NEW DEAL SEEKS WIDER SECURITY, ROOSEVELT SAYS

Care for 'Forgotten People' First Goal, President Tells Veterans

HINTS AT BONUS DELAY

Asks Ex-Service Men to Put Demands in Background For Present

By FREDERICK A. STORM ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—Security for the "forgotten people" of the nation is the foremost aim of the New Deal, President Roosevelt said here today, in calling on the country's war veterans to "put first things first."

In a speech at dedication of the new $1,700,000 veterans' hospital he revived the issue of the "forgotten men" stoutly urged veterans to subordinate their demands for further aid, and at the same time assured business that relief expenditures must not jeopardize "the good credit of the government."

Broader Policy He viewed the new Roanoke hospital as "a symbol of the broader policy that the government is seeking to give to war veterans, and also to hundreds of thousands of other citizens—men and women and children who, handicapped by environment or by circumstance, lack today what responsible people call the essentials of modern civilization."

Must Watch Credit "It must remain our constant objective to eliminate the causes of unemployment," he said, "it will cost money to do this. In the spending of this money we must have due regard for the good credit of the government."

He mentioned once upon a time that we were first to care for the disabled, the sick, the destitute and the starving in (Continued on Page 2, Column 3)

When Death Came Swiftly to Assassin of Monarch

A sailor had just finished down, the hit plainly visible in the assassin's hand, and the assassin of King Alexander I of Yugo-Slavia was reeling, to guard his head, when the cameraman snapped this picture. Inside the royal car, shown behind in a Marcellus street, the king had slumped back, dying. In the rear seat, beside Foreign Minister Louis Barthelemy, the king's wife, also mortally wounded. At the right can be seen the crowd, straining at the rope barriers which held them back from the route of the king's car.

Clark Brands Beet Attack as 'Hobgoblin' Scare by Old Deal

SUGAR ACREAGE BATTLE CLEARS

Wallace Assistant Tells Pope Idaho Growers Can Plant Original Quotas

BOISE, Oct. 19 (AP)—Idaho's middle sugar beet acreage "reduction" problem today appeared to have been clarified, and the penny white fly, plague of all beet plants, was out of it all. The AAA sugar division was followed by the Amalgamated Sugar Company for an additional beet contract in California because the Idaho crop would not be sufficiently large to warrant operation of its Twin Falls plant, General Manager H. A. Henning of the company said in a formal statement at Ogden, Utah.

Further assurance that Idaho beet growers would be allowed to plant as many acres as granted originally in the AAA setup was telegraphed to Senator James P. Pope, D., Idaho, by J. D. Lacroix, assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

He assured the junior Idaho senator that there had been no change in the allotments and that growers would receive their benefit payments under provisions of the Jones-Costigan act.

Lacroix's explanation of the AAA consideration of the sugar company's petition for increased acreage in California, pointed out that the company could buy its beets wherever and from whom it chose.

CABINET EASES SPANISH CRISIS

MADRID, Oct. 19 (AP)—A cabinet crisis in Spain, which had threatened the formation of a government, has been averted, it was announced today.

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The German embassy today announced that the German government had decided to support the German candidate for the German presidency.

Scores Sugar Furore In Address at Buhl Meet

Branding the attacks of Senator Borah and others regarding a reported transfer of Idaho beet acreage allotment to California, an old deal "hobgoblin," D. Worth Clark, Democratic candidate for congress from the second congressional district, brought rounds of withering applause as he explained to an audience which packed the high school gymnasium here last night, that no move had ever been made to deprive Idaho growers of acreage, and that "a statement of an AAA representative at Pocatello had been given an incorrect stand by old deal politicians."

No Acreage Transfer He said there was to be no transfer of acreage from Twin Falls county and quoted Secretary Wallace to this effect. Rather, he said, the Amalgamated Sugar Company had decided not to operate the local factory, and simultaneously had determined to move a Utah plant to California, where the company hoped to secure an additional acreage allotment, without at all reducing the Idaho acreage allotment.

Clark's speech was one of several at Gov. C. Cox Ross, Franklin Girard, G. M. Mix, candidate for lieutenant governor, Harold J. Yocum, also speaking on the program. Yeaman introduced Clark. H. A. DeNeal was in charge of an entertainment program, and T. C. Johnson, Democratic county chairman, presided. County, legislative and judicial candidates were introduced.

Musical numbers were supplied by the New Deal club orchestra, in charge of D. J. Pierce, and Fred Munyon, Flier, entertained with tap dancing.

Discusses Relief Answering the question "How is the beet bill going to be paid?" Clark said there were two answers, the first of which was that growers not concerned, because who would have paid it had we gone along under the conditions which existed Mar. 1, 1932? It would have been paid in blood, not in money.

