VISITORS THROG TO HOBBY SHOW

Crowds Begin Inspection Early As Fair Opens Doors in School Gym

Curious groups were already beginning to throng the high school gymnasium today, as the hobby fair board opened its exhibits for inspection. School children and adults examined the more than 60 different displays, contributed by a hundred or more Twin Falls persons, with interest and admiration.

Over larger crowds are expected at 8 p. m. when the hobby fair program, of which A. William Peck is in charge, will climax this opening day. The fair will also be open all day tomorrow and in the evening.

Last minute work on displays was continued in the afternoon, although these were opened at 1 p. m. Displays will be entirely completed by this evening, declares Robert Haller, chairman.

Many Group Exhibits

Many group exhibits are entered, says Mr. Haller, many of them including contributions from more than half a dozen persons, and individual exhibits include a number of unusually interesting articles.

Mrs. F. F. Bracken has entered a display of intricate thread knitting. Mrs. C. G. Williamson has an exhibit of original oil paintings, one a portrait of her husband, painted before she had a lesson. Two grandfathers clocks and a miniature of the same model are shown by Robert Gault, who made them, and Mrs. Alice Wood is high in displaying her collection of war relics brought from French battlefields.

Interesting articles are electrical appliances made by an 11-year-old boy, model ships and airplanes, enlargements of photographs, coins and paper money, and quilts.

A visit to the fair will be both intensely interesting and educational, says Amy Frederick, fair chairman. No admission is charged.

OIL PARLEY HERE SET FOR FRIDAY

All persons and firms connected with the oil industry in this section are invited to attend a meeting to be held at the Rogerson hotel tomorrow at 8 p. m. It was announced today by H. J. Schwendman, division manager of the Gem State Oil company, and chairman of the state committee of the state marketing committee under the code administration.

Rules for the marketing of the product, and matters affecting operation of the oil business in the Twin Falls section will be taken up, Schwendman said in urging attendance.

Horton W. Musser, manager of the Utah planning and coordinating committee for the petroleum industry, J. W. Calloway, chairman of the Idaho state marketing committee for the industry, as well as executives of the larger oil firms operating in this territory will be present, he advised.

Flier Plans Long Hop to Lithuania

CHICAGO (AP)—A non-stop flight from Chicago to Lithuania is the goal of Lieut. Felix Wittkus, 25, Chicagoan, who hopes to start the trip soon.

He will use a Lockheed Vega plane, the same type used by Jimmy Doolittle, Wiley Post and Amelia Earhart.

Lieutenant Wittkus was educated in Chicago, finishing his studies at the University of Chicago. After a year he sailed in the Army Air Corps, becoming a lieutenant in 1931.

Last year he completed a similar trip from Chicago to London, a distance of 3,600 miles, in 20 days, 22 hours and 30 minutes, setting a new record for a single-engine plane.

HE HOPES FOR RICHES

A jobless and penniless Birmingham, Ala., ironworker, James Steele, above, thunders blithely with the old aura which he hopes will carry him to Mobile and a good share in the $200,000 estate of his rich, eccentric aunt, Steele, 53, married and father of two, applied to a relief agency for money to buy gasoline for his trip. If the estate of Mrs. Margaret Steele Cox is split among her nearest kin, Steele may get approximately $35,000.

M'KELLAR FACES FUSIONIST FIGHT

Veteran Senator Must Bout Disgruntled Bloc in Election

MEMPHIS, Tenn., (AP)—Fusionism again fully marked the veteran Senator K. D. McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, staunch supporter of the "New Deal," and his fourth return to the United States senate in November.

A coalition of Democrats, outraged over "archaic rule" in the state of Andrew Jackson, and Republicans, offering in glibly fashion an attack upon the New Deal, has taken the field against Senator McKellar in the Democratic primary, Gov. Bill McAllister.

Both were nominated, overwhelmingly, in the Democratic primary of Aug. 2. Ten days later the fusion ticket was formed, and McKellar ended his vacation and came home from Canada.

Hooper Against McKellar

Leading the Republicans in the move against "too much government in business" is Ben W. Hooper, former governor and outspoken critic of the Roosevelt administration. He will be McKellar's opponent in the November election.

The allied army of disgruntled Democrats, including Lewis A. "mitchie" rule," has chosen as its gubernatorial candidate, Hiram B. Pope, Nashville lawyer, three times defeated in gubernatorial races. Pope lost again this year, to McAllister.

Republicans, in a state where the vote is predominantly Democratic, withdrew their gubernatorial nominee and joined the fusion movement.

FINDS METAL

At a cost that makes it more expensive than radium, a new metal has been isolated by Dr. Alfred von Groesse, above, visiting chemistry professor at the University of Chicago, No. 91 in the 64 of 92 known chemical elements, protactinium is more radioactive than radium. Only one-tenth of a gram of it has been obtained to date.

NEW SLEEVE IS DRESS NOVELTY

Revolutionary Idea Permits Arm Movement Without Disturbance

PARIS (AP)—Chopped by the "revolutionary" sleeve is like an arm in a leathering socket. It turns and screws, twists and twirls all without disturbing the rest of the body of the dress. And for all that, the mystery is very simple, after you know it.

Instead of the sleeve being cut directly into the shoulder in the good old sleeve to shoulder tradition, a narrow band of material first goes into the armhole and the sleeve is attached to this band cut on the bias naturally the narrow strip gives and takes all sorts of pulling and turning and twisting without affecting in the least the general "set" of the shoulder or body of the blouse or dress or coat, for anywhere a sleeve appears it can have this "technical novelty" attached.

