Demits Legals Aid

Clark said Taylor (John T. Taylor) already had denied assisting the bar as firm. "If he had yielded to such pressure," Clark said, "the ought to be discharged. Furthermore, the Ohio commander should be discharged if he wrote such a letter."

Other developments of the morning:

1—W. K. Smith, an American living in China, offered to do business for Gouge company in February, 1934, while he was acting as "technical director and adviser" to the Kwangtung provincial government.

2—Turkish agents reported to the company in March, 1934, that members of the League of Nations were mobilizing chemical warfare units, allegedly in violation of League provisions, and that Turkey intended to build a gas plant in a plant which would be disguised as a chemical soda factory.

Brown Aid United

Evidence that former Postmaster General Walter T. Brown, in June, 1929, and he probably could be "of some assistance" was brought out.

Goss testified that he supplied four guns for protection of post-office vaults and frequently wrote letters to postal officials on re-arming gun devices.

Sen. Clark read a letter from Brown, to former Gov. Ray C. Fitzgerald, R. Ohio, on June 12, 1929, saying:

"Your friend Col. Goss came to see me today. I believe we can be of some assistance to him which you have completed our reorganization in the department."

Goss told the committee there was "nothing irregular" in the negotiations.

DEATH TOLL 1067 IN JAPAN WINDS

Major Toll Taken in Schools As Typhoon, Giant Waves Sweep Province

Swampy lands, 700,000 houses along the coast. The number of buildings damaged was incalculable.

The high waves swiftly followed winds in from the ocean. Typhoon-stricken, the population fled to higher ground, with the water lapping at their heels. One group was fleeing past the Osaka Works when the waves struck and they had to turn back.

At Osaka, the typhoon struck, followed by a series of waves, killing 100 persons and injuring 400.

The force of the waves lifted the 4,000-ton Yatai Maru onto a stone pier, and the ship, in a stone-curtain canal, and the Yatai Maru into the customs house at the waterfront.

Parents Seek Bodies

Osaka was in darkness tonight, as the storm hit. In the light of flickering lanterns fathers and mothers frantically labored in the schoolyards, seeking the bodies of their children who had been blown away.

Seriously injured children, freed from the debris, made pitiful efforts to find their parents.

The wind registered 100 miles per hour on Mount Fuji, where a recording machine was wrecked by the cyclonic blasts.

Osakayama, between Kobe and Shin-osaka, was flooded when the Asahi river overflowed. Hundreds of houses collapsed. The light plants were damaged by the rising waters. Twenty persons were reported drowned at Osakayama and three more were injured.

The damage was not confined to Osaka prefecture alone but the loss of life and the property loss was overwhelmingly the heaviest there.

Now Bound Over

Following hearing before Guy L. Finney in probate court, Clifford H. Bullock and Grant Bullock have been bound over to answer in district court to charges of larceny of domestic fowls, a crime punishable in this state by sentence to the state penitentiary.

They waived preliminary hearing and their bonds were set at $10,000 each. Mrs. Mary A. Dawson, residing near Shoshone falls, was the complaining witness. The Bullocks were arrested yesterday morning by members of the Shoshone tribe.

SUSPECT DENIES LINDBERGH GUILT

Stolidly Holds to Innocence As New Jersey Requests Extradition

Suspect Nervous
Apparently he had rooted some when a long series of questions: He was freely asked, but he was nervous and at times slightly uncertain as he stared through the glaring lights to the auditorium where detectives and patrolmen watched.

An assistant police chief, standing at a microphone in the center of the room, asked questions over the loud speaker system.
He sought to clear up the link of the chain which federal agents may link Hauptmann to the crime—the ransom money, the "partial" identification by Dr. W. C. Cline, the fact that Hauptmann, a carpenter, worked near the Lindbergh home in New Jersey, the fact that a carpenter undoubtedly would be a kidnap leader and the fact that Hauptmann quit work but had more money than ever in the summer of 1932 after the kidnaping.

