EMPLOYERS PLAN FORCED OPENING OF 'FRISCO PORT

Industrial Association Warns Mayor Deadline Falls At 3 P. M.

DEMANDS POLICE GUARD

Trucks, Drivers Prepare to Run Blockade Choking Piers With Cargo

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2 (UP)—The Industrial association of San Francisco at noon today notified Mayor Angelo Rossi that it proposed to open the port of San Francisco at 3 p. m. today.

The port has been virtually closed by the strike of longshoremen and marine workers since May 9.

Members of President Roosevelt's mediation board yesterday had asked the Industrial association to forego its plans for at least another day. This morning a lengthy telegram was sent from Washington to the mediators but its contents were not revealed.

Trucks Ready

The Industrial association has had about 20 heavy trucks, with drivers, in San Francisco for more than a week. These will be sent to the piers which are stacked high with cargo. Their purpose will be to begin moving this cargo away from the piers, thus ending the stagnation of traffic which has resulted from refusal of union teamsters to haul cargo which has been handled by non-union longshoremen.

The police have promised guards for such operations. They will be instructed to maintain order.

Notice from the Industrial association was given to the mayor in the form of a letter from J. F. Forbes, association president.

The letter asked for "all necessary protection" from the police.

The letter said: "We do not be[lieve] that the police force of this city will be unwilling to give us the protection necessary to enable us to operate our piers."

MARIE DRESSLER STATUS CRITICAL

Beloved Film Player Emerges From Coma, Talks Weakly To Friends

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., July 2 (UP)—Marie Dressler, 65-year-old screen favorite, remained in a critical condition early today with no noticeable change reported by doctors at her bedside.

The beloved trouper, who had emerged from a somnolent condition to speak feebly to those surrounding her, continued to fight off death. Her physicians saw no immediate crisis.

She spent a restless night.

Yesterday she dozed throughout the day. Her pulse was 74, respiration 24, maximum temperature, doctors reported, was 101.

Among the visitors at the estate where Miss Dressler is confined was Louis B. Mayer, head of the actress' studio. He spent three hours talking with doctors.

On leaving he admitted that it was "difficult to be optimistic" over her condition.

LOCAL CONCERNS TAKE NEW SITES

Trolinger's, Hamilton's Move From Former Locations; Shop Opens

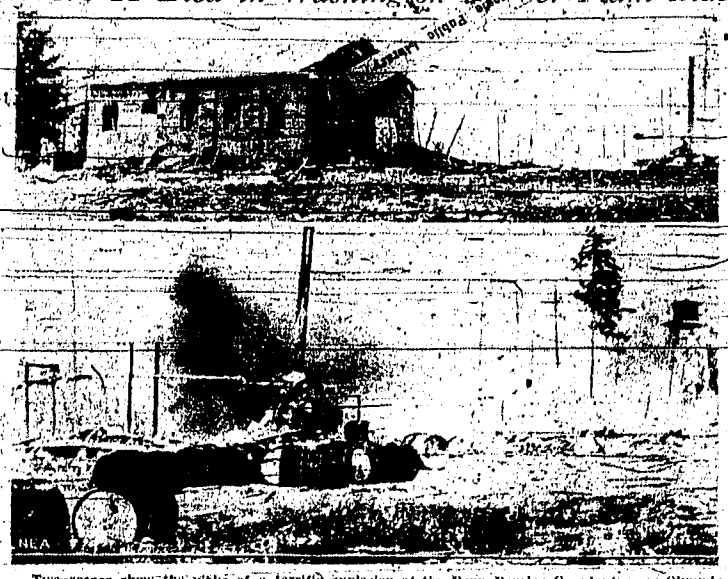
Changes in locations for a number of Twin Falls business establishments were in effect today, following removal operations yesterday.

Trolinger's pharmacy, which has been located in the Weaver block between Shoup and Main avenue east, opened for business this morning in the Weaver block at 127 Main avenue east. The store room has been remodelled and redecorated and a new plate glass and window background installed.

Removal of Hamilton's grocery store, where it has been located since it was established four and one half years ago at Main avenue east and Shoshone street, to the British building on Shoshone street, was completed yesterday. The store will be opened for business tomorrow morning, it was announced.

Notice from the Idaho Power company that electric service would be discontinued at the Hamilton location at 5 p. m. yesterday, and that service would be started at the new location at 8 a. m. today, was responsible for the change in time of the opening of the new store.

Where 11 Died in Washington Powder Plant Blast



Two scenes show the wake of a terrific explosion at the Dean Powder Co. plant, near Olympia, Wash., where 11 workers were killed and five critically injured by an explosion of newly mixed dynamite. Upper, concrete storehouse which housed 40 tons of high explosive where fire wardens and volunteer workers worked valiantly to prevent another blast. Remains of mixing room and plant where blast occurred is shown below.

20,000 Cheer U. S. Fliers at Warsaw

Throng Greets Pair On Arrival at Capital

WARSAW, July 2 (UP)—The Adamowicz brothers of Brooklyn landed their trans-Atlantic plane at the Warsaw airport at 5:40 p. m. today, and were greeted by a wildly cheering crowd of 20,000 citizens.

The two fliers, sodapop manufacturers with a yearning for flight records, had intended to fly one-stop from New York to the Polish capital.

Their plans were interrupted three times, first when they were forced down for lack of fuel in a field in France, again in Germany, and once more in Poland.

The last stages of their flight were made with the aid of a "home-made" landing skid, fashioned from the tongue of a farm wagon, to replace part of the big Bellanca's tail, which was broken in their first landing.

FORCED DOWN

BERLIN, July 2 (UP)—Joseph and Benjamin Adamowicz, Polish soft drink manufacturers of Brooklyn, made a forced landing today at Thorn, on their way to Warsaw, their goal on their trans-Atlantic flight.

A leaky gasoline line caused the landing. They had left Thielmendorf, where they spent the night, at 9:30 a. m. Thorn, a town in the Polish corridor, is half way to Warsaw from Thielmendorf.

The brothers landed at Metz, France, and then made a forced landing at Thielmendorf.

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, Cal.—Well, the President left on his cruise aboard what must be Jesse Jones' boat, for he called the Potomac. I expect that guy Hitler has had to be on a boat headed somewhere about now. Germany has some sort of a custom where they allow you to commit suicide in case you have been found to be against the government. Over here we just let you go on making speeches and it amounts to about the same thing in the end.

Well, they finally got that Kaiser wedding over with. There ain't nothing that will do more to add comedy relief to our reading of strikes, wars, revolutions and world uncertainty than to read about a society wedding. Yours,

PREMIER GUILTY, WILL QUIT POST

Chief Justice Hints Possible Reversal of Brownlee Conviction

EDMONTON, Alberta, July 2—Prime Minister John E. Brownlee, branded the seducer of a 22-year-old government stenographer, was expected to resign today. He had already notified the lieutenant governor of Alberta province of his intention, it was reported.

A jury Saturday found that Brownlee had seduced Vivian MacMillan, and awarded her $10,000 damages. It awarded $5,000 to Miss MacMillan's father.

Acting Chief Justice W. C. Ives, in dismissing the jury said:

"I think I should say openly and publicly while you are here, that I strongly disagree with your decisions. That is all. You may go."

Asks Dismissal

M. H. Porter, K. C., counsel for the defense, moved for dismissal of the verdict on the appeal that no damage to the plaintiff had been proven.

Neil D. MacLean, K. C., counsel for Miss MacMillan, opposed the motion.

"I say I feel this court cannot render a verdict contrary to the decision of the jury," MacLean said.

"I have done it on two different occasions and have been upheld by the court of appeal," Justice Ives replied.

He reserved judgment on the motion until tomorrow.

Strike Settled

GULFPORT, Miss., July 2 (UP)—The Gulfport longshoremen's strike was settled today on the refusal of the International Longshoremen's association to support Moreman's association's demands, it was announced by Gulfport Maritime association that loading and unloading of ships would be resumed today.

POSSE CAPTURES FLEEING BANDIT

Confessed Hold-up Arrested After Running Gun Fire In Canyon Here

Following a running gun fight with police and members of a posse of 100, pressed into service by Chief of Police M. L. Elrod early Sunday morning in Rock creek canyon, Athel George, 24, alias "Blondie," was captured at 5 a. m., and officers said today had confessed to the hold-up of John Serum, near the Twin Falls Canal company's yards here, five hours before.

George was in jail at the police station today. Elrod said he would be turned over to the county for arraignment and sentence.

The man is believed to have taken $7 and a watch from Serum, after he had threatened and attacked him. A companion of Serum's, Jess Graves, notified police, who chased George into the canyon.

Bullets Pierce Hat

He was fired at several times, two bullets piercing his hat. Under Elrod's direction, the canyon was surrounded by Officers Howard Gillette, Ernest Lancaster, Earl Williams, and Ted Gookner, and by John Bates, Laurel Howard, Claude Severt, Leslee Morse, constable, and Jack Bell, fire chief. They closed in on their prey, and he finally was taken by Gooknor and Bates at 5:30 a. m., after he had eluded search by getting under brush and into the water.

Elrod said that George confessed he was out on suspended sentence for robbery at Martinez, Calif.

Serum, the hold-up victim, said he was accosted by the man at 12:30 a. m. "Give me your dough," Serum said he was told, and then was jumped upon, and relieved of his watch and money.

Butte Labor Plans Workers' Parade

BUTTE, Mont., July 2 (UP)—Labor prepared today to stage a demonstration of its strength in Butte with a huge parade of union workers tonight.

Officials of the miners and engineers union predicted between 4,000 and 7,000 men, women and children would march behind union banners as a sympathetic gesture toward 3,000 striking copper miners.

Calm after an outbreak of mob violence Saturday night, Butte expected no further trouble this evening.

President Relaxes as Cruiser Carries Party on Sea Vacation

ABOARD U. S. S. GILMER, Down Chesapeake Bay, July 2 (UP)—President Roosevelt, who knows how to take a vacation, and does it best at sea, relaxed completely today from the strain of directing national affairs.

As the cruiser Houston bore him southward over placid Atlantic swells, the President put off responsibility and idled pleasantly in the companionship of Franklin, Jr., his son, youngest of his sons-in-law.

Most important event was planned during the day as the Houston slipped through the Virginia capes into the Atlantic. Aboard the Houston was Rep. William A. Ayres, D., Kan., Democratic chairman of the house committee on the Federal Trade commission.