It's "Revolution"

Says the lady herself, "It is not a glamorous novelty. It is not an artificial novelty with easy effects. It is only visible in its operation, when whatever that means and is a veritable technical revolution. It determines a radical change, opening the way to a mode which, this time, will be free to evolve on a new basis. With this new sleeve the dress will no longer be tributary of the sleeve, which therefore renders possible my desire to maintain the individual silhouette of a woman's body, as well as the entire length of the arm and all the suppleness of the hand."

ITALIAN TROOPS TO GUARD SAAR

German-Speaking Tyrol Units Urged as Neutral Police During Plebiscite

(Copyright, 1934, United Press) PARIS, Sept. 20 (AP)—The powers have reached an agreement to recruit German-speaking Italian forces to be sent into the Saar to preserve order during the coming plebiscite, plebiscite quarters said today.

The Italian troops would reinforce the local forces. Their mission would be to insure neutrality during the plebiscite, in which the Saar inhabitants will vote whether to belong to Germany or France, or to remain under jurisdiction of the League of Nations.

Terrorism Feared

German Nazis and adherents of France have been eying one another with suspicion. The danger of terrorism has been frequently mentioned. The Saar governing commission asked for neutral outside troops through the League of Nations.

Information here was that most of the 2,000 police which the Saar commission requested will be recruited in Tyrol and the southern Tyrol, with the consent of Premier Benito Mussolini. Inhabitants of these regions would fulfill the requirements of ability to speak German as well as that they be neutral, since they are neither French nor German.

The region is formerly a German territory, now Italian, and German in spoken language.

Urged by Duce

It was believed Mussolini originally suggested that Italian police be sent into the Saar to prevent expected trouble during the voting next January, as most powers refused to permit their nationals to be employed for such service.

It was considered inadvisable to have Italian-speaking troops, however, and the Trieste-Tyrol solution was reached.

The chief of the Saar police, Arthur Hiesley, told the United Press by telephone from Saarbrücken:

"We are awaiting the reinforcements requested to maintain a fair plebiscite. Meanwhile, we are recruiting locally to strengthen the 1,000 existing police."

He added he had not yet been advised of the plan to draft Italian forces but regarded it as possible, although he did not think it likely the forces would be entirely confined to Italians.

OIL CURB LEGAL, EXPERT ASSERTS

Margold Opposes Congress Has Right to Limit Output of Petroleum

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The constitutionality of the proposed curbing of oil production is a question that will be decided by the Supreme Court, according to an expert on the subject today before the House of Representatives committee on Margold, who also is chairman of the petroleum administrative board, discussed constitutional aspects of oil control legislation.

He said the right to regulate the oil industry could be derived from either of two sections of the constitution—the commerce clause, giving congress the power to regulate interstate commerce, or the war clause, giving congress the power to conserve national resources as a means of national defense.

Sees Court Approval

The Supreme court, in Margold's opinion, would uphold all legislation passed upon a basis of conservation for future needs.

"In my judgment," he said, "it is clear that the Supreme court would uphold a judgment of congress if it declared that in the interest of national defense it was advisable to regulate the production of petroleum and to prevent the government from paying too much for petroleum when the present supply is exhausted."

One Danger

The only danger to constitutionality, he testified, would be if the courts determined that congress acted in a capricious manner in proposing the legislation. If it was determined, however, that the existing supply could be stretched out for 25 years by conservation methods, the emergency contingency could be avoided, he said.

Margold said in his opinion that congress should determine the uses to which petroleum could be put as well as regulating its production.

He said the controversial "law of capture" would have no bearing on determining the power of congress to enact regulatory legislation.

VILLAGES SPRING UP IN HOP AREA

Toadstool Towns Take Rapid Shape as Season Reaches Full Swing

SALEM, Ore., (AP)—The hop season has created a number of toadstool villages of from one to three thousand inhabitants in this vicinity, a recent survey showed.

The total population of these phenomenal towns was estimated at 65,000. The towns last about one month each year during the hop season, when workers come from all parts of the Pacific Coast to pick hops.

A typical "Hopville" has a population of about 1,500, spreading out for two or three blocks in the middle of a 300-acre hop field which leaves a wide area around it.

Wooden Houses

Many of the villages are housed in permanent wooden structures, with electric light and water piped nearby. Gravelled roads wind through the houses and apritling of tents that dot the landscape.

There is a town square, a restaurant, barber shop, meat market and moving picture theater. The children have a large ball diamond and playground.

Twice a week the "Hop Strangler" is published to tell the activities of the little town.

Have Shows

Radio artists and other outside entertainers on week-end nights entertain the population of these villages a week when stage entertainments are given in the theater. The other four nights are given over to movies.

Each week two dances are held, on Wednesday and Saturday nights.

SAILOR CRUISES INLAND WATERS

"Commodore" Hatfield Hangs Up Record for Boating Along Rivers, Lakes

HOONVILLE, Mo., (AP)—"Commodore" H. M. Hatfield, of Port Wadsworth, Mo., has boated more than 6,000 miles on inland waterways in America during the last year.

In his outboard motor scow, the "Commodore" left Port Wadsworth on Aug. 28, 1933, went to Houston, then along the coastal canal to Beaumont, over to New Orleans, on to Mississippi and Florida.

Up to St. Paul, Minn., he then went up that stream to St. Paul. By river and canal he went to Chicago to visit the World's Fair, and returned to St. Louis via the Mississippi. He now is taking a little sidetrip up the Missouri River to Kansas City and back.

So far, he has received 118 state permits and seven state flags from various governors and carries a boatload of waterjugs given him by chambers of commerce.

PENNSYLVANIANS SEE 75 PARTIES

They're Worried About Length of Ballot for November General Election

HARRISBURG, Pa., (AP)—Five Cent-Century, Honest Elections, Anti-Wall Street and Unemployed are only a few of the 75 new political parties pre-empted in Pennsylvania in a general election in the Nov. 6 general election.