Careful Replies
To each question, Hauptmann gave a careful and stolid reply.

Lindbergh, Wife Remain Secluded

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21 (AP)—The hearts of the Lindberghs were suddenly once more by refreshed memories of the kidnaping of their first-born child, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh continued to seclude themselves here today. Efforts to reach Lindbergh for comment on the arrest of a suspect in the case were unavailing. Close friends said they could obtain no statement from the film and news-fused ignorance as to his whereabouts.

which was designed to clear himself.

The ransom money, he said, was given him for outkeeping by a friend (apparently Flueke, who was once a partner of the prisoner in fur dealings) and then went to Germany and had there.

"I didn't know it was the ransom money until yesterday," he insisted. He said the friend gave him $14,000 but that he had spent $125 or $150.

"In addition, I made some money in Wall Street," he said.
He admitted he had worked at Lakewood and Freshford, New Jersey, but said he had never been in Hopewell, which is nearest the Lindbergh home. He said he had had no work since April, 1932.

Hauptmann stood nervously under blazing lights while being questioned. He spoke with a hoarse accent.

Q—How long have you been in this country? A—I been here 13 years.

Q—How did you come over? A—I came on a steamship, getting on the boat at Bremerhaven.

Settled in Gotham
Hauptmann told police that he had made his home in New York, living first at 670 Amsterdam avenue, then moving in 1924 to West 170 street. He lived there a year until he married, when he moved to Park avenue at 121st street.

In 1920, he said, he moved to Needham avenue in the Bronx, living there four years. Then to his present home.

Q—Have you been living on this money since? A—Yes.

Q—What did you do with the money? A—I dug a hole in the ground and I put some money in the garage wall, three weeks ago.

Q—How much did you have? A—The man left me $14,000.

Q—What do you do with your money? A—I play Wall Street.

Q—How did you make out? A—Sometimes successful, sometimes losing. I'm about even.

Kept No Books
Since 1908 Hauptmann said, he made about $100,000 dealing in fun for a friend. He kept no books of his transactions.

"Where did you get all this money?" The officer asked the witness.

A—Islands of mine went to Germany.

Gold Certificate

Trapped Suspect

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—If the United States hadn't gone off the gold standard, the Lindbergh kidnaping might have remained involved.

Lindbergh ransom money was in gold certificates, which were called in by the Treasury last year. The appearance of gold certificates.

As a warning, however, he came of their rarity, put investigations on the trail of the kidnaping.

It had not been for the President's gold order, about which there was no much discussion, the case might not have been solved for a long time, a high justice department official said.

money and gave me all his effects. He died there."

Q—Did he tell you what to do with his property? A—No.

Q—What did you think his effects were? A—I thought it was his.

The witness testified that he had been employed for a short time in a lumber yard during April, 1932.

Never in Hopewell
Q—Were you in Hopewell in 1932? A—I never was in Hopewell.

The witness was excused from the lineup platform after he had testified that he had owned an automobile since 1931.

Hauptmann asked his feet were not his answer questions and obviously was frightened. It was difficult to tell whether he had slept any since police and federal agents began questioning him on Wednesday. He had been facing persons who sought to identify him as a passer of the ransom money all night.

Meanwhile, a police emergency squad was sent to Hauptmann's home and began tearing down the garage in search of more money believed hidden there.

KIDNAP LINKS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—Important facts bearing out belief of investigators that Bruno H. Hauptmann is the actual kidnaper of the Lindbergh child.

The original ransom note and the "partial" ransom demands contained evidence of being written by the same person.

Hauptmann's writing has been positively identified with some of the notes. This is the most vital link.

Hauptmann apparently did not turn over the $50,000 to professional money men.

This fits the picture of the kidnaper as an "amateur" rather than a professional gangster.

The notes included German phrases, Hauptmann is a German.

The kidnaper was home-made up workmanlike, Hauptmann is a carpenter.