Ahead of the Houston, cruising in the Atlantic, were thousands of Navy officers and men, who were ordered to observe the President's every movement throughout the hours of his vacation.

Only three newspapermen are along. They are quartered on the destroyer Gilmer, following in the cruiser's wake. Another destroyer, the Williamson, completed the convoy.

Mr. Roosevelt's vacation started shortly after 6 p. m. yesterday after he signed with Frank C. Raymond, Seattle, Washington corporation, and appointed Rep. W. A. Ayres, D., Kan., to succeed James Landis, newly named securities commissioner, on the Federal Trade commission.

Blocked up from Cuttyhunk, Mass., the Houston and Gilmer were joined by the destroyer Clemson, which had been standing by at Newport, R. I., to put to sea with the President's party.

DARROW BOARD'S BROADSIDE RAPS NRA MONOPOLIES

Final Report Claims "Little Fellow" and Consumers Are Squeezed

TERMS CODES TOO WIDE

Assets 'Powerful' Interests Oppress Smaller Firms Under Set-up

BY LYLE A. BROOKOVER

WASHINGTON, July 2 (UP)—For the third and last time the Darrow recovery review board reported today that the NRA is squeezing the "little man" and the consumer and bolstering huge monopolies.

The board's final report was made public today. It differed from the earlier findings only in the specific injustices cited. The conclusions were the same as those of its first and most effective bombshell.

The report completed the public life of the board ripped in answer to widespread complaints regarding the recovery agency. Clarence Darrow, caustic chairman of the group, has already left Washington.

Expect Outburst

As the plan it was expected the new report would bring an outburst of charges from Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief.

The board took cognizance of some code revisions inaugurated by the NRA, but maintained that the situation was substantially unchanged.

Basic charges made by the board:

Codes have enabled powerful interests to seize control of industries and to extend a control already established.

Codes not only permit but foster monopolies. Small enterprises

MASTERS ENTERS IDAHO CAMPAIGN

Land Office Register Seeks Democratic Nomination For Congress

Definite announcement of candidacy for nomination as congressman on the Democratic ticket was made today by Ira H. Masters, register of the U. S. land office at Blackfoot, and former newspaperman.

He issued a statement of principles upon which he hopes to be nominated and elected to the position held by the late Thomas C. Coffin, whom he nominated for mayor of Pocatello. Masters was a candidate in the congressional primaries two years ago, and ran second.

Granted Leave

A leave of absence has been granted him by the interior department at Washington, for a month or more, he said.

Many candidates are entered in this campaign but I am taking no part in their contests and I am not the candidate of any group or faction," Masters says. "I am the people's candidate, and will work for their interests and for Idaho. During the past 20 years as a

JULY 4 PROGRAM ADDS NEW EVENT

Bathing Beauty Contest for Two to Six Year Olds Planned Here

A new event for Twin Falls Fourth of July celebration Wednesday was announced today by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, in a statement this afternoon revealing that in addition to the bathing beauty contest, there would be a similar contest for kiddies between the ages of two and six.

A $5 prize is being offered for the winner of this event. Mothers are asked to register the names of entrants at either of the local newspaper offices at once, according to Vee Hudson, secretary of the club, and chairman of the bathing beauty events.

An additional entrant into the young women's province, announced today, includes thirteen girls, sponsored by the Penney company.

Judges will be announced later, it was announced by the committee in charge of the events.

BERLIN, July 2 (UP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's swift, ruthless smash against rebellion has suddenly shifted the battle of power of the Nazi regime from wild-eyed radicalism towards the right or conservative wing.

The extermination of his clientele stifled the incipient movement before it began and he emerged from his first big internal crisis with his personal popularity and prestige heightened and his political position strengthened.

Crowds Cheer Hitler

His decisiveness and ruthlessness seemed to have captured the imagination of the people. Crowds in front of the chancellery in the Wilhelmstrasse Sunday afternoon cheered wildly when he appeared momentarily at a window.

In striking at the SA, Hitler is smashing the instrument which was the original source of power and contributed principally to his rise to the dictatorship.

In executing his friend and confidante, Ernest Roehm, head of the Storm Troops, Hitler coldly cut a diseased spot from his body politic and earned the admiration of the public, to whom Roehm's moral perverseties were well known.

Roehm rose to powerful position and became a Reich minister, occupying a palatial home opposite the Italian embassy in Berlin's aristocratic quarters.

Staged Orgies

There he gave lavish parties and orgies which were the open scandal of Germany. It was estimated he spent 30,000 marks $11,700) a month of Nazi funds on entertainment.

MAN SLAYS FOUR AT YACHT PARTY

Kills Guests in Cold Blood Because Frolic Hindered His Sleep

EAST TAWAS, Mich., July 2 (UP)—A. J. Wood, 53, East Tawas, was to be arraigned today on first degree murder warrants, charged with the slaying last night of four persons and the serious wounding of one other, following a yachting party which he claimed interrupted his sleep.

The dead:

Sheriff Charles C. Miller, 38, Iosco county; Dr. Stanley Somers, 31; Lloyd Hayes, 35, and Mrs. Lloyd Hayes, 31. Roy Hickey, East Tawas, was injured seriously by the gun fire.

Traps Guests

According to state police the party, being given in honor of a group of yachtsmen, was held in the house occupied by Arthur A. Janson, Wood's son-in-law. As the guests were leaving, Wood appeared with his shotgun. He encountered Dr. Somers upstairs and killed him instantly. Trapping the Hayes couple inside the house he blew off both the man's arms and shot Mrs. Hayes in the breast. Both died a short time later. Roy Hickey, a guest in the home, attempted to escape through the bathroom. Wood fired twice through the locked door. The charge struck Hickey in the arm. Hickey then jumped to safety through a window.

Sheriff Miller, attracted to the house by the shooting, approached the rear of the home. Wood suddenly appeared, opened fire and fatally wounded the sheriff.

WAR HERO SLAIN AS REVOLT HEAD

Firing Squad Ends Fanatical Career of Ernest Roehm, Hitler Ex-Friend

(Copyright, 1934, United Press)

MUNICH, July 2 (UP)—Five o'clock on a Sunday afternoon. A firing squad of brown-shirted storm troops stood at attention in the courtyard of Stadelheim prison.

Ernest Roehm, war hero, trusted friend of Adolf Hitler and supreme head of all storm troopers, was led forth. He faced the firing squad, a volley sounded and that meteoric career of a fanatical, slightly mad power in Nazi Germany was ended.

Dies as Traitor

He died at the order of a friend whom he had worshipped. Carried away by misguided zeal for the supremacy of Nazism he was a power traitor to the party.

Roehm's end was probably the most dramatic event in the stirring happenings of a crowded, bloody Saturday and Sunday. Hitler, apprised of the plotting of Roehm and his accomplices, flew suddenly to Munich Saturday. After dealing with Roehm's fellow plotters the chancellor went to Roehm's villa in the suburban health resort of Wiessee. There he found Roehm, a moral pervert, in bed with a companion.

His face set, masking any emotion, Hitler ordered Roehm to don

NRA PONDERS FORD LETTER

DETROIT, July 2 (UP)—Ford officials left NRA Administrator Hugh S. Johnson to argue with himself today over whether the major automobile code holdout at last would enroll under the Blue Eagle.

They offered Johnson no aid in his attempt to discover whether a rubber-stamped letter presented to him Saturday was a declaration of Henry Ford's intention to make peace with NRA.

Louis J. Colombo, Ford counsel, announced that the letter had not come from Ford's office.

The letter was written to R. O. Sabine, Bethesda, Md., Ford dealer, by William Cameron, Ford's secretary, the United Press learned. It was not addressed to Johnson.

The ultimate destination of the letter might have been Johnson's desk, it was learned. A Ford official said Sabine has been battling for a chance to bid for government contracts.

DOCTOR ASSISTS DILLINGER CHASE

Physician, Slugged After Aid To Gangsters, Gives New Clues in Hunt

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 2 (UP)—A small town physician who was slugged in return for a deed of mercy sought vengeance today in a search for John Dillinger and a gang of ruthless killers.

Nursing a head wound from a crushing gun butt, Dr. Leslie Laird of North Webster, Ind., gave information to police and federal agents which spread a search for Dillinger over Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

The officers flung a gigantic net of men over highways in the theory that two men who compelled Dr. Laird to treat a gunshot wound and then cold-bloodedly beat him into unconsciousness were members of a gang which robbed the Merchants National bank Saturday of $26,890.

One Killed

Patrolman Harry Wagner was killed by machine gun fire, a bystander critically wounded and a bank officer and customer wounded slightly when the bandits opened a sweeping fire on police and passing pedestrians.

Capt. Matt Leslie of the Indiana state police said he did not believe the desperadoes [illegible] Chicago, but could be [illegible] Ohio and Illinois.

Leslie was struck down by the bandits as he attempted to aid the wounded officer.

court martial held in Berlin and finish."

All sorts of reports were circulating, some undoubtedly exaggerated. It seemed probable, however, that a number of secondary leaders were executed, committed suicide, or were killed in resisting arrest.

When the revolt broke Saturday, it was announced that a number of leaders had died in one of those three ways. But official announcements of storm troopers' deaths have listed only names of men executed.

Papen Aides Arrested

As the government continued its investigation of the revolt, it was learned from an authoritative source that all but one or two members of the staff of Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, conservative leader, had been arrested.

Hindenburg's telegram was regarded as particularly significant because Papen is listed as a close friend of his, and is supposed to be his intimate political contact.

The telegram also constituted his own denial of reports that the President was desperately ill. His health has not been good for years, as he suffers from chronic prostate trouble.

Deny Papen Death

In its "mopping up" process, the government denied, although in vague terms, some of the more sensational rumors surrounding the disposition of Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen, variously reported as executed or a suicide.

Papen himself, it was said, was not under arrest, although he was under guard—protective custody—at his home, as was Prince August Wilhelm, fourth son of the former Kaiser.

Jews May Benefit

The position of the Jews of Germany under the "purified" Hitler regime was regarded as uncertain. In the political crisis which brought his control almost to collapse, it was believed Hitler would have little time for the "side-issue," but in many quarters it was believed that the crash of the radical Nazi wings might mean the end of the more vitriolic policy against the Jews.

PRINCE UNHARMED

BERLIN, July 2 (U.P.)—The government announced today that all reports that Prince August Wilhelm, fourth son the former kaiser, had been shot or had fled were "incorrect."

