

SINCLAIR CHOICE PRODUCES SPLIT

Southern California Ledger Withholds Support from Democrat Nominee

Will Meet Roosevelt

"Their discomfort is the people's joy," he said. "Meanwhile he prepared to leave for Hyde Park, N. Y., or Washington, D. C., to meet President Roosevelt, who sent word he would be glad to see him. And he did not forget that Postmaster General Farley had promised administration support—although the promise might have been somewhat left-handed.

He also took comfort in the mounting figures of the late vote in the state. The figures showed Sinclair had a lead in 25 of the state's counties. The figures were:

Nine thousand, seven hundred and seventy-one precincts out of 10,703 in the state.

For governor, Democratic ticket—Sinclair, 371,064; Croft, 220,537; Wardell, 30,742.

For governor, Republican ticket—Merriam, 266,041; Young, 190,705; Quinn, 116,776; Haight, 72,075.

Haight in Limelight

The nomination of Sinclair had the effect of thrusting Haight in young, aggressive, pleasant fellow, who served as a state official under the late Governor Tolp, into a position of prominence. Haight ran second to Merriam in Los Angeles for the Republican nomination for governor, although he finished fourth in the state. His campaign had been an unusual one. With small resources, he organized a group of young men throughout California as his workers. Most of the football coaches, professional golfers, a lot of baseball players, many legions were his supporters. He did not really expect to win the Republican nomination. But he got on the ballot under the Common-wealth party, and his Republican campaign raised him some publicity and built an organization.

May Be Compromise

Now, he suddenly is found standing between the conservative Republican Merriam and the left-wing Democrat Sinclair, ready to make a bid for that share of the Republican vote which is set aside for the "right" or "progressive" vote. Merriam will not move to the "right" with Sinclair. Haight has become an important factor in what may develop into a sharp three-cornered contest in November.

The situation presented in the Democratic party has caused uneasiness among Republicans, who recall how the Democrats profited in the years from 1910 to 1920, when Hiram W. Johnson was evading through the state disarming the regular Republican leadership and winning in every battle.

UNPARALLELED VICTORY

(EATONVILLE, Ind., Aug. 30)—The Upton Sinclair's victory in the California primaries "was of a kind unparalleled in human history," H. L. Mencken, his old friend, said today.

"He not only beat George Croft, Wall Street and the booze trust, Mencken said, "he also beat Thompson, Alexander, Hamilton, Benjamin Franklin and the whole Adams family, not to mention St. Thomas Aquinas, Duke Scottus, Plato, Aristotle, Socrates and Solomon.

Mencken concluded that the only losers "in all southern California" are the taxpayers.

TRADITIONS WILL FALL—SINCLAIR

Nominee Expects to Keep on Breaking Precedent When Named Governor

Expect direct opposition from the legislature. If any making any plans accordingly. The people will have sent me in. They expect me to accomplish my program. If the legislature objects, I have always the referendum.

Dramatic Program

Sinclair's program, grouped by him under the name "United Front," calls for dramatic revision of public relief policy, despite his claim it is compatible with President Roosevelt's "New Deal."

Asked to explain his "New Deal" plan in the fewest possible words, Sinclair said:

"It proposes, briefly, to withdraw the money element from unemployment relief, resulting in a lighter tax burden on the taxpayer and a better position for the unemployed. As things are, the state is being driven into bankruptcy by pay for direct relief of an immense scale. The state will get a better mortgage by direct purchase of land, and the factories and mills that the unemployed will grow and make the unemployed will pay the expenses of their relief. The unemployed will work for anyone who will employ them. The unemployed will not be a burden on the state."

PLANNING SURVEY SUGGESTED HERE

Representatives of Cities in County Hear Proposals For Improvements

(Continued From Page One) into problems, and suggest a long term continuous plan of such style and community improvements. Land, water, power, and transportation resources should be investigated and reported and submitted to the state board with a specific and detailed plan of operation and improvement. It is advised.

Under PWA Program

Such projects after approval by the state board will be sent to the national board and approval by this body will place the projects under the PWA program.

Explaining the plan, the engineers said:

"The first step of action is to draft a detailed map of the area, Twin Falls, in this instance... showing water and sewer pipes, light, telephone, street improvements and municipally owned properties, etc.

"Men for this work are available from the IERRA and the only expense that the city incurs in the slight cost of drafting materials and other incidentals.

