LABOR ENLARGES EXECUTIVE BODY, CHANGES POLICY

Lewis Gains Double Victory As Federation Approves Industrial Unions

GREEN RE-ELECTED HEAD

Directing Council Widened to Include Membership of 18 Leaders

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor today entrusted its campaign to organize industrial unions in mass production industries to an executive council of 18 members, adding seven new vice presidents to the body which guides organized labor in the United States.

Approved in the closing session of the 44th annual convention, the enlargement of the council was the second victory of the meeting for John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America. Lewis emerged as the outstanding figure on the American labor front through the convention action which switched the A. F. of L. into the industrial union field and enlarged its executive cabinet.

Lewis himself was in place on the large council, getting one of the vice presidencies created after the 43rd delegates had voted, 22,423 to 2,066, to approve the compromise brought forward by the committee on laws. Lewis, before that vote, the convention defeated proposals to keep the miners' leader off the directing body.

Amateur Sleuth Helps U. S. to Arrest Galatas

New Oklahoma, Oct. 13 (AP) An unemployed man from Minneapolis who has been "playing" detective, described how he stumbled into information that led to the arrest of Richard T. Galatas, wanted in connection with the Kansas City Union station massacre.

Thomas said he had assumed the name of A. J. Thomas to hide his real identity. "I don't want to be put on the spot by newspaper clerks of Galatas," he said. Thomas expects to collect $1,000 reward offered by a national magazine for information leading to the arrest of Galatas.

Bought Magazine

Thomas said he arrived in New Orleans a few days before the arrest of the fugitive, seeking work. "I purchased the magazine and noticed the photograph of Galatas," Thomas said. "I thought I would try to find out who he was and if I could help in his arrest."

Paris, Oct. 13 (AP)—France today honored Louis Barthou, foreign minister, who fell an accidental victim to the pistol of Petrus Kolomon in the Marcellin assassinations. He was buried in the Reno in Champs Elysees.

"I went up there and applied for a job. Galatas was manufacturer's agent for a telephone company. I must have been in the office for a half hour or more, and I got a good look at the fugitive. I was sure I had the right man."

Identifies Photos

"Mr. Casata called in David Magee, acting chief of secret service agents, and he questioned me for a while. I identified pictures of Galatas which I had in my files. I also told them I had information to lead to the man. I was sure I would work fast if they were going to catch him."

They worked fast all right. Galatas was arrested that afternoon and started almost at once for Kansas City by airplane.

TIDE OF UPSETS STILL PREVAILS

St. Mary's Catastrophe Warns Major Teams That 'Goofy' Season Holds Sway

By JACK CUBBY
 NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—On this second big Saturday of the football season football fans know the nation's grid squads trotted out on the battle fields considerably ajitter because the St. Mary's catastrophe yesterday warned that last week's hurricane of upsets still held strong.

That St. Mary's affair was the last straw. No longer in anything safe or sacred when Nevada points St. Mary's Gaels 17-7. The same mighty Gaels who only a week before had completed the same California which only the week before that had crushed Nevada, 33-0.

Anything can happen on the following battle fronts today:

East — Southern California vs. Pittsburgh; Army vs. Duquesne; Columbia vs. Virginia Military Academy; Cornell vs. Indiana; West Virginia vs. Washington and Lee; Pennsylvania vs. Yale; Harvard vs. Brown; Cornell vs. powerful Syracuse; and Navy vs. Maryland.

Middle west — Notre Dame vs. Xavier; Ohio State vs. Illinois; Chicago vs. Michigan; Iowa vs. Nebraska; Missouri vs. Iowa State; Carnegie Tech vs. Michigan State; Vanderbilt vs. Cincinnati; and Tulane vs. Texas Christian.

South — Florida vs. Alabama vs. Mississippi State; Louisiana State vs. Auburn; Tennessee vs. Mississippi; Duke vs. Georgia Tech; Georgia vs. North Carolina; also have an inter-conference tilt.

