Campaigning with confidence over his nomination as Democratic candidate for congress, J. J. Masters, former Twin Falls and Pocatello newspaper publisher, conferred with supporters here today before leaving for Boise where he will deliver his address this evening at a gathering of the Legion lodge.

He outlined the platform upon which he is making the race, endorsing old age pensions, unemployment insurance, more reservoirs, and reduction in freight and electric rates.

"Trusts and great monopolies are the cause of unemployment," he charged, "Idaho with an abundant supply of power, should provide opportunity for large numbers of factories, and the benefits of cheap power should be available to all."

Raise High Rates
He said the Idaho public utility commission, "for some reason fails to bring about needed reductions in freight rates," adding that producers had to pay exorbitant rates to reach markets, and when "the second time" when they had to foot the bills for heavy freight rates on manufactured products which they bought.

Masters urged that the voters of this state send a business man to congress to fight for appropriations for this section, and stressed "the advantages of experience and maturity" in choosing the Democratic party's nominee to succeed the late Thomas C. Coffin, to whom he paid tribute.

KIMBERLY, AUG. 9 (Special)—Two street improvement projects here have resulted in many expressions of appreciation for the cooperation of the state highway department, Twin Falls highway district, and the state bureau of highways.

In addition, work is now underway and is expected to be completed Friday on the resurfacing of a part of highway 30 and Main street in the north part of town. But he said there is danger that names might have been improperly recorded, especially in the cases of women who used their husbands' initials, and suggested that all those in doubt go to their registrars to make certain that they are qualified to vote.

Persons who have moved from their precincts since the last election must re-register, he pointed out.

SURVEY PLANNED ON IMMIGRATION

Carnegie Institute Savant Is Picked to Probe Best U. S. Policy

WASHINGTON (UP)—Unless an immigration policy is followed which is the result of a survey resulting in a rigorous selection of entrants to this country, American family stocks and even American civilization is doomed to destruction, says Dr. Harry Laughlin, assistant director of the Carnegie Institution's Department of Genetics.

He has been selected to direct scientific research undertaken by the special committee on immigration and aliens of the New York State Chamber of Commerce.

At present as in the past, in American immigration control is the direct result of four major forces which determine what races and family stocks shall inherit the country as future Americans, and consequently what American traditions will be emphasized and which forgotten.

There are two important phases of the immigration problem: First, the regulation of aliens in the United States as temporary visitors—aliens and persons here legally for business or pleasure; and second, permanent settlers.

ATLANTA BARES DIVORCE TRICKS

Hundreds of Couples Fooled By Private Detectives, Prober Says

ATLANTA (UP)—How hundreds of happily married Atlantans have been tricked into jealous quarrels, separation, and eventually divorce by shrewd "private detectives" and unethical lawyers was told here by W. L. Owen, special police investigator.

He said that the detective agencies neglected married couples whose credit rating and possessions are enough to warrant considerable remuneration. Once selected, the person to be victimized, Owen said, are treated something like this:

Here's System An unidentified person telephoned one of the couple and reports an incident of purported infidelity. The innocent promisee is followed this lead if the services are sought—Owen said—some unsuspecting young woman had called the home of the couple at an hour when it was known the husband was not at home and inquired why the man had not kept an appointment. A check of the call reveals it was made from an apartment where the detective bureau first reports the purported infidelity occurred.

The police investigator advised persons solicited by detective agencies to notify police in an attempt to check the standing of the agency. He pointed out the practice was illegal because of a state law forbidding detective agencies from engaging in divorce actions.

D. WORTH CLARK Says

When a working man devotes his spare time to an industry he surely becomes as much a part of that industry as its machinery, and he is entitled to its protection in the same way as well as in goods. The man who sets aside a part of his profits every year to take care of the plant and machinery, but it utterly fails to provide for the men who make these profits possible. This should not continue.

National legislation must be enacted compelling industry to use part of its profits to improve the most urgent unemployment. This will not only protect labor, but in the long run it will mean larger profits for the stockholder themselves as it will stimulate producing power in the people.

Have the worker and you save the farmer for the worker in the farmer's best customer.