The prince remained in Villa Liegnitz, his Potsdam residence.

Reports that Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen had been executed or committed suicide were denied.

PARIS, July 2 (U.P.)—The French government issued a categorical denial today of reports published in Germany that the alleged anti-Hitler plotters and Gen. Kurt von Schleicher had traitorous relations with France.

"Neither directly nor indirectly," the government statement said, "were the instigators of the plot in contact with the French government."

JUNIOR C. OF C. PLANS FOR FETE

Date for the pioneer celebration to be held in Twin Falls this fall, and sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is expected to be set at a dinner meeting of the organization at the Rogerson hotel at 7 p. m. today. The affair will mark the completion of a membership drive.

C. H. Detweiler headed the Red team, and Louie Leopold is chairman of the Blue team. Losers will pay for the dinner.

Committees for the celebration will be named, according to Voy Hinkins, secretary, and matters in connection with the chamber's parts in the Fourth of July observance here this week, will be reported on, he said.

Local Girls Active In Camp at Payette

Sixty Girl Reserves from Magic Valley, who returned to Twin Falls late last week, took an active part in the work at the Girl Reserve camp on Payette lakes, according to Mrs. Frankie Barnhart, local secretary.

Mrs. W. E. Anderson, who accompanied the group, gave the sermon at the Sunday morning church service. Her topic was "Prayer as a Means of Solving Problems." Miss Mary Ellen Stowe sang a solo at this service.

Costume prize of the party of Twin Falls girls was won by Marian Lomax, Kimberly, and Alice Lewis, Twin Falls, who went as Indian climbers. Minnie Barbara Boling, Louise Stringer and Maybelle Stevens were members of the camp executive committee.

Miss Margaret Davis, Kimberly, served as camp nurse.

Catherine Hill, Hollister, gave the invocation at a picnic dinner, the high point of which was a $6.00

RUTHLESS ACTION SOLIDIFIES GRIP

Hitler's Swift Suppression Of Revolt Strengthens Hold on Populace

fanatical extremism led to a breach. The real rift began when Roehm demanded incorporation of the Sa into the Reichswehr or regular army, with himself and his Brown Shirt officers retaining their rank.

Such a move would have brought violent opposition from France and other powers and also was opposed by strong elements in Germany which could not consent to such terrific concentration of power in the hands of the radical Nazis. President von Hindenburg, Hitler's puppet and the reichswehr objected vehemently. Roehm felt that Hitler should have supported him and the rift widened rapidly.

Hitler apparently is determined to reduce the strength of the Storm Troops to its normal quota of 100,000 men or perhaps less. He ordered a 30 day vacation for the Sa without uniforms and at the end of the period many thousands of the members probably will be cut from the party payroll and returned to civilian life.

The outstanding results of Hitler's action may be summarized as follows:

1. His personal position is greatly strengthened.

2. He has shifted the foundations of his regime's power further to the right.

3. He has rid himself of his greatest internal difficulty, namely elimination of the Sa extremists.

4. He has weakened and divided the left elements of the Nazi party.

5. He has taken steps to pull the teeth of the Sa.

Opponents Divided

6. He has created a division among leaders of the nationalist right wing, weakening their solidarity and compromising some of them with his own movement.

In his blow at extremist elements of the Sa and his shift towards the right, Hitler has narrowed the former broad basis of Nazi power and based it on the Reichswehr, Hermann Wilhelm Goering's Landespolizei or state police, the Steel Helmet war veterans and the Sa Storm Troops.

The latter is the elite organization of the Nazi army comprising about 100,000 finely trained men in smart black uniforms. Goering's Landespolizei comprises a splendidly trained body of green uniformed Prussian gendarmes, estimated to number about 80,000.

Hitler probably will proceed with a wholesale purging and housecleaning of the entire Nazi party, similar to the purging which frequently occurs in the Fascist and Communist parties of Italy and Russia.

Paralysis Victim Dies; 2 Improve

BOISE, July 2 (U.P.)—Of three Idaho, CCC workers brought here Saturday from a small camp beyond Idaho City, suffering with infantile paralysis, one died that day. The other two were reported doing nicely today in the veterans hospital.

No paralysis cases are now under quarantine in the city. There have been three or four sporadic cases, one of which was fatal, the others in mild form.

DEATH COMES TO WILLIAM FISHER

Twin Falls Man, 85 Years Old, Dies of Chronic Ailment

Death came yesterday at Hailey Hot springs to William Mallory Fisher, sr., 85, Twin Falls resident since February, 1919.

He succumbed to a chronic ailment at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sampson, at 3:30 p. m. The body was brought to the White mortuary here. Funeral services will be conducted at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday at 2:30 p. m., with burial in the Twin Falls cemetery. Rev. G. I. Clark, pastor, will preside. Friends may view the body at the mortuary between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. Tuesday. The family requests that no flowers be sent.

Mr. Fisher is survived by his wife, and by a daughter, Mrs. Mary Frances Sampson, Hansen, with whom he and Mrs. Fisher had made their home for the past three years, and by two sons, Dr. W. M. Fisher, jr., Twin Falls dentist, and George Fisher, Salina, Kans. A son, John, died in infancy. Surviving also are four grandsons, and one great grandchild.

Mr. Fisher was born in Monroe county, Ohio, Nov. 18, 1848, and received his education in that state, graduating from Mount university, Oxford, O., with the class of '72. He served a term as a national president of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

His career was that of an educator, serving as superintendent of schools at Owensboro, Ky., and at El Dorado and at Arkansas City, Kansas. He married Mary Ann Wells in Owensboro in 1875.

For 40 years he served as an active elder in the Presbyterian churches of Kentucky, Kansas and Idaho.

He was the son of John and Ruth Mallory Fisher.

Previous to the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher to Hansen, they resided on Blue Lakes boulevard. During his residence here, Mr. Fisher had been associated with the Consolidated Wagon and Machine company in that concern's office.

Too Drastic

Codes covered too much ground and were too drastic.

The report pointed out the government had lost thousands of dollars through refusal to allow non-holders of Blue Eagle to bid on government business.

That problem is now uppermost in NRA affairs what with the President's order allowing 15 per cent price cuts on government bids and question of Henry Ford's approval of the Blue Eagle.

Ford's approval of the NRA was announced by Johnson but Monday it seemed that an apparent "feeler" letter had been sent by the Ford Motor Co. Johnson expects this will lead to complete peace.

The third report contained supplemental recommendations on 12 codes.

NEW YORK VISIONS ALL-GOTHAM SERIES AS HALF-WAY NEARS

YANKEES, GIANTS HEAD BOTH LOOPS

Increase Lead as Result of Sunday's Campaigning in Major Leagues

BY THERON WRIGHT

NEW YORK, July 2 (UP) — As New York clubs in both major leagues roar toward the mythical moment — July 4 — when baseball soothsayers claim you can pick each loop leader as the ultimate flag winner, metropolitan fans are beginning to book odds and talk of a "five-cent series."

The five-cent series means you can reach either Yankee stadium or the Polo Grounds on a subway. The Yankees, boosting their lead in the American to a game and a half — the most they have enjoyed since they battled in the west — are quoted by Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner, at 7-5 odds to cop the pennant. The same exchange prevails on the Giants, leader in the national.

Bronca Wins Another

The Ruppert rifles seem to have all cylinders barking again. Yesterday young Johnny Broaca, Yale's latest gift to baseball, gleaned up the series in Washington, 5-2, to win his third victory in four tries, and it gives the Yanks four able throwing men — Gomez, Ruffing, Murphy and Broaca — bowling at a .700 clip or better.

The only other club where you will find that many top flight throwers is the Giants, where Hubbell, Schumacher, Luque and Bowman are all throwing at .700 or better.

Doyle, who makes a living out of such things, bets Detroit at 2-1, Washington at 4-1 and Boston at 6-1 behind the Yanks, while in the National he will take money at 9-5 on St. Louis, 2-1 on Chicago and 8-1 on the Pirates.

Giants Trim Dodgers

Yesterday the Giants justified Doyle's optimism by belting out the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-4, with two home runs. The first, by Travis Jackson, scored two head in the sixth; the second by Lefty O'Doul chased one home in the seventh. Schumacher got the win.

St. Louis held the pace in a long-winded duel with the Cincinnati Reds. Dizzy Dean elbowed seventeen innings against Tony Freitas of the Reds, then gave out. Jim Lindsey went on to win, 8-6, in the eighteenth, but Dean got the game. The nightcap was called, 2-2 in the fifth due to darkness.

Tommy Thevenow, of Pittsburgh, spanned the Chicago Cubs' eight-game streak, smacking a double in the ninth to score both waners and win for the Pirates, 5-4.

The Boston Braves got two against Philadelphia, 6-5, in the first and a 3-0 shutout, engineered by young Bobby Brown of Albany, in the nightcap. This boosted the Braves into fourth place.

Detroit Splits

Detroit lost a half game to the Yanks, splitting with St. Louis. They dropped the first game, 3-2, but blasted three Brown tossers was 15 hits, including doubles by Rigell, Cole, Fox, Goslin and Schoolboy Rowe, the pitcher, to win the second game, 12-3.

Alton Benton of the Athletics pitched three hitless innings against Boston; then the Red Sox leaped on him for six runs, chased him away in the fourth and won, 10-3, moving to third place.

Cleveland stayed in fourth place, a point ahead of the Senators, by splitting a brace with Chicago. In the first, the White Sox attacked Monte Pearson for eight runs in the second inning and won, 12-5. The Indians won the second game when Willie Kamm singled in the eleventh with the bases loaded, winning 4-3.

TRIMS YANKS

Henry Cotton, English pro at the Waterloo club, Brussels, Belgium, captured the British open golf tournament and broke the 10-year struggle hold of American stars.

FLY-CAST PRIZE LIST ANNOUNCED

Ten Awards Will Be Given Winners in July 4th Competition

Jack Redden and Ray Marks, handling the fly-casting event which will be staged on the high school lawn on the morning of July 4, have announced the prizes for contestants. There will be 10 awards given the winners in the two contests, as follows.

For accuracy, first place $7 cash; second place $3 cash. For runner up in this event, first place $5, second place $3. In tackle at Doll's Cigar store, third prize, Ball Hand sport shoes by McElwain's Shoe store.

