Idaho Farmers Get $2,430,000 Under AAA Crop Program

Additional Payments Are Forthcoming Under Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (UP)—Montana, Idaho and Utah farmers received $7,693,311 as their share of the $24,300,000 paid to the nation's growers of foodstuffs as a bonus for curtailing their production, AAA officials announced today.

Payment to individual intermountain states was:

Montana, $4,034,914.
Idaho, $2,430,000.
Utah, $2,774,434.

AAA figures accounted for the money distributed up to Sept. 1 in rental and benefit payments to farmers cooperating in adjustment program for wheat, cotton, tobacco and hops.

Wheat Forecasts

Wheat benefit payments recurring to 24 states totalled $242,042,842 up to Sept. 1.

The sum paid out for rental and benefit payments will be increased by approximately $58,000,000 when the report for September is completed, the AAA estimated. Payments reported for the distribution of approximately $700,000,000 calculated as necessary to reimburse farmers for signing 3,000,000 contracts.

Disbursements recorded thus far:

Cotton—$182,603,506;
Wheat—$70,505,504;
Tobacco—$15,078,735;
Corn hog—$56,421,723.

Provision for the removal of surplus in three directions included:

Hogs—$46,480,408;
Butter and cheese—$11,400,430;
Cattle—$37,110,104.

Payments Made Up

Payments already made or to be made before January are included in the estimate of the bureau of agricultural economics which places 1934 cash farm income at $3,000,000,000, last year and $4,333,000,000 in 1932.

The flow of benefit money is expected largely to offset losses incurred because of decreased market values of farm products to the nation's worst drought.

Half a million federal crop reports, production estimates, based on conditions at the peak of the drought, are being prepared.

LABOR CHIEFTAIN RAPS OBSTINATE EMPLOYER STAND

Lewis Declares Chief Hope For Recovery In Full NRA Application ATTACKS REACTIONARIES

Return to Normalcy Blocked By Industrialists, Mine Leader Charges

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10 (UP)—The fundamental hope of economic recovery lies in the full application of the program included by the national recovery act, including the free organization of labor, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, said today.

The full cooperation of labor, an organization of the act, has been prevented by placing labor on the defensive in the formulation of codes and also by forcing labor to use its economic strength for the purpose of recovering the monetary guarantees of section 7-A, Lewis said.

The act, he said, not only guaranteed employes the right to organize and bargain collectively through their own representatives but also in section 7-B provided that before provisions in wages and working conditions were included in codes every opportunity must be given for employes and employers to meet and compare the code provisions affecting labor.

Hits Employers

Most powerful figure in the annual A. F. of L. convention at San Francisco, John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, condemned obstinate tactics of employers today as chief cause of the capitalist troubles blocking smooth return to economic recovery.

EUROPEAN NATIONS WATCH TENSELY IN JUGOSLAVIA CRISIS

BODY OF SLAIN RULER BEGINS JOURNEY HOME

By United Press

Developments in assassinations at Marseille:

MARSEILLES—Bodies of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou lay in state this morning. Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, and French government leaders awaited the dead preparatory to return of king's body to Belgrade.

Muffled drums of French infantry battalions paid honor later today as the body of the monarch, dressed in the stained fighting uniform he wore in the World war, was carried in state from the Aquitaine prefecture to begin its journey home for royal burial.

Police find assassin had general Macedonian political sympathies, it was learned today.

London—An assassination may alter future political developments in Europe. Observers see effect on French political "rig" around Germany. Work on new alliances may start as result of deaths of King and Barthou, especially the proposed Franco-Italian accord.

VIENNA—Statement test encouragement of coalition might raise Italian war threat.

BEGRABE—Yugoslavia tenderly awaits return of king's body, accompanied by 11-year-old King Peter II, who was proclaimed monarch under a three-man regency headed by his grand uncle, Prince Paul. All frontiers and trains guarded.

Croatian leaders demand share in government of Yugoslavia before pledging support to policy of the youthful king.

LONDON—Peter II, pale but composed, joins grandmother, Dowager Queen Marie of Roumania, for trip to France. As Crown prince yesterday, Peter was made a Boy Scout at his English school.