Lindbergh used in the letter was traced to a lumber firm. Hauptmann had "dealings" with that company.

Hauptmann once worked in the vicinity of the Lindbergh home.

SUSPECT'S WIFE HIRES ATTORNEY

BRONX LAWYER ATTEMPTING TO GET RELEASE OF HAUPTMANN IN LINDBERGH CASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—H. Bennett Solomon, Bronx attorney, was retained by Mrs. Bruno H. Hauptmann to aid her husband, being investigated by police as the holder of part of the Lindbergh kidnaping ransom money.

Solomon appeared at the office of District Attorney Samuel A. Foley, of Bronx county, and offered his services to Hauptmann. The suspect said he did not need a lawyer.

Later, however, Mrs. Hauptmann retained Solomon, who immediately went before Foley and sought to obtain his release.

It has been estimated that the millions of the world have increased 600 per cent since 1923.

More than 1,000,000 members have been lost by British trade unions in the last nine years.

JAFSIE PONDER'S IDENTIFICATION

'Partially' Selects Hauptmann As Man Who Took $50,000 Lindbergh Ransom

(Continued From Page One) lined up and questioned individually, particularly about the spelling and pronunciation of their names. He listened intently at each man spoke.

He then, sat down and wrote two notes. The first he handed to Hauptmann.

"Read aloud," he said.

"I always keep my word. If the money is returned in good health, I will do everything to help you."

Suspect Nervous
Hauptmann was nervous, inclined to tremble. Condon ignored the other three men, handing Hauptmann the second note.

Hauptmann read:

"Are you ready to act? We cannot wait longer. He will amuse me."

Abruptly, Condon asked each of the four in turn.

"Did you ever see me before?" Each answered, "No."

Condon came as close to Hauptmann as he could. Loudly, directly into his face, he repeated the question, emphasizing "you."

"No, I never saw you before," Hauptmann answered stolidly.

Another Note
Condon sat down and wrote another note. Hauptmann read aloud:

"What would your mother say? She would say, 'No!'"

Then Condon asked permission to talk to the prisoner alone. They conversed in a corner for a few minutes. Condon turned away without comment. Police said he had made a "partial identification."

Condon told police that his notes had repeated statements "John" made to him and he made to "John" in their conference preliminary to the ransom payment.

U. S. Will Demand State Relief Help

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—Heavy pressure will be exerted by the government on states that have failed to provide their just share of relief funds, to feed, clothe, and house the indigent.

Relief Administrator Harry I. Hopkins said today.

"I am convinced," said Hopkins, "that many states are not putting up all the money they should, and we are going to insist that they do. That applies also to cities and counties."

If necessary, it was said, the FERA will cut off relief aid to the negligent states to force their financial cooperation.

If the government drive is successful, Hopkins said, it may be that relief funds will last until April 1, instead of March 1.

RANSOM WRITING PROOF CERTAIN

Hauptmann Penmanship Same As Lindbergh Epistles, Experts Show

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—Authoritative justice department sources today cleared up all doubt as to identification of the handwriting of Bruno Hauptmann.

Examination of the Lindbergh ransom writing in the department's scientific crime laboratory, it was said, showed it to be identical both with the later ransom notes sent to Lindbergh and with the original notes left on the window sill of the Lindbergh mansion the night of the kidnaping.

Strengthened Belief
Clinging to the point was considered by federal officials to strengthen their belief that Hauptmann was the principal figure in planning and carrying out the kidnaping, although possibly with some assistance.

Officials said interrogation of Hauptmann in New York was bringing constant new developments but they would give no hinting as to their nature.

Officials declined to say whether more arrests had been made or were in prospect.

Police, Federal Agents Seek Clues in Stock Trading By Suspect

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—The New York stock exchange today announced an investigation was underway into reports that an account had been maintained with a broker in the name of Bruno Hauptmann, held in the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

Clues in the brokerage house, Storer-Rouse company, 25 Broad street, admitted that police and department of justice agents had visited the office and ordered an audit of an account that Hauptmann established in 1932.