"The bill is going to be paid by the people who incurred it. They are the four per cent of the population who in their greed to acquire 65 per cent of the wealth of this country, have incurred it." (Continued on Page 2, Column 3)

CALIFORNIA DIGS OUT OF DEBRIS

Clearing Skion Choir Southern Area After Storm Taking Four Lives

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19 (AP)—Cleared by clearing skion, Southern California today dug itself from the debris left by a 36-hour storm that cost at least four lives and property damage estimated at $200,000.

While property damage was slight in most urban centers, flood waters in the Montrose-La Graciosa foothill area left a cony of wrecked houses and roads as they receded. More than a hundred families in this district, and in one section of Long Beach, were still homeless.

Body Recovered The body of Donald Butterworth, 9, was recovered a mile below the spot where he fell into a storm drain. Three traffic fatalities in San Bernardino county were attributed directly to the storm.

In addition, Leo de Jean, 25, of Montrose was missing and searching for him dead in the tons of silt that half-buried his home. The rainfall, ranging downward from five inches in the San Bernardino mountains, varied throughout the state, causing damage to agricultural crops, experts estimated. Little rain had fallen since January.

FREIGHT RISES WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Association of American Railroads announced today that carloadings of revenue freight for the month ended Oct. 15 totaled 2,049,000, an increase of 4,821 over the previous week—but a reduction of 35,041 below the corresponding week in 1933.

$800,000 BAZAR—TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 19 (AP)—Losses amount beyond the $300,000 mark in a spectacular blaze which swept the Clear Fir Lumber Co. plant at Day Island, last night, first department officials said today.

YOUTH RELEASED BY KIDNAP GANG

Family Celebrates Return of Louis Esposito Without Ransom Payment

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—The family of Louis Esposito, 25, and the neighbors celebrated until daylight today his safe return from kidnapers who had held him since Monday night for $20,000 ransom. Louis returned to his home in the Bronx last night, saying he had been released without payment of ransom. He was driven up to the house in the automobile of a friend.

Leutenant of Detective Thomas Sullivan, who had been in the house by different members of the family, were invited to the party. Louis' father, Anthony, said to a wealthy aunt, "I am glad that the boy is home, but I am glad that he did not pay the ransom."

Object of Hunt

Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., accused kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Stoll, Louisville society belle, was the object of search in at least half the nation today, largest manhunt since the Dillinger chase. Robinson, Jr., his wife in custody and his father released on bail, is declared to be fleeing with $10,500 of the Stoll ransom money.

RELIEF BOOST IS PREDICTED VITAL

Stopping Up of Program Seen as Necessary to Prevent Violent Outbreaks

By LYLE C. WILSON (Copyright, 1934, United Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Emergency unemployment relief must be stepped up to meet a cold weather destitution peak and prevent violence in the United States, this writer, responsible official, believed today.

Conviction that violence would accompany failure to care for the destitute is based on the opinion that many people, who are suffering and perhaps about to be exposed to large numbers, potentialities of violence are no different this winter than last.

Before relief plans are in final form a major decision must be made regarding pay scales on construction projects financed with government funds, and for the emergency unemployment relief program.

This wage policy is questioned by at least one of President Roosevelt's principal emergency relief advisers. United Press inquiry revealed this disclaimer believes maximum employment from emergency construction spending should be sought by reducing wages below established union scales, although not below subsistence levels. That would spread work. It also would encourage organized labor.

Prof. William A. Green of the A. F. of L. rejected such a suggestion three months ago in connection with housing administration projects.

Labor believes that policy would reduce wage levels generally.

Relief Head Blasts CWA Return Hints

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins today definitely dismissed reports that there would be a return to the CWA this winter.

"We are going to run a relief organization," he said. "I have previously expressed dissatisfaction with results obtained from the winter's CWA plan, but it was indicated that grade crossing elimination work might form a major part of the work program this winter, since Hopkins has been in frequent communication with railroad executives."

FIFTEEN STATES JOIN CHASE FOR STOLL KIDNAPER

Arrest 'Possible' Within Hours, U. S. Agents Say

Web of Police Guards Ohio Roads After Glimpse of Robinson Is Reported

BY WINTHROP LYMAN LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19 (AP)—Federal agents and police of fifteen states, trailing the kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Stoll, threw a net over half the country today in the greatest man hunt since John Dillinger terrorized the midwest. A director of the search here said that new clues to the trail of Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., former insane asylum inmate sought for the crime, made it "possible" that he will be arrested within hours.

Investigators were certain that Robinson was in Springfield, O., yesterday morning. With a web of police and sheriff's officers spread over every highway in the state they believed he still is in that vicinity.

Agents of the federal bureau of investigation hurried to Russellville, to investigate a report that Robinson stopped in a restaurant there late last night. Russellville is about 70 miles south of Springfield, within a few hours' driving distance of a half-dozen bridges over the Ohio river into Kentucky.