WASHINGTON—State department unceasingly watches developments in Europe.

CHEST TRUSTEES VOTE CAMPAIGN

Directors Agree on Necessity For United Solicitation Of 1935 Funds

Need for continuing the work of the Chestnut Trust in Twin Falls was stressed at a meeting of the board of directors in session last evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, and it was voted by representatives of the Chestnut Trust to solicit a 12 1/2 cent donation to the Chestnut Trust for the solicitation of funds for use in 1935.

Crowd Blocked Cab As Barthou Bled to Death

The bullets fired at the automobile carrying King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Barthou did not seriously wound the foreign minister. He suffered an arm wound which cut an artery. "The car hurt," he exclaimed at first when taken from the royal automobile in which the king lay dying. "Where are my flippers?"

But blood was streaming from his elbow and he was faint. He was put in a taxicab and the driver ordered to speed him to the hospital.

The taxicab, however, could hardly penetrate the crowd. Inch by inch, the driver fought through the mob and with every minute of delay Barthou was losing more blood.

The severed artery drained the aged statesman's blood. His advanced age—72—contributed to his weakness.

He was conveyed to an operating table, where doctors went to work on his arm. At one time, the foreign minister murmured: "Am I badly hurt?"

A few minutes later he died of loss of blood. A transfusion was ordered but death came before it was completed.

OPPOSITION FOR DISTRICT VOICED

Land Owners Oppose Creation Of Fire Prevention Area At Hearing Here

Opposition to the creation of a proposed fire prevention district, which would include the whole of the area embraced in Twin Falls independent school district, developed at a hearing conducted before the board of county commissioners today.

A petition bearing the signatures of approximately 350 land owners, according to C. E. McClain, was presented and initial arguments against the inclusion of farm lands were made by McClain, Frank W. Brown and Asher B. Wilson. Brown and McClain stated that many of the signers on petitions passed by them had also signed the original petition asking for creation of the district.

Cite Reasons

The opponents pointed out that their desire to have the larger acreages of farm lands excluded from the district was based primarily on the fact that levies for maintaining the district would be levied on the entire area rather than on improvements; that the majority of the farm owners in the district were insured against property loss in the Twin Falls County Mutual Fire Insurance Association; that they were doubtful in stock company insurance rates would not affect them but on account of the tax levy would increase.

INSULL ACCUSED OF STOCK SHIFT

Chicago Indicates that Samuel Insull, Jr., his family and Hulsey, Stuart & Company made a paper profit of $20,000,000 through "writing up" of stocks in the American Security company, was introduced today by the prosecution in the Insull mail fraud case.

Insull, Jr., special assistant attorney general, was questioned by the state financial investigator, J. J. Lippert, chief of the brokerage company and now a resident of Kendallville, Ind., when the charge was made.

Chicago officials, which include the Insull family, which controlled Chicago's social and art circles, and the Hulsey, Stuart & Company, which accumulated 1,000,000 shares in the formation of the Corporation Security company, or "shares" as the attorneys have agreed to call it.

DEPOT MASSACRE SUSPECT SEIZED

Alleged Ringleader of Gang in Kansas City Killings Taken by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (UP)—A report of Richard T. Chaitan, hunter for more than a year for alleged complicity in the Kansas City Union station massacre, was announced today by the justice department.

Chaitan was seized by federal agents in New Orleans Sept. 22, the department said.

He was taken to Kansas City and will be arraigned today on a charge of conspiracy to deliver an escaped federal prisoner.

The attempt to deliver the prisoner, Frank Nash, resulted in assassination of four law enforcement officers in Kansas City on June 17, 1933.

Accused as Leader

Chaitan was accused by the federal government of being a ring-leader in the plot to free Nash, which was held in the justice department's custody for the fugitives that brought down the four officers.

CANAL COMPANY SETS $1 CHARGE

Acting unusually early, the board of directors of the Twin Falls Canal company today fixed the 1935 maintenance charge at $1 per acre, representing an advance of 25 cents over the per acre assessment for this season.