Looks To Future

"After such a map is drawn, a sound program can be laid out for the future growth and improvement of the city that will be of incalculable value. Whether or not the PWA allocates funds for any or all of the projects the practical foresight will place the planning still holds good.

"It is understood that all such boards are purely advisory; recommendations are purely advisory. Respectively governing bodies."

Frances Marion Injured When Automobiles Collide in Highway Mishap

(Copyright, 1934, United Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30 (U.P.)—Frances Marion, screen writer, was in a hospital today suffering from serious injuries received in an automobile accident.

X-rays, pictures at Good Samaritan hospital showed she was suffering from a fractured collarbone and a multiple concussion. Five other persons, residents of Alva, Cal., and occupying the other machine, were injured.

Elizabeth Peterson and Jennie Berlin, writers and friends of Miss Marion, were uninjured.

The screen writer was returning from San Francisco, where she had spent a fortnight recovering from the shock of the suicide of her divorced husband, George Hill, film director.

Heather Angel, film actress, and Ralph Forbes, actor, were honeymooning today on a motor trip along the west coast of Mexico to-day after their surprise marriage in Yuma, Ariz. Forbes was formerly married to Ruth Chatterton.

RITE HELD FOR ACCIDENT VICTIM

Joe Christensen Honored at Rupert; Lowelyn Funeral Set for Friday

RUPERT, Aug. 30 (Special)—Funeral services for Joe L. Christensen, one of two young men who died when the motorcycle on which they were riding Monday crashed into two new cars near the Hayburn bridge, were held at 10 a. m. today at St. Nicholas Catholic church, Rev. N. F. Witzberger conducted the service. A large group of friends and relatives gathered to pay tribute to the youth, who was graduated from Rupert high school last spring. The Goodman mortuary directed interment in the Rupert cemetery beside the body of his father, John Christensen, who died less than 18 months ago. The youth is survived by his mother, and one sister, Clara Elizabeth Christensen.

Services Friday
Services for Harold Lowelyn, the second victim of the tragedy, are scheduled for Friday afternoon at the Rupert second ward Lutheran Day Saints church. Bishop David I. Garner will officiate, and interment is to be in Rupert cemetery. The body now lies at a mortuary in Hurley.

Young Lowelyn was next to the oldest of a family of eight children. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lowelyn, three sisters, Ella Rose, Beth and Nancy and four brothers, Maurice, Donald Keith and Billy.

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR YOUNG WIFE

ROBERT, Aug. 30 (Special)—Sorrowing friends and relatives paid tribute to Hlora Olenalager King, 20, wife of Howard R. King, Oakland, Calif., in funeral services held here Monday afternoon at the first ward Lutheran Day Saints church. Bishop O. J. Bateman conducted the service, and the Goodman mortuary directed interment in Rupert cemetery.

Mrs. King died in Oakland early last week and her mother, Mrs. Ben Olenalager, and grandmother, Mrs. E. P. Olenalager, arrived here Friday with her body. She had lived in Rupert most of her life, having been brought here from Wanship, Utah, when she was one month old. In 1931 the family moved to Sacramento, Calif., where in June of this year she married Howard King.

Surviving are her husband, her parents and grandmother, a brother, Ben Olenalager, 27, and one sister, Beth Olenalager.

He says it is his intention to cover one side of the office wall with sheaves of local agricultural products, while on another wall will be hung heads of big game animals and other trophies of the hunt, to demonstrate the game resources of this section. On still another wall will be shown the scenic spots of this section.

People, planning their Labor day excursions, and getting rested up for the big week in Twin Falls, commencing Wednesday. . . . Women, in the throes of tomato juice canning and grape jelly making. . . . Local boater, making the suggestion that there be an official drink for the celebration. It will be recalled by the old-timers that in the early days, Iceberg, a soft drink made from blue lake water by Benoit Bros., was a local favorite.

SINCLAIR VISIONS CAPITALISM END

Defends "Epic" Plan as State And National Cure for Depression

UPTON SINCLAIR today was on record as predicting the downfall of capitalism as "the collapse of an institution which is world-wide and age-old."
Sinclair expressed himself on world events, discussed his nomination as Democratic gubernatorial candidate in the California primary last Tuesday and pointed to his "Epic" plan as a means of ending depression for both state and nation in a radio talk on a national hookup last night.

