VETO THREATENS AS SOLONS FIGHT ON HOUSING BILL

Lower Chamber Enters Heated Debate Over Revisions In Measure

SILVER BILL APPROVED

Senators Pass Metal Statute, Defeat Bonus Provision In Surprise Move

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Predictions that President Roosevelt would veto a housing bill if the measure is approved in its present revised form were made in the senate today by Rep. John J. O'Connor, D. N. Y., a majority leader.

An debate became heated over housing and currency committee changes in the measure. It was indicated that a concerted drive would be made to secure the permanent appropriation bill after approving the silver proposal and rejecting the silver ignores revisions.

Despite charges by Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, and the national emergency council, the measure was reported to the house by the banking and currency committee "unamended" after the group decided to bring the measure up today without the requested revisions.

Prayed for Rain—Received a Flood

Prayers of Iowa farmers for rain were answered a hundredfold when the heavens gushed and damaging floods swept the state, parched by months of drought. Here is a remarkable picture of the toll taken by deluge, the wreck of a train, cut off by washout of tracks near Council Bluffs, Ia., when Henry creek became a raging torrent overnight. With cars spilled from the rails and flood debris littering the tracks, workmen are toiling to reopen the way for trains.

AIRMAIL SURVEY MEASURE SIGNED

Roosevelt Approves Bill for Inquiry to Chart U. S. Aviation Policy

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed and made law the McClellan-Black airmail bill creating a commission to study the national commercial aviation policy.

The measure, drafted by the administration after President General James A. Hargis canceled all airmail contracts last February, authorizes the post office department to award new one-year contracts by competitive bidding.

Attacked by G. O. P. "destructive," the bill required more than two months to complete its journey through congress. It was not regarded by the President as a final solution of the airmail problem.

Other provisions: 1. Authorizes the Interstate Commerce commission to fix rates for airmail contracts, and regulate profit.

2. Designates four transcontinental and eastern and western routes in the air system.

3. Allows biweekly service, but only to qualify for service under their contracts.

4. Outlaws holding companies and prohibits contractors from owning a controlling interest in participating concerns.

5. Limits salaries paid airline executives to $17,500 a year.

6. Declines contracts to persons who participate in airmail. (Continued on Page 2, Column 5)

Levy on Burlap Bags Dropped By U. S. Decree

Sen. Thomas P. Pope, D., Idaho, and today announced that the levy on burlap bags used by farmers in the Pacific northwest has been repealed, effective today.

Only bags imported or manufactured, beginning today, will be affected. Pope's office said the repeal of the burlap bag levy is a victory for producers announced this afternoon in a telegram from Sen. J. P. Pope of Idaho, stating that the levy on burlap bags, grain, potato and vegetable grown was removed at 12:01 p. m. today.

"This means that there will be no tax on bags manufactured or imported in future," wired the senator to the Idaho Shipper Traffic association at a time when it was being urged to the message to local dealers this afternoon.

"AM advised that the permit floor on tax on present floor stocks of bags, but will seek legislation to permit under," Pope telegraphed.

Local dealers were enthusiastic over the victory. However, these with bags on hand expressed hope that legislation will bring them relief.

It is a matter of fact that the thing means just what the thing means. In case it does mean anything, it is better to brand a cat than the first time you just can't brand him so he will belong to both outfits. Yours, Will Rogers

WESTERN CLUBS, GUNNING FOR YANKS, INVADE EAST

TIGERS LOOM AS MOST DANGEROUS

Browns, Indians Will Be Strong Threat to Boss McCarthy's Men

By THELSON WRIGHT
NEW YORK, June 12 (U.P.)—Three assignments of hard boiled players from the west will converge today upon the eastern seaboard, prepared to tie up the American league race lighter than a swollen fog.

The Yankees are the chief objective. The first to invade Louisiana Bay will be first to invade Co. Jack Huppert's ball yard. Next four days the Texas and Hornby's Athletics have just concluded successful shut-outting expeditions into neighboring villages of Cleveland and Chicago, in which they won four out of six games.

Gunning For Yanks
Entrenched securely in the upper berth by Detroit and the parade, the Browns, Tigers and Indians will fall upon the Yanks in order, in the hope of obtaining the only eastern menace in the league class. Boss McCarthy may be sorely embarrassed when he is raised by a diabolic lack of capable throwing men.

The Browns are not too formidable as hitters, although they compiled an average of 321 and 11 runs in their last 10 games and White Sox last week. When they enter the field they will be a potent offensive force. Fox, Cochran, Gallow, Gehring, Russell and Greenberg are all big hitters.

Yesterday the Yankees won an exhibition game against the West Coast points, 7-0, as they came back in the lineup, playing first and last.

While New York is playing host to the Browns, the Tigers will be coming up to Boston, and the Indians will be at Philadelphia. Washington engages the White Sox.