Discovery of Unknown Race in New Guinea Will Be Told Before Savants

LONDON (UP) —The discovery of a new tribe in New Guinea already in the subject of much discussion in scientific circles.

E. W. Chinnery, director of native affairs and district services in the Mandated territory of New Guinea, who is credited with discovering this "lost race" plans to attend the Anthropological conference in London and describe his discovery.

KU KLUX STIRS TO FIGHT REDS

Radical Big Game Again Calls White-Robed Phylloxera into Action

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP) —The bugaboo of radicalism in the United States has stirred the Ku Klux Klan into a combative and its white robes are emerging out of moth balls.

Dr. Hiram Wesley Evans, the heavy-set dentist who retained the title of Imperial Wizard during the years of the Klan's dormancy, has again sounded the call to Klansmen to combat un-American propaganda. Hunting Communists is expected to be one of the main activities.

M. O. Dunning, of Savannah, Ga established in the lavish abode of Klan offices in the Hurt building here as chief of the Klan's national staff. An electrical fire caused harm in one of the rooms the forerunner of blazing crosses that are expected to be seen from hills in all parts of the country, as in the old days.

There is no doubt that the Klan, believes Dr. Evans, is the organization that must be built back to its heyday when it built up millions of members and owned millions of dollars of property in Atlanta. Political activities and the revelation of huge profits made by its rulers caused it to lose caste.

Just as the Klan once originated to save the South from Negro and carpetbag rule after the war between the states, Evans believes the Klan now has a mission to save the country from un-American principles. The constitutional government established by our forefathers must be restored, he says.

Next Monday a committee will be appointed by the government to look into the whole question of the Klan in the wake of some petitions of the king's subjects. This inquiry revealed that while the government has taken steps to insure that more of the roasts of Old England than in the past be of British origin, artificial products imported from abroad are being set to work on the Sunday joint in the homes of Great Britain.

This is the result of a government order substantially increasing the already existing 20 per cent duty on artificial molars.

Committee Named A committee was appointed recently by the government to look into the whole question of the Klan in the wake of some petitions of the king's subjects. This inquiry revealed that while the government has taken steps to insure that more of the roasts of Old England than in the past be of British origin, artificial products imported from abroad are being set to work on the Sunday joint in the homes of Great Britain.

Over half of these pilgrims will be from South America, with Brazil leading with almost 100,000, according to official forecasts. Today appeals were broadcast to all Catholic families to board and lodge pilgrims during what is expected to be the greatest four-day religious rally seen in Latin America.

Other Prelates. Among other South American prelates expected were: Mgr. Augusto Silfvert, Archbishop of La Paz, Bolivia; Mgr. Bernardo Mercede, Archbishop of Bogota, Colombia; Mgr. Pedro Pascual Parfan, Archbishop of Lima, Peru; and Mgr. Marcos Sergio Godoy, Bishop of Maracaibo, Venezuela.

ENGINEERS HEAR HIGHWAY PLANS

Network of Roads Covering Western Hemisphere Is Foreseen at Meet

VANCOUVER, B. C. (U.P.)—Highways that eventually will link the entire western hemisphere were described in papers read before the highway and construction division of the American Society of Engineers convention here.

Details of the Alaska-United States highway, which will stretch for 2,203 miles north of Vancouver, and the Inter-American highway, linking the United States with Central America, and which eventually will be extended to South America, were given by American engineers.

Longest Ever Planned. The proposed Inter-American highway, which will cross seven countries and pass through seven capitals in linking up the United States and Central America, is the longest ever surveyed and planned. It was revealed, it will skirt volcanoes, penetrate jungles and open areas now practically inaccessible.

Pug-Nosed Snakes Found in America

COOLIDGE, Ariz. (U.P.)—Fugo a pug-nosed snake! There are five in America—provided they're all still living. Dr. A. S. Rehn of Cornell University brought the matter back to mind, incidentally upsetting an old theory at the White Sands National monument in New Mexico.

In 1927 a pug-nosed snake was seen at White Sands near the monument. Tradition was that there were no snakes on the sands. The other four were seen at various times in Texas and Arizona. They are harmless, but are of scientific interest. No specimens were found at the Wright "Vent" to the monument, however.