For distance, first place will receive $7 in cash; second $3. The first as runner up $5 in cash; second $3 tackle donated by Ray Mark Service station; third place a Bond flash light donated by the Wiley Flag stable.

Practicing by some of the en*trants has been going on at the* platform at the high school lawn on evenings of this week; and indications are that there will be a goodly number of entrants, Redden said.

Extra prizes announced today included:

Brunswick cigar store — $2 in trade to person winning second in distance casting.

White House — $2 in trade to person winning second in accuracy casting.

HAMMAN VICTOR AT DALLAS MEET

DALLAS, Tex., July 2 (UP) — "Dark Horse" Leland Hamman of Waco, Tex., enjoyed the greatest day of his golfing career yesterday as he defeated the former national open champion, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, in the finals of the Trans-Mississippi tournament and was presented a $1,000 check by his elated father.

Hamman's 3 and 2 victory over Goodman, former trans-champion, climaxed a week of upsets that witnessed the elimination in early rounds of Gus Moreland, former titlist and 1936 Walker cup player and Lawson Little, British amateur champion and also a Walker cup player.

First Major Title

The title was the first of major importance Hamman ever won. He eliminated Moreland in the 1933 national amateur — and western amateur tournaments.

Hamman carded a 69, one under par, in the morning round, while Goodman took a 75. Hamman was one over par for the 18 holes of the afternoon round.

Hamman played with remarkable coolness throughout the match and refused to wilt during Goodman's streaks of brilliance.

RUPERT LOSES

RUPERT, July 2 (Special) — Will McIntosh, star Rupert pitcher, laid up from strained muscles, Dello defeated the home squad here yesterday, 7-5.

Rupert and Dello are to play July 3 and 4 here immediately following the rodeo each day.

YESTERDAY'S HEROES

Willie Kamm, Indians — Singled in seventh with bases loaded winning ball game.

Bill Rogell, Tigers — Three hits in four trips.

FILER CAPTURES GOODING CLASH

Wins Tight Baseball Battle By 7-5; Buhl Conquers Kimberly, 10-2

FILER, July 2 (Special) — Filer defeated Gooding here yesterday in a close and fast Southern Idaho league game, 7 to 5.

Gooding banged out a 2 to 1 lead in the second frame and stayed out in front until a two run outburst by Filer reversed matters in the fifth. The invaders scored once in that frame to tie things up again, but three tallies in the seventh gave Filer its winning margin.

Landholm held Gooding to seven hits. Filer collected eight off Andrews and Williams. Edwards, Cole, and Adkins sparkled in the field for Filer; Serpa was brilliant at second base for Gooding.

BUHL WINS FINALE

KIMBERLY, July 2 (Special) — Buhl's powerful outfit kept its unbroken record intact here yesterday by defeating Kimberly 10 to 2.

The win gave Buhl a perfect slate as leaders of the first round in the western division of the Southern Idaho baseball league.

Timely hitting in the pinches accounted for the victory, since almost all of Buhl's scoring was concentrated in two big innings. The visitors scored three times in the opening canto, once in the third, and six more in the eighth. Kimberly chalked up a counter in the second, and then attempted a ninth inning rally that ended after one run crossed the plate.

Boyd and Hammond poked out homers for Buhl, and Smith hit a circuit clout for Kimberly. Homling on the mound for the victors, held Kimberly to five hits.

Hanes and Shepard, Kimberly, collided while racing for a hit ball in the eighth inning. Hanes was "cocked out" by the impact.

OLSON CRACKS BUHL RECORDS

Course records tumbled at Clear Lakes golf club yesterday when Dick Olson, Canyon Crest professional, turned in an 18-hole card of 67.

Olson, playing an an extra with one of the inter-club threesomes yesterday, stroked the first nine in 30 and the second in 36.

Both nine-hole marks break the former records, Buhl linksmen said. Olson played with Otto Parry, Jim Sinclair and Ralph York.

Bowling Alleys to Reopen on July 15

With improvements and remodelling rapidly nearing completion, the Twin Falls bowling alleys will be ready to reopen about July 15, it was indicated today by Fred Stone.

The alleys are being entirely resurfaced, and the interior of the establishment has been rebuilt and redecorated. Teams are already lining up for the city bowling league, Stone said.

ANGELS, BEAVERS SPLIT TWIN BILL

Los Angeles, Hollywood Take First and Second Places For Initial Week

By United Press

Los Angeles and Hollywood occupied first and second places in the second half of the Pacific coast league split season standings after the first week of play, Sacramento and San Francisco were tied in third place.

Phil Radonita pitched a one-hit seven-inning game for Seattle and Hollywood required 16 innings to beat Oakland in Sunday games that stood out from the usual.

Angels Split

Los Angeles split a double header with Portland, winning the first 4 to 3 and dropping the second 2-1 to 2, to end the series with six victories, one defeat. The Angels got 11 hits off Bryan in the opener, Fay Thomas and Meola, who relieved him in the eighth, allowed the Beavers eight hits including Welburn's home run. It was Thomas' 22nd straight win. In the nightcap, "Hitch Hike" Ulrich held the Angels to seven hits while the Beavers got 12 off three Los Angeles mound-men.

Hollywood captured the opener from Oakland 7 to 6 after a bitter struggle decided in the 15th inning. The Stars scored five runs with the aid of Jacobs' home run in the first inning. In the seventh, the Oaks tied the game. Each scored once in the twelfth. Hal Hald, who relieved Doughas in the 12th, was charged with the defeat and Sullivan, who relieved Sheehan in the seventh got credit for the victory. The Stars outhit the Oaks 18 to 14. The nightcap was seven innings by agreement, and it ended in a 3 to 3 tie and must be replayed. Frank Shellenback held the Oaks to four hits as the stars got six off Rego and Lihan. Hollywood won five games and lost one in the series.

Senators Win Two

Sacramento played double-up baseball behind good pitching to win both ends of a doubleheader with the Missions, taking the series four games to three. Scores were 5 to 3 and 8 to 4. Lou Koupal pitched a seven-hit game in winning the opener and Donovan helped out with a home run, one of 12 hits the Solons got. In the nightcap, Paul Gregory allowed the Padres 11 hits but scattered them as the Senators got 12 off Mitchell and Osborne in the seven innings.

San Francisco won the opener from Seattle 6 to 1 and dropped the seven-inning second game 2 to 1. The Seals got only six hits off Kallio and Hielbun compared with 10 Seattle hits off the winning pitcher, Leroy Herrmann, in the first game. Hunt scored Seattle's only run on a homer in the sixth. In the abbreviated nightcap, Radonita one-hit pitching should have been worth a shutout but the Seals scored in the seventh. Marty got the hit. Sam Gibson allowed the tribe four hits but walked five men. The Seals won the series four to three.

According to estimates, there are 4,800,000 Free-Masons in the world.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 2 (UP) — Sidney B. Wood and Francis X. Shields, both of New York, advanced today to the semi-finals of the All-England tennis championships.

Wood joined Shields in the round of four by eliminating Vernon G. Kirby, unseeded South African player. Wood won 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0

Shields Trims Austin

Both are singles players on the U. S. Davis cup team. Shields, American champion and seeded No. 5 in the tourney, downed H. W. (Bunny) Austin, English Davis cupper and No. 4, 4-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3, 7-5.

George Lott of Chicago, U. S. Davis cup doubles player, was not so successful as his mates. He was eliminated in a quarter-final match by Fred Perry of England, ace of the British cup team and No. 2 Perry entered the semi-finals with a 6-4, 2-6, 7-5, 10-8 victory.

Stoefen Loses

Another member of the U. S. team, towering Lester R. Stoefen of Los Angeles, was eliminated by Jack Crawford of Australia, the defending champion. Crawford, seeded No. 1, defeated Stoefen, 7-5, 2-6, 7-5, 6-0.

Wood was impressive in defeating Kirby. He won easily the South African's masters' serve in the third set when the New Yorker became temporarily erratic.

Kimberly and Buhl Will Meet Burley

BURLEY, July 2 (Special) — Two baseball attractions are on the program here for tomorrow and for the Burley July 4th celebration.

On Tuesday evening at 5 p. m. Burley will meet Kimberly of the western division in the Southern Idaho league. The tilt, scheduled as a benefit for Jay Thompson, Kimberly player and high school coach who was injured in a game several weeks ago, will be held at 5 p. m. at the fair grounds.

The July 4th attraction will match Burley against Buhl, the best, west end leaders. The clash will be called at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the fair grounds as a feature in the varied Independence day program here.

A new treatment for aluminum hardens the surface, makes it proof against tarnishing or scratching, and helps to resist acids and corrosive agencies.

BOXING CARD ON RUPERT PROGRAM

Stan Gelling Tackles Hanes In Main Event at Fourth Of July Matches

By CLAYTON NETTING

RUPERT, July 2 (Special) — A 24-round July 4th fight card sponsored by the Rupert A. C. promises to offer an exciting program of slugging bouts with at least two knockouts expected. The boxing card forms part of the comprehensive Rupert July 4th celebration, which includes a rodeo, baseball game, band concerts, street sports, novelty events and other attractions.

Gelling vs. Hanes

For the main boxing match, Stan Gelling, 148, Rupert, who won the southern Idaho amateur welter crown in the Twin Falls tournament, is booked for eight rounds with Glut Hanes, 149, rugged Kimberly fighter.

In a special event, Slugger Kane, 160, Filer, will battle Al Gerlach, 160, Burley, in a 6 round contest.

The card also includes the following scraps: Semi-final Ace Richardson, 145, Declo, vs. Ed Klauser, 153, Rupert, six rounds; preliminary, Tommy Kirk, 115, Rupert, vs. K. O. Smith, 115, Rupert, four rounds.

Wrestling Match

A fast lightweight wrestling match will be curtain raiser. Reed Parmen, 135, Rupert, will match holds with Tommy Cathey, 135, Acequia.

The scraps are scheduled for 8 p. m. July 4 in the Rupert rodeo park, which has a seating capacity of 1,800. At least 1,200 are expected to attend.

Canyon Crest Gleanings

BY DICK OLSON

The golfing program at Canyon Crest for July 4th will include the club's first mixed foursome event. It will be a two-ball tourney.

Greens at the club are undergoing a new and complete renovating.

Fairways are also to be put in better shape.

Dr. J. C. Toulon, one of the country club's boys, has challenged the writer of this column to a game for blood. Come along, Doc! And may the best man win!