East Seaside — Stanford's inter-collegiate dual with Northwestern heads the slate. Two Pacific conference games match Oregon and Washington, and Montana and U. C. L. A. Washington State, conference of Southern Cal., has a breather in Gonzaga. Alamo Stagg's small but rugged College of the Pacific will try to down California.

Rocky mountains — Four conference meetings are headed by Utah-Idaho and Idaho vs. Denver-Colo. Aggie. Utah-Idaho, in the other two games, western state meets Colorado Mines, and Wyoming squares off against Montana State.

THE SHOE DOESN'T FIT

Father Time Takes Sting From That Trojan Name

By HENRY MOLEMORE
 PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13 (AP)—Time is a mighty workman. Give him time and he'll change anything, from mountain peaks to river beds, from a man's name to your girl's friendship.

He'll even change football teams, as witness the situation in this city today a few hours before Pittsburgh took the field against the Trojans of Southern California.

Hard to believe, but a man who wanted to put his name down on Southern Cal. found himself playing the long shot. Not a slight favorite, either, but as pronounced a favorite as anybody from the major right down to the third-string whitings—would not give you twelve points.

Two points mind you. Two touchdowns! They take Pitt's Panthers and start you off with an even dozen points. That's what time does. A year ago you couldn't have made such a bet even if the Trojans were playing a team that had a back-

GOODING WINNER AGAINST JEROME

Jerome, Oct. 13 (Special) A strong Gooding high school football outfit pointed its way to a 13 to 0 Class A victory over Jerome here last night under the floodlights.

All scoring was done in the first half, with Jerome tightening in the last half to halt the hard-driving Gooding attack.

A steady drive from the middle of the field finally sent Robertson over for the first Gooding score early in the opening period. Just before half time, Keith cracked the Jerome forward wall and plowed through for the second touchdown.

The revived Jerome attack kept Gooding busy in the second half, but the visitors overpowered all potential scoring drives.

Lineups: Gooding — Bray and Machly, ends; Prince and Boccia, halfbacks; Hunter and Danley, guards; Dixon, center; Williams, quarterback; Robertson and Moser, fullbacks; Knight, fullback; Jerome — Thompson and Fletcher, ends; Burman and Henderson, halfbacks; Lybster and Carter, guards; Halbert, center; Dal Burkhalter, quarter; Dale Ruckhuller and Nims, fullbacks; Beck, fullback.

HIGHWAY VICTOR OVER GAS SQUAD

Highway topped pins enough to capture all three games last night against Community Club in the Commercial bowling league.

Harry Beem's 400 won high three-game total.

Bowling Banter

"Excuse me, please," said LeMou Howard, Community Gas bowler, to his opponent on a spare last night. "But when I strike out 'Alibi' gentlemen, that is my usual stride."

Bill Swisher replied that he'd push his average up, and believe you me up it went.

Spot McDonald, at anchor for Community Gas, had quite a hot last night's game started, but it was high-martinez-temper-ment that kept him for his team.

Bill McDonald, leader man for the Highway, couldn't get strikes to his contentment on spare. But he didn't have much luck with them either.

Harry Bruggemann had a nice first and last game, but his middle one? Ask you, date, Sharly?

Highway team-mates would have broken through to score a victory for him. Said they: "Well, tough that guy to be here."

"Over framed," said Craig Coleman, "but I'll snap out of it right pronto." Anyway, all scores came, Craig.

Harry Beem, that big little bowler for Highway, had about all the night's records. Said he complacently: "Why shouldn't I? Ain't I the best bowler in town?"

Bill Ford the flyweight bowler of our league, had flyweight scores, according to Bill.

"All good professional bowlers have that kind of a curve," said Huhk Kordeman, "but I guess they know where the danger thing is going."

NEVADANS UPSET ST. MARY'S, 9-7

Reno Eleven Spring's Biggest Coast Surprise by Win Over Gaels

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13 (AP)—In football's biggest surprise this far this season on the Pacific coast, University of Nevada defeated St. Mary's college, 9 to 7, by a field goal kicked in the last three minutes of play before 35,000 fans here yesterday.