This unprecedented congestion in the Keystone State's political arena will send a bewildered electorate, resembling a humdrum disquisition into the voting booth. Mechanical limitations of voting machines, used in some precincts, are likely to be taxed.

Acute Confusion

Confusion will be especially acute in the Wilkes-Barre area, 17 new parties having been organized in Luzerne county.

"Roosevelt" is a component in the titles of four new parties: Roosevelt Independent, Roosevelt Progressive, Roosevelt New Deal, and Plain Roosevelt. In this category are the New Deal Progressives and the Plain New Deal parties. There's a fourth party, too.

The remainder includes several variations of Independent, Progressives, Citizens, and Liberals parties; Prosperity, Keystone, Common, Peoples Choice, Equal Rights, and All-American. Many feature a full line of local and state-wide candidates; others are purely local in influence.

Glacial Grooves on Isle Hold Interest

KELLY'S ISLAND, O., (AP)

A new interest in the historic glacial grooves on this Lake Erie island has been shown since the state recently took over the surrounding terrain as a state park.

One of the larger of the inscriptions is a narrow, shallow groove, which is believed to have been made by the retreat of a glacier which once existed between the Erie and Huron, which included the shores and islands of Lake Erie, and the Troquois nation of New York State. The inscriptions are believed 300 years old.

ARKANSAS LANDS BOOST IN VALUE

Farming Regions Show Six Per Cent Rise for First Time in 14 Years

SPRINGFIELD, Ark., (AP)—Value of farm land in Arkansas has increased six per cent over last year for the first time in 14 years, according to the New Deal Progressives and the Plain New Deal parties. The Federal Land Bank of St. Louis, has announced.

Comparing with the basic period of 1912 to 1914, McKinney said, the land is valued at 86 per cent. Last year the value was 80 per cent. Crop experimentation and two successive droughts with consequent better prices for products have made farm investments desirable, McKinney said.

DEBTS FIGURE IN NEW PEACE PLAN

United States Asked to Make Debts Into "Anti-War Credits"

MORRIS, (AP)—The League for World Peace (Liga Pro Paz Mundial), describing itself as a "scientific crusade for material disarmament," has issued a manifesto urging the United States to convert war debts into anti-war credits as a step towards assurance of peace.

The manifesto states that the war debts owed the United States amount to $17,000,000,000 percent.

The League urges that "in order to organize a national, continuous and intensive effort to educate the masses of the entire world, Spain can and ought to ask Washington to transform the war debts into anti-war credits. It should seek the support of Mexico in asking for a moral revision of the treaties of 'disarmament' signed at the close of the years of 1918 and 1919, against the will of the American people. All historians of North America today recognize the profound injustice of said treaties."

The manifesto also asks all American countries to deliver similar petitions to the United States.

The cooperative plan at the dormitory calls for a $7.75 cash payment weekly and not more than eight hours of weekly work.

Question: How Far Will a Dollar Stretch?

Answer: Just as Far as You Want It To!

This picture was made with the aid of one of those phoney rubber dollars you may have seen the Hollywood Clowns using during the Magic City Jubilee. But REAL dollars—honest, to John shopping dollars—will stretch, too! You can make them cover more purchases than you ever thought possible if you know how and where to spend them most economically!

Making a dollar go farther is just another name for thrift, and thrifty shoppers are usually ad-shoppers. They know what they're going to buy—where to buy it—how much to pay—before they leave their front doors. They plan their shopping tours with the help of the Idaho Evening Times.

Get the ad-shopping habit. It is the royal road to wise buying.

SPAIN UNCOVERS UPRISING PLANS

Boonists' Revolt Called for Sabotage and Bloodshed, Police Claim

MADRID, Sept. 20 (AP)—Plans for a Socialist revolution under which government buildings were to be destroyed and all persons in uniform shot without quarter were found on students arrested in connection with the seizure of a truckload of munitions, police announced today.

The plans were advanced in final proof that Socialists planned a revolt of large extent. Ammunition trucks, the student, was seized yesterday as he stood beside a truck which was found to contain 54 cases of machine gun ammunition, 40 cases of rifle cartridges, five flame projectors and three armor-piercing rifles. Previously, police in raids had seized great quantities of arms and ammunition of all sorts and said that at the home of former Socialist Deputy Gabriel Moran they found a laboratory equipped for manufacture of explosives and inflammable liquids.

ILLINOIS G. O. P. ATTACKS FARLEY

State Chairman Hands Stern Rebuke to Assertions on New Deal

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley's western speaking tour today met stinging rebuke from Illinois Republican leaders.

Replying to Farley's description of New Deal accomplishments in a speech at Rockford, Ill., Tuesday night, Justice L. Johnson, chairman of the Illinois Republican central committee, said:

"The postmaster general's speech was the epitome of a New York Tammany boss who can't take it."

"Why didn't he give some assurance in speech that the great textile strike would be settled satisfactorily? News fiddled while Rome burned. Now we don't even hear the sound of a fiddle."

SIREN TO WARN BEACH WALKERS

Famed French Resort Planning Signal to Help Ocean Strollers

PARIS (AP)—Mont Saint-Michel, most photographed French landmark, is to be provided with siren against the peril of the sea. Debate on the advisability of projecting siren along the quayside, incidentally, led to the discovery that there is no such thing as being swallowed up by these oceanic bays.

Many an ancient Breton warrior it was revealed, has been caught in quicksands and survived. The question is one of time. Rarely is a man sucked down to above the waistline, because the subsoil is firm at that level, but many have been caught at a time when the tide was coming in and drowned.

