'Cinderella' Man Succumbs in Lonely Old Age After Sensational Life

MONOPOLIZED HEADLINES Draw National Notoriety By Lavish Spending, Varied Love Affairs

SCARSDALE, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP)—Edward W. (Daddy) Browning died of pneumonia today at his home. Browning's attorney announced that the real estate operator, who figured in several sensational court cases before and after his marriage to Frances (Peaches) Heenan, died at 70 a. m. on June 23. Browning was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage and was in a critical condition for several weeks. A month ago he was removed to his home. He suffered an attack of pneumonia recently but his condition was not considered serious until last night. Browning came by the nickname of "Daddy" both publicly and privately. The women who figured prominently in his life were young enough to call him "daddy," and did. He tried with varying degrees of success to attract hundreds of beautiful children of New York's slums. A by-product of the post-war hysteria, Browning was known from coast to coast for his lavish ways, his childlike manner, and his child-bride. "Peaches" knew little of Browning's exploits in the real estate field. To them he seemed a modern Santa Claus, Don Juan, and mascot to all rolled into one grey haired, distinguished looking individual. His name was news, for he made it so. With a flair for publicity un-... (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

...bearing witness to the secrets of his private life with the world, Browning, empered across the headlines of the nation.

He became the "Gilded Man" when he invited a host of top-notch entertainers to his home, including a mechanical genius that "he named" most romantically upon his second wife, "Tea-Cake." When he established a luncheon for his first wife, Adele Louise, the world knew it was not an ordinary home—It was surrounded by a veritable forest of especially transplanted trees.

Cinderella Man

The middle-aged reader became the "Cinderella man" when he tried to find a suitable companion for his adopted daughter, Dorothy Sunshine Browning, and found instead a beautiful heartbreaker.

Browning was born to wealth on Oct. 14, 1874. His father, Edward Franklin Browning, left him a greatly share of the family fortune when he died in 1910. But he was a miserly man, and once he had inherited his fortune, he was a miserly man, and once he had inherited his fortune, he was a miserly man, and once he had inherited his fortune, he was a miserly man.

State and county police of Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana throw cordons of armed guards around principal highways of their states in the belief that Floyd would continue his flight southward.

Alms for Hills

They believed he hoped to escape into the Coolidge hills of eastern Oklahoma, where he has no many times before taken refuge when hand pressed.

The fact that Owens, who knew Floyd by sight, identified one of the men at McAlester as the notorious bank robber and slayer of Lloyd, temporarily reports Floyd had been fatally wounded in one of his camps and had died.

Seek Applicants

Meanwhile, federal agents moved swiftly in preparing for action when a federal grand jury convenes Oct. 22. They hope to secure City records in connection with the massacre for Floyd, Ricchetti and nine others, already held on indictments charging obstruction of justice, or freed on bond, Verne C. Miller, charged with being one of the Chicago St. Valentine's Day massacre in slaying of victims.

LONDON HOTELS HIGHLY SOLVENT

Their Service Is Worse Than New York's But Earnings Are Higher

LONDON, (AP)—New York hotels may provide a more solvent service to guests, but London hotels are said to be decidedly more solvent.

The great majority of Manhattan hotels do not do enough at present to pay much more than their taxes, states Lucius M. Boomer, president of the great Waldorf-Astoria.

Boomer was here recently on a holiday. He found that domestic attentions such as valeting, are superior here, but complained bitterly about the poor telephone service in British hotels.

Telephone Service

"In the United States, the hotel telephone operator is almost the equivalent of a secretary," Boomer said. "In London you want to get someone on the telephone, all you have to do is tell the operator, and their living up. The operator will ring you back as soon as your name is in the book."

"In an English hotel, after a guest has given his message he probably will ring the operator again, when it will be told, 'Oh, I got him on the line, but you had hung up.'"

The hotel business in the United States still is suffering from the dropping off of domestic travel, stated Boomer. This decline is transient, he believes, however. It has somewhat offset by the increased number of persons who have flocked up here on appointments for year-round hotel residences.

CITY BEGINS NEW SCHOOL METHODS

Six Years Elementary Grades, Six High School Traded

By Norris, Tenn.

NORRIS, Tenn., Oct. 12.—The new educational program for the city of Norris, Tenn., is being inaugurated today. The new plan supplants the three eight-year elementary school and four years high school training.

The seventh and eighth years will be devoted to familiarizing themselves with agricultural conditions of this section. Boys as well as girls will get a course in home economics during this time. How to cook outdoors, color schemes and quality of cloth will also be among the subjects taken up at this time.