The Southern Idaho Golf association matches this month will total three, including yesterday's play. The next are booked for July 8.

BURLEY WINS GAME

HAZELTON, July 2 (Special) — Burley nosed out Hazelton here yesterday, 10 to 8, to climb into a deadlock with Rupert for the eastern division lead in the Southern Idaho baseball league.

MORE HOPE FOR FARMERS

If the statistics compiled by L. H. Bean, economic adviser for the AAA, tell the whole story, a genuine and substantial recovery seems to be setting in for the farmer.

The farm price index, reports Mr. Bean, has gone up very materially. The farmer's cash income, during the first four months of this year, was approximately 43 per cent above the income for the same period last year. From August, 1933, when the distribution of benefit payments began, to last April, total farm cash income was 25 per cent above the income for the same period in the year before.

To be sure, the farmer's expenses have risen, also—by about 12 per cent. But the American farmer, according to Mr. Bean, is still left with a gratifying net increase, most of which is due to rises in prices of produce rather than to payments made by the government for crop reduction.

The farm price level is still ridiculously low, especially as applied to the products of southern Idaho. If only normal returns were received by growers of wheat, hay, potatoes, beans, seed, livestock and by dairy producers, this section would be enjoying prosperity.

A healthy agriculture must be the basis for any real recovery in this country.

JAPAN COPIES AMERICA

An American newspaperman who is touring Japan this summer writes back that no other nation on earth is making quite such an effort to copy American manners and customs as is Japan.

Baseball has become Japan's national game, and every vacant lot in Tokio finds a game in progress. Tokio is the only world capital (outside of North America, at least) where you can get such peculiarly American delicacies as apple pie a la mode, elaborate ice cream sundaes, and old-fashioned pop.

The taxis and pleasure cars in Tokio's streets are largely American; the streets carry electric signs in the American style, there are typically American movie houses and dance halls, flappers dress in American style, business men sip American cocktails before dinner, and any Tokio restaurant can give you a T-bone steak cooked just as an American cook would prepare it.

This sort of thing is only the froth on the surface of international relationships; but a traveler who knew nothing of foreign affairs would be justified in leaping to the conclusion that between the United States and Japan there was a solid and unbreakable friendship that no threat of trouble could ever shatter.

The sad fact, of course, is that the reverse is true. When we lay down a new cruiser, or order a new fleet of bombing planes, we cock one eye in the direction of Tokio, and the same thing happens over there.

In each nation there is an abundance of fear, suspicion, and distrust of the other nation, and in the last few years the situation seems to have become worse instead of better.

All of which leads to the suspicion that the whole business of international friendship is an illogical and incomprehensible puzzle.

And yet this eagerness on the part of the Japanese to adopt American gadgets, American habits, and American manners may, in the long run, prove to be a powerful and beneficial force.

The differences between the two nations are not, after all, fundamental things that arise from unchangeable traits in national characters. They come from temporary conflicts in national aspirations.

If trouble can be avoided for the next decade or so, this underlying friendship ought to get a chance to do its work.

At bottom, Japan wants to be friendly. Wise statesmanship can make it possible for that desire to be realized.

ON A DIFFERENT PLANE

Authorities at a New England teachers' college have ruled that women students must not wear ankle-length socks, except on the tennis court. The reason given is that these little socks are "unbecoming to future teachers."

There will be little difficulty in finding plenty of people to agree that the ankle-length sock is unbecoming. But why, one wonders, is it especially unbecoming to a future teacher? If the stenographer, the future housewife, or the future saleslady can wear them, why can't the future schoolma'am?

The school teacher often suffers a good deal from the common notion that she ought, somehow, to be set apart from the ordinary run of people. She has to be especially trained for her job, of course, and she has to be a woman of character and intelligence; but sometimes the insistence that she observe a different code than other women observe gets carried altogether too far.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

CHAPTER IA

THE tennis courts were at the back of the gymnasium and as the two girls turned to the path across the campus Amy stopped. "Wait a minute. I want to look along the elms."

"What on earth for?"

"I don't know. They stand there so grandly and their shade's so light and free instead of solid like the maple's. I like to remember them when I'm playing Schumann's 'Papillons'—they've got the same rhythm."

"I thought you told me the other day nobody ought to take of one art in terms of another."

Looking at Elms isn't an art." Amy said it dreamily, still regarding the trees.

Jane was impatient. "Oh, do come on! I forgot to tell you Aunt Rose said Henry Berwyn was fearfully dumb and that it must have been a chore to talk to him."

Amy joined her. "Henry is dumb. His grade in chemistry is A plus. What did you talk about, anyway?"

"He was arguing with me to stop smoking cigarets. But I made him give up two packs. I don't know why all the men in this town have to be so deadly."

"They're not. Don't you like Edgar Moreland and Vanny Hunt? They're all right."

"They're not so bad, I suppose, but they're nothing extra. It isn't that I want more men around, Amy," Jane spoke as if hands of ardent wooing were blocking the pavements. "It's the whole town. It's living here. It's so dull—the same old people year after year and everybody knowing everything about everybody else."

They had reached the courts. "You might invent a way to spark me your underhand serve," said Amy. She dropped her racket, tightened the net, got the balls out of the bag while Jane looked on. That was Jane's way.

JANE was by far the better player, but if she missed a stroke it fussed her and made her miss the next. Amy played steadily, evenly, and as if she enjoyed it. As soon as the score mounted against Jane she was frantic, smashed her serves, tried to kill every return, declared balls out that were in and turned the game into a fight. Her voice went high and her cheeks scarlet. It made Amy ashamed for her. "It's always like this," thought Amy, distressfully. "I'll have to let her win to calm her down."

So she began to slam her own serves into the net, to miss the easiest returns. After two love games Jane's mood was normal, even superior. "You must be getting tired," she said amiably.

"Let's sit down and cool off," Amy said. "I want to fix my hair, too."

From the bench beside the court they could look abstractly across the campus and see the Ellert Museum and farther on the Hall of Science and the main dormitory building.

"I'll tell you what's the matter with your game, Amy," began Jane, readjusting hairpins. "You don't study the placing of the ball. You just try to get it over the net, any old way."

This was too much for Amy. She flung back her head and began to laugh. She simply couldn't help it. Jane stared at her. "What's the matter? I didn't say anything funny."

Amy Lowe

"No, I just happened to think of something." She must divert Jane quickly. "I wonder who that man is coming out of the Museum. Look—in the brown suit."

They both looked. The man was young, tall, square-shouldered. Even from a distance he suggested good breeding and competent personality.

"Somebody to run the eminent Ellert's gold bricks, I suppose," said Jane. She watched the young man as he walked slowly down the street, looking about him as if to locate himself. There was something familiar about him. She felt she must know him, or have seen him before. Then she remembered Ann Veronica and her lover. Why, this man was like Carla, the tall, blond, ruddy Capes. "He's awfully good-looking," she said.

"He is rather twice," agreed Amy.

"Now there it is," grumbled Jane. "If an interesting man does come to town he calls on old Ellert and goes through the museum and then he leaps right off again. Nobody meets him."

"The next time we have Professor Ellert to dinner I might tell him not to be so stingy with his visitors, but to remember that this town is full of beautiful, bored young women thirsting for new experiences. I wonder what he'd say?"

"He'd go popeyed. And your father would chil you down." She was still watching the young man who stood hesitating at the corner of Jane's street. Amy followed her glance. "Let's go along and take a look at the handsome stranger," she said.

"Very well, if you want to," said Jane, assuming indifference but rising instantly.

THEY were equally tall, slender and straight, but Amy, though a year younger, had the more mature, more quiet bearing. Jane was restless, self-conscious, always adjusting her hair, her hair, holding her hands up, elbows out, watching to see if she was observed. Amy was thinking of Jane's manner as they walked along, wishing that she wouldn't take games so hard and be so tense and so unhappy and yet, with it all, so superior. She knew that it was these traits that made Jane unpopular with their own crowd and she had a shrewd notion that if Jane were more popular she would be much happier.

"Where'd he go?" Amy asked aloud. She had been thinking so hard that she had forgotten to watch the stranger. "Why, he vanished away like a bonjum. Isn't that queer?"

"He must have gone down Audubon street. That would be toward the hotel if he's staying at the Reader," said Jane in an odd, stilled way.

"He might have called in somewhere. Let's see. The Dowlings, the Gates, the Purdys, the Morelands—well, there's no sign of him and we can't very well do a house-to-house search. He is lost and gone forever, Clementine. Jane, do you think Miss Read would let me have her 'Song of Three Centuries?'"

"I'll ask her when she comes home," said Jane, hurrying on.

"Maybe she's home now. I'll just stop and see."

"She couldn't be home yet. She was going calling after the tea. I'll call you up this evening or I'll bring the book over."

It was a dismissal. For some reason Amy could not fathom Jane was trying to get rid of her. Amy was used to Jane's odd ways but this was too much. "I'll call up this evening and ask Miss Rose myself," she said. "And the next time you don't want me to come with you just say so, and don't make excuses that a child could see through. I'd much rather you'd be rude than tricky."

Jane was just starting to dash into the house but she stopped. Startled by Amy's sharpness. Then she hung her arms around her friend and gave her a hard, excited hug. "Don't be cross," she said breathlessly. "I'll call you up this evening. I must run and wash—It's so queer—" and she ran up the steps before Amy could answer.

AMY went on, swinging her racket and smiling in spite of her feelings. Presently somebody came running after her and she glanced around to see Edgar Moreland.

"What's the rush? Who've you been tennising with?"

"Jane."

Edgar shrugged. "I was just going to say that I'd like to have been along, but not with Jane. The last time I got roped into a doubles with her was the last time. What I mean is it was the last time! Never again."

"You mean, it was the last time?" she mocked him.

"Don't be picky." Though she was tall, Edgar was tall enough to grin down at her. "Lord, but you look lovely today. There's something about you, woman, that's unique and priceless. And yet behind that peerless countenance there lurks no shadow of common sense. Otherwise you wouldn't be so thick with Jane Torry. And, speaking of Jane, who's the new young man who's calling on her?"

"I don't know. Calling on her, what?"

"Right now, I came home just when he went up the steps and it wasn't five minutes later when I saw you going down the street and I galloped out after you."

"What did he look like?"

"He was tall and fair and very handsome. Not so handsome as I am, of course—"

"Did he have on a brown suit?"