Not Worried
"Our opponents have told you that this is Socialism and Communism," he said. "We are not the least worried—we have been cheerful to notice that the federal government has refused to be frightened by their work, and applied the principles of our plan in the District of Columbia."

"Eighty thousand unemployed are to have access to the land to grow their own food, and to the factories to produce their own goods, and they are to barter those among themselves with the help of the federal government."

"Our opponents say we cannot put this plan through. Let me just answer that: If you should give me a chance to end poverty in California, and if I should fail to do it, life would mean nothing to me thereafter. All that I have taught all through the years would be without meaning. "Believe me, I shall not fail! We shall give a job to every man and woman in the state who is able and willing to work, and it will be a job with modern machinery and modern technique, whereby those who work produce wealth in great quantities."

PRODUCTION LOAN SPEED HASTENED

Payment of Spot Cash Made Possible by New Plan of Association

Another big step giving borrowers of the Southern Idaho Production Credit association of Twin Falls more direct action in the handling of their loans has just been put into effect, it was announced here.

Under the newly-created privilege of having its own special "cash loan fund," the association can pay its borrowers "spot cash" immediately after their loans are approved, according to Secretary J. M. Maxwell.

No More Waiting
No longer will it be necessary to wait until the borrower's note has been sent to Spokane for discounting through the Federal Intermediate Credit bank, as has heretofore been the case. Now, just as soon as the final O. K. is granted, the loan proceeds will be paid over the counter.

The borrower's note, however, will continue to be sent to the Intermediate Credit bank for discounting, thereby releasing the cash which the association advances out of its "convenience fund"—but this delay will not have to be borne by the individual. The new "short-cut" arrangement is "simply an additional accommodation to speed up the delivery of funds once the loan has been cleared through another step toward giving association patrons an improved borrowing service," Maxwell said.

Pool Ships Three Carloads of Ewes

Twin Falls Livestock Marketing association, which operates the county lamb pool, has shipped in three carloads of yearling ewes, bought from John Thomas, Godding, former United States senator, it was stated today by Harvey S. Hiale, secretary.

Two cars came in last week, one this week, the shipment totaling 700 head, distributed among 11 growers. They are cross-bred white-face stock and came from Bellevue. Each flock owner paid $5.00 a head for them, delivered. Hiale said he had orders for 500 head of old ewes and that later this association would be in the market for ewe lambs.

GOLD STANDARD CALLED WOBBLY

All Nations Will Soon Drop Yellow Metal as Basis, Warren Says

HATY MILSON, Germany, Aug. 28 (AP)—Prof. George F. Warren of Cornell, President Roosevelt's adviser on gold policy, today predicted in an address delivered at the International conference on agricultural science that all nations would soon abandon the gold standard.

Gold values are due to undergo violent fluctuations in the coming year, he said.

Advised U. S.

Warren is credited with having commanded the dollar maneuver of the United States government during the early hours of the Roosevelt administration, and to have advised America's abandonment of the gold standard with subsequent reduction in the gold content of the dollar.

"Every country eventually will be forced to leave the pre-depression gold standard because of the fluctuations in gold value (that) may be expected during the coming year," Warren said.

U. S. EXPERTS AT RESERVOIR

Five federal experts today began a comprehensive scientific investigation into water and fish food conditions at Salmon reservoir. It was announced by the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association. The survey, which will take approximately two weeks, was begun through the association's efforts.

The investigation is under general supervision of Dr. A. S. Tlazari, federal bureau of fisheries, Salt Lake City. The five-man crew at the reservoir is headed by L. A. Hodschiffer, whose aides are Bryn Kelly, J. Schreiner, Horace Tolford and Ray Glass. The men have set up a camp at the reservoir.

HOME OF COUNTY'S OFFICES

Activities of Twin Falls county's government are carried on in the courthouse shown here, a large and imposing stone structure located adjoining the modern high school building and the restful city park.

COUNTY'S HAVEN FOR SICK

Equipped with modern appointments and offering the best in service, the Twin Falls county hospital is located just outside the city.

BUSINESS FIRMS DON GALA FRONT

Downtown shoppers were greeted today with holiday decorations on a number of local business institutions, revealing the efforts of the official decorator assigned by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Jubilee committee.