In the ninth grade it will be the girls' turn to go away from subjects in the ordinary curriculum. Both sexes will get a working idea of automobile repairs, woodwork, electricity and the like. The girls will be taught what makes an electric iron burn out, what makes a percolator work, what makes a car start and what to do if it doesn't start. Furniture and the period to which it belongs will also be taken up.

Future Work
What thought for the future of the student will be taken up in the tenth year. Connections with 12 professions and businesses are to be made. Each pupil will be shown just how each one operates, its functions and purposes. The eleventh semester will be devoted to contacts between teacher and pupil, where if possible it will be determined what field the student will likely succeed in, what business he prefers and the remuneration he may expect.

Handling out of the girl or boy into coming womanhood and manhood will be one of the principal duties of the 12th year teachers. If any subject has been left out in earlier education, it will be the instructor's place to determine whether it will be helpful or necessary, then go back and help the pupil pick it up if it will be of benefit.

COLUMBUS GAVE ORANGE TO U. S.

Explorer Was Planter Who Brought Seeds, Survey Discovers

NEW YORK (U. S. P.)—Christopher Columbus is to be honored as the first planter who brought orange seeds to America. According to researchers made in the course of a four-year survey now being carried out by the New York City department of markets, Columbus imported orange seeds on his second voyage in 1493, and planted America's first orange orchard at Isabella, on the island of Haiti-Domingo.

On this voyage Columbus is supposed to have introduced the orange to the Canary Islands, and while there procured seeds, which he later planted, and which became the origin of the species in America. The most far reaching effects of these plantings came from the citrus fruits, oranges and lemons, which within a short space of time spread to Florida and the entire Mexican Gulf area of the southern United States.

For many years growers have wondered how citrus fruits first reached U. S. shores. The material in which the department of markets uncovered was found in an unillustrated Spanish history written in 1527. It reveals Columbus as a grower and sower of citrus seeds, and that he had been acquainted in Spain.

KIDNAP BALKED

Discovery of Village Ruins Believed Key to Lost Expedition

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 12.—The complete mystery of the Batesman kidnap, who went into the southwest and never was heard from again may have been solved by a discovery related by C. S. Jackson, of Wichita.

Obtaining a land grant from the Mexican government, which then owned much of the southwest area, the colonists plunged into the wilderness. Where they established their settlement, whether they were massacred by Indians, or died of a plague, never was learned. The men and women in the party simply vanished.

Found Ruins
A few years ago while on a deer-hunting trip in northwestern New Mexico, Jackson came upon the ruins of a village in a remote region along the banks of the Canadian river.

The houses, of adobe construction, were crumbling to dust, but enough of the ruins were intact to reveal that the fireplaces were constructed in the walls in the manner of American houses rather than in the corners, as was the Mexican custom.

American Goods
The rusted remains of an American stove were found, as well as other articles obviously American. Not a vesting of anything that on the church, which stood on higher ground, than the neighboring structures.

On settlers whose memorials went back to the time when the land was first pre-empted were questioned, but all said the ruins had been much as they were now when the ranchers first penetrated into the region. None of them knew who had constructed the settlement, or what the fate of the inhabitants had been.

The investigation conducted by the state geologist of the United States, who has been associated with the federal land bank in Spokane.

Temperature of 65 degrees below zero and 17 degrees above zero have been recorded in Montana.

INVENTORS SAY COTTON PICKER MACHINE READY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 12.—A cotton picking machine that can pick 100 acres an hour and do the work of 100 laborers was claimed here by John and Mack Ross, Memphis inventors, who claim their long-experimenting has resulted in a machine.

The Ross brothers' machine has a rapidly rotating smooth steel spindle that is rotated as it enters the open boll. The patented spindle has no blades or claws; it twists the cotton out of the boll.

John Ross said he got the idea while watching an old Negro woman pick a field of cotton on a Louisiana plantation adjoining wheel.

The Rosses sought to convince the public by exhibiting a letter from W. E. Ayres, assistant director in charge of the "beta" experiment station at Stoneville, Miss. The letter read in part:

"I am glad to report to you that in my judgment your machine should be placed on the market without delay. There is no question but that it works and works well. The fact that you picked five bales in less than a day in cotton ranging from 36 to 72 inches tall is enough to convince the most skeptical."

The machine is being demonstrated near Burdette, Ark., in Mississippi county.

21 OUT OF 23 ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

SMOKE CAMELS!

