miss Mary Greenan, 19, of Butte.

Miss Greenan said she last heard from her father, Felix Greenan, about a month ago in Butte. Greenan wrote the girl that he was going into the Salmon country on a prospecting trip.

The girl said the description of an unidentified prospector found slain and scalped this week on the Birch creek highway about 45 miles east of Salmon tallied with that of her father.

A woman today had custody of John Dillinger, Midwest's most desperate bandit, and her jail was bristling with machine guns to prevent escape of the desperado. She is Sheriff Lillian Holley, shown above in the Idaho county jail, Crown Point, Ind.

ADVENTURER PUT IN DENVER CELL

Famous Soldier of Fortune Is Disguised With Federal Fraud Charge

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 2.—Thoroughly disguised at an ill-starred fate which reduced him from the colorful career of a famous soldier of fortune to that of a lowly hawker, Tracy E. Richardson, is restlessly pacing a Denver county jail cell.

Refusing to discuss a federal charge of using the mails to obtain money under false pretenses, which has been lodged against him, Richardson told the United Press that he was innocent.

"There's nothing I can say that will help," he said.

He declined either to deny or affirm the truth of the charges against him, which were filed in Fort Worth, Tex., but he made it plain in every word and action that he believed them unjust.

Richardson, who is a pair of dark pants and an undershirt, the tanned, very Richardson would not pose for photographs, and he confined his conversations to talk with newsmen he had known in other days.

As he talked, he continued a restless, unceasing walk behind the bars of his cell. He spoke in brief sentences, and his mind wandered often from what he was discussing to some new channel.

When questioned as to his life since the war, the famous soldier, who has fought on many flags in many lands, would say nothing. An interviewer sought to turn the talk to reminiscences of the old days of the war, but this also failed.

"You boys know about that or you wouldn't be here," he said.

Richardson was arrested here this week. It is expected that he will be returned to Fort Worth shortly. Details of the charges against him were not known.

Richardson's exploits, largely in Mexico and Central American countries, are history of the most colorful kind.

Roosevelt Steps in to Save Steve and His Peanut Stand

By WILLIS THORNTON

WILMINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—Certain old institutions here are considered in danger in the throes of the big reorganization.

But one institution has been preserved, and bids fair to endure. That institution is Nicholas Stephanos Vasiliou.

"Steve" is a purveyor of peanuts, whose peanut stand has stood for 25 years, more or less regularly, in the street at the northern corner of the White House grounds.

His location, and Steve's car, parked at the curb just around this corner from Pennsylvania avenue on East Executive place, was considered a traffic menace by the Chamber of Commerce's traffic committee.

They recommended that Steve be made to move on. Traffic Commissioner Van Duzer was on the point of ordering Steve out.

But Steve stayed. And then the story came out. No less than the President himself had intervened.

Steve, who is a small, round, friendly fellow, who is a native of Greece, and who is a very good fellow, was a very good fellow.

When the story came out, the President himself had intervened.

STATE C. OF C. PLANS STUDIES

Will Continue Tax Reduction Inquiry After National Emergency Passes

FOGATE, N.M. (Special)—While yielding temporarily to the emergency which has placed emphasis on public spending for the purpose of putting men to work and getting money into circulation, the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce expects to resume its long-standing activities against taxes and public debt when the emergency passes.

In this discussion it was brought out that during the four-year period of 1929-1932, during which the chamber was practically engaged in ferreting out tax facts and placing them before the public, noteworthy reductions were achieved in both taxes and public debt.

Tax Decrease
Taxes of all units charged on the rolls of 42 counties decreased from approximately $22 millions in 1929 to $18,200,000 in 1932, the compiled figures showed. Bonded debt decreased from $51,500,000 to $44,000,000.

In 1933 the New Deal was initiated with the primary objective of decreasing unemployment and getting money circulating. The state and its subsidiary units were called upon to co-operate in a program of spending until the emergency had passed and the unemployed might be absorbed by industry.

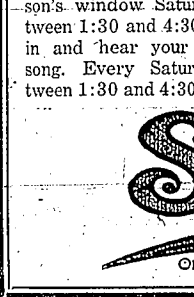

Upon the call of the semitraining for co-operation in this new program the state chamber dropped temporarily, or during the period of emergency, its tax studies and devoted its efforts to furtherance of the New Deal.

President R. E. Shoup, Jr., however, stated that as soon as the emergency passes, the state chamber will again take up its tax studies and educational campaign.