Glants Invade West
The Glants run into Cincinnati and their work is being which may all but settle the National league title. If the Glants can win successfully from their 10-day journey through the west they will have only one more excursion to make during the remaining three months of play.

St. Louis, Chicago and Pittsburgh are the only clubs in the New York's home territory, and the odds will be against upsetting the Terriers. The Browns are the only team to win with Mel Ott, Bill Terry and Joe Moore, big guns of the league, pouring shot into enemy trenches, not to mention the reinforcements of Cliff Ryan, Jackson and Watkins, the New York artillery appears to be well worked for the trip.

St. Louis will face the Braves, for a spot in the upper division, while the Cubs take on the Phillies and the Dodgers in the lower division. A game and a half ahead of the Cubs and Pirates.

CHICAGO'S CUBS GET DON HURST

Blugging Philly Player Added To Lineup By Trading Dolf Camilli

By GEORGE HIRKNEY
CHICAGO, June 12 (U.P.)—The Chicago Cubs' batline had a new recruit in it today with the acquisition of Don Hurst, slugging first baseman of the Phillies.

The Cubs gave the Phillies Dolf Camilli, catch league rookie, for Hurst and Dolf Camilli. Charley Grimm believes that he put over a steamer on the other pennant contender.

Dangerous Hitter
Hurst is a dangerous left-handed slugger but isn't up to his average since 1932, when he clubbed .338. Last season he was .303 and reported to be satisfied. This season he has been in bad with Manager Jimmy Wilson since the spring training camp. Hurst's batting average last year was .267. His present mark is .303 but he is being ridden the bench most of the time lately.

Camilli, purchased from Sacramento last last year, never came up to the $25,000 price-tag he had on him. The National league players found him weak at bat and worked on it. Atfield he was no flash.

When Hurst was a satisfied player with the Phillies he was one of the league's most deadly batters. In 1932 he hit .338 and drove in more runs than any other player with 71 to his credit.

Chuck Klein, his former teammate, was slated over Hurst's transfer to his new club. "I know that big boy can hit and he'll prove it with the Cubs. We really have the power in our lineup now. No weak spots and every guy got to break up a ball game," Klein said.

Camilli, who had figured on playing first this season, with Hurst, will be playing second. Grim's batting average is .274 and he hasn't been any too consistent.

The Cubs' big problem now is to get all their strength available. They had to cancel the season opened 11 weeks ago. The Cubs have had at least one man, which means two or three crippled or ill.

Guy Bush, Cubs' pitching ace, the current favorite, has had a pain in his back and the doctors say he can't pitch again for a week.

Open Phone Tournery Is Britain's Indoor Sport

By HENRY McLEMOIE
LONDON, June 12 (U.P.)—Having reached an age where most boys would be expected to enter strenuous athletic competition, but still being fired by an ambition to win a championship of some sort, it was with a great deal of enthusiasm that I discovered the British open telephone tournament.

The British open telephone tournament never closes, and may be entered by any person of any age. The winner of the event is the man, woman or child who, in a period of 12 hours, completes the greatest number of telephone calls. The present record-holder is one John Barber, a Nottingham farmer, who has been on the attack April 16th last, called, and made connections with four other numbers in the city of London.

Disappointed
In the past two weeks I have made dozens of unsuccessful attempts on Barber's mark, but I have not been able to get on the score of the top tell me that my first of twice getting the operators to answer my call tied the novice mark of 1933.

Four completed calls a day would mean a total of 96 calls in a week. In England the operators are very careful, and must have the number repeated six or seven times before they will answer the call.

Your number repeated six times is not a guarantee of success. It may be that the operator is busy at the moment, or that the call is not being received. It may be that the operator is busy at the moment, or that the call is not being received.

Kitcheneering Staff

"KITCHENEERING" is far more than mere cookery. It is the modern art of preparing and serving delicious, well-balanced, economical meals with a minimum of time and energy. Such a definition explains why more than a half-million western women have taken active part in "Kitcheneering" courses in the last two years. It explains why Radioland probably will be filled by Twin Falls homemakers on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday—afternoons of this week when capable Mrs. Marian Rogers Spencer, personal representative of Julia Lee Wright, director of the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau, presents the "Kitcheneering" course of 1934.

Any plan that contributes to the betterment, joy, diversification and ease of cookery in the home is certain to interest thousands of women.

The Idaho Evening Times and the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau, who are co-sponsoring this course in "Kitcheneering" are happy to make this educational event available to Twin Falls women, free of charge. From an acquaintanceship with the benefits provided by previous "Kitcheneering" courses and an intimation of the splendid program planned for this week, it is reasonable to believe a genuine public service is being rendered in the sponsorship of this cooking school.

The complete planning of the Twin Falls "Kitcheneering" program is under the direction of Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Spencer and a staff of enthusiastic and well-qualified assistants. Mrs. Wright is nationally known as a prominent home economist, as a writer of sparkling, timely articles on homemaking, and as the pleasant radio personality who offers practical household suggestions to thousands of listeners in western homes each week.