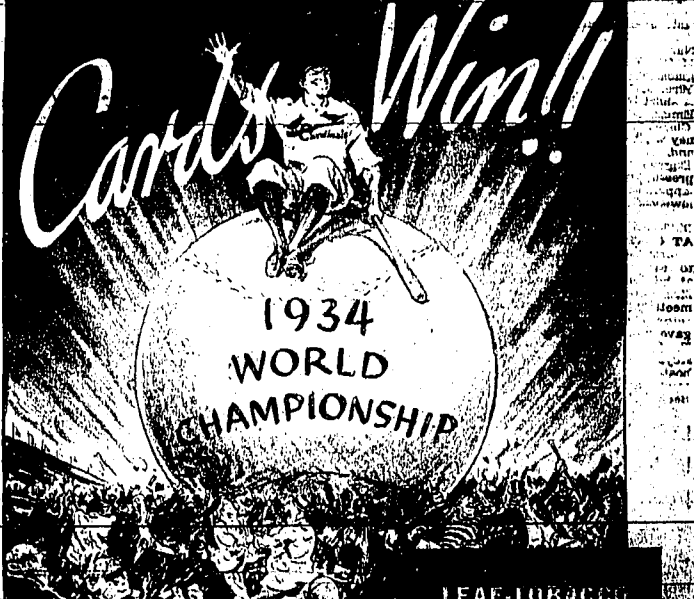

by FRANK FRISCH
They sure made it hot for us this year, but the Cardinals came through in great style clear to the end when we needed every ounce of energy to win. We needed it—and we had it. There's the story in a nutshell. It seems as though the team line up just as well on their smoking habits as they do on the ball field. Here's our line-up on smoking: 21 out of 23 of the Cardinals prefer Camels.

The World Series is over. The Cardinals are on the top. Their outstanding achievement will go down in history—a sensational charge from 7 games behind to win the pennant...and then the series!

They are champions—and popular champions. Frank Frisch, Carlton Rothrock, Oranith, Leo Durocher, Bill Walker, Medwick—all America knows this Cardinal team by heart and applauds its stirring victory.

"What do the World Champions smoke?" A natural question. And above you get Frank Frisch's answer. The preference is overwhelmingly for Camels.

The Cardinals' virtually unanimous preference for Camels is worthy of every smoker's attention. Be guided by their experience. Enjoy Camel's "unmistakable" which science has studied and confirmed. Camels are milder—made from a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCO. They never get on your nerves!

"HARD BOILED" BOXING RULES PLANNED BY NEW YORK BOARD

WILL WEED OUT 'POLITE' BATTLES

Lower Route Will Be Demanded By Officials; Condition Will Count on Verdict

By JACK CUDY
NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP) — In keeping with the modern demand for knock-out-won-drug-out athletic boxing, which tended recently to favor ergodic and head-butting, the new rules of the New York State Athletic Commission, is ready to kick the old-time pushers into a drastic right-about-face.

No More Waltzes

No more of these eight and 10 round waltzes for guys who are trying to prove their right to a title fight in any division," says Commissioner Brown. "And no more waltzing doctors for fellows who are about to be packed out of the ring on a stretcher."

Accordingly on Tuesday he will propose at the commission meeting that (1) all "important" bouts not only be fought over the 15-round rule and (2) condition of the boxers at the end of the fight must have an important part in the determining of the winner. No longer would the soundly sound recording system be used alone.

Experts Approve

Brown told the United Press last night that Gen. John J. Phelan, commission chairman, is heartily in favor of these proposals and that he expects no difficulty in having them passed.

Brown has been campaigning for these changes for some time, and the recent Steve Haman-Lasky heavyweight fight at Madison Square Garden brought the matter to a head. The fight, 10 rounds, which was supposed to determine an outstanding heavyweight contender, Haman won the referee's decision after the two judges had disagreed.

But at the final gong, Haman was virtually out on his feet. In the two closing rounds he had floundered about the ring helplessly while Lasky battered him with a heavy right hand. The latter it seemed a physical impossibility for Haman to last another round.

Brown contended that if condition counts in boxing, boxers would not continue themselves with merely trying to pile up enough points by tapping one another to gain the most rounds, but would try to score knockouts.

ILLINOIS AND OHIO FEATURE BIG 10

Buckeye Hopes for Conference Honors Oct Staff Test Tomorrow

By RED GRANGE (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (AP) — With a startling 33 to 10 victory over Indiana Saturday, Ohio State shouldered its way into the front rank of Big Ten title contenders, thereby increasing the importance of the impending brawl with the fighting Illini Oct. 20.

In his inaugural, Francis Schmidt of Ohio gave emphatic notice that he will get along all right in Western Conference competition.

Close Call

Illinois had a close call against Washington University of St. Louis and the experience should prove valuable. To be precise clear up to the final gong by an eleven not taken very seriously up to game time probably won a good amount of money for the Illini, and should show results in the Ohio game.

Against Northwestern Saturday, Iowa showed a fine running attack as the old eyes have been in sunny a day.

In Oze Simmons, 177-pound Negro sophomore from Port Worth, Texas, Gule Solon has the finest foot and shiftest back in the Big Ten.