Appreciation to the many business firms who have responded to the invitation to decorate their institutions, was expressed by Harry Blatkin, committee chairman. He advised that on account of the shortness of time between now and the opening of the celebration, all those contemplating the decoration of their business places should authorize the work at once.

Two Sentenced on Forgery Charges

On pleas of guilty to forgery charges, William Brown, 26, and Fred A. Stombach, 19, were sentenced in district court today by Judge W. A. Babcock to serve from one to 14 years in the state penitentiary, and the judgments were committed to two months in the county jail.

The men were charged with issuing a fraudulent check in Huhl Aug. 13.

PROGRESS MARCHES ON

IT SEEMS like prophetic inspiration that the Magic City Jubilee, being staged in Twin Falls next week in observance of the founding of this rich irrigated tract 30 years ago, should come right at a time when we find ourselves at the dawn of a new era of Progress.

Yet it is only a logical sequence; a fruition quite in keeping with the foresight and courageous determination that moved the founders to set up this thriving agricultural empire which otherwise might still be nothing more than desert waste.

When one considers the marvelous developments that have transpired in this irrigated country during the last 30 years, he cannot help but be impressed with the great energy, vision and aggressiveness of our people. These are the basic resources upon which any section of the nation is bound to go forward regardless of temporary periods of depression . . . resources that have manifest themselves in the Twin Falls country ever since its inception.

That is why Twin Falls stands out as a bright spot in the United States today. That is why the Magic City has come through so valiantly. The re-establishment of credit on a sound basis; the launching of public works; the scientific approach to the solution of agricultural problems; the economy re-adjustments applied to our budgets, and other forward-looking measures in development have already shown a remarkable effect on business, on re-employment, on the confidence and optimism of the public in general.

Agriculturally, this section seems destined this autumn to profit immeasurably from its abundant harvests. On the tract during the present season there has been no impaired water supply, yields of most crops are normal, and encouraging market prices are promised. Farm land values are on the increase, and logically so.

The certain rewards of irrigation have focused the attention of the entire country on such tracts as this because of the absence of pestilence here. No wonder then that a new interest is being taken in southern Idaho by those on the outside looking for new homes, new farms, a new future in the West.

The people of this section are alert to these trends, and are not unmindful of the bounteous resources of nature in the Snake river valley. They know that there exist here today the same opportunities which beckoned the first settlers three decades ago.

Progress is afoot unmistakably. The accomplishments of the past 30 years serve to beggar the imagination of what will be attained in the 30 years to come. It should be an inspiration to this generation and the youth of the Twin Falls country of the great opportunities that lie ahead. It should key up our faith; it should spur us on to programs of personal advancement . . . to think constructively; to exercise thrift and, above all, to develop confidence and spread optimism.

Within 30 years we have brought out of dust and sage brush what we have today—one of the nation's most thriving communities. The future is now in our hands. We must carry on with even greater determination. That same inspiration must live. We should not—we CANNOT—think in terms of a limit!

CITY PARK HOLDS EARLY MEMORIES

Old-Timers Cherish Community Center as One of First Beauty Spots

Development of Twin Falls tract has changed the dull, dry grove of sagebrush that was the desert in the early days of the town.

At least, it probably seems more green to old-timers who have watched it grow from a spot of desert to the square surrounded by substantial buildings that now appear.

When the townsite was platted, four blocks were set aside for the owners for a community center, and allowed to pass through it.

The park itself has never been allowed to cease its development. In 1907, through the public spirit of the Twin Falls land, the old landowner was built.

Some of the sentiment that has woven itself about the park was revealed by the storm of dissent.

Several of the trees are memorials, one planted by the D. A. U., another by the Boy Scouts from a walnut tree grown at the home of President Theodore Roosevelt.

The most largest of Twin Falls parks is Harmon, funds for the building of which were secured from the Harmon foundation.

A number of smaller plots at the intersections on Blue Lakes boulevard and Addison avenue have been built into spots which add attractiveness to the entire city.

Two and one-half miles north is the "Blinking Eye" bridge of North America. Hansen bridge, 12 miles east, has been acclaimed by the Scientific American magazine as "the highest suspension bridge in North America."

Winemakers explored the upper Mississippi river valley in 1880.

TWIN FALLS, THE EMBRYO MAGIC CITY—1906

Looking east from the site of the present post office building. On the eastern horizon may be detected Nicoleton hills, which is located south and west of Elbow. The service pole in the immediate foreground stands on the present corner of Main Avenue and Second Street west.