The size of the account was not disclosed. It was thought the investigation would help to account for the $25,250 of the $50,000 ransom not found in Hauptmann's garage.

RETAIL TRADING GAINS UNEVENLY

Three to 10 Per Cent Boost
Chalked Up During Past
Week's Business

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP).—Considerable movement in retail trade reports in the past week, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., today announced the estimated gain over 1933 was not at 3 to 10 per cent.

New England trade suffered a result of the textile strike but a sudden demand for merchandise in sections of the middle west, particularly in the north, had a compensating effect on the retail trade.

"Although business at a time when weather conditions were not propitious and hampered by a nation-wide strike in the holidays, the fall season already has succeeded in making a more favorable showing than seemed possible from the early estimates placed on it," the review said. The improvement thus far, however, has been confined to the distributive branches of trade.

The general recovery movement, the review said, shows little evidence of developing much strength during the balance of the year mainly on the lagging of industry.

"Light inventories," "Loading the heavy inventories bought on a lower market," and "which it was possible to do at this time a year ago," the review said, "retailer's profits are becoming slimmer, mark-ups narrower and nearly all stores are under a more severe competitive pressure than when NIRA first spread its benign influence on retailers during the opening weeks of September, 1933."

"Shortage of merchandise in some of the wholesale dry goods and women's wearing apparel divisions is causing a sellers' market to develop, and delayed deliveries in these and other lines have caused retailers to lose business, in some cases no substitute to offer for customers, even though they would have been willing to accept the latter."

DAKOTANS ASK ROAD TO PEAK

Urge Highway to Top of Terry
Point, Second Tallest in Black Hills

LEAD, S. D. (AP).—A highway to the top of Terry Peak, making it the highest point accessible to automobiles between the Rocky mountains and the Ozarks, is planned by civic organizations in this region.

The peak is 7,070 feet high, the second tallest in the Black Hills. Approximately three miles of highway would be necessary to bring the road from US 85 to the peak and construction would be comparatively easy, a preliminary survey showed.

The project would be dedicated to the General George A. Custer expedition of 1874. General Custer named the peak in honor of General "Fighting" Custer, commanding officer at Fort Lincoln.

SPENCE ACCEPTS BROWNING POST

Announcement is made by Miles J. Browning, Inc., that Proctor Spence, former local man who has been with the Idaho Power company at Pocatello, has accepted appointment as manager of the local automobile firm, and had already entered upon his duties.

The Browning company is dealer for Buick and Pontiac automobiles.

Spence, who was formerly with the W. H. Spence, real estate and insurance company at Kimberly, will be joined here soon by Mrs. Spence.

KIDNAPING PAIR AWAIT HEARING

BOISE, Sept. 21 (AP).—H. P. McFarland and H. A. Burke, Placerette mining operators, had been released today from the county jail on bonds of $2,000 and $1,000 respectively, to await hearing on charges of kidnaping Lawrence H. Lyman of Boise.

Lyman, who had been in the employ of the pair at the Placerette mining company, was made his way into Boise police headquarters early Wednesday morning. He was cut and bruised about the head, officers said.

He told officers that he had been picked up at his home by the two men, forced to get into a car and was driven to a point just outside the city limits. There he was strangled and beaten severely, he said. Black wages were said to have started the argument that led to the beating.

"BALLOON BREAK HANNED" BAKERS must cease baking "balloon bread," leaves forced full of air bubbles to make them appear larger, after Sept. 15, code authorities ordered. Aged Woman, Ousted from Home, Lives In London Park with Old Housekeeper

LONDON (AP).—An elderly spinster and her cook live on an open-air bench.

In the daytime they sit on the bench. At night they sleep on it.

The woman, Miss Anna Sands, her cook, who is called Sims, have led their present mode of existence for 12 months.