Mrs. Spencer has been working under the personal supervision of Mrs. Wright and has enjoyed the invaluable experience of conducting "Kitcheneering" courses in other western cities. Her academic training, practical experience and gracious personality fit her for the role of "Chief Kitcheneer" of Twin Falls.

The widespread success of "Kitcheneering" is directly traceable to the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau. It is this energetic organization which perfects in its testing kitchen the dozens of delightful recipes to be presented in "Kitcheneering" courses; its trained minds and hands delve into almost every problem of homemaking, such as entertaining, budgeting and menu planning, and expertly discover the modern practical solution. In the course of the year, literally thousands of letters are written in response to questions asked by western women.

From this tremendous fact-finding activity of the Homemakers' Bureau is developed the modern, fast-moving, highly-interesting "Kitcheneering" course. It is essentially a thorough review of "what western homemakers want to know" with most enlightening answers.

Knowing that every session will be exceptionally worth-while and of vital interest to homemakers, the Evening Times urges all of its readers who can possibly do so to attend at least one "Kitcheneering" meeting this week.

This section is presented so that readers may obtain a "preview" of "Kitcheneering" before getting its splendid message first hand.

Doors of Radioland will be opened at one o'clock tomorrow and homemakers who wish to be sure of admittance are cautioned to come early.

The Evening Times wishes to express its appreciation to Julia Lee Wright, Mrs. Spencer, and other members of the Homemakers' Bureau for the tireless efforts which have been devoted to perfecting plans for the 1934 "Kitcheneering" course. Their reward will accrue from a knowledge of the great benefits thousands of women derive from this splendid cooking school, from the enthusiasm which will again mark "Kitcheneering" an outstanding success in Twin Falls.

'KITCHENEERING' READY TO OPEN

Program Outlined for Modern Cookery School Starting Here Tomorrow

NEW RECIPES OFFERED

"Get ready for that Old English breakfast pie! Get ready for that fool-proof Cheese Soufflé! Get ready for that deliciously rich potato pie! That's what Mrs. Spence will have her students equipped yesterday. Mrs. Marian Rogers Spence of the Safety Stores Homemakers' Bureau did not make the statement given above. She has no way to make any statements at all during most of the day. But she might just as well have said exactly that, for she is here to open a "kitcheneering" tomorrow at the school.

The dates mentioned are just a few of the 25 or more recipes which will be demonstrated by Mrs. Spence before hundreds of local housewives. The course from soup to deserts with everything in between included.

In the midst of final arrangements, Mrs. Spence paused for a moment to outline some of the lessons in the course. Tomorrow she will attend the "kitcheneering" course from start to finish.

"I want to extend my personal greetings to housewives and prospective housewives," she said, "and invite them to attend our cooking school. Months of effort have gone into its preparation so that it may meet ideally the modern housewife's needs. Every dish to be demonstrated is inexpensive and easy to make. The course will be chiefly devoted to pastries, homey luncheon dishes and salads; the course will also include some entertainment, and the third day to complete meals.

Bread is Spence's specialty. Mrs. Spence hastened to point out, however, that each day's program will be far broader than the limitations of any one heading.

"For example," she said, "on the first day, we will have such dishes as bread, new recipes for coffee, fruit for pie, a cheese soufflé made with bread, a most practical vegetable salad, a new bread, and a recipe which we discovered in Canada and revamped for modern times. And one of the most interesting features of this particular day will be the expert and complete demonstration of an entirely new way to mix 'pastry' as served out in the kitchen of the homemakers' bureau.

"The second day's program," Mrs. Spence stated, "will be principally devoted to cakes and party ideas, including a revelation of the theory and practice of the making of 'Goop'."

"Ood, but delicious," she said with a smile, "may be an odd name, but 'Goop' is an odd, and very delicious dish. It's really all that the name implies, and when served with a plaster of salad and perhaps with a few slices of garlic bread, is a meal in itself. I'm not going to tell you anything about 'Goop' now, but just wait until the second day of the cooking school." "And she added, "there's another real mystery on the second day of the program. It's Mystery Cake, and I want to tell you its two principal ingredients today you'd laugh, no matter how well you may have been served. I'll give you a hint, though. One of the ingredients is usually thought of as part of a salad and the other is sometimes served with pie. That's all I'll tell you about Mystery Cake, and you'll just have to wait for the rest.

"Incidentally," the cooking expert said, "if anyone thinks they know an easy and fool-proof way to make sponge and angel food cakes, wait until the Safety Stores Homemakers' Bureau's new way of mixing them."

Complete meals, according to Mrs. Spence, will feature the third exciting day of "kitcheneering," including every phase of stoves, burners, and oven and high and low temperatures.