Tough on Fees

With Dick Crayne, the hard-running 190-pound halfback, Simmons will continue to give opponents a tough defensive problem. They must strike a happy medium between tightening up to stop Crayne's terrific drives into the line and back to the center side, and spreading to stop wide aprints by Simmons.

Tova disclosed no passing attack, an essential for consistent winning in the Big Ten. The success of their running plays made it hardly necessary for the Hawkeye to take to the air. What Solon had for aerial use probably has been needed under cover for use when needed.

Iowa has shown a weakness in his defense and may improve in this department before facing Northwestern.

Gophers Powerful

The 10 first downs and 431 yards from scrimmage which the Minnesota powerhouses rolled up against the Chicago Tiger bunch at Madison field on good for Pittsburgh's Gophers next Saturday, and the rest will be beneficial before the Gophers meet the Dawblers Oct. 20.

Some of the odds have been taken off the impending Purdue-Notre Dame game as a result of the Notre Dame defeat.

Herr Professor's Back At Grid Forecast Job

By HENRY McLEMORE
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12 (AP) — Just before we caught a train for Pittsburgh, the old Herr Professor, wearing a urdonic grin that would melt a marble cube, said President Roosevelt, selected by the Chamber of Commerce of Rocky Ford, Colo., walked up to my desk and said: "Herr professor! Don't say nothing! I had me them football schedulers."

The Herr Professor, you probably don't remember, is one of the few remaining remnants of the old "buff" and "point" cranked on the side instead of the front, men of the professor's calling are dying out. I know of no other man who, Saturday after Saturday, thinking after Thanksgiving, can pick up many football lines. He hasn't had a winner since he bet five dollars that Robinson, Olympic would find Ernie's tractor.

Other Methods

I was sorry to see the Herr Professor, for I had planned to try some other means of forecasting in an effort to tap at least one winner. I thought of several methods, including the placing of a watermelon seed between the thumb and forefinger and, with a deft motion of the same digit, flipping aforementioned seed against a map, with the locality struck as the winner. Another was to

HUEY GIVES BIG POOL TO L. S. U.

Senator Sees That Louisiana Has Swimming Facilities, Other Advantages

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 11.—A 125-piece band and a 182-foot swimming pool, said to be the longest in the country, are Senator Huey P. Long's gifts this session to Louisiana State university, his one hobby outside the realm of politics.

The football team, already a southern favorite, is ready to tackle its greatest schedule of games in the history of the school. Enrollment is nearing 5,000, a gain of about 300 per cent since Long took the university in hand six years ago.

One of Long's first acts when he became governor in 1928 was to establish a school of medicine in New Orleans for L. S. U.

Lang Field House The Huey P. Long Field House, a fine arts building, a woman's dormitory and a new stadium, with seats for 38,000 and living quarters below for athletes, soon sprouted up on the L. S. U. campus.

Mike Donahue, the football coach and director of Captain Lawrence (Hurr) Jones, celebrated Army member and developer of All-American players, was imported.

Now students began pouring in, many of them lured from out-of-state by prospects of athletic training under such an expert. Enrollment jumped from 1,800 in 1928 to 4,200 in 1933.

Under Jones, L. S. U. rose to co-champion of the conference. The title was beaten in 1932 and tied last year.

Huge Swimming Pool The swimming pool is just being completed. After the plans were drawn, Long called in Weber, architect, how it was going to compare with other pools in the country and Weber replied that so far as he knew, the longest pool was 175 feet long. Then altered the plans to give L. S. U. a pool 182 feet long, 55 feet wide and three to 12 feet deep, as is to be accord to none.

The band was increased this year from 65 to 125 players, all of them brilliantly arrayed in purple mantles and gold braids.

SMALL MINER TO GET FEDERAL AID

FINCH DECLARES U. S. PLANNING PROGRAM TO ASSIST LESSOR OPERATORS

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow (Special)—Small mining operators, particularly gold and silver, will receive special consideration in plans being formulated by the U. S. bureau of mines, according to a report received here.

The plan also call for the establishment of a file with reliable information on all gold mines and prospects, giving details of the ore occurrence, development work, range of ore developed and grade, some and mill plants, transportation facilities, labor, power and water supply. Such information would aid the consulting engineer in his search for profitable properties and facilitate the bringing together of capital and willing owner.

Asked about the policy of the bureau of mines, Dr. Finch pointed out that in a number of instances the statements of administration leaders to the effect that the government would let industry run itself. He explained that the bureau hoped to find some of the causes and cures of depressed metal prices, as well as aid in laying the foundation by study of production capacity and consumption, in enabling the industry to build its own conclusions and lay its own plans and regulate itself.