The danger is that of drowning when the tide comes up from seemingly nowhere, filling the vast reaches of sand with furious torrents and treacherous eddies.

Victims more often than not are visitors who start out for the historic island of Tombelaine, and foiled by their calculations of distance and time into being trapped by the tide.

Because it increases the blood flow, heat has a beneficial effect on many ailments.

Ann Lindbergh's happy smile shows how lightly she takes misadventure in the air.

Plastic Doctor Help to Adonis, Britishers Find

LONDON (AP)—British men are taking a beauty tip from their womenfolk these days and going in for a little face lifting and wrinkle putting on their own. If the number of Adonisium in this country doesn't go up by leaps and bounds in the near future someone will be asking the beauticians why.

"The men are rushing to the beauty parlors faster than their wives and daughters, according to one West End face specialist. The trouble with them, however, is that they won't take the same trouble over their "earned" complexion as the women do.

Never Massage
"They never massage their faces with creams or lotions," this beauty specialist stated. "Many former clients said that a face lifting operation brought back their wives' love to them, and some found that father a nuisance."

The would-be Valentines include actors, singers, professional dancers and lecturers. A beach life guard was included among the clients of this beauty expert.

EDITOR ATTACKS VETERANS LOBBY

Dr. Henry Goddard Leach Raps American Legion's Stand As "Grasping"

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—Dr. Henry Goddard Leach, noted editor of The Forum, has called upon the electorate to put an end once and for all to further plundering of the public treasury by veterans and in the name of patriotism by voting against senators and congressmen who betray you and your interests.

He denounced the "presumptive, grasping, grasping attitude of the American Legion and other so-called veterans organizations." "American citizens," he declared, "have apparently remained impassive and indifferent while the efficiently organized veterans' lobby was intimidating and cajoling senators and congressmen with promises of votes."

He called for new demands. "And I predict," Leach added, "that drunk with success and power, the veterans' lobby will propose additional legislation, seeking more money, and additional unjust privileges before the next congress."

To address a series of questions to Edward L. Hayes, national commander of the Legion, demanding public replies. Among them were: "Does not the American Legion magnanimously advertise that the Legionary can double the average income, 64 per cent are insured for an average of $12,000 and 84 per cent own automobiles?" "Does the Legion have a plan to eliminate just such demands as the Legion is making today?"

"Was not the adjusted service compensation act introduced and given Legion support under the thesis that it would eliminate service pensions?" "Do you believe that at $30 a month the genuine war widows receive ample consideration?"

He recalled the Legion's promise in 1922 that the new law would give them what they did not ask for a pension? "Why did you recently say that you wished to remove from your organization all the doubting Thomases and that those who do not believe in the Legion should not be in agreement with the definite program of the national organization?"

He recalled Leach's speech, which was broadcast, were sent to all senators and congressmen.

Southwest Primaries End Reigns of Once Potent Political Spellbinders

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 20 (AP)—A summary of primary elections might be interpreted as a breakdown in the southwest of old-fashioned spellbinding contrasted with the "strategic" functioning of the well-oiled metropolitan machine.

Experts say James E. Ferguson, former governor of Texas and husband of the present governor, in through his political death was right-aligned by Lone Star voters. The same goes for Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma, the signing likewise taking place in the state's primary this summer.

Still Powerful Big "Tom" Pondercast's Kansas City political machine is hitting on all cylinders. The primary election triumph being the election for the first time in history, of a statewide candidate in Missouri.

This may be summarized the highlights of the primaries. At least that is the status of the election's stars in political drama, those who could count on making the front page on the slightest prospect of votes.

Ferguson thought that he or his wife, Miriam, after he was impeached in 1917 during his second term as governor and barred from ever holding state office again, always could count on the dirt farmer whose cause he espoused.

He couldn't. This year Mrs. Ferguson announced that "the family has had enough honors" that she would run for re-election, and that the Ferguson would back C. C. McDonald as her successor.

Ferguson chose Third McDonald was third in the first primary, July 28. Ferguson then turned his support to Tom P. Hunter. He was ousted by Attorney General James V. Alfred last Saturday in the run-off primary.

Murray, who has known no equal as a spellbinding hell-raider, tonight and tonight governor, came into power in 1930 with a radical new deal in Oklahoma politics and economics. Those who are supposed to know his lack of diplomacy, his dictatorial methods, his battles with the Roosevelt administration and his lack of sympathy with the national government, and his stumping tour in behalf of his eight-candidate slate, including Tom Anglin for governor. His speeches lost votes, they say.

FLETCHER LOSES VERDICT ON GAS

Idaho Oil Company Prohibited From Disposing of "Hot" Fuel Shipment

MOBILE, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Fletcher Oil company of Idaho today had been restrained from disposing of its 3,000,000 gallons of gasoline, alleged to have been produced illegally in Texas, except on terms specified by Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes or his agents.

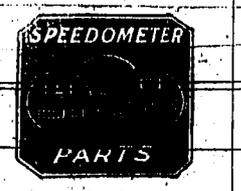

The decision was made by a circuit court in federal court. The decree upholds the NRA as it affects oil produced in excess of limitations for all productions. It was agreed in open court that both sides would pay their own expenses of the decision, the agreement being added to the decree. Contempt of court charges against the Fletcher company, for alleged removal of a portion of the "hot" gasoline, were dropped.

JOBS, PAYROLLS SHOW INCREASE

Secretary of Labor Asserts Boost Shows Recovery is Going Forward

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Francis Perkins today pointed to increased employment and payrolls during August as an indication the recovery program is going forward despite the epidemic of labor unrest. According to the labor department's bureau of labor statistics, factory employment increased one per cent from July to August, and payrolls advanced three per cent. "We are glad to see this gain at this critical moment," said Miss Perkins. "As you see, employment went up. A rise is normally anticipated during August."