"One of the things that everyone enjoys," said she, "is the 'Portio Rican pot roast with German potato pancakes and another, the new breakfast dishes that are grand."

"Doors of the school will open at 1 o'clock and the course will start promptly at 2.

Dried Fruit Better If Cooked in Oven

Dried fruit is far better if stewed in the oven and can be cooked while baking or roasting other food. Wash the fruit, pour boiling water on it, and let it stand in a covered dish until the oven is ready; then add sugar, cooking lightly and let the fruit of the oven cook them. Prunes, especially, are delicious cooked this way. Prunes get a new flavor if a few whole cloves are put into the pan while cooking, or if a slice of lemon is added when they are almost done.

EXPERT SHOPS IN PERSON

Mrs. Marian Rogers Spence, of the Safety Stores Homemakers' Bureau, will conduct the Safety Stores Course in Kitcheneering here, her shopping at a Safety Store in preparation for the series of classes, opening tomorrow at the school.

Any Questions, Kitcheneers? Experts Ready with Answers

"Kitcheneers" comprise a most inquisitive group. This fact is amply demonstrated by the thousands of letters Mrs. Julia Lee Wright receives each year at the Safety Stores Homemakers' Bureau from western women who are confronted with a wide variety of household problems, following her courses in "kitcheneering."

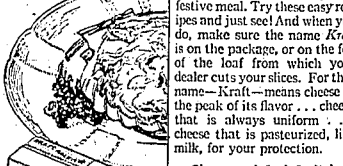

In order that questions which occur to homemakers while they are attending the "kitcheneering" course may receive a prompt answer, Mrs. Marian Rogers Spence has arranged to have "question boxes" placed at the school. Questions left there will be collected at the end of each "kitcheneering" session and either answered from the stage or forwarded to the Homemakers' Bureau where a practical and complete reply will be provided.

It is in the proud boast of the Homemakers' Bureau that it has never been "stumped" by any problem of homemaking, although some "kitcheneers" have required months of research before a proper solution has been discovered.

Icebergs appeared in the Atlantic off Cape Cod this year for the first time in the memories of the oldest inhabitants of Massachusetts.

CHEESE'S ORIGIN TOLD IN LEGEND

Ancient Arab Traveler Given Credit for Discovery of Delicacy

FINDING WAS ACCIDENT

Among the interesting food traditions is that of cheese. Legend tells us that ages ago an Arab traveler, stopping one day in the desert on his mid-day meal of dates and milk, found to his surprise the milk, which he had carried in a bag made of a sheep's stomach, was no longer milk but a creamy mass of curd. Being hungry, he tasted it and found it good. The rennet remaining in the dried stomach had curdled the milk and, thus cheese came into being.

From Arabia, cheese making spread throughout Europe and other parts of Asia. Each country created its own kind, according to the materials and facilities it had. Today we have more than 500 varieties of cheese from which to choose.

Theory Disproved

Uncle Sam has disproved by tests in his own laboratories the theory that cheese is highly indigestible. These tests showed that 95 per cent of all cheese is thoroughly and readily digested.

Cheese is popular since it not only is savory and extremely economical, but is versatile in flavor and uses. It keeps well and is easy to work with.

Cheese which is to be used for cooking purposes should be selected with an eye for flavor and consistency. In each brand of cheese there is one variety which is especially designed for some particular use or method of cooking.

Superb with spaghetti. A hard cheese is best for grating and this is used when cheese is added to a soup or sauce, just before serving, also for sprinkling on the top of meat, fish or vegetable dishes which are to be browned in the oven. Of course, it is superb with spaghetti mixtures.

Cheese for cutting or melting should be soft enough to be pushed through a coarse wire strainer with the back of a spoon or forced through a potato ricer; or it may be placed on a board and cut or chopped into small pieces with a knife.

COFFEE AROMA CAPTURED BY SPICE CAKES

Most of us are inclined to think of coffee merely as a beverage. But it has many other uses in the kitchen. Who has not enjoyed coffee cakes? Not the variety named because they are served with coffee, but those that contain coffee.

Remember, when using coffee in a recipe, use it off the ground while still hot, as standing on the ground tends to absorb the fragrant aroma.

Here is a recipe for Coffee Spice Cakes, especially good when served warm:

COFFEE SPICE CAKES
cup shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 cup cold coffee
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

Cream the shortening with sugar; add beaten egg and mix well. Add flour, measure and sift again with baking powder, salt and cocoa. Add alternately with the coffee, beat thoroughly. If desired, half a cup of seedless raisins, cut into

Sensitive Coffee Is Grateful For Cook's Kind Attention

Coffee is grateful for kind attention. The finished product will repay the housewife who uses care in keeping, preparing and serving it.