DROUTH IS SANTA TO MIDDLE WEST

Boey Man Has, Turned Into Benefactor, Prominent Lenders Say

(Copyright 1934, United Press) (CHICAGO) (AP)—The "drouth," called a boey this summer, really has been a Santa Claus to the Midwest, according to views given the United Press by prominent business leaders.

The dry heat, which swayed across the crop, also brought higher prices, and the survey showed that more dollars are in circulation than last year.

Healthy buying capacity exists throughout the Midwest, report the men who watch the money boots. People still are optimistic despite serious damage to some fruit sections.

Three principal reasons exist for this optimism, namely, higher prices, government checks to farmers and late rains which lessened severity of losses in some sections. Farmers who find produce to sell benefited by the rise in prices. For instance, wheat now is selling in Chicago 10 to 15 cents higher than this time last year, even 20 cents higher and oats 10 cents higher.

Prices themselves do not tell the full story because the increase goes almost exclusively into the farmer's pocket. Fixed charges such as transportation had to be paid whether wheat sold at 80 cents, or above a dollar a bushel. Thus the profit has been his to spend and, generally speaking, he has spent them. Increased prices for the things he has to buy took a part of the receipts, it was admitted, but the farmer was left, even so, with a net gain over last year.

$50 Million in Cash In the Ninth Federal Reserve District, which includes Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana and northern Wisconsin, farmers will receive an estimated $450,000,000 cash from sale of crops and livestock and from government benefits. This is at least $50,000,000 more than last year, according to a conservative computation.

Iowa's farm income was estimated at $328,175,000 for this year, an increase of $12,400,000 over 1933. Northern Iowa counties have sold at least $1,000,000 worth of fodder to drouth areas.

The Illinois State Journal at Springfield found that farmers in 11 neighboring counties had increased their income by $10,000,000 during the past year.

Huge Expenditures Millions of dollars in crop and hog reduction compensation were paid midwest farmers. In Iowa alone, $20,000,000 has been paid in crop-hog checks by the Federal government with $55,000,000 more promised. All midwestern states reported a like influx of money from the department of agriculture.

INDUSTRY CHIEFS AIDING NEW DEAL

Administration Convinced Big Business at Last Swings Into Cooperation

By H. O. THOMPSON (Copyright, 1934, United Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (U.P.)—The Roosevelt administration is convinced that important business and industrial interests at last are swinging to support of the New Deal and that this attitude should be reflected soon in generally improved conditions throughout the country.

In keeping with a determination to maintain contact with representative business leaders, Mr. Roosevelt is planning a series of important pronouncements designed to keep recovery efforts and private business activities closely attuned.

It was learned that the White House, previously irritated in the past at factors which were interpreted as obstructionist and selfish, felt that business and industry were about to begin a period of really constructive cooperation.

It was said that genuine hope was being expressed that recovery problems could be handled on a plane of frank and open discussion. One of the factors entering the situation was understood to be the administration's activities under the reciprocal tariff powers granted by congress.

Efforts now being made to revive business have as one of their aims consequently, the separation of business men and industrialists into groups, which can be said to be fairly representative of an entire business or industry.

Manufacturers have come to believe, correctly or not, that their goods might be impeded by cheaper products from abroad unless they joined in movements to boost industrial factors and give impetus to the recovery machine.

The administration has felt that there has been too much jockeying for selfish advantages both in the making and carrying out of NRA codes.

MURRAY ATTACKS "DESPOTIC" RULE

'Oh, Damnation!' Says Alfalfa Bill in Article Rapping New Deal Trend

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 12 (U.P.)—Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray predicts that unless national New Deal policies are checked they will bring tyranny and calamity upon the country.

He centered his attack on the NRA and AAA programs. "The color law," he declared, "should government be operated on such a hazy system of law; such uncertainty of result; such duplicity of conduct?"

"Why, therefore, should the farmer and the laborer continue the 'Dances to the Pipes'?" "Oh, duplicity! Oh, damnation! Oh, hell! What shall the farmer do to be saved?"

Murray said the "bureaucracy continues to pry over the radio and through thousands of documents sent free through the mails, to make people believe that their conditions are better... and give figures that the cost of living has increased but 0.01 per cent."

He accused the AAA of "an evil machine in the nation" and the "bureaucracy" of "a 'bone-head' bill" which he said showed injustice.

KEY TO THE GOLDEN GATE

Seen from the air, the fender and trestle of the mammoth Golden Gate bridge, together with Port Point, take the form of a gigantic key. A volume of concrete 780 feet in circumference and reaching 100 feet in the bottom of San Francisco bay forms a fender within which the south pier of the bridge will be built, protected from the tide-swept waters. The fender is seen lower right foreground in this picture, copyrighted by the Associated Oil Company.