BLOND ERA IS OVER, BEAUTY ADVISORS SAY

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—The blonde era in fashion is over, say beauty advisers.

This was agreed upon by 1,500 hand-picked advisers attending the annual "hair days" show at the Philadelphia Beauty Shop Owners' association.

The smoothly-coiffed woman of the blonde era is replaced by a woman with a more natural and practical style. They took time and money and the average woman is short on both at present. She can't afford to go to a beautician every other day. When she gets a wave it has to stay in. A wave that will do for business is more suitable for evening also. Though force of necessity, to say nothing of beauty, we have created a wave that will last for at least a week.

ECCELS ADVISES TAXING WEALTHY

Utah Assistant in Treasury Advocates Seven Point Reform Program

(Editor's Note: The United Press presents here the second of two stories about Mariner Stoddard Eccles, Utah banker who is among the men drafted to help administer the New Deal.)

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Accumulation of wealth by the wealthy classes should be controlled through high income and inheritance taxation, in the opinion of Mariner Stoddard Eccles, Ogden, Utah, capitalist, who is now settling himself in the treasury department as special assistant to Secretary Morgenthau.

Eccles and his ideas have been attracting attention in Washington since last February. He appeared there before the senate finance committee which invited representative men from all parts of the country to suggest how this country could pull out of the depression.

His Republican Wealthy, 43 years old and Republican, describe Eccles, his ideas may impress themselves rather forcibly on an administration which has demonstrated it is afraid neither of change nor of experiment. Some of his objectives have been realized. Eccles outlined before the senate committee a plan for reform and was remembered by his hearers:

"This may frighten people who possess wealth."

But he added that the rich could not continue to have accumulation of wealth as they have been saving and hoarding anything worthwhile. It appeared to indicate that the rich would be asked to share some of their surplus.

"The problem of production has been solved," he said, "and we need further capital accumulation for the present."

Seven-Point Program
An outline for the committee, Eccles' plan for permanent reorganization of our way of living is as follows:

1. Unify the banking system.
2. High income and inheritance taxation to control capital accumulation.
3. National prohibition of child labor; provision for a minimum wage, unemployment insurance and old age pensions.
4. Division of tax resources—real property and the sales tax referred to the states; income and inheritance tax to the federal government.
5. Creation of a federal agency to take up all foreign and domestic securities issues.
6. Federal control of all means of transportation and communication.
7. Creation of a national economic planning board to coordinate public and private activities.

"Either we have got to take a course on meeting this unemployment and low price problem or we are going to get collapse of our credit structure which will ruin us as the owners of our capitalistic system," Eccles told the committee. "And we will then start over. You have got to take care of the unemployed or you are going to have revolution in this country."

Eccles has succeeded Earle Ballew in charge of the government's $10,000,000,000 recovery bond issue plans for this winter and spring.

Step-Ladder Used As Will in Court
LOS ANGELES, Calif. (U.P.)—A will in which Herman J. Stinebaugh "kisses my all to Mrs. Gotta," was introduced as his will in probate court here.

After his death, no will could be found among his effects but some time later a neighbor who had borrowed the ladder found it on one rung the following:

"December 2, 1933. I love her. I give my all to Mrs. Gotta. She is my good spirit."

The neighbor who had borrowed the ladder a month before Stinebaugh's death was Mrs. Ellen Gotta. The estate is valued at $15,000.

Italian Expedition Digs Up Old City
LEPTIS MAGNA, North Africa (U.P.)—A temple with an inscription in Neo-Phoenician (probably 2000 B. C.) on its architecture, containing valuable information about its foundation, is the last discovery of a series of finds recently made by Italian archeologists here.

War Veteran's Medal Given As Heritage to His Son, 15

MINNEAPOLIS (U.P.)—Roger Peck, 15-year-old Minneapolis high school boy, has a little golden cross, heavily with an American eagle, and bearing the words "For Valor."

It is all Roger has in place of the father who died in France, never knowing that he had a son. Roger was born while a transport was carrying his father to France. A letter telling of Roger's birth was found unopened in the dugout after Roger's father, William H. Peck, was cut down by machine-gun fire while heroically protecting an officer during an assault. The letter was sent back unopened to Peck's wife.

Given Medal
Fifteen years later, a fine, straight-limbed soldier, a first lieutenant, Col. E. V. Culter, M. G. Snelting, bestowed Peck's Distinguished Service cross on the boy who never knew his father. The mother, Mrs. V. D. Byberg, bowed on.