"He did. And a straw hat. I can offer you his data on his shirt, socks, or tie, as I was not close enough to get the details."

It all clicked together, the man, the time, the place.

"I don't know who he is," said Amy. "I saw him coming out of the Museum and walking toward the Terrys'. It must be the same man. So that's where he went."

"That's where he went, and little do I think of his taste. But maybe he was calling on Miss Rosa and, if so, okay," said Edgar. "Listen, am I coming to see you tonight or is Vanny or Bill Hobart or who?"

"I'll think it over and send out a bulletin," said Amy and went on into her own home. That silly Jane! The man was probably a book agent.

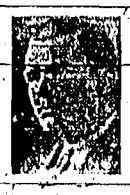
PAUL MALLON'S NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS



An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Fast-Moving Events in the Nation's Capital by an Expert Interpreter and Commentator.

(Copyright, 1934, by Paul Mallon)

POLITICS

WASHINGTON—The White House is maintaining the practice of impartiality in the Democratic primaries and congressional election contests only, as an official pose.

On the inside, it is doing all the usual things, and even some unusual ones, to elect its friends and defeat its enemies.

That is an old game. All Presidents have realized that they may get their fingers burned if they start playing with local political matches. So they adopt the natural policy of avoiding official commitments while working very actively on the inside to attain the desired results.

President Roosevelt is proving himself wiser in that game, so far, than most of his predecessors.

METHOD

The President has found several ways of letting local voters know who his candidates are without indulging in open endorsements.

The latest example of that is the handling of the Republican progressive friends of the administration. You can write it down in your hat right now that Mr. Roosevelt will not, openly endorse Senators La Follette, Cutting, et al, as long as they have Democratic opponents. He cannot do it because he would get into trouble with his local Democratic organizations.

His feeling is that the Republican progressives are his friends. He would like to see them elected. He cannot openly endorse them as long as they are opposed by Democrats or by other progressives who are also his friends.

All he can do is help them indirectly by inside pressure and by public hints. For instance, in the way he chose patted Senator Tom Connally on the back in a warm display of friendship before a number of Texas callers at the White House.

OHIO

The best example of the way the system works can be had in the inside story of what happened in Ohio during the last few days.

Democratic Governor White had announced as candidate for the senate. All was quiet on the beautiful Ohio. Then Ex-Governor Vic Donahey jumped into the race against White for the Democratic senatorial nomination. With only two days of filing time left, Ex-Governor Cox of Ohio and Senator Bulkley held a few hasty conferences in and out of the White House here. Shortly, Representative West flew out to Ohio and filed his name, making it a three-cornered race.

No one around the White House has said anything publicly and probably no one will, but you do not need a spyglass to see who the White House favors in that race.

REASONS

What happened on the inside in the Ohio situation? Why, this and was this!

The administration was quite content to have Governor White as the Democratic senatorial nominee in the first place. There had been advice built about White's failure to release his delegation to Roosevelt earlier at the Chicago convention of 1932, but it was not serious. At least, Postmaster Farley and the others swear that they harbored no ill feelings, and they seem to be sincere about that.

Two things made Farley and the White House political advisers decide to put West into the race. One was the fact that Mr. Donahey got in. Mr. Donahey's endorsement of his candidacy contained an endorsement of the New Deal, but in rather general terms. At least, Messrs. Farley, et al, thought the terms were too general and not quite enthusiastic enough.

The second thing was that certain influential Democratic authorities from Ohio came trooping into Washington (cumulatively, during the last few months) whispering that White would not win the election if nominated. He had some difficulties as governor which (they thought) had injured his vote getting power.

Whether or not their views were accurate, they convinced the administration crowd here that a strong administration candidate should be put into the race.

The administration tried to be as friendly as possible to White. There are good reasons for believing he was offered consideration, possibly even a federal job. He would not withdraw, and the inner circle here is convinced he will not withdraw any time before the primaries in August. He is not the withdrawing kind.

PAIN

An even bigger headache than the Ohio situation is in California. There the national organization went so far as to endorse the progressive Republican, Senator Hiram Johnson, much to the discomfort of some of the Democratic local leaders, who followed along late, reluctantly, or not at all. The insiders say Johnson is to be the single exception to the general rule against endorsing Republicans.

What to do about the prospect that the prominent Socialist, Upton Sinclair, may win the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is another question. The administration does not want to get a Socialist label, because there has been too much talk about Roosevelt policies tending toward Socialism.

HINT

It will never get out publicly, but a few NRA leaders slipped up to the White House the other day and suggested that the President fetch new NRA chief before he leaved for Hawaii.

Members of the group were not wholly unsympathetic with General Johnson, but they have a feeling that he has overworked himself at the superhuman task he has been doing, and cannot be expected to give his calmest judgment to it now. They went away without a definite answer.

Celebrations in this part of the state will be held this week at the following places, in addition to Twin Falls on July 4:

Rupert, July 3 and 4; Hailey, July 4, 5 and 6; Jerome, July 4; Burley, July 4; and at Clear Lakes, July 4.

HISTORY Of Twin Falls City & County

As Gleaned from Files of The Times

15 Years Ago

An Special features of the Round Up—the Twin Falls baseball club has arranged a series of exhibition games with the Filer and Paul teams, to be played at Round Up park. Doubleheaders are planned on Thursday and Saturday, with one game tomorrow. There will be no games on the Fourth.

Announcement has been made of the election of J. H. Barker as cashier of the First National bank of Hailey to succeed J. W. Earle, whose retirement is forced by ill health.

Homer S. Cummings, national chairman of the Democratic committee, will be in Twin Falls, July 10, as the guest of the county committee, according to a telegram received yesterday by County Chairman John Dimond from the national chairman's party, now touring the west.

27 Years Ago

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly mill construction is progressing nicely. The roof is on the main building which is four stories high, and the office and machinery rooms are about completed. The mill will be ready for operation by the last of August. W. H. Thoman, manager of the mill, has purchased the Frank Brothers place just east of town. Eighty dollars per acre was the price paid. . . . William M. Van Benton has returned from the hills where he went for poles, but owing to the extremely bad weather and poor roads he was able to bring back only a small load. . . . The roads are being graded under the direction of A. L. Beadle. . . . Mr. Charles McMaster has erected a new hay derrick on his place near here. He is constructing another on his ranch southwest of town. . . . The Ladies' club was entertained by Mrs. W. H. Turner and Mrs. Sadie Brothers at the home of the former last Thursday afternoon. . . . Ernest U. McIntyre opened up a butcher shop last Monday morning. He has decided that there is no place like home.

Miss Hagler Fetes Friends at Bridge

FILER, July 2 (Special)—Miss Hethene Hagler entertained at two tables of bridge Wednesday evening. Miss Nadine Hagler won high score prize and Miss Ruth McCoy won low. Guests were Misses Pauline Hagler, Ruth McCoy, Dorothy Cline, Evelyn Dale, Helen Potter, Ila Newberry and Eleanor Schick. Refreshments were served.

Methodist Ladies' Aid will meet July 10 instead of July 3 as formerly announced. Mrs. Jay Shearer will be hostess July 10.

Mrs. T. D. Wilson entertained at a dessert luncheon Wednesday. Contract bridge was played, with prizes going to Mrs. Lynnville Brown for high score and Miss Jesse Edwards for consolation.

Mrs. A. E. Scholten entertained at a party and weiner roast Friday afternoon for Julie Rae Fahlen. Guests were Betty Ann Johnson, Janice Jensen and Marjorie Rayborn. Julie Rae received a handkerchief shower.

Two Church Groups Picnic at Jerome

JEROME, July 2 (Special)—The members of the Presbyterian church held their annual picnic in the Jerome city park Friday. One hundred attended the event. Games and sports formed the principal diversions of the day.

The picnic for the students of the Methodist vacation Bible school was held Thursday afternoon at the fairgrounds at Jerome. Baseball games were the chief feature of the day. Punch and cookies were served late in the afternoon.

GOODING PICKS 'MATH' LEADER

Prof. Mary E. Haller Will Head Division Starting Next Autumn

GOODING, July 2 (Special)—According to the report of Prof. Lloyd C. W. Tenney, Mary E. Haller, associate professor of mathematics in the University of Washington, has been chosen to head the mathematics department of Gooding college, Miss Haller is a Maryland girl, who taught elementary and junior high schools five years, in her native state, after graduating from the Allegany county high school and the Frostburg State Normal school. Coming to the northwest in 1923, she entered the University of Washington and received her bachelor of arts degree in 1924, taught mathematics five years in the Renton high school and then, as a teaching fellow, returned to her alma mater, which awarded her the Master of Science degree in 1931, and conferred the degree of Doctor of Philosophy on her June 18, 1934, with Phi Beta Kappa honors in addition to the membership she already held in Zeta Mu Tau, and Pi Mu Epsilon, mathematics; Sigma Pi Sigma, Physics; Pi Lambda Theta, Education; and Associate member of Sigma Xi, science.

She has traveled extensively in the United States, Canada, and Panama and has had wide experience in Camp Fire, Kappa Phi and other young people's work, which she is anxious to take up and carry on at Gooding college, when the fall term opens Sept. 10.

90 Jobs Open at Southern Branch

POCATELLO, Ida., July 2 (UP)—First come, first served apparently is going to be the standard for obtaining work at the University of Idaho, southern branch, next fall.

Dean John R. Nichols has issued a call for applications for the 90 jobs that will be available for a select few from the anticipated 1,000 enrollment.

DIE IN FATAL STRUGGLE

ZENIA, O. (UP)—Fishermen in a stream near here discovered two carp, locked in a fatal grip, dead and floating. One carp had buried its mouth in the throat of the other. Scarcity of food caused by low water was blamed for the apparent effort of the fish to eat each other.

OPEN HOUSE HONORS FIFTY-YEAR ROMANCE

An Idaho romance of more than 50 years duration will be honored Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Darcy Benoit hold an open house on the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Williams, Mrs. Benoit's parents. The romance reaches back into the early days of pioneer Idaho, when E. B. Williams, one of the first postmasters of Ketchum, met Nellie Easley, daughter of John Easley, who established the Easley stage station just across from the present site of Easley hot springs, in 1881. They were married July 3, 1884, at the station.