HISTORY Of Twin Falls City & County

As Gleaned from Files of The Times

15 Years Ago

To track the elusive germ in the air is the purpose of a campaign by Ross Murray of the city health department with the ultimate object of stamping out unsanitary conditions wherever they may be found within the city. The campaign mentioned is nothing less than a scheme to find the conditions, the stamping process to follow.

27 Years Ago

The annual meeting of the Canal association was held in the city club, and was well attended by the farmers all over the tract. President West called the meeting to order and Secretary J. H. Day read the minutes of the previous meeting. The principal business of the meeting was the consideration of the plan drawn by Judge Stockinger for reorganizing the association. This plan was presented and discussed.

The plan was then given to a committee of three to revise and correct, and present at a special meeting to be held on Saturday, Oct. 19, when the revised constitution will be voted upon and officers elected for the ensuing year.

THE FUTURE OF HIGHWAY 30

Prospects of a new highway being built from Buhl to Glens Ferry, cutting 17 miles off the present route, gives added hope to the permanency of the Old Oregon trail route in its present location.

The effort now being made to improve the improvement of the highway near Murtaugh, cutting down its length, and eliminating dangerous crossings and curves, is but another step in the same direction.

It is learned that the proposed Buhl-Glens Ferry route would be built as a Public Works project, and funds would be made available next year from a $300,000,000 federal appropriation.

What the actual cost would be cannot be determined at this time. That is what the preliminary survey, to be started Monday, is designed to provide.

The route appears to be highly feasible. Furthermore, it would assist in the plans for opening up the Brumey project on the west, for it would cut through that immense tract which joins the Twin Falls project.

The survey, following as it does, an original Union Pacific survey, indicates that the road would have a reasonable grade, which is important.

This section views with a high degree of interest the proposal to construct this road, recognizing that it would be a singularly important cog in the development of all south central Idaho.

CHAPTRIL XLVIII

Three well-dressed people in new traveling clothes rode across the wide, rutted streets of the city. Mrs. Rauburn, smart and flushed in her brown tailored suit, leaned forward to peer out of the taxi.

"Chicago?" she said triumphantly. "Why, it's just like New York—noise and all. But snicker."

Mr. Rauburn glanced about him with interest. When he alighted from the cab at the corner of the other street he dragged his hat for just a little. Otherwise he was a sturdily enough looking elderly man in neat grey, with a camera slung on a leather strap over his shoulder. The slim girl in blue with the two older people was rather silent. She smiled when they spoke to her, but her bright amber-tinted eyes had a far-away look about them.

She went off to buy magazines and their mother said, with some perplexity and dissatisfaction: "Well, I declare, I don't know what we're coming to. One minute she isn't coming with us and the next she is. I haven't got over the shock of having her tell me who wasn't going to marry Edward Van Selver."

"Oh, stop fretting, mother. You know you're delighted she's with us, instead of half way across the Atlantic."

"Of course, I am. Of course, I am. But I can't make the child out. She seems to be going around about that way."

Dona's return interrupted this colloquy. She had two bright-colored periodicals under her arm and the morning edition of a New York newspaper.

"Look, darlings, will wonders never end?"

She showed them the headlines over a smiling photograph of Edward.

"Stolen of Wealth"

"Married His Nurse"

"B. B. Olympic at Sea," the story read.

"Edward Houghton Van Selver, only son of H. B. Van Selver of Amalgamated Steel, was married today aboard ship to Miss Veronica Mary Kerrigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kerrigan of Hixson Island. Miss Kerrigan has been Mrs. Van Selver's nurse ever since he was injured in a serious motor accident two months ago."

"Well, I never!" Mrs. Rauburn looked indignant. "So that was what he was up to!"

BOOTS laughed. A cheerful sound it was in the big vaulted room. Two or three people turned to watch her rosy young face with interest.

"Oh, Mums, you know it was nothing of the kind," she protested. "You know we just decided we weren't suited to each other."

Her maternal parent sniffed incredulously. "Looks like it."

STARTLED out of her dream, she heard her name spoken in an inconspicuous undertone.

"Hoot! Or am I dreaming?"

"Yes, yes, yes! If I open my eyes, she thought, I'll be awake. Her voice has never been so real in a dream before.

But she was awake. The smell of city dust and the smoke from the street lamps, the danger of the city, sounded all about her. Waveringly she opened her eyes. There before her stood the man who had been occupying her thoughts. He was leaner than she remembered. His hair was grey, only his eyes were still a little bit brown.

"Hoot!" He said it, again, in a hoarse, low voice.

"Then he was in the little collapsible chair he had here and his lean, nervous fingers were braced around the chair. She was laughing slightly and saying that of course it was. What did he think?