During the first game with 23 points as their score going, St. Mary's found themselves trailing in the first quarter when the Nevadans passed and plunged for the Saints' goal line for a touchdown. Fullback Tharp making the score. The try for point failed.

With only a few minutes remaining, Nevada got the ball at mid-field on a penalty, passed to the 26-yard line, and with Center Tom Casbill doing the kicking, registered a field goal. The Saints drove back on passes, but the final three minutes were completed outside the end zone and the game ended a few plays later.

After the game the disappointed St. Mary's crew boarded a train for Reno and returned to their camp, Fordham next Saturday.

COYOTES SUBDUE OREGON INVADERS

College of Idaho Wins 20 to 0 Victory Over LaGrande Normal Team

CALDWELL, Oct. 13 (AP)—A smooth, slashing attack that netted gain after gain through the center of the line ended a perfect game last night in Caldwell stadium with the College of Idaho Coyotes on the heavy end of a 20-0 score. And the Eastern Oregon Normal eleven, who held the Coyotes to a 0-0 tie last year, were down to their last man.

Two scoring threats were nullified by the common-sense game-plan of Smith and Tebet. Once the ball was placed on the 2-yard line only to be forced back by a penalty.

With neither machine able to consistently engage to score in the first half, Dietrich mixed power plays and aerial attempts to break the ice in the third quarter. Richfield retaliated promptly when Huffington sprinted for a touchdown from a kickoff.

A strong line attack brought the winning touchdown in the final period.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

The man from the car fired four shots at close range, turned, jumped into his car and swung around the corner. Decker was the first to reach the body.

CHAPTER I

CRIME started into police headquarters and then slipped down into the press room in the basement with the unflagging regularity of dirty water draining through the waste pipe of a bathtub.

Charles Morden sat at his battered desk and held in his hand a telephone which was directly connected with The Blade.

"I've got another puzzle matching for you," he droned. "Editha both Green, 42, 5612 Boulder street, notified from Thirty-second avenue car line at Waters street. Half a block from the car two men who had been walking behind her rushed past and snatched her purse. The purse contained $7.42 in cash, some letters, a key ring with keys to her house, and a compact.

"Here's a funny one: A man who gave his name as John Smith, 48, 732 Maple avenue, driving a Chrysler roadster, license number 619812, arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. There was a check-up with him—this fellow the name of Mary Briggs, her age 22, and says she has a hitchhiker. She claims she was a hitchhiker that Smith picked up in the automobile a few minutes before his arrest. He had a minor traffic accident with a car driven by George Muller, 32, 419 Melrose street. The accident took place at the intersection of Webster and Broadway. Traffic Officer Carl Whetton was on duty at the corner. He smelled liquor on Smith's breath, started questioning him. Smith seemed anxious to get away. He had a wallet full of money and tried to bribe the officer. Whetton got suspicious. There was a report of a couple of men at station stop—this one I don't think is a robbery, and incidentally a man and a woman drove up to the service station and the woman did the check-up. The pair had been driving a Chrysler roadster, so Whetton made an investigation."

"An officer appeared in the doorway and beckoned to Morden. Morden nodded his head, said into the transmitter, "Just a second, something's up."

Morden hung up the telephone and bounded into the corridor, where the officer passed him a written memo.

"This just came in," he said. "Morden glanced through the memo and gave a low whistle. He picked one or two questions, jotted down notes, then rushed back to the telephone and picked up the receiver.

"Looker like a murder case," he said. "Private detective killed by gangster. . . . All right, I'll hold the line."

There was an interval of silence, then Morden's eyes gleamed with enthusiasm. He said an appalling path along the edge of his glossy black hair, making certain that the waves were smoothed into place. His voice took on a tone of bantering invitation.

"Hello, hat, I wondered if you'd give me a tumble. Listen, cutie, I've found a swell new outfit place. They put on a good floor show. What do you say we toddle over and . . ."

Apparently his voice returned to its droning, bored monotone.