Pioneer Background

The bride had behind her a background of self-preserving. As a child she had traveled to California and back in a covered wagon, and had spent her girlhood at the station. The bridegroom was 85 prove himself a real pioneer. They owned and managed the hotel at Ketchum until the spring of 1904. Then they moved to Twin Falls where Mr. Williams, and the late Senator Frank Gooding, opened the first drug store. He and Mrs. Williams supervised the furnishing of the Perrine hotel and presided at its formal opening on Thanksgiving day in 1905. They managed it until Sept. 1, 1917.

Mr. Williams was the first settler to make application for final proof on land on Twin Falls tract. He has been a member of the city council, was trustee on the school board at the time the Hickel school was built, and was representative of the State Land Board for the Twin Falls project for a period at the time of the Salmon river opening and at the opening of the First Segregation of the North Side. In partnership with Harry F. Aiken he opened the Idaho theater. He served also as federal employment agent here recently. Mr. Williams came to Idaho in 1879 by stage over the Old Oregon Trail.

Charter Member

Mrs. Williams also has been active. She was a charter member of Chapter D, P. E. O. Sisterhood and of Twentieth Century club. Later, when Chapter D was divided, Mrs. Williams became a member of Chapter AI. She has been president and for many years was secretary of Ascension Episcopal Guild.

Other pioneers of Twin Falls will pay tribute to these two tomorrow evening. As is fitting, and as they wish, the informal pioneer spirit is to be maintained throughout.

NEBRASKA GUEST IN HONOREE AT BRIDGE

Honoring Miss Marian Dickey, Omaha, Neb., who formerly lived in Twin Falls, Mrs. H. L. Averett entertained over the week-end at an afternoon of bridge. Mrs. Bernard Albertson received high score prize and Miss Dickey a guest prize. Guests included beside the honoree, Miss Eva Burkhalter, Miss Vernis Richards, Mrs Floyd Elson, Eden; Mrs. Ray Fersondus, Mrs. Bernard Albertson, and Mrs. Sam Hedstrom.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Givens entertained at an anniversary dinner yesterday afternoon at their home on Second avenue east. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Givens and family, and Rev. and Mrs. Mackey J. Brown.

BOISE WEDDING IS SIGNIFICANT HERE

Significant socially both in Twin Falls and Boise was the ceremony in St. Michael's cathedral, Boise, at 11 a. m. today, which united in marriage Miss Dorothy Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Parsons, Boise, and Marshall B. Chapman, Twin Falls. The Very Rev. Frank A. Rhea, dean of the cathedral, read the service.

The bride wore a frock of cream lace and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Melvin Ashray, Spokane. Guy C. Hendrickson, Twin Falls, was best man. Only immediate relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman have left for a wedding trip to the coast, during which they will visit the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mary Chapman, in San Francisco. They will be at home here in the Reed apartments shortly after July 15.

Mrs. Chapman is a graduate of the University of Idaho, where she was a member of Delta Gamma, national sorority. For the past year she has taught in Twin Falls high school. Her father, L. F. Parsons, is secretary of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Chapman is a member of the law firm of Chapman and Chapman here. He was formerly official court reporter of the fourth judicial district at Gooding.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Orr Chapman and daughter, Miss Olivia Chapman, were Twin Falls guests at the ceremony.

Guests were Edna Jean and Verna Mack, Celestine Salmon, Charles Wilburn Hobbie Long, and Guy Al Lee, jr. Mrs. Al Lee was assisted by Mrs. C. Williams and Mrs. Julian Spellops.

BRIDE OF JOHN JACOB ASTOR

Filer Party Fetes Two Anniversaries

FILER, July 2 (Special)—Mrs. W. R. Short entertained Wednesday evening at dinner, honoring the birthdays of Mrs. W. F. Nicholson and Mr. Short. At pinochle Mrs. C. McKibben, Kimberly and R. Williamson won high score prizes and Miss Lillian Haynes, Twin Falls, and R. Cederholm, Buhl, consolation prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dwight Outlock, are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Dwight.

Mrs. Beatty, his son, Herbert, and daughters, Dorothy and Maxine, have gone to Oklahoma. They will also visit Missouri. Miss Dorothy Gentry plans to enroll in the University of Missouri this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tanner and sons, San Diego, Calif., are visiting in Filer.

Miss Edith Davis, Yakima, Wash., who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Davis, left for Yakima Thursday morning. She was accompanied by the Misses Evelyn and Omah Davis.

England and Wales had 363 deaths from influenza in the first four weeks of this year, as compared with 5230 deaths from the same cause in the same period of 1933.

RITES HELD FOR MOTHER, INFANT

JEROME, July 2 (Special)—Largely attended funeral services were held here yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Edna Thomas and her infant son. Rev. Louis Sutton, pastor, conducted the ceremony in the Presbyterian church. Kenneth Eplinan sang, a solo, and other musical numbers were furnished by a mixed quartet.

F. H. Albertson, R. V. Fritzler, C. J. Carney, Guy Toole, B. M. Callon and H. M. Trappen served as pall bearers. Interment was made in Jerome cemetery under the direction of the White mortuary, Twin Falls.

PLAN CHURCH PICNIC

Annual picnic of the Church of the Brethren will be held at the Twin Falls county fair grounds at Filer on the Fourth of July, it was announced today by Rev. C. H. Hinegardner, pastor. The entire membership and all friends of the church are invited, he says. Guests are asked to bring basket dinners, and those interested in athletics are urged to bring soft balls, bats and other such equipment. Transportation will be furnished those having no means of conveyance.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN PLANS NEW FILM

(Copyright, 1934, United Press)

HOLLYWOOD, July 2.—(U.P.)—Charlie Chaplin, long absent from the screen, is about to produce a new motion picture.

That much the famous comedian had admitted today. He also revealed that the Goddard, Paulette Goddard, is his leading lady. But the theme of his new vehicle is being closely guarded, and it is unlikely much more information will be given out until production gets under way approximately a month from now.

Chaplin has not been seen on the screen for several years.

The Gary Coopers (Sandra Shaw) today were on their way east vacationing — with the Coopers bound for the Hamptons on Long Island. Sandra appeared unconvinced Gary was reading just wasn't the thing this year.

The current church campaign to clean up the movies apparently has the sympathy of Ann Harding, blonde film star.

Miss Harding, whose new picture in schoolgirl fashion, saw "hotcha" signboard portrayals of her role in the forthcoming costume picture. They showed her in an unmodest gown sitting on a man's lap.

So the star of "Holiday" surprised by her studies and demanded the posters be torn down because there wasn't anything like that in the film and because she wouldn't be, as pictured, she would never appeared in a censorable picture.

The signs came back to the studio late the next ...

Reports it will take more than two weeks to re-shoot censored portions of Mae West's new picture today were branded as greatly exaggerated by her studios.

Producers announced the re-shooting will require only two days at the most and will be completed this week.

GIRL RESERVES RETURN

FILER, July 2 (Special)—Misses Eileen Haag, Carmen Hardin, Mickey Case, Louise Fenwick, Mabel Grindstaff, Ruth McCoy, Mervlee Mouser and Maxine ... again returned Thursday from the Girl Reserves camp at Payette lakes. Carmen Hardin and Mickey Case served in the executive council and Mickey Case was editor in chief of the paper, "Payette Ripples."

Of the more than 20,000,000 residents of French Indo-China, only about 24,000 are Europeans.

ENJOY THIS WAY OF INCREASING YOUR ENERGY
Smoke a Camel —and notice its "energizing effect"
With the pleasure of Camel's distinctive flavor comes an added benefit—an actual increase in your flow of natural energy. That exhausted, "dragged-out" feeling slips away... your "pep" comes flooding back.
This discovery, confirmed by a famous New York research laboratory, means that by smoking Camels it is possible to restore the flow of your natural energy—quickly—delightfully—and without jangling your nerves.
For no matter how often you choose to "get a lift with a Camel," Camel's finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS never get on your nerves!
"Camels give me a refreshing lift in energy when I feel tired out. And they don't interfere with my nerves."

WHEAT DROPS TO TWO-CENT LOSS

CHICAGO, July 2 (U.P.) — Wheat dropped more than 2 cents a bushel today when an increase of 3,700,000 bushels in the visible supply was reported for last week. The total was 77,821,000 bushels, against 182,710,000 a year ago. Closing prices were 2½ to 2⅞ cents lower.

Corn and oats weakened, all grains disregarding bullish private crop estimates. Corn finished 1½ to ⅝ cents lower and oats off ⅝ to ¾ cents.

WOOL

BOSTON, July 2 (U.P.) — Sentiment in the wool market has tended to improve during the last few days and now reflects more hopefulness than for many weeks, according to today's report of the U. S. agriculture department.

This has been stimulated by an increase recently in the number of inquiries from worsted manufacturers and an actual increase in purchases by woolen mills. Estimated receipts of domestic wool at Boston, reported to the Boston grain and flour exchange during the week ending June 30, amounted to 22,200,300 lbs., compared with 4,214,800 lbs., during the previous week.

PRICES SLIP AS DEALINGS SLUMP

NEW YORK, July 2 (U.P.) — Traders moved cautiously on the stock exchange as parts of the securities exchange act of 1934—regulation bill—became effective. Prices slipped lower with dealings under a half million shares.

Stock sales today approximated 410,000 shares, against 436,600 shares Friday. Curb sales were 117,000 shares against 114,000 shares Friday.

BOYS, GIRLS EYE JULY 4 EVENTS

Interest High in Pie-Eating, Races, Dog Show Listed As Celebration

Plans and girls' sports and contests for the Fourth of July here were arousing plenty of interest today, and many inquiries at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters are being received concerning the individual events. In order to make clear just what the plans are, the Fourth of July committee issued the following statement today concerning all of these events.

The boys' and girls' bicycle races and foot races will be started at the city park at 10 a. m. All boys and girls who want to enter the races need only to be there and ready to enter. The boys and girls will be divided into classes according to ages, ranging from 15 years down, for the various events, and cash prizes of $2 for first place and $1 for second place will be paid to the winners immediately following the individual events.

Potato Sacks

In the case of the sack race, standard potato sacks without any holes in them will be used and those who want to be sure to enter can bring their own sacks, or the committee will furnish sacks at the time of the race.

In the afternoon the greased pole will be in place with three $1 bills tied at the top. Any and every boy and girl may compete.

The boys' pie-eating contest will be held at 2 p. m. on the platform in the city park for boys of any age from 15 years down. The committee will furnish nice juicy blackberry pies for those who enter.