Their only household effects, as well as their luggage, are contained in numerous paper-covered parcels, surrounding their bench for two or three feet.

Still Happier
"I love the open air," she said, "with the trees, birds and sunshine. It is an ideal life. I feel so very cold weather Sims and I sleep in the doorway of a nearby house."

"Sims has been with me for 20 years," she continued. "She is the best and most devoted housekeeper I have ever known. The police have asked us to move, but why should we? The meat is for the public, and we are entitled to part of it."

IDAHO DEMANDS PROCESS LABOR

Sheep Slaughtering, Canning
Should Be Done in State,
Senator Informed

BOISE, Sept. 21 (AP).—Deprived of a market return from their drought-ravaged sheep herds, Idahoans are determined to turn as much of the disaster as possible into good fortune, it was reported today.

Though Gov. C. Bonanza, the state has demanded the drought sheep purchased by the federal government be processed within Idaho.

Gov. Bonanza wired Sen. James P. Pope, now in Washington as a member of the senate committee, inquiring into the matter of sheep processing.

Protesting the plan to eliminate Idaho from the list of sheep processing states.

"We are equipped to slaughter and process 2,000 to 2,500 head a day, furnishing work for more than 1,000 men and women," Bonanza informed Idaho's junior senator.

"Twin Falls and Buhl service clubs are also protesting the plan to eliminate Idaho from the list of sheep processing states."

COAST WATCHING FOR BANDIT PAIR

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21 (AP).—A warning was broadcast today for all local peace officers to be on the lookout for an automobile that might contain either George (Bugs) Nelson, Dillinger gangster, or Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, notorious middle west bandit.

The warning followed the arrest of a youth, who allegedly claimed partnership with both men, and a running gun battle police carried on with passengers of a car that apparently carried confederates of the arrested lad.

POOL SENDS OUT LAMBS AND HOGS

Twin Falls Livestock Group
Ships Six Carloads to West, East

Four carloads of lambs and two of hogs were shipped from here yesterday by the Twin Falls Livestock Marketing association.

It was reported today by Harvey S. Hale, in charge of assembling the livestock for export shipment.

Of 504 head of hogs, practically all were tops, he said, and for these $6.15 was received when they were sold to a California packer.

The hogs were supplied by 34 Buhl and Twin Falls growers. Forty-four growers paid a 1930 head of lambs from Buhl, Phil, Twin Falls and Kimberly, to make a total of 400 head.

A shipment of cattle will be assembled the forepart of next week, Hale advised today. They will be loaded from growers at Buhl, Phil and Twin Falls.

GOODING HORSES DYING OF FEVER

Brain Ailment Takes Toll For
At Least 100 in Serious
Outbreak

GOODING, Sept. 21 (Special).—A recent report gave the number of horses dying from brain fever in the Gooding area as about 100, and more have died since then, as the disease has prevailed here.

Despite efforts to control it, it has been confined principally to Gooding county, although reports in some cases, in neighboring sections also. It is the most serious outbreak of the kind here in recent years.

Dr. M. M. McCoy, former Gooding veterinarian and now assistant state veterinarian at Boise, had week investigated the situation here and gave instructions for controlling it. He said he would "turn soon and make a further study."

Address Treatment
He advised that expert treatment be obtained immediately upon discovery of symptoms, and that experimentation with medicines should not be followed, as it had been done in some cases. He said that, when the animals first get the disease, they should be put in a cool place with a cold water pack on top of the head, and cold water near by for the animals to drink. He also gave directions for using "slugs" or other means to keep the animals on their feet when they begin to weaken and want to lie down.

ME and MY PAST by MAE WEST

As Told to LEICESTER WAGNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

"Bog" sent me to jail. I was in New York City for the first time in my life, but it was one of the greatest successes that ever hit Broadway and was a turning point in my career.

After I had written it I was stunned for what it takes to do anything. Money, I always had earned good money, but when you start producing a play you must have more than good money. It takes big money.