Coffee is sensitive. As soon as coffee comes in contact with air oxygen tends to reduce its flavor, so it's wise to keep it as free from exposure as possible. It's a good plan to put the coffee into a jar with a tight rubber ring top as soon as the can is opened, especially when you buy amounts larger than would be used in a week. Ordinarily, coffee will keep fresh for a week in the original can after opening, but don't leave the lid off.

No matter how carefully coffee is prepared the result will be less than ideal if the pot is not clean. After using always wash it out with soap suds, then rinse and dry. Occasionally soap and water may be used, followed with rubbing. Leave the pot uncovered so air may circulate through it. Ordinarily coffee making calls for one rounding, tablespoon of coffee for each cup of water, but this amount varies according to the strength of the coffee desired.

The new drip pots are simple to use and produce an excellent brew. The pot should be preheated to keep the coffee hot as it drips through. Percolated coffee may be made with either cold or boiling water, depending on the type of pot. If the spread at the bottom is wide boiling water is preferred. If it is of the valve type cold water is best. The boiling water must be drawn fresh from the cold tap and brought to a boil. Ten minutes is the usual time to make good percolated coffee.

Many still prefer boiled coffee. Sometimes a little egg is mixed with it to clear the beverage and add sparkle. Another method is to tie the coffee in a bag, which makes the drink clear without using egg. Use cold water to settle the grounds. Again, cold or hot water may be used. Blend it with the coffee, bring to a good boil and serve. This is the method used on picnics, as a rule. But no matter how it's made, serve it HOT.

EXPERTS OFFER PASTRY ADVICE

Bureau Lists Factors Aiding In Successful Blending Of Ingredients

WILL HELP EVERY COOK

For pastry-makers, and that includes nearly every cook, the Safeway Store's Homemakers' Bureau offers these pointers:

All ingredients should be as cold as possible.

Use the "water method" for measuring shortening—that is to measure 1/2 cup of shortening, measure a 1/2 cup of water and press into it enough shortening to raise the water to the 1-cup line. Drain off the water, run a knife around the edge and the shortening will drop out leaving the cup clean. Similarly, to measure 2/3 cup shortening, place 2/3 cup of water in cup and add shortening to raise water to one full cup.

Not Too Fine

Do not blend shortening and flour too fine. It should be coarse as peas. Because these bits of shortening make the pastry flaky. Blend with two knives, a pastry blender, or wire potato masher—do not blend with your hands, unless you are an expert, as the heat of your hands will melt the shortening and ruin the crust. Use just enough water barely to hold mixture together. Do not use all the water if mixture doesn't seem to need it; and do not use any more than the recipe designates. Add the water a little at a time, mixing with a fork, gently tossing the mixture together.

Turn on to floured board, pat lightly and gently roll into a long, narrow strip. Do not stretch or pull the dough. Use additional shortening and lightly roll it up, like a jelly roll. Cut roll into three parts. Place cut end of pastry down on the board and roll out the piece.

Important Tips

The roll-out is important because good pastry is easily ruined by too much rolling. Do not press down too hard. Lift your finger on each hand and poise it straight out, away from the rolling, and then you simply can not press down hard.

Lower crust — Do not stretch lower crust, but allow plenty of "slack," so to speak. Make the lower crust slightly thicker than the top one, so that the pie may be "skidded" onto a plate without danger of breaking the crust.

Top crust—Always top crust to lie over the pan and trim it off to about one-inch of the pan's edge. Tuck the over-hanging crust under the lower one, and thus seal your pie. Now flute or ruffle the crust, but do not pinch it as the outside edge is so thin as to burn easily. In the top crust make a few cuts in any desired pattern in order to permit the steam to escape.

Individual pie-shells may be made by baking the crusts on the backs of muffin tins. Be sure to place them well so they will bake evenly and not blister.

Old Card Tables Given New Dress

Card tables may be rejuvenated by covering them with covers from old magazines. Pictures of flowers are best, but others may be used. Remove the old covers from the tables and paint the frame and legs. Trim the pictures carefully and arrange them to cover the top completely, saving especially attractive pictures for the center. A fan-like arrangement of the pictures can be used. Cement the pictures carefully to the table with glue, or better still, rubber cement. Be sure to cover the entire back of each picture with the glue or cement and press each picture down, firm and smooth out—all wrinkles. When the glue has dried thoroughly, apply at least eight successive coats of orange-shellac, allowing plenty of time for each coat to dry. Orange shellac gives the pictures an antique effect.

Chemical 'Bathing' Cleans Silverware

Plated silver may be cleaned with any good commercial polish or by a method which is known as "electrolysis." Make a solution of one tablespoon of salt and one tablespoon of soda to each quart of water, in an aluminum bowl, or other container, of a half-ounce piece of aluminum. The silver is then placed in the solution, so that it comes in contact with the aluminum and allowed to stand there until the tarnish is removed. It is almost tasteless. Wash in clean, soapy water and dry in the usual manner. If a bright water is desired, wash with a jeweler's polishing cloth.