30 States Gain Employment increases, the statistical bureau reported, were exhibited in 29 of the 48 states, ranging from one-tenth of one per cent to 1.5 per cent. In Oregon and California the gains were 1.0 and 1.3 per cent, respectively. The outstanding employment decrease was 1.3 per cent in Alabama, due primarily to a falling off in manufacturing and automotive coal mining. Fifty-two of 90 manufacturing industries showed a labor department survey, reported employment gains during August, and 51 reported payroll increases. The increases were said to reflect seasonal activities in clothing, camping, and a resumption of important operations after July shutdown.

Food Group Up Among manufacturers, industry showing employment in the food group reported the most pronounced gain. Employment in the transportation department 51 per cent. Payrolls were 6.0 above the July level. The increase in factory employment was estimated at 73,000, but was offset by declines in certain non-manufacturing industries. The estimated payroll advance was $1,000,000 a week.

CHINA ASKS FOR CHARGE DETAILS

Wants More Facts on Senator's Claim That Grain Worth For Munitions

NANKING, China, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Chinese National government has asked the United States for details of the allegations affecting Chinese military leaders by U. S. Senator Gerald Nye during the months of his inquiry. It was learned authoritatively today. The spokesman for the Chinese foreign office said that China is planning "appropriate disciplinary measures" if the evidence upholds Nye's charges that the military leaders traded grain, bought under the RFC $10,000,000 loan, to Italy for military equipment. NO HURRY, FARM PRODUCERS TOLD

Loans Available If Growers Desire to Hold-Longer, Maxwell Says

Farmers need not rush their crop onto the market if they feel there is advantage in holding them for a longer period, according to J. M. Maxwell, manager of the Idaho Production Credit association of Twin Falls. Maxwell said that the association is making commodity loans at 5 per cent interest on staples stored in approved warehouses, with negotiable warehouse receipts as security.

"Such commodity loans can be put through with a minimum of publicity as the borrower can have his money instantly. Time of repayment runs from four to six months, but loans may be repaid at any time. 1000 1/2 per cent farm loan from 65 to 75 per cent of the market value of beans, wheat, etc., he said. In addition to offering commodity loans, the association is also making 5 per cent feeder loan up to the full purchase price of feeder stock, where the borrower has ample feed and experience in this line. Loans also can be made for buying winter feed supplies in advance, thereby effecting a saving in many cases."

BEACH CLUB GIRL

MADE BY McELIOTT

BEGIN SMILED TODAY

HOOTS' RAUCOUS, 18, was the first to smile, because she doesn't want to face her parents' disappointment on learning she has been snubbed by the younger set. Her mother, a fashionable New York society girl, has gone to Miami, promising to send for Hoots later. She gave a job in a big department store and takes a taxi home in the evening. The house is in the village and is frequented by DENIS F. N. W. A. young society set. Her mother, however, says that Hoots is a doctor and asks her not to worry about expense. After she receives she asks her to go at the moment and Hoots, who has been shut out from social contacts for so long, goes with a sighing.

NOW GO ON WITH THIS STORY

CHAPTER XXVII

THIS room was full of the babble of light voices. Cigaret smoke hung like a soft veil over everything. It seemed to the girl in her hair shyness, that there were strange faces everywhere. Where was Denis? She felt on the threshold and a big shouldered young man in uniform twined came for her with a deferential smile.

"You're Mrs. Lund? Denis told me to look out for you. He's been waiting for you—just been called to the telephone."

After that it was easier. Someone found her a deep chair and put a long glass in her hand. When Denis came in a moment later his eyes sought her out.

"Here, she's having tea," he said rather rudely to the man in brown tweeds. "Didn't you know?"

Hoots flushed unaccountably but the young man (he was Edward Van Solver whose parents' apartment Denis was renting at the moment) grinned complacently at her and said that parties were had for Denis' disposition.

"Take 'em too seriously," he informed her, finding a hassack and establishing himself at her feet.

Hoots had a thin cup of hot, delicious tea and crusty toast with butter. She nibbled at the butter and olive. And all around them, fashionably dressed young women in amazing hats discussed the latest play, the latest book, the latest scandal.

"But, my dear, you don't know the man," she said, looking at the man in brown tweeds. "He's got dates, dates, dates, fully if you ask me."

"His stuff is absolutely putrid. If you know what I mean. The Nobel prize..."

They frightened Hoots, all these clever people, Denis' friends. What would they say if they discovered she was just a schoolgirl and the chintze at Lucy's? She was glad that Edward Van Solver stayed by her side as she smoked and talked and the arguments swirled all around her.

"I'm not clever like the rest of them," she told her mother. "I'm in Wall Street; don't panic or write or anything. I'm here under false pretenses. Denis just let me slide here."

"You were at school together?" she hazarded. "It seemed to me Denis had told her that."

"Yes," he nodded. "He was head and shoulders over the rest of us. Denis has real brains. The rest of us is just plain along."

SHE sipped her tea thoughtfully. That exquisite girl with

NOW FOR A SWIMMING POOL

Decision of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce to undertake the building of a swimming pool in Twin Falls is interesting from several angles.

Such a start has been made on numerous occasions in the past, but with indifferent success. The money for such an improvement was practically all raised at one time, when along came Old Main Depression and knocked the skids out of the project. The most recent effort was that undertaken in Koek creek canyon with federal relief labor a couple of years ago. A pool was constructed, but that is about as far as the program went. The location was not as desirable as the public would like, and for other reasons nothing has been done to advance the project.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, made up of enthusiasts, has proved its ability to put over a program, as was demonstrated in the Magic City Jubilee. What it starts, it will likely finish.