As I pointed out, I had met James A. "Jimmy" the millionaire, and he had decided to handle my affairs as manager. Between my mother and my manager there was enough money raised to put "Bog" on Broadway.

Smash Hit
The play opened in Dab's theater in New York City further uptown than most of the houses, but it was a smash hit from the opening night.

It was the first time America had seen a laugh and people like to laugh. They came, they saw, they went away and talked. But what was more, they paid their money to see it.

For two years "Bog" packed 'em in. Then Mayor James J. Walker took a vacation. Acting Mayor Joseph V. McKee ordered three shows called—"The Captive," "A Virgin Mary" and "Bog." It was a case of a political gesture and someone had to be an example.

I was hit. Sentenced to pay a $500 fine and to serve 10 days in the workhouse on Welfare Island since revealed as a racketeering center, run by inmates and a blight on New York's good name. I went to the island through a conviction based on evidence which today seems exceedingly slight.

Had Good Time
Going to jail isn't a lark, yet I needed a vacation and got it. The warden's children wanted me to teach them to dance, and I did. They and the warden hated to see me leave.

Between instructing the children and other duties, I had time to think.

That sentence had not turned down my writing damper one bit, and I struck on the character which shot me to the top of film-dom—"Diamond Lil."

Never Sore Check
I never see my pay check. And I carry only pure money. Not that I'm unable to look after my own money, or would spend it recklessly. It's just bad business to pack a big roll around. Hollywood found that out, when I lost $3,400 in cash and $18,000 worth of diamonds and built-ups.

My credit at stores, of course, is delay, and when I feel like shops plug I get what I want -- mostly hats. Furrowed brows, and I like fur. Not to mention diamonds.

Food, too, is one of my failings. But I can't cook, bake, sew, wash dishes, peel potatoes or on-line.

And I don't get excited over the stock market, contract bridge (I can't sit still long enough to play cards), fun, dancing or lust development.

CATTLE PROGRAM COMES TO HALT

Idaho Drouth Purchases Get Temporary Stop Through Federal Orders

BOISE, Sept. 21 (AP)—Buying of drouth cattle was temporarily halted in Idaho this week, 30,000 head of the university extension, said Harry Petrie, western field representative, notified local officials of the program after receiving word from Washington.

The fact that present appropriations were running low and that there was to be a change made in the program, was given as the reason for the halt. It is not definite that the stop is temporary or that it will become permanent, Petrie said.

A few more than 27,000 of the proposed 50,000 cattle had been bought in Idaho. A large number of these cattle had already been butchered and the USDA is now busy canning.

Further instructions about the program are pending word from Washington.

The sheep buying program started Monday. It is estimated that there will be from three to five million head bought by the federal government. Sheep in the drouth areas in southern Idaho are the only ones being bought in the state at the present time.

Plans are made for the sheep to be distributed and canned by the federal surplus relief corporation. The plans are to be handled by the USDA.

Miss Blanche Peck entertained 18 members of the Fremont Sunday school class of which she is the teacher at her home Sunday afternoon. Quiet games furnished entertainment, and refreshments were served.

Will Barrett, Pocatello, visited Sunday and Monday with his sister, Mrs. A. A. Tolman.

S. church, were: Bishop David Moyes, Cleve Eghert, Elvin Blackburn, and Mrs. Carry Rappley, member of the primary stake board of Twin Falls; Mrs. J. W. Ritchie, member of the M. T. A. FILM STARS ON 'INSTITUTE' LIST

Holmes, Oland, John Gilbert Listed as Paying Patients, Raid Discloses

(Copyright, 1934, United Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21 (AP)—A raid by state medical authorities on the Monks only Hotel, a famous institute today, unearthed a number of prominent film names whose owners were listed as patients.

Agents who seized a truckload of medical equipment and business records listed Phillips Holmes, Miss Anna Nilsson, John W. Gilbert, Warner Oland, Mrs. Garland and Mrs. Howard Solznick as paying patients at the institution. Holmes was credited with paying $100, Gilbert, $700, and Oland, $85 for treatment.

