MR. DEFENBACH

Prospective entry of Byron Defenbach into the Republican campaign for nomination as governor, will have a tendency to upset the political apple cart.

Defenbach is a force to be reckoned with in the Republican party. He is far from conservative; has a statewide acquaintance, is a fluent talker, and is experienced in the ways of government.

He was defeated in the last campaign by Governor Ross, and, perhaps, could not get the Republican nomination now, but his entry would split the vote four ways, and seriously perturb the G. O. P. forces in Idaho, for Mr. Defenbach is somewhat of a political maverick.

They thought that the last campaign definitely put him on the shelf. The situation he presents is similar to many others in the present campaign.

her work bag, her books and framed photographs and made them fast and ready to go.

"When the cigar was at last lit, she wrapped the ashes and but in a neat little crumpled paper and into the wastebasket and went down to telephone to her dearest friend, Louise, and told her to go to the March, but she'd be sure.

"No, Amy, stay at home. 'What are you doing?' she asked. 'I don't have some tennis. The courts ought to be dry enough by now.' Amy hesitated. 'Why don't you just go for a walk?'

"Immediately Jane was bent on tennis. 'I want to do something with some action to it. Walking bears me to death.' 'All right,' said Amy, resignedly. 'I'll come by for you as soon as I have my shoes.'

"They would play on the college grounds though, and they'd be open to the breeze during the day. Amy's father was professor of history, and faculty files were piled high in the library and the enclosed garden of the administration building. By the time Jane had put on her tennis shoes and taken her racket from its case Amy had arrived.

"'Why didn't you go to the tennis?' asked Jane as they started. 'Mother wanted to go so I stayed with Grandpa; he lent to me a set of tennis rackets and I went to practice. Louise thinks Grandpa likes it, poor old fellow. Father says I'm getting too big and grand. That's why I could leave.'

"'What do you think you'll ever do with your money? You stare away at it and you don't know what to do with it. You'll have to work for it, and now that you play the organ in church, but I don't see what it tells you.'

"'I don't care if I am. I don't care what anybody says about me in this dump.' 'If you don't care what people say about you, Jane, you can be very sure that people won't care what they say. And in a little city like this, where social circles are so small and intimate everybody always under observation. It can't be helped. The only place where you can do conspicuous things and not be conspicuous are desert lands or big cosmopolitan cities.'

"'You said that before.' 'You said that before. Don't think that I'll ever talk to Henry Beryan for two hours and a half steadily, though it may be a little more. I don't care if I don't know perfectly well you wouldn't have done it except for the money and the social circle and the chapter. PAUL MALLON'S NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Moving Events in the Nation's Capital by an Expert Interpreter and Commentator.

BY PAUL MALLON WASHINGTON—Most people have supposed an inner family circle when Elliott signed up with the shirt crumpled under his arm.

Things to establish peaceful relations with the administration. Certain street corners have also employed O. Max Gardner, former Democratic governor of Washington, to act as a liaison officer.

The main secret about Mr. Gardner's employment is supposed to be the contract he has with the chamber. This has not been made public, and will not be, but it is not a secret. You can learn that it contains some very interesting stipulations as to how the street boys can and cannot do the way of political agitation.

President's view is that the group members of his family are entitled to make a living in any way they choose, as long as they do not interfere with matters of state. That is the attitude of the administration.

Background—Elliott is the independent member of the House. He takes the position that he cannot help it that his father is President of the United States. He is entitled to make his own way in the world regardless of the position of his father.

You May Not Know That—

During the construction of the main canal for the north side project in 1907, the blast requiring 200 lbs. of powder was set off. Pictures of the blast are still in existence, and it was appropriately called the "Giant Sagebrush," according to Harvey Thurman, writing in the Jerome County Journal.

Three handsomely decorated vases have been received by Mrs. B. W. Gaudin from the Government. The vases are made from French 77 m. shells.

At a meeting held last week it was definitely decided to open the remaining 100,000 acres of the State Park on Sunday, Oct. 1. The opening will be conducted on the same general plan as the first 200,000 acres, which was such a great success.

National political authorities say that Cox, Senator Hulsey and Mr. Roosevelt are out of the race. The army and navy corps and the post office groups have some different ideas about that.