MAIN AVENUE FROM IN FRONT OF POSTOFFICE—1934

Looking down Twin Falls' principal business thoroughfare, to be the scene next week of the Magic City jubilee commemorating the 30th anniversary of the founding of the tract in 1904.

FIRST YEAR WAS HARD TIME HERE

Twin Falls Settlers in 1904 Needed Courage, Vision On Arrival

The first year in the life of the Magic City was, according to those who were here in 1904, a unique experience. Intense heat and drought made weather conditions comparable to those prevailing during the past summer.

Canyon Was Barter When the canyon finally was reached, major difficulties were found to block a speedy crossing.

Self Mfg. Co.

From a shop employing one helper to a manufacturing company selling farm machinery in six western states, has been the steady growth of the Self Mfg. Co., owned and operated by G. H. Self, 250 2nd Avenue South, Twin Falls.

Always having the best interest of the farmers at heart, Mr. Self invented and patented and now manufactures an extensive line of labor saving devices.

Among the list of farm implements sold by his firm are: Self 4-Row Bean Outters—Close Weeders—Windrowers—Melters—Potato Hillers and Phosphite Drills.

impossible for the homemaker to walk away through the cracks of the canyon, and finally that it would be far wiser to stay in Shoshone, or go back where they came from.

Impossible for the homemaker to walk away through the cracks of the canyon, and finally that it would be far wiser to stay in Shoshone, or go back where they came from.

As the site of the proposed town was approached it was practically impossible for the homemaker to walk away through the cracks of the canyon, and finally that it would be far wiser to stay in Shoshone, or go back where they came from.

TIMES IS AMONG TRACT PIONEERS

Nowpaper's Pages Chronicled Regional History as City Grew from Start

An modern as "today's news today," the Evening Times is nevertheless old in years, chronicler as it has been of the town of this region.

The history of the Times, in many regards may well be said to be the history of the Twin Falls tract, for this paper set up business in Twin Falls in the spring of 1905, and its first issue came from the press on March 23 of that year.

Pioneer Hardships This newspaper, like every other institution on the tract started from small beginnings, endured the hardships of the pioneer, and persevered with dutiful determination, until today it is in its thirtieth year, and has an unbroken record of continuous publication over a span which equals the life of the community.

Chronicling History In the pages of the "Times" through all the years are recorded the struggles, heart-aches, the hardships, the sorrows, the joys and the progress of the individual here. Those whose births were chronicled in its pages, are now taking their places in society; since the inception of "The Times," the automobile has come into its own and the world has seen the development of the airplane, the radio, electricity and the other attributes of a modern civilization; and the paper itself, printed at first with hand-set type on a press operated with a gasoline pump, now is circulated each evening in the six irrigated counties of southern Idaho, is produced with most modern composing machines and with fast presses and serves some 25,000 readers.

Closing itself among the earliest of pioneers on the tract, "The Evening Times" has kept abreast of the community, and will continue to, enlarging its facilities to fit the needs of this growing empire, and serving an increasing population in north central Idaho.

Early Hotel Man Had "Comeback"

It is recounted that when the proprietor of the Burlington, an early-day hotelier of the rising town of Twin Falls, had a guest complain because there were cracks in the side of the wall he "could not see through."

A paralysis which may last for several months can be caused by crossing the legs, according to an eminent doctor.

MERRIMENT

On the Fourth of July in the early days of this city, when main avenue was a sea of mud, with blades standing in numerous places up and down the street, Dr. F. F. McAtee was responsible for causing no little merriment.

More than 30,000,000 bags of coffee were consumed in the United States between July 1, 1933, and April 30, 1934.

Forty Years in Idaho

5 years as flour miller on Cassia creek.
25 years in the general mercantile business at Albion.
7 years in the music-business in Twin Falls.

And who is happier than I am, to be one of the property owners and business man of this wonderful city? Was on this very spot when it was a sage brush flat. Came to Twin Falls for the grand opening. Went home shook the dust out of my shoes, didn't have the nerve to tackle it.
But Look at us now after 30 years.

City Offers Tribute To Pioneer Builders Of Twin Falls Area

Story of Early Settlement of City Has Glamor of History in the Making

To the pioneers who braved the hardships of this once desert region goes the credit for the transformation which has been wrought in the Snake river valley, as exemplified by the Twin Falls and surrounding tracts, the Magic city, and those other cities whose development has been equally as remarkable.