The search in Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania was directed by Melvin Purvis, the Chicago chief of federal agents who led Dillinger into a death trap.

East Is Alert Police of seven eastern states were ordered to watch for a small, dark coupe with an Indiana license. As far west as Chicago, the search grew in intensity, while men working under direct orders from Washington looked out for a public elixir in Cincinnati, Nashville, Memphis, Louisville, Indianapolis, Peoria and Detroit.

Find $5 Bill Most hopeful development of the pursuit, in the estimation of Harold L. Nathan, assistant director of the federal bureau of investigation, was discovery in Springfield of a $5 bill included in the ransom, paid by Berry V. Stoll, millionaire husband of the socially prominent victim.

Robinson's wife, Frances, held in Louisville under $20,000 bond as an accomplice, said she gave him $500 of her own money in exchange for an equal amount from the ransom paid.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 19 (AP)—Attorney General J. Carrion Loar today denied advising Mrs. Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., to cash from Nashville to Indianapolis a $50,000 ransom paid for release of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, Louisville. "I never saw or talked with Mrs. Robinson in my life," Loar said. "All my connections with case were for the purpose of filing federal authorities."

Loar admitted contact as conference with Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., and J. C. McLaughlin, Louisville attorney, in previous hearings, in regard to the case. WILL ROGERS says: "There must not be such a thing in this country as what you would call an 'amateur.' Every person that is caught in some terrible crime you find where he has been 'paroled, pardoned and pampered' by every jail or insane asylum in the country. Some of these criminals' records and the places they have been freed from are so long that they would fill a book."

Regarding those who had interested themselves in the "sugar scare" in this state, he said George T. Cobbley, Blackfoot, state president of the Beet Growers' association, in Republican candidate for the state senate from Blaine County and that K. G. Barlow, Turley, vice president of the growers' group, in Howland state senatorial candidate on the Republican ticket.

Governor Ross censured his previous statements that taxes for the state had been reduced from $2,500,000 in 1927-28 to $1,250,000 for 1934, and challenged his Republican opponent to improve the figures, offering to withdraw from the campaign if they were found untrue.

Cited Economies Girard pointed out the economies which had been effected by the present state administration, and praised the accomplishments of the New Deal. He said that only four banks had failed in the United States since the Roosevelt administration went into power, in contrast with the failure of 7,000 banks under the previous administration.

Answering a remark Senator Borah made here Wednesday night regarding Ross' travels "in a car, which I do not know who owns," Girard said that "it was not car No. 212," referring to a state-owned machine used by a Republican candidate for governor four years ago.

Mix predicted that Democratic majorities would be returned from west northern Idaho counties.

CARLETON KENDRICK

BEGIN HERE TODAY CHARLES MOHRE, reporter for The Blade, telephoned the newsroom...

Mrs. Cathay tapped lightly with gloved knuckles.

He made that quick biting motion with her teeth and lower lip. "You're making it very hard for me," she said.

Mrs. Cathay stopped lightly to the running board. Hecker didn't bother with the formality of assisting her to enter the car but, when she had entered, dropped the cushions beside her.

"When we fight, we fight. We use every weapon that we can get our hands on." "Do you," she asked, "think that it's fair to hit below the belt?"

Mrs. Cathay's face remained expressionless but the shoulders of her coat rose and fell as she heaved a deep sigh. Hecker held the door open for her.

HECKER'S face remained cool and expressionless. Her tone was blunt and that. "No," she said. "I don't want to talk with him."

Hecker's eyes flashed to the man's face. It was a handsome face and there was something ruthless about it, the arrogant pride of one who is only too conscious of his power.

Advertisement for Women in Politics. Text: 'Since women began to take an active interest in politics, forty years ago, there has been a continued and wide-spread discussion of their influence in political campaigns. Opinions may differ, but there is no gainsaying the fact that women have rendered a splendid service to the nation in getting out the vote. Perhaps because the franchise was a new institution to them, it was beyond the understanding of the women that everybody did not take advantage of their right to vote. In the west, the first result of the enfranchisement of women was an increase in the number of men voters. The women expected them to do their duty, and men are apt to live up to the best that women expect of them. After the adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment in 1920, the first widespread movement on the part of women was to get out the vote, and they are still at the task. There are approximately 73,000,000 persons of voting age in the United States and less than 40,000,000 went to the polls in 1932. The women are determined to get out this "slacker" vote of nearly 50 per cent. They believe that, when the issue is the defeat of the depression, poverty and hunger, it is no time for neutrals and fence-sitters. They believe that when casting a vote is apt to be the most a citizen can do, it is certainly the very least any citizen should do. Even before women were fully enfranchised, the Democratic National Committee in 1918 added them to its own number, urging states where women then had the vote to perfect their party organizations on a 50-50 basis—a committeewoman for every committeeman. It soon became evident that women were as successful as men in canvassing their precincts and prevailing upon indifferent persons to register and vote. In many sections, the precinct committeewoman has become the main reliance of the party for copying of registration and getting out the vote on election day. For the important never-to-be-forgotten women say, is that elections are won—or lost by the finest unit of the government, the precinct of the party, and of the country, the precinct committeewoman and commit-