But Roger doesn't believe in war. "I've seen the grief it has brought my mother," he says, "I don't believe many boys my age want to see another war. I know the boys I go to high school with are against it."

Kissing Was Good Alibi for Harry
BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (U.P.)—Harry Bartlesville was free here from a robbery-charge on the well-supported alibi that he was 130 miles away kissing his sweetheart at the time of the holdup.

At 12:20 p. m. Jan. 10, Jack Hines was robbed by a man whom he identified as Bartlesville, and whom he arrested the next day at Oklahoma City.

Bartlesville stated that at the time of the robbery he was kissing his sweetheart, Miss Amy Lewis, in a taxi cab at Oklahoma City. The girl, a hotel clerk, and a porter, corroborated the story.

Hunters Over 70 Rush for License
BOSTON (U.P.)—When Massachusetts legislators inserted in its hunting and fishing license law a provision that persons over 70 should receive license gratis, they didn't figure on the hundreds of the state's nimble and zealous.

A total of 5,307 septuagenarians and octogenarians now hold three-year licenses, representing $15,000 in revenue at the usual rate.

CHIEF TWO MOON DIES IN POVERTY

Famed Medical Herb 'Doctor' Wasn't Rich Despite Huge Business

WATKINSBURY, Ga. (U.P.)—Chico Colon, who took the name of Chief Two Moon Medicine and established an Indian medical herb business which brought him thousands of clients, died a comparatively poor man.

An inventory of his estate showed its value at $1,910. A quantity of flashy jewelry, valued at $125, made up the bulk of the estate. The mink-plated car, the "Chief" usually used was put down as worth $100. A similar valuation was placed on a second car, and a third was held worth only $50.

Started Modestly
Chief Two Moon came to Watkinsbury more than 15 years ago, got a room in a cheap morning house, and began his herb business. As he prospered he spread out and went in for "big business" methods. He hired a press agent, ran advertisements which brought him additional customers, and finally moved into a large establishment where he personally received those who came to him for consultation. His clientele was drawn mostly from New England and eastern seaboard states.

Chief Two Moon spent thousands in a futile effort to prove his claim that he was an Indian. He made trips to the Indian tribes in the Dakotas, and later invited a party of Indians to his home here. But although the Indians bowed him with honorary titles, the U. S. government did not record him as an Indian.

He Hunts Feminine Burglar, Size 48
EUGENE, Ore. (U.P.)—Wagon Prince, California, University of Oregon football coach, returned to his home after three weeks absence in California. He found someone had been there during his absence.

Missing were a radio, revolver, mirror, comb, gloves, fishing rod and rifle, and in their place were a nightgown, pair of silk stockings, pair of pajamas, perfume atomizer and a corset size 48.

BREMER MESSAGE CALLED FAKE

Union City Mission
A message from the Union City Mission, dated February 1, 1934, was received by the Twin Falls police. The message stated that the Bremer kidnapping was a hoax.

Twin City police turned the above message a fake when it was received through the mails in Minneapolis at the height of the Bremer kidnap search. Source of the epistle, however, was thoroughly checked by federal officers.

WHEAT PAYMENT PLANS OUTLINED

Half-Explains Withholding of Checks to Producers Not Growing in 1933

BY HARVEY S. HALE
County Extension Agent

Wheat growers who signed wheat allotment contracts with the government and who did not grow wheat in 1933 are not receiving their checks at this time and those who only grew part of their allotment are receiving that proportional amount of their first payment.

Regarding the 1933 payment, this contract states that "the full adjustment payment for the crop year 1933 will be made only if the producer grows much crop year 1933 on an acreage of wheat on the land now in this farm sufficient at the average yield for the base period to produce the full allotment, unless the failure to seed an acreage is clearly shown to have been due to the producer's regular rotation practice."

Here's Answer:
In the answers to questions regarding wheat adjustment plan put out by the department of agriculture, question No. 16 is: "Is a producer who seeded wheat in some of the base-period years but did not seed wheat in 1933 eligible to sign the contract?" and the answer is as follows: "If he can prove that his failure to seed wheat in 1933 was due to a regular rotation practice, otherwise he is not eligible to sign the contract for the 1934 and 1935 crop years."

The Twin Falls county director of the wheat allotment association interpreted this to mean that where wheat was not planted or only a part of the allotment produced in 1933, the producer would still be eligible for the 1934 payment, provided that he did not grow wheat because of his crop rotation system.

Cited As Reason
This is the reason that wheat was not grown on the applicants in 1932 and 1933 in practically every case. This information has been sent to the wheat section at Washington, D. C., and an answer is expected in a short time.