The action came at the monthly meeting of the directors, conducted here yesterday afternoon. The assessment is payable on or before April 1, without penalty. It is anticipated by the board that many land owners will wish to make payment of the levy this fall, and for this reason the charge was fixed early, it is explained.

Last year's levy of 75 cents an acre was made possible because of unusually early snow melt and unusually early start of the irrigation season.

SHORTER BOISE ROUTE PLANNED TO TWIN FALLS

Boise, Oct. 10 (UP)—A route to Twin Falls 17 miles shorter than the present one is now being planned, announced E. J. Lippert, director of the state road survey, who left for Twin Falls today to confer with officials of the Chamber of Commerce on plans to carry through the company.

The new route will eliminate the Bites grade and the long, winding road through the lava beds. It will cut out from Bush to Glenn Ferry and thereby provide nearly 90 miles of shorter highway.

The sum of $25,000 for the survey of the route has already been appropriated by the state highway department.

1 DEAD AS HEAT BAKES FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10 (UP)—With the heat prostration recorded, San Francisco sweltered again today in unseasonal temperatures.

The mercury registered 78 at 8:30 a. m. with the prospects of equaling yesterday's high mark of 87, the hottest Oct. 9 here since 1887.

Joseph Rubins, 31, died of the heat after being overcome while at a party in a rooming house in a San Francisco neighborhood.

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Oct. 10 (UP)—Croatian leaders demanded today that the Croats be given a share in the Yugoslavian government.

PITCHERS, FIGHTING SPIRIT BOOST CARDS TO WORLD TITLE

ST. LOUIS SQUAD REFUSES TO QUIT

Red Birds Prove Stamina by That Final Invasion of Tiger Lair

FINAL STANDING (1934 World Series)
By United Press
St. Louis (NL) 4-3-471
Detroit (AL) 3-4-420

By STUART CAMERON
United Press Sports Editor
DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals were world's baseball champion today because of two things—better pitching and an infinitely better fighting spirit.

Both of these elements came out yesterday when Franck Frisch's Cards completed their rout of the Detroit Tigers. The Cards took the seventh and deciding game on the masterful pitching of Jerome Dean and on their great surge of run making that scored 13 runs when a single tally would have been enough.

Fighting Club
"Just by way of finding out what a great fighting club the Cards really are, one should consider their performance a couple of days ago. They came into hostile territory, trailing the Detroit two games to three. That they had to beat the great Livewood Rowe who was poison to rival batters during the season which saw him equal the record of 16 consecutive wins. This same scoreboard had broken the Tiger's record in the column in the second series game, but the Cards worked out on him early, and often enough to give them a 4-3 triumph. It then was even around—three games each side, coming in Tuesday's grand blow off.

The Cards had to wait all of two innings yesterday, but once they got to going it was all good an over.

Long Procession
That third inning saw the start of one of the most prolonged processions of bases, pitchers, the series has known. It was a long one. There was Eldon Auker, Manager Mickey Cochran's unhappy choice for starting moundman. Next, the "shoo-bye," then "Chick" Fingers, then "Lefty" Wilson was called in and lasted until the eighth. Filpo Marberry and Al Crowder saw duty.

Nobody needs to doubt that the bats, despite the Livewood Row victory, were in three levelling. The difference between winning and losing meant about $1,700 to each and every player on the field. This out game more than $5,000 each winning player, and little less than $3,000 to each loser.

This is the third time the Cards won the championship. They did it in 1926 and 1931.

CARDS COLLECT $5,941 A PIECE

Members of Detroit's Losing Team in World Series Got $4,313

DETROIT, Oct. 10 (AP)—Each member of the champion St. Louis Cardinals will receive $5,941.19 and his share of the world series receipts will get $4,313.00 each.

The series pool, it was announced last night, included $100,000 received by broadcasting rights.

St. Louis split its pool 25 cents apiece, also voting $3,000 to club attendants. The Tigers got their smaller share into 24 increments.

The total pool for the players, including only the first four games, was $267,766.89 in gate receipts, plus $51,000 from radio. The commissioner's share was $190,611.15.

Each league and each player received a grand total of $132,926.67.

Shares to the second, third and fourth place teams in both leagues were $43,287.50 each.