Attractive Dance Is First Winter Event

A successful opening of a season that promises much of gaiety was the attractive dance at which Mr. and Mrs. Oliver P. Duval, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McD. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Hodgkin and Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Bates entertained last evening at Radioland. Guests formed a congenial group in which younger and members mingled harmoniously with prominent older couples. One hundred couples attended. Colorful and smart were the gowns worn by both hostesses and guests. Mrs. Duval chose a frock of blue and silver material. The skirt was tiered and the low neckline was marked with a velvet bow in a richer shade of blue. Mrs. Johnston's gown was of yellow velvet. The ruffled skirt was slightly fuller at the back to simulate a train. Mrs. Hodgkin wore a sophisticated model of Hellian red tulle and Mrs. Bates an attractive gown of black crepe, the arm-eyes of which were outlined with silver taffeta bands.

Just as attractive were the gowns worn by a number of the guests. Featuring all the fashionable colors, a number of attractive necks were displayed in white and gold trimmings which were worn so much this season. Appropriate decorations in the hall added to the scene already made brilliant by the many color lights.

The refreshment table added another colorful note with its bowl of pink roses, its lace cloth and attractive silver appointments. Music was furnished by the rhythm kings.

Numerous small dinners before the dance added to the evening's gaiety, and several hostesses also provided an informal supper party late in the evening. Several non-hot dinners also preceded this outstanding social event.

I took a wild chance—gave my car the gun—while brakes screamed on all sides of me... how I managed to shoot through that closing gap I never will be able to explain. But I know this much, if my car hadn't had such wonderful pick-up—and if the gasoline had been any less responsive than the Super-SHELL I use—I never would have made it!"

(From an actual letter in Shell Oil Company files at Sacramento)

Why don't all gasolines perform alike?

Here's why:

No two gasolines are exactly the same. That's because there are all kinds of possible blends of these petroleum parts called "fractions."

Some fractions give quicker acceleration. Others increase mileage. Still others deliver steadier power on. But there are also acting "bottom fractions" or "gassy tops."

Seen Today

Many meetings on the north side of Main avenue, seldom attended. Days getting much shorter as the time for the Winter Solstice in December approaches. Advertising man, when he saw a person going around with the white space on his collar used to carry an advertiser's message. What with every conceivable thing being connected into a machine to advertise, the idea seemed reasonable in the daytime. Some of the old football fans making preparations for attending the big game of the intermountain district when the University of Oregon meets the University of Utah gridironmen at Salt Lake City a week from Saturday. New attempt, depicting a scene in Yosemite national park. An almost universal consensus that the placards are to be found in abundance and that the birds, this year, have been better than usual. Old car, with repainted fenders, and on each of the front ones, a small and crumpled woman visible through the coating of color.

EXPERT ADVISES FALL SPRINKLING

Autumn Is Poor Time to Drop Lawn, Shrub Watering, Bennett Says

Were trees and shrubs able to drop their leaves naturally for winter, they would not be killed by frost, says H. Bennett, horticulturist with the University of Idaho agricultural extension division.

Late fall is no time to stop watering, he explains, as most trees, shrubs, flowers, and even lawn grasses expect "wet feet" at this time of the year. This moisture is needed by the plants during their dormant or rest period. When it is lacking, plants and trees are apt to winter kill.

Freezing of that does not injure plants, Mr. Bennett adds, but alternate freezing and thawing does. Much winter injury, therefore, can be prevented by covering plants with leaves or straw after the ground is frozen, not before. The covering keeps the ground safely frozen until spring.

High School News

"I'll show you how to light an electric light with a match and then how it got again," W. R. Reed of the Junior Chamber of Commerce actually did this in the assembly yesterday with the aid of an "electric eye." When the match was lighted and the eye saw the light rays it closed an electric circuit that turned on a red light. The match was blown out, stopping the current, and the glow was turned off. Mr. Reed explained the "electric eye," its function, and how it is made. He announced that the Junior Chamber of Commerce had acquired the General Electric "House of Magic" for three days in the latter part of this month. It was also announced that if enough students would attend this show that school would be discontinued. After Mr. Reed's talk the assembly was turned over to the yell queen and her gang. The students were encouraged to accompany the team to Pocatello today and support its first invasion of a big ten gridiron.