In song and story, in pageant and praise, the pioneer settler will be honored here next week and the moderns of 1934 and 1935 as those who have been here for their past three decades see their deeds commemorated in a four-day jubilee which is expected to set a standard for similar celebrations during the recurring years.

They Made History

The men and women who braved the rigors of early days were making history, though they knew it not. The vision of a future, the lot of the settlers who reclaimed the land, and the wealth of capitalists combined to lay the foundation here for the present agricultural empire known as the Twin Falls country.

Twin Falls, which has taken for itself and proved that it deserves the name of the Magic City, will be celebrating the 30th anniversary of its founding. It is perhaps the most outstanding development that has come as a result of the work of I. B. Perrine, Frank H. Eubank, Stanley B. Milner and Peter Kimberly, the four men who are responsible for the opening of the tract.

Saw Possibilities

To I. B. Perrine, owner of the famous Blue Lakes ranch, goes the credit for conceiving the possibilities of this part of the southern Idaho desert. He interested the other three men, and the late Paul S. A. Bickel and a corps of competent engineers made the original survey. Bickel's report showed that all that Perrine had hoped could be made fact, and the three financiers decided to build the works necessary to reclaim the more than 200,000 acres that now comprise Twin Falls tract.

Work on the diversion designated as Milner dam, in honor of Milner, was begun in 1903, and simultaneously the labor upon the structure of the dam, with its dam and diverting water to the lands to be reclaimed, was started. The names of Perrine, Eubank and Kimberly were perpetuated in titles given to the various tracts. The Twin Falls tract took its name from the picturesque cataract in the river that made the project possible.

Bole Survivors

Of the four pioneers who planned and financed the tract only Perrine remains. He is now hard at work upon another and similar project—the Brunau.

The last time Stanley B. Milner came to Twin Falls tract took place a date around a number of the farms and afterward, said, "I would like to live 30 years just to watch development and results on this wonderful tract, but I won't be here long. I'm almost at the end of the road." And he was right. He expressed, though, the sentiment which was felt by each of the other two men who put their money behind the development of the tract.

Reclamation of this once large desert area for home building and agricultural pursuits required that a city be planned and built in harmony with the fertility of the soil and the beauty of the farm homes to be erected. These same individuals, encouraged by the results foreseen, selected and acquired the land upon which the city of Twin Falls now stands. It was surveyed and marked out by Bickel upon the general lines suggested by the projectors. Situations for the parks—sites of the Lincoln and Bickel schools and for number of churches were planned before a building was started.

First Lot Sold
With the completion of laying out the townsite, the first lot was sold in July, 1904, and a growing house was immediately erected on this lot of block 108 by Scott W. Hazen. In 1927 the building still stood upon the spot.

The first building constructed on the tract was the Anderson hotel upon the premises until a few years ago used as a foundry at the spot where Main avenue intersects Kimberly road. This building was upon a Carey act upon the Williams B. Perrine tract.

Twin Falls Investment company, under the management of Robert McCollum, conducted the sale of lands and town lots. The building, on one corner of block 104, was the office used by this company. It, too, was erected in 1904. The premises are now owned by the First Stone Service stores.

"LIFE BLOOD" OF THIS TRACT

The irrigation waters that created the Twin Falls agricultural empire form the life blood of the tract and its prosperity.

the building now used as a parochial school.

Other stores and business were organized with astonishing rapidity. A dairy, a meat market, a cement block manufacturing plant, a livery barn, a real estate office and a restaurant were added almost immediately.

Travel to and from Twin Falls, until the railroad was built, was by overland stage coaches operated by I. B. Perrine between Shoshone and Twin Falls via Blue Lakes. Many of the early settlers regarded that first trip as one of the best of their experiences.

A barber whose name is not recalled came into town early in 1904 and was pressed into service before a rocking chair tilted on blocks of wood in a room of the investment company's building.

General Store
The first general store in Twin Falls was established across the valley from where the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company's building now stands. This store was owned by William B. Perrine, who is now dead, and William Burton, who now lives in Burley. It was conducted under the name of Perrine and Burton.