Delayed Spanking Is Worth $6,400

CHATHAM FALLS, O. (U.P.)—Delayed spanking of his four-year-old grandson cost George Porter, former mayor, $6,400. Porter, a short time ago, had discovered the youngster playing with matches. "David, if you do that again," he threatened sternly. "I spank your brains!"

A short while after that, a straw stick on the Porter fox farm put a dent in David's memory. He tossed a lighted match into the straw. The fire consumed two barns, with a total damage of $5,600. In the ashes was $800 in currency, which had been hidden for safe-keeping.

BOOKS OF RULER PUT ON DISPLAY

Celebrated Library Gathered by Manuel of Portugal Is Exhibited

PARIS (UP)—The celebrated library assembled by the late King Manuel of Portugal now on exhibit here is drawing unusual crowds. It was inaugurated by President Albert Lebrun and is said to be one of the finest Portuguese manuscripts in the world. King Manuel died two years ago. He was forced to abdicate and to flee to London and he then went to live near London at Fulwell Park, Twickenham.

The exhibition of these books and documents is of particular interest to France, in that King Manuel's mother, Marie Amelga, was the daughter of the Comte de Paris. Upon the king's death his library was bequeathed to his country and has been subsequently largely preserved by the Portuguese government.

HARLOW POWELL ROMANCE HINTED

Vacation Friendship Ascribed Much More Than That By Friends

(Copyright, 1934, United Press) HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8 (UP)—The Joan Harlow-William Powell vacation romance of the month is developing into much more than that, friends of the film pair insist.

Rumors are the platinum blond will try marriage with Powell after she gets her release from Hal Rosson, film cameraman who was her third husband.

Julia LaRue, dramatic coach from the University of Washington, took a chance and mailed a studio three photos of herself from her Palo Alto home.

Today she had a long-term contract with the studio. One of the pictures caught the eye of an executive. The studio sent for her, gave her a screen test, and signed her.

Now studios are inspecting a new and practically unexplored deluge of photographs.

BRITISHER FINDS NEW TRIBESMEN

Discovery of Unknown Race in New Guinea Will Be Told Before Savants

LONDON (UP)—The discovery of a new tribe in New Guinea already in the subject of much discussion in scientific circles.

J. W. Chinnery, director of native affairs and district services in the Mandated territory of New Guinea, who is credited with discovering the "lost race" plan to attend the Anthropological conference in London and describe his discovery.

Whit formerly was described as mountainous white man, now likely to prove the best and most important part of the territory, declares Chinnery in his preliminary report.

A new 12,000-foot range of mountains was discovered also, and the sources of several rivers were explored.

The murder of two white men prospecting for gold a year ago on the Kaim river, followed by the death of a local government official in this same district, resulted in an inquiry and the subsequent discovery of the unknown tribe. Chinnery in his report declared that throughout their exploration no occasion were they forced to use arms.

A letter written by King Entemnon of Lagosi 6000 years ago, has been found and is in the hands of a Chicago collector.

FALSE TEETH HIT BY BRITISH DUTY

Increased Customs Tax Aimed at English Molars for Britain's Faces

LONDON (UP)—British teeth to fit British faces in the patriotic effort aimed at by a new move in the government's "Buy British" campaign.

In future, Britons who equip themselves with new sets of "false" teeth will have to pay considerably more for them unless they are made in this country.

This is the result of a government order substantially increasing the already existing 20 per cent duty on artificial molars.

A committee was appointed recently by the government to look into the whole question of the false teeth worn by some millions of the king's subjects. This inquiry revealed that, while the government has taken steps to insure that more of the most beef of England than in the past is really of British origin, artificial molars imported from abroad are being set to work on the Sunday joint in the homes of Great Britain.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A new set of ringling rocks made famous throughout Pennsylvania because of their vibrant qualities, have been found near the quaint historical town of Pottsville.