The fundamental plan of the agricultural adjustment administration is to pay the difference in the price that he receives for the wheat sold in 1933 and the price that he should receive so as to make his commodity have the same buying power in relation to other prices as they did in the base period 1909 to 1914.

Makes Up Price
In other words, the payment from the federal adjustment administration is to compensate him for the low price he has received for the commodity he produced by him. Looking at it from this angle, the producer who did not grow wheat in 1933 is not entitled to an adjustment payment to compensate him for the low price of the 1933 wheat crop.

The Twin Falls wheat allotment association is expected to file a ruling from Washington, D. C., on this question and will notify the parties affected as soon as information is received.

JOHN AND NO. 4 SEPARATE

The fascinating John Gilbert soon may become free and foot-loose again, with the news that his fourth wife, the former Virginia Rivers, has taken up residence with their baby, apart from him. At left, they are shown together at the time of their marriage in August, 1932. And along side them, down the line, are the great lover's former wives. No. 1 was Gladys Harwood, married and divorced him early in his career; No. 2 was Gertrude, married in 1922 and divorced in 1925; and No. 3 was Mrs. Claire, married in 1929 and divorced in 1931.

ILLINOIS TOWNS ASK SCHOOL AID

CHICAGO (AP)—Desperate appeals to state welfare bodies are being made from countless small Illinois communities where economic conditions are imperiling the school system and the education and social growth of young people, according to Sam Ryerson, Jr., state sociologist.

"There will be an overflow of young men and young women committed to the state corrective institutions if something isn't done soon to save these institutions in which humanity relies, but which are granted, in maintaining order, a civil life," Ryerson said.

Exhibit shows towns and cities in Illinois are being made completely in behalf of education and young folk.

Through the Ages.

G. O. P. GIRDING TO FIGHT MILLS

Old Guard Preparing to Open Battle Against Hoover Faction in Party

By LYNN C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Political conflicts on a dozen fronts are spreading both major party national campaign year.

An element in the Republican party has risen in protest against Hoover's leadership of the Hoover-Mills' suggestion that tariff be modified. It seems possible that the old guard may make that an issue within the party in which to challenge the Hoover-Mills faction.

Problems also confront the Democrats. Postmaster General Egan is waging deep-in-pocket effort to put the Democrats of Tammany Hall and Brooklyn under leadership satisfactory to the administration. He believes he will succeed despite a dispiriting experience in last autumn's New York mayoralty campaign.

Some of the Republican old guard were chilled by Mills' Kansas proposal that tariff rates be modified. The former secretary intimated that Hoover-Smoot tariff was erected impassable trade barriers, destroyed our international commerce and sacrificed efficient farmers to inefficient manufacturing. That struck fire from Senator Foe, Rep. O., a former chairman of the national committee.

Senator Dickinson, Rep. E., legislator of the 1932 Chicago convention, also disagreed with Mills. It is possible that a considerable movement will develop to let the Hoover-Mills leadership on the tariff issue. A considerable part of the Republican machine never took the Hoover administration to its bosom and does not intend to be turned to follow Mr. Hoover or his association in 1936.

Milk Is Declared As Public Utility
SALMON, Ore., Jan. 31.—By action of the recent legislature, milk is now held Wednesday noon at the 15,000 population or more. A state milk commission has authority to regulate supply and distribution of milk in such cities, attempting to protect best interests of producers, distributors and consumers.

A bill declaring gasoline a public utility when its price exceeds 18 cents a gallon failed to pass the legislature.

LUBRICATION

Complete-Competent

REMEMBER!

Proper lubrication is economy. It's always cheaper than expensive repairs!

The Best Lubrication Obtainable Is None Too Good for Your Car... and at the Barnard-Auto Co.

You Can Always Depend on Getting the Best.

Don't Buy "Grease"

The terms "Greasing" and "Grease" are as out-of-date as the horse and buggy. Modern motor cars are too valuable to be given such treatment. They require the most expert SPECIALIZED LUBRICATION!

Buy Lubrication

When you come to the Barnard Auto Co. to have your car lubricated, a thoroughly trained expert takes charge of the job. Working with modern equipment, he uses seven different types of lubricant and seven special lubrication "gangs." He understands what he is doing and doesn't "forget" any of the vital parts. Watch him the next time he lubricates your car; ask him questions. Learn how important it is to have your car lubricated properly, and how dangerous it is to "grease" your car.