This newspaper has long advocated the need of a swimming pool as a method of providing more recreational facilities. This feeling has been sensed by the entire community, but up until now the task of providing a pool has been a difficult one, involving finances hard to raise. The present plans contemplate the use of IERA labor, which will reduce the expense materially.

In defraying the necessary costs, no doubt the citizenry of Twin Falls will welcome the opportunity of cooperating in this latest plan to insure a pool here. It is a project in which all can take part, and one which will result in universal pride and appreciation. More power to its sponsors!

the creamy skin and the delicious English voice, with the thrill of orange flower petals callidly white against the lead black of her frock. Hoots talked light to Denis. Her smoke-gray eyes traveled restlessly about the room as she spoke. Once she laughed and the sound was like the clink of silver bells. Denis' smile rested on her approvingly. Hoots smiled at the girl. She was a cool and sure girl of herself. There were blue shadows smudged above her eyes and her dull brown hair was swept back from her broad, low forehead.

"Who is that?" she asked young Edward.

"Ray?" He indicated the girl with the orange point collar.

"Oh, she's been around quite a bit. We know her at Cambridge. Her sister, Denise, is married to one of the young instructors in chemistry. Ray's in charge of the invention Annals shops here." He mentioned a name which stood for everything expensive and elegant in the world of cosmetics.

"She's very lovely," Hoots said faintly. You could see this girl, moving in a little world of her own, leaning crisp orders, being efficient and charming and aloof all at her with a deferential smile.

"Smart girl," Edward Van Solver affirmed, producing a cigaret case and proffering one to Hoots. "Very good family, too. Kent—Darbyshire—something like that. I forgot which. She does this for a living."

Of course she would, thought the young girl with a surge of resentment. That frock probably came from Mondel-Barry, in '78 street. It was a far cry from Kay at Evelyn Amable's marble palace dedicated to the service of beauty to Hoots of the chintzes in Lucy's.

DENIS seemingly had forgotten her this afternoon. Of course he was busy. A host in always busy. Hoots felt a little disappointed. She was just imagining things. What did she expect, after all? He'd been kind to her as one kind to the lame or the halt and that ought to be enough for her.

It was nothing to Hoots that Kay Chillingford had Denis' hat at an hour for a solid quarter of an hour. Hoots had no earthly claim on Denis. Just the same she felt sick and shabby and a bit chilled.

"I'm tired and a bit chilled," she blurted out at last, from this well-dressed, chattering group. She didn't belong here...

A voice at her elbow, Denis' deep, soft voice. "Enjoying yourself?"

Instantly she was at attention, lying bravely, gallantly as a woman might.

"I haven't," Denis told her coolly, "had a word with you all afternoon. What do you think of the place?"

Hoots' hair fell now, on the hassack lately vacated by the amiable Edward. Hoots glanced around at the dark balcony, the paneled walls, the deep chairs in antiquated white fabrics.

"I think it's beautiful," she said.

"I'm glad you're here," Denis said. "You haven't met Kay, have you? Ah, but you must. She's such a darling."

The slim English girl with her soft, controlled voice, her air of being content to any situation was brought over and presented. There

CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES LIBERTY

Among the things that every school child is taught is the fact that the Constitution of the United States is a document of great value and deep wisdom.

This is certainly true enough, and it is a wise and beneficial thing for us to set aside one day every year as "Constitution Day." But the school children and older folk are alike in one thing—they seldom bother to read this document to which we do homage.

Observance of the day ought to begin with that. For it is only by studying the Constitution, and seeing precisely what it does and does not say, that we can begin to understand what a stalwart bulwark of human liberty it really is.

And after we have read it, it is good mental exercise to go back and have a look at the circumstances under which it was written and adopted.

The colonies had won their independence from England—and they hardly knew what to do with it. They were weak, scattered, beset by a myriad of antagonisms and suspicions. They were divided geographically and socially. Some influential men would not have been sorry to see an American king; others preferred even the loose and inefficient articles of confederation, believing that these at least left the individual secure in his own freedom.

Out of all this confusion and clash of opposing forces came the Constitution; and reading it, with its background in mind, one cannot fail to gain a new admiration for the men who concocted it.

They did their utmost to preserve the people from tyranny and oppression; they wrote the most rigid safeguards they could devise to keep despotism out of the country; they set up the elaborate, and subsequently famous, system of checks and balances to make certain that no one branch of the government would ever become too powerful.

This document has been in effect for nearly 150 years. It is as strong today as when it was adopted—stronger, in fact, for it is buttressed by years of observance. Under it the people of the United States have recorded a great and glorious history.

Today we are passing through one of those times of stress which test any governmental charter. It is up to us to remember the strength which the Constitution has given us in the past—and to vow that it shall come through these troublous days unweakened either in letter or in observance.

RECHECK

WASHINGTON—Those who have noted at that point last week recently conducted confidentially by a national magazine are passing the word around that it shows a decline in President Roosevelt's popularity.

The President polled 61 per cent of the vote originally, but on the sample recheck recently he had only about 50 per cent, according to these credible sources.

The vote will not be made public to it is valuable. At my rate, those who conducted it for their own information have decided not to warrant a whole new poll at this time.

These sample rechecks involve only one vote, in comparison with 1,200,000 in the general poll. Although the 10,000 names are carefully selected, there is much room for error that definite deductions are NOT warranted.

LEGION

The best American Legion speaker a man whispering that Frank Beltramo of California probably will be the next national commander. He is a French-born, but his campaign has been free from political partisanship.

His pals say he will come out shortly with a statement scolding the Legion king-makers for partisan efforts. They believe his administration will be a square-dealing one, which will do the Legion no good but undo New Deal administration.