Builds Phone Line
I. B. Perrine built the first telephone line from a point north of the office of Twin Falls Land and Water company, in the office of Twin Falls Investment company and at Blue Lakes ranch. The first private phone in Twin Falls was in the office of S. T. Hamilton.

Evidence that civic pride existed even then is seen in the establishment of a commercial club in 1905.

The first hospital was on Second avenue south, built in the summer of 1905, with Mrs. Vale, who is Morgan Henp's mother, and Mrs. Harry Allen in charge. Typhoid fever developed in the settlement in Rock creek canyon, and to relieve the serious situation a restaurant was vacated, and the building fitted for a hospital. The committee on furnishing was led by Harry Allen "just to go into my store and help yourselves to anything you need," and his advice was followed.

Twin Falls hospital was incorporated in 1905. It was conducted as a general hospital until it was taken over by Dr. T. O. Boyd.

The railroad entered Twin Falls in July, 1905, and on Aug. 7 the town celebrated railroad day. A barbecue was served in the dining room of the Perrine hotel before the building was completed. The horses and sheep were cooled in a pit across the street where the city building now stands.

First Funeral
First funeral services in the new community were held for Mrs. R. W. Gager, whose husband was then engaged in the hardware business. The grave site was near the present cemetery. A little later a child born to Mr. and Mrs. Milner was laid in a temporary grave here.

Spirit of Harmony
Those were the days when but one thought controlled every citizen of the tract—"what will make this tract bigger and better?" It is partly in an attempt to revive this old spirit that members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring the present Thirtieth Anniversary Jubilee.

MINIDOKA TRACT LARGE IN SCOPE

Neighboring Irrigation Project Comprises Area Including 120,000 Acres

The Minidoka project, comprising an irrigable area of 120,000 acres, is located in Minidoka and Cassia counties in southern Idaho. Water for irrigation is obtained from the natural flow of Snake river supplemented by ample provision for storage in Lake Wallace, near Minidoka, Idaho; in Jackson holes, near the Yellowstone park in Wyoming; and at American Falls reservoir, about 60 miles above the diversion point.

The land lies at an elevation of about 4,200 feet above sea level, and the average annual precipitation is 11 1/2 inches.

Two Divisions
The project is in two main divisions. The area north of Snake river comprising 64,000 acres, and 7,000 acres south of the river are operated by the Minidoka Irrigation district and are largely watered by gravity. South of the river are 40,000 acres operated by the committee on furnishing was led by Harry Allen "just to go into my store and help yourselves to anything you need," and his advice was followed.

In connection with the irrigation system the U. S. bureau of reclamation has constructed a power plant of 15,500 horsepower capacity, which supplies power for irrigation pumping and for domestic purposes.

Towns Supplied
All of the towns on the project are supplied with electricity from this source and about 75 per cent of the farms. This feature, together with adequate transportation facilities, both rail and highway, adds greatly to the comfort and convenience of rural life.

The principal crops are alfalfa, grain, potatoes and sugar beets. Irrigating in an established industry. In 1926 the cultivated area of 90,000 acres produced crops valued at $3,200,284.

The construction of American Falls dam on the Snake river made possible the furnishing of additional water for large areas of land in the valley previously dependent upon the unregulated flow of the river.

MARKER RECALLS FAMED ROADWAY

Oregon Trail, Historic Means Of Pioneer Travel, Now Just Memory

Marked only by a lava monument erected several years ago by the twin fall river, the Oregon trail has been almost forgotten path.

Green fields, buildings and paved roads have replaced it almost entirely, but here and there in the sage brush, time has failed to eliminate the deep channel made by hundreds of laboring animals and wagons on the historic emigrant trail.

Landmarks Preserved
It leads through the present towns of Montpelier and Soda Springs, and goes on to Pocatello near where Fort Hall was built 160 years ago. The actual fort was located at the junction of the Pentouit and Snake rivers, and building of the American Falls dam almost submerged it. Some of the old landmarks have been preserved, however, and were the celebration a few weeks ago.

From Fort Hall the trail followed the south bank of the Snake and passed the present town of American Falls, Burley and then onto Twin Falls trail somewhere near the present Burley-Twin Falls highway. Most famous really was the old wagon station at Stock creek, southeast of here.

Turned To Hills
West of Hall the covered wagon turned toward the hills and did not again approach the river until they neared the present site of Glenn Ferry. At the town's limit indicated, a ferry was at one time used to cross the river, but the crossing was by no means a luxurious one. Real pioneers used the ford.