"Okay, Edward Shillingly, 65, 583 Monmouth building, at North and Central, unmarried, licensed as a private detective, shot at 10:15 by a gangster on Western avenue last night. A blue occupant, driving a Cadillac coupe, with the left fender dented, drove slowly along close to the curb. Thomas Decker, 48, 1542 Washington street, unmarried, was walking along the sidewalk. The car pulled in close to him, a man in the car snatched a gun, said, 'All right, you stink, here's where you get yours.' Decker, in a panic, started to run. The man called after him, 'Beg your pardon, buddy, I got the wrong guy.'

"The car got into motion, went on past Decker. He had a good look at it, he caught the license number. The tall light had been dented or else was dim. But he could see the dent on the left rear fender. It was a gray Cadillac coupe. The driver wore a white coat and a black slouch hat. Fifty yards down the street the car stopped. Shillingly was walking along the sidewalk. The man

HELP TWIN FALLS TO GET A PERMANENT CAMP OF COGS (Burley Herald)

A movement in on foot in Twin Falls to get a permanent Citizens Conservation Corps camp in the Burley National forest. Temporary camps have been located south of Twin Falls for the past two summers and a lot of fine work has been done, and a great deal more could be done if a permanent camp were established.

Burley and Camanche county people would do well to support the movement for a permanent camp because the Burley National forest, in most of the Burley National office, and when work in the Twin Falls end is completed the camp will naturally be moved into the Burley territory.

PRICES

WASHINGTON — Those in the know here think that President Roosevelt's promise of a "considerable increase in prices" is the most important news that has come out of the White House in months.

The casual way in which it was made heightened the tremendous implications behind it.

No one needed a spyglass to see that it meant the New Dealers are resuming a technique they dropped last spring. Until then they had all been practicing "higher prices" helped business. If consumers believe prices are going up, they will buy. And when a President promises higher prices, the consumers are very likely to take his word for it, especially when that President has all the powers Mr. Roosevelt now has to make his prophecy come true.

The growth and the price-baiting results of the NIRA were supposed to have been the cause of Mr. Roosevelt putting the price question in the "see-box" about six months ago.

The fact that he is bringing it out now is more than a hint that he is going to warm up the cold potatoes, and what is more important—that he will throw some more mud on the kettle.

PIG FAT

What kind of bird it will be is NOT hard to guess. It could be further gold speculation or silver devaluation. But it may be something funny about that. Decker's statement for the police doesn't indicate that he could be of very much help in convicting Lampson. The police figure he either knows something he didn't tell them or that he has some other reason for being frightened. It might be a good plan to get in touch with Griff and see if we can get a statement from him.

The receiver made squawking noises.

"Sure," Morden said. "I can get a good story out of John Smith and make a human interest yarn out of the hitch-hiker who was picked up for a ride and found himself under arrest. She isn't hard on the eyes. She'd make a good picture and is the type that will sell on the edge of a desk and show plenty of legs. Too bad we haven't got time for a photo-grapher down here in time to enter the first edition. But we might shoot her for a good follow-up yarn. . . . Sure, John Smith is a phony, but the officers are going to find out who he is before they turn him loose. They haven't got anything else, but they haven't got anything with the description of the service station, stick-up—not when they get a good look at him. They're going to hold him until one of the men comes in from the service station, to see if he can identify the girl, but they haven't got anything about Smith. He's had a couple of drinks, but he's not intoxicated. . . . Okay, I'll hunt in and get you some stuff for a human interest article. . . . Yeah, I know. I can get it in 10 minutes. I got want you'd better send a photographer down right away. . . . Okay, I'll call you back in seven minutes—10 at the latest."

Morden slid the receiver back to place, lit a cigaret and snatched up the press room, down a corridor filled with state files and pushed open a door marked Detective Bureau.

A YEAR OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

The Civilian Conservation Corps has been in existence now for nearly a year and a half, and a glance at its record is instructive.

In this district, the one camp at Porcupine springs, which closed Oct. 3 brought to an end a successful season's work. The personnel numbered 212 men and boys from southern Idaho. They had been stationed there since May 12 and during the period devoted about 90 per cent of their effort to the building of the Rogerson-Wells road.