CENTRAL BANK

One thing which is giving Wall Street the fits now is the inside talk about a new central bank. The word is being passed around that Mr. Morgenthau's freshman team of brain trusters is working on a definite central bank plan; that the administration will champion the plan, but will permit it to be introduced by Democrats.

STEPHENS

The quietest agency of the whole New Deal is the consumers' advisory board of O.R.A. It has been little known, recent O.R.A. hearings and it is openly treated as a stepchild by General Johnson's aides. The only time you hear of it is when it offers weekly talks with the Yesselin. After the sponsorship of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

NOTES

Agriculture Secretary Wallace's assistant, H. G. Fryberg, recently married Prof. Zugwoll on his trip to Europe until after the elections.

A new record height for New Deal publicity will be reached shortly when the press room at the interior department is moved to a penthouse on top of the building.

A woman witness at the Mink hearings looked Consumers' Counsel Howe in the eye and said: "Dr. Wirt wants us to cooperate." She had been asked from the look on Howe's face that she had said something wrong, for she added immediately: "Oh, I mean Dr. Wirt wants us to cooperate." Everyone laughs, except Howe, who would rather be mistaken for anyone else in the world than Dr. Wirt.

MOSES SEEN AS LEADER IN N. Y.

Youthful Park Chief Expected To Wield Power During Fall Campaign.

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the important political figures in New York state this fall will be Robert Moses, now park commissioner. He is at present among those prominently mentioned for one of the important places on the state ticket, but whether this plan comes his way or not, he is certain to have a large voice in the campaign as any Democrat in New York state.

Almost unknown until a comparatively short time back, he is credited by the political editor of the American Magazine with having "as much influence in New York State as Al Smith or Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Many jobs

He is the only man, according to Al Smith, who ever held nine government jobs at the same time. He is now the guiding hand of the Triborough Bridge Authority in New York, which is spending $50,000,000 to ease metropolitan traffic in a great bridge over the East River.

He also is president of the Long Island State Park Commission. In his various jobs, he employs about 70,000 men.

Moses is a Yale graduate, born in New Haven. He capped his Yale career by degrees at Oxford and Columbia, and was a championship swimmer for many years. Recently he started New York City as a leading member of the administration which overthrew Tammany Hall. He learned politics by serving two years as Secretary of the State of New York under Governor Alfred E. Smith.

But he claims he has "never been in politics." He never has entered a political club, doesn't know his district political leader, has never run for elective office. His career is often pointed to by Governor Smith as "an example of what an intelligent young man can do in the public service."

HOW ABOUT SOME WESTERN SONGS?

(Hobo Capital News)

Just which way the popular sentiment are going this fall in winter we don't know but it seems a long time since we heard anything about longing for Mah On Mammy in A-to-bammy or Ah was in Ten-o-see. That's a break, anyway.

Maybe the west is going to get into the refrain again. It's a long time since it was Springtime in the Rockies and the Little Gray Home in the West is heard only on the Old Favorite programs. Nobody loves California anymore—at least, to music.

Two gentlemen named Ray Walker and Art Smith seem to be trying to start the song-train westward with a place called The Olympic Trail, all about how dreams will never fail if you're here beside me on the old Olympic trail. All about hunting and fishing and where no care can assail on the Olympic. . . . You got the idea.

Maybe there's going to be a National Parks and Playgrounds song cycle. I'll never fear if you are near in old Gaelic. . . . With you alone in the Yellowstone. . . . Oh, come with me to Yosemite. After dark in Rainer park. . . . Every thing's jake around Crater lake.

There should be some sort of a number song about the whole west about a fellow singing to his girl:

We'll travel on through Oregon and Wash. and Mont. and Cal. through old Wyo. and Idaho, you'll be with me in the next state.

We'll roam through Nev., N. M. and Tex. and Arizona, too. I'll never cry for Tom. or Ky. as long as I have you.

We've got some great names for songs out here, too. Who could resist one starting: "Take me back to old Owyhee!"

Researcher Believes Da Vinci And Others Had Definite Basis Form

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Mathematician and not inspiration was the factor behind the paintings of Michael Angelo and Leonardo da Vinci, a graduate of Pennsylvania College for Women believes.

Working on her master of arts degree at University of Pittsburgh, Elizabeth Nye said:

"The world's masters here used mathematics in their work."

Miss Nye said by use of this theory she could show an entire painting was built around some grouping or basic form.

There should be some sort of a number song about the whole west about a fellow singing to his girl:

We'll travel on through Oregon and Wash. and Mont. and Cal. through old Wyo. and Idaho, you'll be with me in the next state.

We'll roam through Nev., N. M. and Tex. and Arizona, too. I'll never cry for Tom. or Ky. as long as I have you.

We've got some great names for songs out here, too. Who could resist one starting: "Take me back to old Owyhee!"

MIDWEST DENIES DROUTH RAVAGES

Newspapers Band Together to Tell East That Farmer Isn't Bankrupt.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., (AP)—Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska newspapers publishers in a joint effort to tell the east that the recent drouth did not bankrupt the middle west.

Associated writers of these three states, and possibly Iowa, are launching an advertising and publicity campaign in eastern publications, newspapers and trade journals to offset reports that are being sent during July and August last, that farmers were bankrupt.

The Missouri publishers are putting up $2,000, to be matched with like sums from the other state organizations. Advertising space will be purchased in the publications. The advertisements will make statistical facts gathered from the federal government and individual cities, leaving that fact purchasing power this year actually has increased over last year.

Tell of Fight

The newspaper stories will relate activities of midwestern farmers sections to "beat back" to normal after the drouth.