Game Cock Should Be Symbol for Cardinals

By HENRY MCENMURE
DETROIT, Oct. 10 (AP)—When the time comes to make up the 1935 St. Louis Cardinals uniforms, owner Sam Bronckson should tell the tailor to forget about the chirping Red Bird sitting on a baseball bat adorning the bosoms of the Cards and substitute a thorough-bred game cock.

Any of mean a man looking game cock—a fighting foot with wicked spurs, hate in his eyes, and a strut that says "make a pass, you fine beauty, and watch yourself roll over."

Proper Emblem
Yes, a game cock is the proper emblem for that bunch of strong hearts that yesterday won the baseball championship of the world. For a game cock was born to fight—born to fight until his heart is gone. Furthermore, a game cock is at his best when you figure he's at his worst. In short, and to mix metaphors in a merry manner, a game cock can't get off that floor.

That's what the Cards did—got off that floor. Not once, this year, but a dozen times.

MENTOR AT PITT FAVORS TROJANS

Picked U. S. C. to Defeat His Team; Favors Stanford Over Wildcats

By JACK SUTHERLAND
Head Coach, University of Pittsburgh
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10—With the football season in full swing, and the annual "punting" contest among the millions of fans started in earnest, the games of Oct. 13 will offer a tough task to the Saturday morning experts who offer their prognostications free of charge.

Yale has been knocking on the door for some time, and I look for the team that Army, Harvard, Princeton, and Georgia battered last year to arrive with a master touch of Pond and take Pond's measure.

Harvard is going to have a tough time with Brown again. Last year Eddie Casper's opinion was had trouble in a pair of Tiger McLaughry and his triple wingback formation, finally winding up with a 12-6 decision.

Another mid-west game that will attract a lot of attention in the Purdue-Notre Dame fray. The Irish are out to avenge that defeat at the hand of the Boonshanks in 1933, and Notre Dame, with whom I became intimately acquainted here in Pittsburgh, may have just enough of that old fighting spirit in him to secure a close victory over Kicker Greg.

Out west, Stanford fuses a mighty array of Northwestern's acquaintances with western conditions. The annual game of the eastern squad in the annual east-west Shrine (I), has a great passing attack, centered around Quarterback George Patton.

In the south, the game between Louisiana State and Auburn stands out. The former school is being built up, and the latter is an unknown quantity under the direction of Jack McGehee.

PEACE PROGRAM GIVEN SUPPORT

Synod, Civic Groups Pledge Backing to Plan Urged By Handsaker

Two bodies in Twin Falls, one the Prohibitory synod and the other a group of representatives of civic organizations, have pledged support to the program for advancement of peace advocated by J. J. Handsaker, executive secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, who was here yesterday and today.

On the motion of Rev. E. P. Lawrence, Handsaker was invited to address the Idaho synod this morning, and, following the address, the body by resolution pledged support to Senator Gerald P. Nye's campaign for distribution of the munitions investigation report and continuance of the investigation.

Adopt Program

The representatives, meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Handsaker, adopted a three point peace program. It is: To express approval and urge the continuance of the munitions investigation through personal efforts and organizations; to get an adequate distribution of Senator Gerald P. Nye's report on munitions, and to insure further study of proposals of the various organizations to preserve world peace.

Representatives of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, church organizations and clubs, attended this meeting, which was sponsored by the P. T. A.

Urges Support

In his speech Handsaker yesterday urged that the general public, organizations and individuals, write or wire Senator Nye at Washington, D. C., pledging support of his efforts to uncover facts of the activities of munition makers. He further urged a careful study of the various proposals for the prevention of war, holding that when we disarmed the Canadian border and set up commissions to settle the question that we used the one practicable method of preventing war. This idea of a world scale means disarmament by international agreement and the World Court and the League of Nations as institutions corresponding to the Canadian-American commissions.

IDAHO U. CHORUS COMING OCT. 16

Vandalera Will Offer Varied Program in Appearance at High School

Idaho Vandalera, a mixed chorus of 20 from the University of Idaho, is to appear in concert at the high school auditorium here the evening of Oct. 16. The concert, presented as one of a series of four through southern Idaho, is the most pretentious and yet the most entertaining program the Vandalera have ever presented, according to Carleton Cummings, director and head of the University music department.