Charging false imprisonment, Fred Zwickey sought $50,000 damages from Holmes, Oland and his husband, Ben Lyon, a suit on file in superior court today. Naming Police Chief Clarence Webb of Santa Monica as co-defendant, Zwickey claimed he was held in jail two days on suspicion of grand theft last Feb. 17 and then released when the film couple failed to file a formal complaint against him.

"Four or more vicious" dogs belonging to Lionel Atwell attacked him last June 18, inflicting painful wounds, Marcus N. Anderson charged today in a $10,000 damage suit against the actor.

Russ Columbo, who amassed a fortune before his crooking career was cut short by death several weeks ago, left an estate of $50,000, according to a petition for letters of administration on file today.

John Columbo, a brother who petitioned for the letters, said the estate consisted of $150 in cash, personal effects and royalty interests in musical publications and recordings. The parents, two other brothers and two sisters were named as heirs. In addition, the deceased's mother will receive $40,000 in life insurance.

HUGE NEW LENS WILL BE MADE FOR TELESCOPE

CORNING, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—A new 204-inch lens, designed for the largest telescope in the world, will be poured before Christmas, by G. V. McCauley, official of the Corning Glass works, announced.

The lens will replace a "cyclopean eye" which was noted last March but which developed imperfections because of the intense heat.

The reflected fire, it was disclosed, cost a quarter of a million dollars. It will be less expensive, Mr. McCauley said, to pour a new lens than to grind holes in the present one.

"This SCARE On Wilshire Boulevard Sold Me"

"At the corner where Borendo St. meets Wilshire, a heavy sedan swerved wide into the Boulevard—doing '50' at least! No use slamming on the brakes; the only chance... shoot out in front of him. A split hair couldn't have gone between his front wheel and my rear bumper. Lucky? Sure. A good motor? You bet. And I've got a hunch a less powerful gasoline would have lost me those vital few inches I needed."

(From an actual letter in Shell Oil Company files at Los Angeles)

How much of a difference is there between gasolines...?

YOU FIND OUT IN THE "CLOSE SHAVES" ON THE ROAD!

It's when something unexpected happens—and it's an ounce of extra power that gets you by. That's when you realize the importance of those little differences between gasolines!

Super-SHELL is refined to give you reserve power for these driving emergencies. Ten of the little wastes that ordinary gasolines can cause are positively reduced.

It is an inviolable rule at Shell refineries that Super-SHELL must do all jobs well.

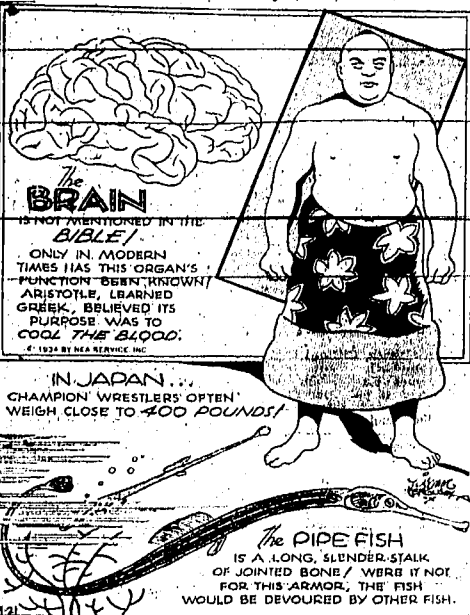

Must give you not just high anti-knock—and full mileage—but top speed—excellent start-ability—and great pick-up.

Super-SHELL is specially refined for balanced performance. It is made more concentrated by eliminating all waste parts—the gassy "tops" and sluggish "bottoms."

Every drop of Super-SHELL is the "heart-cut" of petroleum. That's why so many people say it is "the best gasoline you can buy." Try it in your own car today.