Recent rains salvaged some of the loss, making possible planting of new food crops, prepared the ground for next year and refilled streams and creeks to furnish water to thousands of heads of livestock.

IDAHO'S THREE ASSETS

Idaho Falls Post-Register According to The Chicago Tribune, the state of Idaho has three principal assets, its big potatoes, its big timber and its big stock raising. Senator William B. Borah has classified next to the potatoes, and the men who can ride race horses successfully. The paper names specifically William Wright, 18 year old Rexburg boy, who has an outstanding record and whom the sports writer of that paper classifies as "the greatest rider in American today or that the country ever produced."

Conn to think it over those are three assets the state can afford to be proud of. It amounts to something he calls "big potatoes," particularly when that potato is the best specimen of its kind produced. It amounts to something to be the state which has as its representatives the outstanding member of the United States sports. It amounts to something to be the type and kind of people who can produce men who outrank all others and take first place in right of horses winning the biggest prize in events and the biggest purse offered for that sport.

AIR LINE CLAIMS RECORD

CHICAGO (AP)—By flying all but 2,000 miles out of a total of 1,300,000 mileage scheduled during the past 30 days, United Air Lines lays claim to a new international efficiency mark for long distance, large scale air line operation. Its record being that of completing 99.8 per cent of well over a million and a quarter miles of flying, of which nearly one-half of it was at night, on its coast-to-coast service.

IDAHO PERFECTS FUEL BLENDINGS

Moscow Scientists Carry Out Experiments Combining Alcohol, "Gas"

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Sept. 19.—Scientists here are converting surplus wheat and other crops into alcohol for blending into motor fuel. A result, which is the preliminary research work will be ready and available at the University of Idaho.

Farm relief through this new channel may not be far distant. A recent report from Washington to the National Academy of Sciences, which was published in the news item credited to Chester C. Davis, farm administrator, with the statement that conversion of alcohol to fuel will emerge as part of the program for permanent agricultural relief. He also was quoted as saying that the distillation of alcohol from grain could absorb the entire American surplus.

Successful Blend
Research men at the University of Idaho last winter developed a successful experiment in which gasoline, two liquids run at all stages to mix. Results of these experiments are reported in a bulletin issued by the University of Idaho agricultural experiment station, No. 204, "Alcohol-Gasoline Engine Fuels." Author of the publication is Harry Miller, assistant agricultural engineer on the experiment station staff.

Better Fuel
If one gallon of alcohol was blended with every five of gasoline used in the United States, motorists would have a cheaper, better fuel, and farmers would have no surplus of crops to ruin prices. The bulletin goes on to explain that every ton of grain potatoes held in the market in Idaho could be converted into 100 gallons of high grade industrial alcohol, 100 pounds of carbon dioxide or "dry ice," and 400 pounds of residue suitable for cattle feed. Similar disposal could be made of corn and surplus sugar beets, corn, wheat and other crops. Alcohol can be processed from potatoes for as low as seven cents a gallon.

NEW FEED LOANS PLANNED NOV.

Additional Allowance Will Be Given Farmers in Primary Drynth Regions

Beginning Nov. 1 farmers and stockmen in the primary drought areas may get feed loan allowances for this year's holler calves, ewe lambs and female kids, in addition to the allowances being made for milking stock, according to a statement made here today by George H. Stevens, local supervisor of the emergency crop and feed loan section, farm credit administration.

Mr. Stevens said that feed loan allowances will be made only on such stock which are retained primarily for breeding purposes; and in no event will allowances be made to feed a larger number of young and mature stock in their respective classes than the number of mature breeding stock which were owned and possessed by the borrower on April 1, 1934, or on sheep owned within six months prior to that date.

Monthly Allowances
The emergency feed loans which are being advanced in the primary drought areas are disbursed from the drought relief appropriation approved June 10, 1934, and made in monthly allowances. Applications are received by the local crop and feed loan committees operating in counties throughout the drought area. Began early in July, to date more than $4,000,000 of such loans and supplemental advances have been made for over $10,000,000.

ME and MY PAST by MAE WEST

As Told to LEICESTER WAGNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

Hollywood needs more men. There are some here, of course, but there's always room for real men. I should like to see a man who'll be a primary factor in my man's career success. Or woman's. And Eleanor Glyn beat me to that one.

It's a Fable
There is what amounts to a fable in Hollywood that my leading man fell in love with me. After all, they are human, but that story is exaggerated. Cary Grant, my "tall, dark and handsome" in my first two pictures, is happily married now, and Edgar Pryor is doing all right socially.

They Like Force
Women like forceful men, but not the kind who beat them—apparently to show their affection. Love can't live on insults. Neither can it live on fists, but a fur coat helps.

When I walked into Paramount it was to Mr. LeBaron's office. We had not met since he worked with me on that stage show several years ago. His presence in the studio was one of the major factors in the effort that James A. Mace had made on my arrival in Movie Town. As was the presence of other capable men who guide Paramount and my pictures—Adolph Zukor, Emmanuel Cohen and Albert Kaufman.

Some men may come along and sweep me off my feet. It can be ordered by every South American view first-hand what Hollywood is liable to do to marriage. People with careers are too busy to spend enough time on their marriage. I have seen several matches which should have been happy ones, crumpled up—mainly because of that lack of time.

At present I honestly feel I haven't enough time for a husband, but love can change lots of things. When a woman gets a husband she must concentrate on him. And the best way to hold your man, or your husband, is in your arms. The "men in my life" right now are there only professionally.

For several show seasons prior to that meeting I had acted, sung and danced my way from vaudeville, revue and sides to the dramatic stage. Some of my shows had been written for me, one of the first, oddly, by the man who had produced all of my pictures. He is William LeBaron, one of the studio's associate producers.