"I thought," he panted and stammered, "I thought you were on the high seas now—and Hoot!"

"You haven't haven't seen the papers?"

"What? No, I haven't."

She laid the clipping in her bag; Edward's picture. She put it into his hand.

"But I don't see. He didn't..."

OUTLOOK BETTER A. F. OF L. TOLD

Head of International Labor Office Says Future Looks More Promising

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Harold E. Butler, director of the International Labor Office at Geneva, told the American Federation of Labor that economically the world "is better off today than it was 18 months ago."

The road to world industrial recovery, Butler said, is marked by a series of fair international cooperation with shorter working hours for labor.

"The great technical changes which have been made in industry have caused great and widespread displacement of labor," the speaker said, "according to a copy of his address. "In every country there is an army of unemployed."

Must Solve Problem

"As President Roosevelt said the other day, it is impossible to contemplate these armies becoming permanent. The world has got to solve the unemployment problem. It will not be easily solved, but the conviction is growing that it cannot be solved without a reduction in working hours."

Butler described the entire NRA program of the United States as a "great concerted effort to revitalize the economic life of the American people to new conditions."

Bold Attack

"You are tackling the fundamental problem of our age boldly and directly," the international laborist said.

Describing the working of the international labor office, Butler said it was "working to maintain and improve the standards of labor and living by helping to insure the social security of the worker by affording him protection against social risks, unemployment, old age, sickness, and disability which will prevent commercial competition, national and international, being fought out at the expense of the worker."

Under the direction of the office 44 treaties having 833 formal ratifications have been adopted, touching on child labor, protection of

Adm County Grange Demands Position on Bank, Trust Laws, Munitions

BOISE, Oct. 12 (AP)—Idaho's congressional candidates have been asked to state their stand on the future of a government owned bank, the re-establishment of anti-trust laws and the government ownership of armaments, munitions, military and naval equipment necessary for proper defense of the nation's boundaries.

The startling demands were issued weekly in a meeting of the Ada County Grange. They were in the form of questionnaires to be mailed to each candidate, voted by resolution at the session. The meeting was under the direction of Mayor C. W. McClure and his secretary, Mrs. Ira B. Leno.

"Though there has been plenty of time slipped since the candidates were mailed to the candidates, no answer has yet been received. Campaign trips are believed to have interfered with immediate answers."

MISHA'S RESULT FROM HASTE

There is nothing on which people disagree much more widely than on the question, What causes automobile accidents?

Everyone has his own pet theory, and usually we are inclined to blame those particular faults of which we know we ourselves are never guilty.

But there isn't such a great deal of room for argument, after all. A lot of painstaking work has been done in tabulation and analysis of fatal traffic accidents, and the things which cause such tragedies are pretty clear.

Statisticians of the Travelers Insurance company recently drew up a table covering fatal traffic accidents for 1933, as officially reported by the various states.

They found that in more than 32 per cent of the fatal accidents in which drivers were found to be at fault, a driver had been exceeding the speed limit. In 13 per cent of the cases, a driver had been on the wrong side of the road. In an equal number of cases, a driver had taken the right of way when he was not entitled to it.

In upwards of 5 per cent, a driver had been guilty of "cutting in," passing a standing street car or bus, passing on a curve or a hill, or passing on the wrong side. In nearly 19 per cent, a driver had driven completely off the roadway. In nearly 9 per cent, the cause could be listed only as reckless driving.

Now the thing to notice, as the insurance company statisticians point out, is that all these causes, lumped together, are practically synonymous for "heedless, needless haste."

They are the sort of offenses that are committed when a driver is in such a big hurry that he fails to tend to his knitting.

PAUL MALLON'S NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

An Exclusive Interview Daily Report on the latest news events in the Nation's Capital by an Expert Times Reporter and Commentator (Copyright, 1934, by Paul Mallon)

WASHINGTON—The great government drive to increase the capital market has been accompanied by more than 100,000,000 dollars being loaned by the NRA. Jesse Jones, the REC chairman, has talked himself into a state of exhaustion. Even the state oil federal reserve board crowd took in the mud.

Together, they have done everything short of ransacking money down the throats of business men in an effort to get rid of the 888 million dollars which congress authorized for this noble experiment in credit expansion.

No one will believe it, but today after three months of effort, they have managed to put out less than five million dollars from the government only 575 more millions to go.

EVIDENCE

The intent intentions by the REC and FIC are incredible, but official in character. The REC had exactly $2,387,000 outstanding in loans of this character. On October 3, the FIC total was $2,407,000. Add them together and you find that the government infroze the capital market to the tune of $4,824,000 up to very recent dates.