The group is composed of 10 vocalists and the accompanist, Miss Della Crowley. Although the Vandalera is primarily a singing organization, it will offer several outstanding instrumentalists to lend variety to the program.

On the program will be heard three Russian numbers which represent the most beautiful work in Russian music, says Mr. Cummings. Paul Rind will be the soloist in a group of Spanish numbers. Raymond Vaught, soprano, will present a group of interesting violin numbers. Two Negro spirituals will form highlights of the program. Reg. Lyons and Wayne Humphreys, tenors, are the alternating soloists in the second of these numbers. Sir Arthur Sullivan's "The Long Day Closes," sung by the entire chorus, is the appropriate long-cap group used to close its evening's program.

Appearance of the Vandalera here will be sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

SILVER TRADERS FIND 'LOOPHOLE'

Private Importation Permits Speculation Despite U. S. Regulation

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—American speculation has discovered a loophole under the federal government's silver program under which they can hoard or deal in the metal without fear of government interference, the United Press learned today.

No explanation was forthcoming at the treasury for the "loophole" in the silver program in view of the administration's intention of curbing speculation in the white metal, so as not to raise prices in competition with government buying of the metal.

Silver speculation within the United States was suspended in August for the simple reason that after the nationalization there was no metal left in which dealings could be conducted. Since then, it was learned today, small amounts of silver have been hoarded by private interests, which possibly could be used as a medium of new speculation.

Under the nationalization of silver, a price of $49.60 per ounce was set. The treasury had acquired to Oct. 5 a total of $8,444,393 ounces of the white metal in addition to purchases of newly-mined metal of 14,222,000 ounces since last December at the price equivalent of 64 1/2 cents per ounce.

Price Hikes When the silver acquisition program of the government began last June, silver was selling around 40 cents an ounce. On the strength of domestic and foreign purchases of the metal amounting to more than 150,000,000 ounces since then, the price of the metal has been boosted to around 60 cents an ounce.

As approximately 1,200,000,000 additional ounces of the metal are set to be purchased to consummate the silver purchase plan, it is estimated that speculative interest has been attracted in the metal. Purchases of this metal at the rate of 500,000-600 ounces annually as contemplated by the treasury, it is believed, might push the price toward the minimum objective of $1.20 per ounce.

Prevents Hoarding The issue of hoarding of silver by individuals is being studied by the federal government, most of it in foreign markets, has tended to guarantee against further price declines. Although domestic silver speculation is required to turn in half their profits to the government, the relative abundance of the metal has made it attractive to some persons as a speculative vehicle.

What steps the federal government may take to check off speculation in the metal should it become so heavy as to interfere with the silver purchase plan were unknown today, although it was believed speculative dealings in the metal would be closely watched.

AT COURT TRIAL

The face of Ernest T. Weir, above, heard chairman of the Weirton Steel company at Weirton, W. Va., reflects the gravity of the trial he is attending at Wilmington, Del., where the federal government is seeking a permanent injunction against participation of the company in elections of its employees for collective bargaining representatives. To Weir's victory will mean an indication of the company's stand against outside inroads, while to the government the trial holds the fate of the important labor section, T-A, of the national industrial recovery act.

Surprise, on the part of parents to learn that the first six weeks' period of school is about completed. . . . Prominent notices on the police blotter regarding lost children. Almost every day someone calls up to report that a child has been either lost or found. Invariably the lost ones are found soon after their disappearance—some reported. . . . Complete list of all candidates for all political offices in the approaching election, published in The Evening Times today. . . . Reminder that this is the Fire Prevention Week, and that up to the time this was written the fire department had not been called out this week.

B. H. Atkinson, deputy county auditor, suggesting that the county be adopted of motorists responding with tools of their auto horns, when observed driving—pass—sound—flash—klaxons. If this were done, it is explained, the driver about to pass another, would know, after sounding his horn, that the signal had been heard and the acknowledgment would indicate he had a clear right of way and that danger was minimized. Lack of a response would reveal that particular caution should be observed.