Other work performed at the camp included camp ground development, telephone repairs, cultural operations among stands of timber, and fire-proofing of roadside strips.

A report says that two springs have been developed for the use of campers, and four other camp sites have been cleared. Two of these, according to S. S. Stewart, supervisor, afford an exceptional view of the entire Twin Falls project.

A report from Director Fechner shows that for the country as a whole the corps has cost in all, $443,000,000. It has given jobs to 850,000 young men, has given $183,000,000 in relief money to their families, and has brought $256,000,000 to industry in the purchase of service and supplies.

In the national forests, fires have been held at a minimum. More than 34,000 miles of trails and 23,000 miles of timber breaks have been built. Harmful rodents have been fought by 7,000,000 acres of ground, and insect pests on 1,000,000 acres. More than 800,000 dams have been built for erosion control. A million forest acres have been cleared of brush; 150,000,000 trees have been planted in denuded areas.

More people should visit the scene of operations of the CCC.

It is probable they would come to the conclusion that the outfit is worth all its costs.

WEALTH AT ITS WORST

It is not often, luckily, that the courts are called upon to handle quite so dreary a mess as that presented currently by the effort of assorted relatives to decide who is to have the custody of little Glora Morgan Vanderbilt.

Here, drawn from the testimony of sworn witnesses, we get another variant on the old, sentimental-romantic story of the "poor little rich girl." And what a story it is!

Heiress to vast wealth though she is, this little girl seems to have had far less happiness than the ordinary child of poor parents gets. The whole case might have been designed purposely to point the old, hackneyed moral—money doesn't necessarily bring happiness.

But whatever pity the ordinary newspaper reader feels for this youngster is apt to be swallowed up in indignation at the tribe responsible for her plight. Heaven help the republic, if this case gives a fair cross-section of the ways of America's upper class.

EXPENSIVE DEFENSE

If naval technicians had not evolved their art to such a high degree of complicated and costly perfection, the price of building a first-rate battle fleet would be a great deal less than it is—and the economic argument for armament reduction would lose much of its force.

Construction was begun the other day at the Philadelphia navy yard of two new 1500-ton destroyers, the Cassin and the Shaw. Each boat will cost approximately $2,700,000 for hull and machinery.

Contrast that with bills that were incurred a generation ago, when the United States began to rebuild its fleet following the post-Civil War letdown. The Olympia, a heavy cruiser used as Admiral Dewey's flagship at Manila Bay, cost almost exactly what one of these new destroyers will cost.

In other words, the cost of building one of the lighter craft, which a first-rate navy must number by the dozen, is equal to the cost of a main unit of the fleet a generation ago. No wonder modern navies are expensive!

DIMMED TORCHLIGHTS

It is interesting to note that the earnest young Democrats of Hastings, Neb., were unable to hold the old-time torchlight parade they had planned—because they couldn't find anyone in town who knew how to make the old-time torches.

Interesting—because it exemplifies a sweeping change that has come over American politics.

There was a time, still within memory of an aging generation, when a political campaign without a torchlight parade just wasn't a campaign at all. People went to politics with an intense, nervous seriousness. Campaign processions were a sinister affair.

Now they can't even find anyone who knows how to make the torches!

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

The MOON TURNS ON ITS AXIS, BUT IT ALWAYS PRESENTS THE SAME SIDE TOWARD THE EARTH.

LUNG CAPACITY MEANS THE AMOUNT OF AIR THAT ONE CAN EXHALE AT ONE TIME, WHILE CAPACITY OF THE LUNGS MEANS THE TOTAL AMOUNT OF AIR THAT THE LUNGS WILL HOLD.

The MOUNT RUSHMORE MEMORIAL CARVING, Black Hills, South Dakota, IS BEING DONE MOSTLY BY BLASTING! THIS METHOD IS USED DOWN TO WITHIN AN INCH OF THE FINISHED SURFACE.

From the fact that the moon always shows the same side to the earth, it might be supposed that it does not turn on its axis. However, as the moon revolves about us we should see every part of it in succession, unless it rotates on its axis.