This method, for use on plated silver only, is nothing more than a chemical reaction between two metals which removes the tarnish, and it has been proved by tests that this method removes less of the valuable metal than other cleaners.

Cure for Smoking — Kerosene Heater

If a kerosene heater smokes or has a disagreeable odor when lighted, place it on a box about one foot from the floor. A piece of gum camphor dissolved in alcohol will also remove unpleasant odor and give a clearer flame. If the lighted wick gets turned down, throw on a handful of salt to put the flame out at once.

PACKING THEIR KITCHENS IN TRUNKS

Members of the Safeway Store's Homemakers' Bureau staff, who are directing this year's course in kitchening throughout western cities, are shown packing their trunks in preparation for their travels.

A complete kitchen that can be carried in a trunk (if all the long kitchen itself is a symphony kitchen, range and refrigerator are not included.) Otherwise, this kitchen is a duplicate of the Safeway Store's Homemakers' Bureau test kitchen. Homemakers attending the kitchening course will note the colorful equipment used. Julie Lee Wright, director of the Bureau, and her assistants are firm believers in color—the Test Kitchen itself is a symphony in cherry red and cream.

The first equipment ordered for the kitchen was a red tea kettle, acquired only after long search. To go with this bright red tea kettle, are creamy walls, built-in features of leaf green and bright checked curtains in which red predominates.

BREAKFAST EGGS DON NEW ATTIRE

'Break Cases' Will Present Old Friends in Novel And Tasty Way

Tired of having fried eggs stare you in the face with their expressionless eyes? Then try the Breakfast Eggs in Cases, a combination of eggs and toast that is not only attractive but delicious.

Cut small loaves of day-old white bread into slices about 1/2 to 2 inches thick. Trim off the crusts, and with a sharp knife, hollow out each slice, leaving a scal and a bottom one-quarter inch or more thick. Cut the inside of this with butter and break one or more eggs in each case, and season with salt and pepper.

Place on a shallow pan and bake in a moderate oven (325 to 350 degrees F.)—no warmer, and allow the bread to toast slowly and the egg to set, fully 20 minutes.

Serve hot with crisp bacon or sausage and sprinkling of parsley. Allow one case for each person.

Many people for whom breakfast would not be complete without eggs prefer them cooked in any other form of cooking. Heat water to boiling before eggs are put in. Then remove from the fire. Allow eggs to stand in the hot water for four or five minutes before serving. They will be cooked in a jelly-like consistency and are palatable and easily digested when served with butter and seasoning to taste.

HANDY TWINE HOLDER

A handy twine holder is a small round, suspended from the kitchen wall in a convenient place near the sink.

Place the ball of twine inside and run the end of the string out through the funnel slot.

Meringue Is Sparkling Crown For Your Pastry Delicacies

Meringue is the sparkling crown for much pastry. To give pastry that final royal touch, try this method:

Beat egg whites until stiff and dry, then gradually add in two tablespoon of granulated sugar to each egg white until thoroughly blended. A drop of lemon flavoring improves all meringues. The high and rough in appearance, spreading to cover the entire top of the pie.

If meringue is drawn clear to the rim of the crust, it will not shrink or form drops of moisture.

Bake in a cool oven (200 deg. F.) for about 15 minutes. If baked slowly the meringue will not fall. Drops of water on meringues are also caused by not beating the sugar in enough. Meringues fall because they are baked too fast and in too hot an oven. To prevent this, pour the water out of the pan merely pour the sand back on the meringue again, and then washing in the second pan.

Spinach should not be cooked until it loses all its green, green, color and delicate flavor.

Spinach—You Can Make Them Like It

Won't they eat spinach? This method, recommended by the Safeway Store's Homemakers' Bureau, may change their minds.

First, remember that spinach is the only green vegetable which should not be cooked in plenty of water, only that which clings to after washing.

The best way to wash spinach is to use two pans of water, washing well in one pan, then lifting it out, removing the water, pouring the water out of the pan merely pour the sand back on the spinach again, and then washing in the second pan.

Spinach should not be cooked until it loses all its green, green, color and delicate flavor.

TABLE SETTING HINTS OUTLINED

Homemakers' Bureau Prepares Guide to Give Correct Information

CITES WESTERN STYLES

Table setting is often a problem for housewives. Books of etiquette sometimes disagree sharply as to the proper setting. Sometimes it's a matter of expediency, too, with the East and West far apart. For western homes, where informality is the rule, the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau has prepared a guide. Here in outline form are its main pointers.

Table linen should be spotless. Doilies, either linen or lace, are appropriate for informal luncheons and dinners. Colored linens are used only for luncheon and breakfast. For three formal seats, completely cover the table, using linen or banquet cloth or an elaborated lace cloth. This is placed on the bare polished table and not over colored cloth.