The personnel of the new territorial government will mean a lot to all concerned.

President's view is that the group members of his family are entitled to make a living in any way they choose, as long as they do not interfere with matters of state. That is the attitude of the administration.

There are inner indications that the aircraft lists are a very important matter. They are doing many things.

FRYING PAN TO FIRE

Sources close to the former German kaiser are quoted as predicting that a military dictatorship will presently replace the Hitler regime in Germany, and that the ultimate result might easily be a return of Wilhelm to Berlin.

Hitler's standing in the non-German world can be gauged by the realization that whereas this would have been very exciting and ominous news a few years ago, few people outside of Germany today will get very alarmed about it.

Hitler seems as great a threat to world peace as Wilhelm ever did. No military dictatorship would be apt to rest more heavily on the German people than does the Nazi dictatorship.

If the Germans want to make the change, the rest of the world is not likely to be very disturbed.

Judging from recent weather, it's an ill wind that doesn't blow good—and hard.—Lincoln County Journal.

CURRENCY FUND SHOWS PROFITS

Government Outguesses Keen Financiers of World in Trading Deals

(Copyright, 1933, United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 29 (U.P.)—The United States government, an amateur in international finance, has outguessed the world's leading financiers in a small trading profit—probably several hundred thousand—in the first two months operation of the secret $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

TUGWELL WARNS OF PROPAGANDA

Tells Farmers Not to Accept Pleadings of Special Interests

BROOKINGS, S. D., June 29 (U.P.)—Farmers have been warned against being "fooled by clever propaganda" into opposing the government's agricultural program by Under Secretary of Agriculture Rexford Guy Tugwell.

"Many of you," he said, "have heard the clamor of the processors that the processing tax should be abandoned, say I urge that when you hear this plea you ask the special pleader what he would substitute for this tax."

"Ask him from whence would come the benefit payments which are raising the farmers' incomes and which hold out to agriculture the prospect of a just parity."

He said that fear-bleating farmers would not be impressed by the claims of the "special pleader" that economic laws would make the necessary adjustments and that it is a "moral sin" for farmers to attempt control of production.

TUGWELL WARNS OF PROPAGANDA

Tells Farmers Not to Accept Pleadings of Special Interests

BROOKINGS, S. D., June 29 (U.P.)—Farmers have been warned against being "fooled by clever propaganda" into opposing the government's agricultural program by Under Secretary of Agriculture Rexford Guy Tugwell.

"Many of you," he said, "have heard the clamor of the processors that the processing tax should be abandoned, say I urge that when you hear this plea you ask the special pleader what he would substitute for this tax."

"Ask him from whence would come the benefit payments which are raising the farmers' incomes and which hold out to agriculture the prospect of a just parity."

He said that fear-bleating farmers would not be impressed by the claims of the "special pleader" that economic laws would make the necessary adjustments and that it is a "moral sin" for farmers to attempt control of production.

DIES PLANS BILL FOR SILVER OUT

Texas Lawmaker Will Request Reduction in Content of Dollar

WASHINGTON, June 30 (U.P.)—A bill to reduce the content of the silver dollar from 41.25 grains of silver to 206 grains will be introduced immediately on convening of the next congress and pushed for immediate action, according to Rep. Martin Dies, D., Texas.

Dies pointed out that the action would be following out in silver the same devaluation policy that was adopted for gold. It would mean the issuance of over $5,000,000,000 in new currency.

"On account of the tremendous public indebtedness such action is imperative. Dies said, "to make tolerable the burden of debt and to give the country sound money redeemable in silver dollars. It will mean a rise in the commodity dollar of 25 per cent."

Dies said to incorporate in a bill a provision compelling the secretary of treasury to issue silver certificates at the statutory monetary value ($120 for each ounce of silver).

The young Texan, sponsor of the Dies silver bill, which passed the recent session of congress and which calls for purchase of $2,000,000,000 ounces of silver, pointed out that the 50 per cent restriction on content of the silver dollar will give the United States more than $2,000,000,000 in silver dollars. "The content of the gold dollar, was cut from 23 grains to 15 grains, but the content of the silver dollar has not been reduced," Dies said.

"My new bill will require the 50 per cent new silver currency to reduce the government's indebtedness and to pay the operating expenses."