HERE'S SAMPLE OF SLANG TALK

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A new slang job has just had a new roof placed on its work. He is paying on the installment plan and during the past week the roofing company received the following letter from the author: "Dear Mr. Owens: "Sending you 25 slugs to pay on that bill for putting a new roof on my top joint out on Strickland Ave. Wanted Sunday tamping in or did it look like peaches and cream. The land owner next door is hollering murder because he claims there is a lot of dirt heaving on his roof along the curb in front of his driveway. Told him you people would give it the hump in a few days. Had to tell him something as I wouldn't get in an 'army over it. It is one of those old ducks with two stumps on him. You know I mean a guy who thinks General Delivery is the name of a soldier and a club sandwich is made of wood and a football pouch has got four wheels."

PAGEANT THROUGH TOTALS 50,000

Oregon Trail Page at Eugene Featured Cast of 2,000 Participants

BUCHENE, Ore. (AP)—Fifty thousand visitors from all over the Pacific northwest and other states in the union and elsewhere throughout the United States attended the Oregon Trail pageant given at Eugene.

Wagon Train The pageant opened with a miniature covered wagon train, prologue, composed of small children. This was followed by a depiction of the ancient Mayan civilization, believed to have preceded the Indians in Oregon. The second episode depicted the early Civil war days and the arrival of Captain Gray and his ship, "Columbia." The pony, Indians, the coming of Lewis and Clark, and other early events in Oregon's pioneer history were portrayed, including the famous Champeong event. Covered wagon days were revived in an impressive series of episodes, showing the pioneers on their journey across the plains and their final arrival in Oregon.

Scare Bench Echoes Scare Lovemakers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dolores may not tell romantic secrets, but the semicircular granite benches that form part of the Civil War monument in Fairmount park here tell in a big way. By some freak of construction, the benches, which are backed by high granite walls, have an echoing quality which reproduces a whisper as a fairly loud shout by the time it reaches the end of the 75-foot seats. The benches once were a popular rendezvous on moonlit nights—until the romantic couples discovered they were telling the world.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With the objective of learning the methods of forest preparation in foreign countries, a group of foresters and lumbermen from all parts of the United States are studying the practices used in Germany and Austria. A first-hand study of sustained forest production, as well as game preservation, and other cutting, reforestation and marketing for wood products is sought by the group in developing the program of permanent forest management in this country, now required by the Lumber Code. The work is sponsored by the Carl Shurz Memorial Foundation and the Oberlander Trust.

"MISS AMERICA" LOSES CHILD

Custody of her 4-year-old daughter, De Cyprie L'Amour, shown with the mother in Oklatonka City, was lost by Mrs. Norma Smallwood Gilcrease, "Miss America" of 1926, right, in her divorce battle with Thomas Gilcrease, Oklatonka oil magnate. The child will remain with the father until settlement is reached in the suit, in which sensational charges have been made by counsel for Gilcrease, and vigorously denied by the mother.

ENGINEERS HEAR HIGHWAY PLANS

Network of Roads Governing Western Hemisphere Is Foreseen at Meet

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Highways that eventually will link the entire western hemisphere, were described in papers read before the highway and construction division of the American Society of Engineers, Canadian Institute of Engineers, the Alaska-United States highway, which will stretch for 2,200 miles north of Vancouver, and the Inter-American highway linking the United States with Central America, and which eventually will be extended to South America, were given by American engineers.

Launched Ever-Planned The proposed Inter-American highway, which will cross seven countries, and pass through seven capitals in linking up the United States and Central America, in the longest ever surveyed and planned, was revealed. It will skirt volcanoes, penetrate jungles and open areas now practically inaccessible. Roads already in existence will be utilized and, like the Alaska-United States highway, it will, when completed, be of historic, economic and social significance. The Alaska-United States highway project will be about 2,200 miles long.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The army football team this year, faced with one of its hardest schedules in its history, must depend on its reserve strength for success. It was forecast by Harvey (Hubb) Johnson, St. Louis coach and this year's freshman line coach at West Point.

Pug-Nosed Snakes Found in America

COOLIDGE, Ariz. (AP)—Page 2 pug-nosed snake! There are five in Arizona—provided they're all still living. Dr. A. H. Wright of Cornell university brought the matter back to mind, incidentally upsetting an old theory at the White Sands National monument in New Mexico. In 1927 a pug-nosed snake was seen at Walden Well near the monument. Tradition was that there were no snakes on the sands. The other four were seen at various times in Texas and Arizona. They are harmless, but are of scientific interest. No specimens were found on Dr. Wright's visit to the monument, however.