"Lace should be used in color if not in material. Breakfast and luncheon napkins may be small, but dinner napkins should be from 18 to 20 inches square. They are placed to the left of the silver, or if the table is covered with the service plate. They may be folded in a triangle for breakfast or luncheon, and in a square, folded very simply for dinner. If folded in rectangular shape, place with open lower corner toward the plate. Never stand a napkin on the table.

Table decorations should be kept simple. A centerpiece is always appropriate, but should be kept low, not obstructing the view across the table.

Candles have no place on the breakfast or tea table unless they are lighted and the room darkened by drawing the shades.

Silverware, whether plate or sterling, should be kept well polished and courses should not be served in the menu if the proper silver is not available. However, it is possible to substitute for various pieces.

The position of flat silver is, as a rule, one inch from the edge and several to the edge of the table, placing it in correct sequence as used, beginning from the outside and working towards the plate.

For Informal Dinner

For informal entertaining at home, not more than four or six place of silver (not counting the oyster fork) should be laid on the table at one time. These generally consist of knife, fork, and spoon. If necessary, additional pieces may be placed on the table before the course is served.

Knives are laid cutting edge toward the plate, next and to the right of the plate.

Spoons are placed next to the knife, if soup is to be served, the bouillon, cream soup or large spoon is placed on the outside; and next, the teaspoon.

Forks are placed on the left of the salad plate, first up. If salad is served western style (before the main course) the dinner fork is placed next the plate and then the salad fork. If the salad is to be served with the main course, or after the main course, the salad fork is put next the plate.

Placed on Plate

The cocktail fork or spoon is placed on the cocktail plate parallel to the other silver on the table. Through popular usage a spoon may easily be substituted for a cocktail fork, unless serving fish.

Silver for the dessert may be brought in on the plate or laid on the table just before being served.

The water glass or goblet is placed above the tip of the dinner knife. If other glasses are used, they are placed to the right of the water glass or in a line slanting from the goblet to the right.

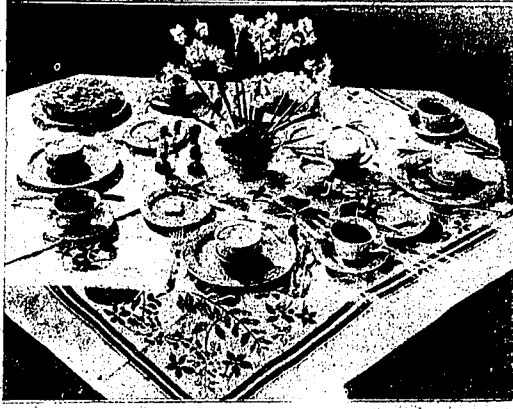

Bread and butter plates are placed above the tips of the forks, in a line with the water glasses.

Variety of Ways

Bread and butter spreader may be placed in a variety of ways, laid on the top or right side of the bread and butter plate with the blade toward the center of the plate, or diagonally across the top of the plate.

Salt and pepper containers may be placed at either end of the table within easy reach of the guests. If individual sets are used,

This breakfast table setting, arranged by the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau, shows how simplicity of arrangement, flowers and effective selection of china may combine to make a happy beginning for the day.

CRACKER PUDDING STILL FAVORITE

Old-Time Delicacy Retains Appeal As Result of "Going Modern"

"Cracker pudding" was a favorite delicacy back in your mother's childhood days, and it has come from New England or the Old South she was sure to have known this tempting concoction.

Particularly in the Southern States, where the Aunt Sambo and the Aunt Cindy ruled the kitchen, was cracker pudding popular.

Aunt Cindy, wielding her rolling pin to a good advantage and substituting a cup of cracker crumbs for a cup of flour, made the first "cracker pudding."

Although the modern variety of cracker pudding is a far cry from those the colored mummies turned out, it is equally wholesome and delicious. Today it may be frozen in the electric refrigerator, baked in the fireless cooker or just made plain.

Best Adapted

Graham crackers, particularly those baked with honey, are best adapted to cracker puddings. While their distinctive flavor lends a rich nutty taste to the dessert, their graham flour content introduces some coarse material or roughage into the diet, as well as some useful minerals.

Being sweet in themselves, graham crackers save sugar in cooking and make the pudding more economical. Their fuel value is high, being equivalent to 1955 calories per pound.

Here is one characteristic cracker pudding:

GRAHAM CRACKER BETTY
3 Graham crackers
1 tablespoon strained apple sauce
Whipped cream
Chopped walnuts

Roll graham crackers fine, three for each plate. Put in glass with a hollow in the center. Fill hollow with apple sauce, flavored with cinnamon and cloves. Spread with whipped cream and sprinkle with walnuts. Chill in electric refrigerator and serve very cold.

They may be placed for each cover or between every two covers.