The trail continued northwest to Mountain Home, Nampa and near Parma the Snake was again forded. Then it crossed into the present state of Oregon.

The old wagon station near the present site of Twin Falls, that was another of the trail markers, is now only a ruin. Its site and those of other places, the only ones which will grow with time, are remembered mostly because of the efforts of Ezra Meeker, who is responsible for marking the trail. One of the Oregon trail pioneers, he made the trip from his home in Washington state to the capitol for the purpose of adequately marking the trail. That was in 1908 when he was 78 years old. The long journey was made by ox team and all the way from the coast to Missouri he left a trail of substantial and appropriate stone markers. Meeker made another trip in 1910 to complete the labor.

Appropriately, the states of Idaho and Oregon gave the trail its name. Possibly they took the name from the marker that in the middle of the last century stood in eastern Kansas near the present town of Gardner, bearing the simple inscription "To Oregon." Some pioneer may have remembered that marker and the promise of hope it held out to him. At any rate the promise held, for it was the Oregon Trail that has been mainly responsible for the growth of Idaho as well as of Oregon.

OAKLEY

Double the present supply of water is in prospect for the customers of the Oakley municipal pipe line. The municipal engineer project of tapping Chokecherry spring for the system has been approved by the state committee. More than $2,000 will be spent on labor, pipe, cement and powder. The village is supposed to pay for the new spring.

Chokecherry spring, situated eight miles south of Oakley and two miles south of the spring now in use is the property of Seth Harper, Burley. Mayor J. A. Mercer and Con Fairchild, waterworks superintendent, will go to Twin Falls in a few days to consult an engineer before launching the new enterprise.

Miss Pearl Alexander, Pasadena, Calif., is visiting in Oakley this week. She is leaving soon for Salt Lake City.

Miss Blanche Matthews left Monday for Salt Lake City, where she will resume her work at Honecker's business college. Miss Matthews has been visiting her parents for the past month.

Misses Agnes Smith and Louise Gregory accompanied Ben Muddett, Salt Lake City, for a week-end. Mr. Muddett was on L. D. S. missionary in Sacramento, Calif., at the same time Miss Smith was there.

Mrs. Rex Schiffo and baby daughter, Jeanne, and Mrs. Vic Olson returned Monday from Wendell, where they had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Egan. Mrs. Schiffo's mother and father.

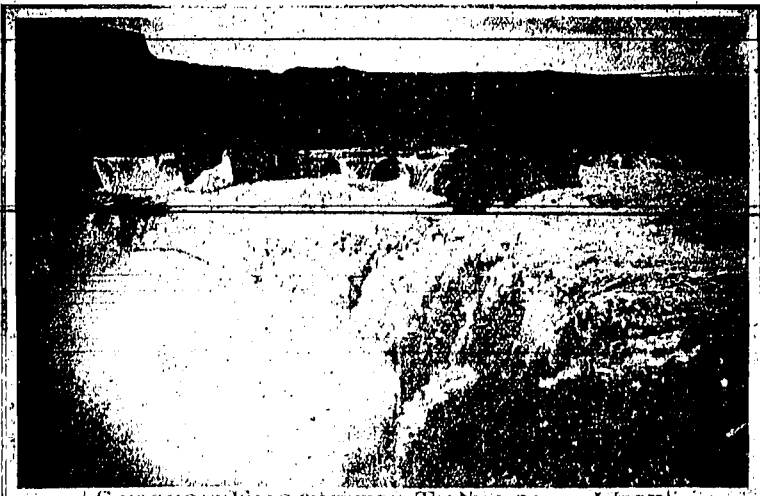

Mrs. S. A. Russell was injured near Mirtaugh Friday evening while on route home from Twin Falls. She was bringing a pail of water from the canal for the car's radiator when an east-bound car struck her. Her left arm was injured seriously. She was taken to Twin Falls for treatment and is reported to be recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Nord Brown of Leeds, S. D., visited at Mrs. W. Quillian home last week-end. Mrs. F. W. Brown is Mrs. Quillian's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Schofield had as guests this week, H. P. Schofield, Elsie and Mrs. W. H. Sprunt, Salt Lake City. H. P. Schofield is H. J. Schofield's father, and Mrs. Sprunt is his sister.