Dog Show

Beginning at 3 p. m. at the city park will be held the boys' and girls' dog show and dog races. The dog show will be held first with the dog race immediately following. In the dog show $2 will be paid the winner in each of the following contests: (1) the smartest dog, (2) boy's or girl's homeliest dog, (3) boy's or girls' hardest-looking dog, (4) dog with the longest tail, (5) dog with the shortest tail.

The dogs should be brought to the platform at the city park on a tie, rope, or leash for either this event or the race which will follow. Judges will award the prizes after each event and no other qualifications or registration will be required from the fact that a boy or girl must be in charge of every dog that enters the contest.

Combination Race

Immediately following will be staged the big boys' or girls' and dog race for cash prizes of $5 for the winner, $2 for second place, and $1 for third place. In this event the boy or girl must run a short distance with the dog on the end of a tie, turn and run back to the starting point in order to win the race.

The committee in charge of all of these sports and contests for boys and girls declared that the "kids" from the country are not as much eligible in any event either in the races or at the dog show and events, as any of the boys and girls of any town.

11 Entries Listed In Beauty Contest

BURLEY, July 2 (Special)—Although only 11 contestants have entered the bathing beauty contest, many more are expected to enter before the fourth of July. The revue will be staged in front of the grandstand at the fairgrounds at 8 p. m. Contestants officially entered are: Elva Taylor, Jacqueline Hogan, Margaret Brown, Barbara Pixton, Mary Thurston, Mary Dargan, Bobby Scott, Inez Jones, Juanita Accuntuni, Helen Sprague, and Bernice Catmull.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Langlois of Decatur, Ill., who arrived in Burley this week, after a short visit in Ogden, visited last week with Mr. Langlois' parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Langlois. Both couples left Saturday for Decatur, where they were to be joined by Roland Langlois, who is now in Washington, D. C. After a few days' visit in Decatur the party will go to Chicago to attend A Century of Progress exposition. Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Langlois expect to be gone about a month.

"I am for the disabled ex-service man, his widow and orphans and I shall work to restore their compensation, hospital benefits, and pensions.

"Two years ago I urged the enactment of a bank guarantee law. Such a law has been enacted by congress but it should be enlarged to cover all bank deposits in order to restore confidence.

"Wars are created by selfish interests, therefore I favor the conscription of capital as well as the man power of the nation. If the U. S. will take the profit out of war it will cease.

"If we make the farmer, the stockman, and the other prosperous the nation will prosper and unemployment will vanish.

Upholds New Deal

"The New Deal is the first attempt of this government to give the masses a square deal. I am for the President and the New Deal 100 per cent.

"The wealth of this nation has been cornered by a small ring of less than eight per cent of the people and I believe it is fair and just to levy higher taxes against the rich and corporate wealth in order to feed and clothe the masses. The burden of taxation should be shifted from the farm and home to those who are not paying their just share of the tax burden.

MEASURING WORK OPENS ON WHEAT

Survey of Contracted Acreage Started by Supervisors And Assistants

Measuring of contracted wheat acreages in this county under the direction of 11 supervisors and assistants is underway, according to the Wheat Control Production association officials.

Names and territories of the measurers are:

Supervisors—J. R. Crawford, Buhl; Jess Hainline, Twin Falls; [illegible] Twin Falls; J. H. Caldwell, Hollister; J. M. Pierce, Berger; Theodore W. Zeiner, Buhl; E. H. Pember, Buhl; Harry Taner, Buhl; J. H. Glander, Buhl; Stewart Reverend, Hansen; Fred Bienz, Buhl. Assistants include William Babcock, M. G. Dean, jr., M. N. Knudson, W. A. Farley and J. W. Bouten. M. G. Heap is to have charge of the measurements in this area. Carl Sprague, jr., is draftsman.

No Excess

"Excess of planting will not be permitted, according to statement of H. G. Lauterbach, Hansen, chairman of the association.

In this connection he has issued the following statement:

"Farm supervisors started out today on a tour of inspection and have discovered that a few farmers have planted wheat on their contracted acreage. It seems to be the intention of these farmers to have the supervisors measure up from their wheat acreage the number of acres which they are required to leave idle.

Clear Violation

"Planting of wheat on contracted acreage whether used as nurse crop or alone, is an absolute violation of the wheat adjustment contract. The county allotment committee wishes to advise these farmers that in all cases where they have seeded wheat on contracted acreage, this wheat must be cut before the supervisors call to inspect their farms.

"Furthermore, this wheat must be cut before it has reached a stage of maturity when it might be classed as grain. Even under the new rulings that have been passed due to drouth conditions, the producer must show an intent to conform to his contract which specifically says no wheat on contracted acreage."

BUS TIMES CHANGE

Announcement was made this afternoon of changes in the schedule for Union Pacific stages here. The westbound bus that has reached here at 6:22 p. m., will hereafter arrive at 6:37 p. m., and will leave at 7:07 instead of at 6:32 p. m. The north side stage will arrive hereafter at 10:20 a. m., instead of at 8:45 a. m., and leave at 7:15, instead of at 4:25 p. m.

FERA WILL HELP IN RABBIT DRIVE

Rabbits, which are menacing farm crops in this county, on farms adjacent to the desert, are to be exterminated in a campaign being undertaken as an FERA project, it was stated this afternoon by Harvey B. Hale, county extension agent.

Owen Dwight has been placed in charge of the county campaign. There will be 10 workers on the Salmon Tract, one at Clover, two at Castleford, two at Murtaugh, two at Hansen, one at Lucerne, and one at Rock Creek. Poison and other exterminating methods will be employed.

Rabbits have become a menace, Hale says, several complete crops having already been destroyed.

League Gives Play In Church Service

BURLEY, July 2 (Special)—The Sunday night service at the Methodist church was a one-act play play, "Dust," presented by the Epworth League. The play was written by the pastor, Rev. Leroy Walker, and has for its setting a crude home in a little village on the edge of an Idaho desert about 20 years ago. The following young people took part: Lorena Mathis, Sally Painter, Leland Forster, jr., Alta Smith, and Richard Karr.

An offering was taken which will go to defray the expenses of the young people going to the Wood River institute.

WAR HERO SLAIN AS REVOLT HEAD

his uniform and appear before him.

Strips Insignia

Curtly, he informed Roehm he was under arrest. Then, wordlessly, the chronicler with his own hands stripped the Nazi insignia from Roehm's uniform, turned on his heel and left. Brown-shirted members of the SA, or ordinary storm troopers, led their disgraced companion to Stadelheim prison.

It was Roehm who built up the SA from a handful of men to an organized force of 1,500,000, which became Hitler's stepping stone to power. Roehm was one of Hitler's right hand men from the inception of the Nazi movement.

Shortly before Hitler came to power President von Hindenburg and his advisers urged Hitler to oust Roehm because of his well-known sexual perversities. Hitler refused.

"He is the only man I can trust absolutely," Hitler replied.

Gets Suicide Choice

In his cell Roehm was left alone with a pistol, giving him the choice of suicide.

No shot was heard. When his guards returned, he declared with furious emotion that he would not kill himself.

"I will never take this," he said. "If I am shot it must be by Hitler himself."

The chancellor, after signing a declaration disowning Roehm from the party and Roehm, convicted of the storm troops, had flown back to Berlin.

"Der fuehrer (the leader) alone will decide Roehm's fate," said Viktor Lutze, whom Hitler has named to succeed Roehm as storm troop commander.

Hears Comrades Die

During the afternoon, as Roehm brooded in his cell, he could hear the shots in the courtyard as the six leaders who had been arrested with him, died.

Hitler still gave Roehm his chance at suicide. Roehm refused. As Sunday came and grew towards evening, the drama reached its end. A pistol shot more was taken to Roehm's cell as a special dispensation "for use within ten minutes."

It was not used.

It has ben estimated that approximately 10 per cent of the population of the United States is Negro.

BUHL AND FILER CANDIDATES FILE

Declarations of candidacy have been filed at the office of the county auditor and J. R. Crawford, Buhl, seeking nomination on the Democratic ticket as state representative, and by O. L. Bramer, Filer, who will be a candidate to succeed himself as Democratic committeeman from Filer precinct.

Crawford's declaration is signed by Fred Nihart, W. H. Wright, Thomas Parks, Buhl; R. H. G. Wilson, Kimberly; Orr Chapman and M. A. Shronk, Twin Falls.

Bramer is endorsed by H. C. Munyon, Alma E. O. Walter, L. O. Allen, W. F. Higginbotham, George Jasper, Ray Hamilton, Mrs. W. F. Ainsworth, Kenneth Allison and T. Dan Connor, all of Filer.

Ventriloquist to Run for Office

BOISE, Ida., July 2 (UP)—Earning a living in private life may be hard, but there in one consolation—it often may always seek public office.

Ten years ago Lawrence Johnson was a justice of the peace here. He retired to the vaudeville stage as a ventriloquist.

Times got tough—he couldn't get paid for throwing his voice. From San Francisco he has filed a petition here with the county clerk and recorded for his old job.

WILL JOIN WIVES

E. J. Ostrander and Paul Thoman left Saturday for California, where they will join Mrs. Ostrander and Mrs. Thoman, who went there some time ago. Mrs. Ostrander is at present in Berkeley and Mrs. Thoman in Los Angeles. Mrs. H. Norgren, sister of Mr. Ostrander, accompanied them.

GETS 30-DAY SENTENCE

Frank Gallately, Kimberly, was sentenced by Judge C. A. Kinney in probate court today, to serve 30 days in the county jail on conviction of a battery charge filed by H. C. Givens, deputy sheriff. Gallately is alleged to have struck Carl Mullin, Saturday.

TWO FLIERS KILLED

CENTER, Texas, July 2 (UP)—Roy Hutman of Dallas and Ned Allen of Longview were killed today when their plane crashed.

The accident occurred a few seconds after the men waved goodbye to their sweethearts who had accompanied them to the airport. The craft burst into flames after hitting the ground.

BLAZE DAMAGES RESIDENCE HERE

Fire, believed to have started from a stove, damaged the F. H. Franklin home at 1216 Eighth avenue east, at about 10 a. m. today. The blaze was a stubborn one, and resisted the efforts of firemen to extinguish it with chemicals, a quantity of water being required after a hole was chopped in the roof of the residence. The place is occupied also by the W. F. King family.