The cream and sugar bowl may be put on the table; the latter in a silver-plated lump sugar. It is best used for a hot beverage. If coffee is to be served only with cold drinks, the cream and sugar bowls and saucers and creamer and sugar bowl are brought on with the course they are to accompany.

Here Are Hints On Dried Fruit Cooking

When cooking dried fruits, each from an apricot and figs, add a teaspoon full of cranberry to each quart of acid fruit when each half pound of fruit. This makes a good syrup and improves the flavor. In cooking very sour fruits such as raisins, you require a little salt in addition, and the flavor will also be improved by adding the sugar, etc. in a quarter of a teaspoon of soda to each quart of acid fruit. This softening it and much less sugar will be required.

SPRINKLE MIXTURE
2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons salt
1 cup milk (scant)
1 cup berries
1/2 teaspoon salt
Mix and sift dry ingredients twice; work in butter, with tip of fingers, add milk and berries. Bake in greased muffin pans 25 minutes in hot oven (400 deg. F.)

FAMILY IS WON BY HOT BREADS

Hot breads for breakfast, lunch or dinner—and nothing else matters—on 200 days hot breads or muffins seem almost necessary, at least once a day. How good they taste for breakfast with sweet butter and maple syrup! You just can't get enough. It isn't possible.

Of course, there is just one drawback to all this. Once you have started, there is no place to stop. The family will demand more and more. You may just as well invest in a large sized sack of flour and bake up all the old and new hot bread recipes—and proceed to outdo yourself.

Muffins always make a hit, too, and you can add almost any kind of fruit or berries for variety. Serve them at any meal. With bacon and coffee you have all the breakfast you want. Berry muffins make a grand dessert served with a highly nutritious sauce.

At a real stag party no woman should appear, and the hostess only duties are the "before and after" ones of preparing the food and eating up after the party. If father is the type who has some special pet recipe which is fond of concealing, by all means make that the high light in the meal, for he will then create pride, in making something just a little better or different than anyone else. Broiled or baked or juicy pie ribs of roast beef are favorites with manly folks and are also quite simple to prepare.

A dinner which is quite sure to draw in:

Thick Soup, au Potage or Split Pea
Prime Rib Roast of Beef or Broiled Steaks
Potatoes, Mashed or Au Gratin
Baked Onions or a Baked Green Veg table
Crisp Green Salad with Mayonnaise
French Dressing
Pigs or Pudding
Milk and Cream

Kitcheneering Experts Advise Real Stag Party for Father

Kitcheneering apparently leaves out father, although you'd be surprised at the number of men who attend the cooking school. So that father won't get neglected, the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau suggests something for him.

Every man enjoys a stag party and, of course, it goes without saying that the better the better the party. This doesn't mean "frills" or "fancy cooking" either, for when men, entertained by their own friends in their own way they invariably choose plain, rather hearty food.

Baked or broiled fish may take the place of meat. Pie seems to be a favorite dessert and the only care you need to take is to provide plenty of it. The course with which the coffee is served depends on the host, but it is a pretty safe thing to count on most of them preferring it with the main course, and then seems more with dessert.

Of course, father may be an inexperienced cook who has never been allowed to "try his hand" and he may feel a little thing about experimenting in his quest. In this case a meal could be planned to be actually cooked ahead of time. Then soup can be kept warm in a double boiler or be re-heated by a clam broth or sea food essential which is on the table while the guests arrive. Baked ham is good either warm or cold and scalloped potatoes are easy to heat in the oven.

Up to Host

The formality of the dinner depends on the host. If he wants to serve everything on one plate, eat all the food with the same fork and leave the dishes on the table, he should feel free to do so. However, it is the hostess' job to make sure that the correct silver is on the table or the guests are able to find they have to choose between a butter spreader and a teaspoon with which to eat their pie.

Everyone practices a good cook, give father his turn in the kitchen.

GLAZED HAM IS EASY TO SERVE

When we see the luscious baked hams that are used in advertisements, our mouths water but we think, "That's only a picture, for no one could bake a ham that would look like that!" But—that is just where you are wrong, for it is the easiest thing in the world to bake a ham that looks as attractive as any pictured one. It is almost as easy to prepare it for 20 as for two people, so it makes an ideal meal for any type of dinner.

Prepare smoked ham in usual way, by broiling in water till tender. Skin places in baking pan, stick whole cloves in top and place in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) until heated thoroughly. During last half-hour of cooking, pour on enough syrup to coat ham, add water in bottom of pan to prevent caramelizing and continue baking, basting occasionally. By small canned hams or slices of ham may also be glazed in this way.

Horseshell is an ideal accompaniment for baked ham, especially this horseshell cream sauce:

HORSHELL CREAM SAUCE
Blend equal parts of prepared ground horseradish and slightly sweetened whipped cream. Serve in tiny lettuce cups which come from almost leaves of heart. Sprinkle with paprika and serve one lettuce cup full of the sauce on each plate.