Delayed Spanking Is Worth $6,400

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—A delayed spanking of his four-year-old grandson cost George Porter, former mayor, $6,400. Porter, a short time ago, had discovered the youngster playing with matches. "David, if you do that again," he threatened sternly. "I'll spank you—dead!" A short while after that, a straw stack on the Porter fox farm put a dent in David's memory. He tossed a lighted match into the straw. The fire consumed two barns, with a total damage of $6,600. It was $600 in currency, which had been hidden for safe-keeping.

BORAH AND THE BAKER

Agitation originated at Glens Ferry the past week by a tradesman who manifestly was seeking to be a martyr to the NRA, has had a result which was not contemplated.

A Baker enlisted the support of Sen. William E. Borah in a one-man attack against the recovery administration, on grounds that he had been ordered to raise the price of bread.

Borah saw here an opportunity to make a grandstand play by advising the merchant that the "constitution was being violated," that he need not raise the price of bread, and that if there was a prosecution he would see to it that counsel would be provided at no expense to the baker.

It turned out that the baker had not been ordered to do anything, and that if he had been, there was no one in the state who even claimed to have such authority.

Thus the publicity stunt died aborning, and as the United Press reported, "Senator Borah had his sleeves rolled up ready to battle the Blue Eagle, but it appeared he had no antagonist."

And the senior senator has been deprived of something to keep him busy this summer.

NO FEAR OF FAMINE

The arrival of a soaring, crop-burning drought at a time when the United States government is spending millions of dollars to get farmers to reduce their crops is almost enough to arouse the suspicion that the weatherman is trying to play a joke on somebody.

If it is a joke, it is a mean one. Baking heat, blistering sunlight, and a sky, which remains pitilessly cloudless for weeks at a time, with never a drop of rain to lay the dust, these are, or can be, the makings of a national calamity, and the farmers of the grain belt can be pardoned if they fail to see anything very funny in the situation.

When a spell of such weather hits a land where the social organization is primitive, famine results. It was to guard against just such disasters that the ancient agrarian tribes of the American southwest developed such elaborate rites to appease the rain gods; it is to help mitigate the effects of such disasters that the American public is called on every so often to contribute to Chinese famine relief funds.

Yet the United States today, for all the damage that the drought is causing, is in no danger of famine. Cattle are dying for want of water, grain is being burnt brown in the fields, vegetable gardens are being scorched into aridity—but there will not be a real food shortage this winter.

If any people go hungry it will be because our economic machine is still out of gear and not because the national granary has been stricken.

For the same factors which led the government to hire the farmers to produce less than usual also operate to soften the blow which the elements have launched.

Into the oldest and simplest business in the world—the raising of foodstuffs on the land—we have injected so many complications that the whole picture has changed. Bumper crops no longer mean automatic prosperity for farmers; instead, they tend to glut the markets and flatten the farmer's purse.

On the other hand, natural disasters which cut the production of foodstuffs no longer mean famine and want.

It is because of the intricacy of our whole economic organization that we have to cook up such measures as the AAA. But that very intricacy is the factor that keeps the people from going hungry when the age-old causes of famine are abroad in the land.

SILLY JUSTICE

That Kentucky judge who has been handing out daily jail sentences or fines to the two reporters, who refused to reveal the source of certain information they printed, seems to be bent on bringing his own court into contempt.

The background of the case is absurdly picaresque. A state representative, who happened to displease his constituents, was hanged in effigy one day—that is, a gang of indignant voters made a dummy of him, labeled it with his name and strung it up by a rope, by way of indicating their displeasure.

Those two reporters found out in advance that it was going to happen; and because they won't tell the court who told them, so that the court can get to the bottom of the whole business, the judge has been cracking down on them every day.

In the first place, the judge ought to realize that no reporter worth his salt is ever going to reveal a confidential source of information, no matter how great the pressure. And in the second place, making all of this fuss over a demonstration which is common and harmless enough in a hot election campaign is just downright silly.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

BEGIN HERE TODAY 'JANE' FERRY comes to New York determined to show her boss...

in New York Jane obtains a position as an executive office and also in making a large income...