The hint from that would not be enough to infroze an ice cream cone on a July day.

It is so bad you cannot blame the government agencies for trying to make it look a little better by giving some preliminary to the amount of loans authorized, instead of loans actually made. The REC authorized about twelve millions and the FIC about three millions. Actually are made later, the scope of success would be twenty-seven millions, which might infroze the market, but certainly not the credit structure.

SCARE

The state department has not been so frightened since the World War as when the first news of the assassination of King Alexander came through. The identity of the assassin was not known; they knew he was a man of Italian descent, but they were afraid Italian sympathizers might be involved. That would have meant war.

Italy has been subject to a series of attacks in the Jugoslav press lately, even to remarks criticizing the bravery of Italian soldiers. The French were bringing Alexander's body back to Paris.

REVENUE

Opponents of Upton Sinclair have sent a representative to the New York financial district to solicit campaign funds. This representative left the impression with certain callers that his crowd hoped to collect a million or more.

It did very well. Many New York investors have been worried about the effect of a Sinclair victory on California industries. They have always been very reticent in stock market prices and in flight of capital from California.

Sinclair's friends in New York also are collecting funds, but they live in a different part of town.

NOTES

Rumors flow thick and fast when the broadest arrangements for the coming year are being made. The most likely inside explanation was that he did not have much to say.

No one mentions the fact that Chief Justice Hughes did not participate in last Monday's decision against the Mellon Aluminum company. The reason was that, in a recent case filed by Aluminum attorneys, it was pointed out that, some years back, the chief justice served as an attorney for the company.

Jesse Jones says that there will be no government ownership of railroads as long as they have collateral on which to borrow from the REC, but the truth is the roads which are lagging do not have the collateral.

YOU MAY NOT KNOW THAT—

Idaho Supreme Court Rules Municipalities Can Add To Obligations

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 12 (AP)—That municipalities may assume obligations not included in an annual appropriation bill, was the opinion expressed here today following a supreme court decision upholding the city of Wallace, Idaho, in such a suit.

The city desired to borrow $40,000 to construct flood control systems and repair damage caused by floods last December.

A. J. Ramestedt and M. J. Plohr, Wallace residents, protested against the city incurring such indebtedness on the grounds that the sum had not been included in the annual appropriations bill. They admitted the repairs were needed.

The court ruled that the floods were an emergency and, occurring after the bill had been drawn, the city could be authorized to borrow the money.

NOMINEES ASKED TO GIVE STANDS

Adm County Grange Demands Position on Bank, Trust Laws, Munitions

BOISE, Oct. 12 (AP)—Idaho's congressional candidates have been asked to state their stand on the future of a government owned bank, the re-establishment of anti-trust laws and the government ownership of armaments, munitions, military and naval equipment necessary for proper defense of the nation's boundaries.

"Though there has been plenty of time slipped since the candidates were mailed to the candidates, no answer has yet been received. Campaign trips are believed to have interfered with immediate answers."

And if you total those percentages, you'll find that they account for approximately 90 per cent of all fatal accidents in which any blame attaches to the driver.

It is often, and truly, said that the intoxicated driver is as dangerous as a maniac with a gun. Yet these figures show that fewer than 5 per cent of the fatal accidents can be laid to drunken driving.

The overwhelming majority — 90 per cent — is caused by simple, everyday haste.

The drunken driver, dangerous as he is, isn't in it as a public menace with the driver who is in too big a hurry.

HOPE FOR CHILDREN

Forty-two state legislatures are to meet this winter. Efforts will be made to get as many of them as possible to take some action on the pending child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

It is worth while to recapitulate the facts in regard to that amendment. It has been ratified by 20 states. If 16 more ratify it, it will become a part of the constitution. Fourteen of the ratifications came last year. Getting the remaining 16 ought not to be too difficult.

This amendment, it should be emphasized, is not mandatory. It simply gives Congress the power to act. And while NRA codes have done much to cut down the child labor evil, we ought to remember that these codes are not necessarily permanent. Passing

FARM CENSUS TO AID LAWMAKERS

Provides Patronage Plums in Shape of 25,000 Jobs To Constituents

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The agricultural census beginning in January will give 25,000 "patronage plums" to Democratic congressmen, Census Bureau Director William L. Austin said today.

Nothing New
In a statement replying to criticism of "patronage plums," Austin said the policy since the Civil War has been to award the census job to the party in power.

Rural Appointments
He said the appointments will be made from rural districts rather than cities and that none would be made before Nov. 15.

Crop Benefit Payments

Under Fire
The Democratic national committee's campaign statistical sheet also is under Republican fire. The committee's handbook invites candidates to obtain figures showing how much their states have drawn from the treasury in 1934 and other campaign relief.