An American enters the office who is Howard's ex-lover...

Howard comes home for the Christmas holidays...

AMY, looking at Howard, told herself that she could never explain to him how she knew that Jane had loved him...

"I didn't realize where it would lead me," Of course, I don't see myself letting Jane cozy up to me...

"We're going to involve it completely and permanently, darling girl," said Howard...

"Everybody would have said 'For heaven's sake, why do we have to listen to that bore?'"

"Oh, she's coming, but so's the million," she got a telegram every day telling her that she'd start next night and promising to be here tomorrow...

"Everybody would have said 'For heaven's sake, why do we have to listen to that bore?'"

"I thought Jane was coming," Miss Rosa, said Amy. "Mary said so."

They talked a little longer and then they closed the door and Howard pulled out his notebook. "I'm going to write down that address of Jane's while I remember."

At least, thought Amy, it had been a glorious dream and there would be the great consolation that so would be the end of it, very long. As she had promised, she let her puppy go, but she did not miss them who had started for her, again. Edgar, she heard from to make her, if at least she had the put up to start young women together. "Why, thing to be slipping and lops on his Mary Jackson."

"It'll only be two minutes before you're back again. Say 10 weeks, 70 days. I don't know how many hours for can't multiply it by 70 to my head."

"You want to buy it? Suppose I'll be offered a chair in another college, would be stuck with it."

"Who's that I told her. And she said, 'Gimp, Marburg's not good enough for him. I suppose'."

Howard raised his eyebrows and looked at Amy, who gave a nod of understanding. They don't speak of Nancy's real mother in front of Miss Rosa, but that knowledge clinged with they had just discussed. Nancy would remain their own.

There is only one explanation for this situation. Either the banks have insufficient confidence to lend most of the hoarded money in sufficient confidence to want to borrow freely. That may sound like two explanations, but it is really only one.

Banking will not only when they believe loan are good. Business men will seek to expand their loans only when they see good profits coming from getting into the market or the interest coming in when they can get it. They can't make money out of stagnant money.

They certainly cannot go on long paying 2 per cent interest unless they can put those savings deposits out at 4 1/2 or 5 per cent. They actually have done this by paying off the money in the same essential underlying cause.

Some people will say the banks are at fault. It may be popular to take that view, but it is not good sense. Most bankers like that good old 4 or 5 per cent interest coming in when they can get it. They can't make money out of stagnant money.

PAUL MALLON'S NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

An Exclusive Evening Times Daily Report on the Fast-Moving Events in the Nation's Capital by an Expert Interpreter and Commentator.

STAGNATION WASHINGTON—First class economists will tell you privately that the main thing wrong with this country now is not the lack of money or the value of it, but the question of what there is.

Little is said about that subject. There are no official figures on it. Current talk has centered mainly around the mounting total of excess reserves in Federal reserve banks. These reserves have more than doubled in the past year and now amount to some $1,800,000,000 or $1,800,000,000. Big as that figure is, it is only a part of the money problem. If you make a little investigation in the right place, you will find that the banks of this country have today about $10,000,000,000 of money in their vaults.

In addition, there is yet about one billion or a billion and a-half in actual hoarding in safety deposit boxes and in pockets. In other words, the stagnant money in this country amounts to about twelve billion in round numbers—twelve billion idle dollars which are not doing any one any particular good.

EXPLANATION An idea of how staggering that sum is may be obtained from the fact that if it twice as much money were here it would mean you might expect, of course, that therefore, it is a mistake; but it is really a most conservative estimate. The amount of money in circulation has been able to do what it is doing, but the same money is hoarded over and over again by banks. Landed money is spent and repositied in some bank by the fellow who has made the sale. It really does not leave the banks. It only goes to work there.

The proof of the figure lies in the fact that bank loans now amount to $18,000,000,000, or that is, what they amounted to before the depression. For a year or so before the pre-depression period was around $28,000,000,000.

From the comparative conditions of today, the best experts deduce broadly that at least ten billions more could be loaned if the public wanted it.

money and the banks wanted to lend it.
