Bolters May Produce Woe For F. D. R.

Democrats Conceded Victory in Nov. 6 Balloting

BY LALE C. WILSON NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Democrats have the election won this date before the polls open but there is no assurance President Roosevelt will be able to control the congress which will be voted into office next Tuesday.

National surveys reveal New Deal prestige somewhat diminished but it still is sufficient to assume what will look like stream-roller majorities in house and senate. Democratic majority of two-thirds which will be present at the opening of the 74th congress, will be countered after Tuesday's polling.

Will Have Majority House Democrats now number 208 to 115 Republicans, 6 Farmers-Laborites and 7 Yuccanites. The Democrats could lose 18 votes and retain the two-thirds majority which, under present rules, is of prime necessity in imposing gag restrictions to speed legislation. A loss of 10 votes would give the Democrats a two-thirds count of 64 against 32 for the opposition.

But there is more prestige than utility in the big Democratic majorities which will be present at the 74th congress. The party is under heavy internal strain. Republican opposition will be almost powerless acting alone. But with assistance from Democratic hatters the Republicans may be able to cause serious trouble.

Radical Bloc In addition to the more conservative minded Democrats, mostly New Deal liberals, in the senate who may be expected to join the opposition from time to time on the Roosevelt reform program, there is a still larger Democratic bloc which will try to out-do the New Deal in so-called radical legislation.

Sen. Elmer Thomas, D., Okla., has spoken for the senate inflation bloc. He wants further currency reform, beginning with absolute government control of the federal reserve system. That would give the treasury control of credit in the United States.

Sen. Charles McNary, R., Ind., has called a strike at the colliery and a battle was fought at the entrance yesterday, the U. M. W. A. forces congregated inside the mine property before dawn.

They pulled the Anthracite pickets and being ordered by local police to disperse they started a march on the colliery, at the end of Main street.

At a signal the U. M. W. A. army charged. Teles and other missiles filled the air. The pickets had a supply of bricks and heavy clubs.

A wagon load of Nanticoke policemen rushed to the scene. Two officers got between the barrage of bricks. They drew their revolvers and threatened to shoot if the battle continued. They were finally forced to retreat, without firing a shot.

Paris Investigator Accusation That Germany Is Building War Machine

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP)—Specific allegations that Germany is rearming in violation of the Versailles treaty were investigated by the government today.

From Strasbourg, on the Rhine facing Germany, the military was informed that Germany had built military works in the Rhineland zone, which the Versailles treaty provided should be demilitarized.

Experts were detailed to study the reports. The reports came after a detailed article by Philippe Harros, in the newspaper Matin, that Germany had an army of formidable proportions.

Under the Versailles treaty, Germany is supposed to have seven infantry and three cavalry divisions and its army is limited to 100,000 men.

HISLOP ANSWERS PRODUCE DEBATE

Declares Law for Destruction Of Inferior Produce Is Vital Statute

Question of whether or not inferior produce should be placed on the market in competition with inspected and graded qualities, in presented in a statement issued today by T. George Hislop, of the Idaho Orchard company.

Commenting on an article appearing in an Idaho Falls newspaper which complained because an inspector employed by the federal government and the state of Idaho and sent from Boise at the request of Idaho Falls merchants, condemned and destroyed a truck load of inferior apples immediately shipped from the Twin Falls district, the newspaper suggests that the apples should have been given to the needy, and states that it was "regrettable" that they had when people were hungry.

"This looks reasonable on its face," says Hislop, "but suppose, instead of apples it had been potatoes with rotten spots on them shipped from Idaho Falls to some town where potatoes are not grown and where there are many hungry people in Idaho Falls and then would the Idaho Falls paper say 'It is undoubtedly, if it mentioned the matter at all, would say that the law under which the potatoes were confiscated was for the protection of Idaho Falls potato growers who had their cellars full of good potatoes that they couldn't sell for what it cost to produce them."

"If the apples in question had not been confiscated they would have gone into the Idaho Falls market in competition with Twin Falls apples that had been sorted, washed and graded and they of course would not have been fitted. The pure food laws, passed over 20 years ago, are like all statute laws for general application. No law was ever passed that did not apply to everybody, however some few individuals, however beneficial in its general application. The pure food law is most beneficial to all honest growers and makes of all kinds of food. It provides for the contamination and destruction of food which some chander is attempting, in violation of its provisions, to foist upon the public."

GRID MENU TESTS U. S., REGIONAL TITLE LEADERS

GADETS-ILLINOIS FRAY IS BANNER

Important Games Mark State In East, Midwest, Coast And South

By JACK ODDY

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Front runners for national and regional championships should stand out as clearly as game on a diamond cutter's table when the dust settles tonight after 30 quagmire regional bowls and five big intercollegiate games.

These encounters feature today's 217 games on the nation's tumultuous gridiron parade swing into the second half of the season. Many of the headline spots are additionally attractive because of traditional interest.

Illinois, the only member in which two major intercollegiate and interconference games will be staged in Chicago, Ill., where Army meets the Zippier's formidable Illinois eleven.

Five important battles feature competition for the national championship. Unbeaten Princeton, one of the strongest contenders, contests an Ivy-leagued rivalry with Harvard after a lapse of eight years.

Unbeaten Dartmouth attempts to secure its first victory over Yale in half a century. Syracuse seeks its best record against Cornell State. Unbeaten Georgetown takes a small but dangerous Richmond, and Pop Warner's ambitious Temple Owls square off against robust Holy Cross.

Interconference Tiffs Three important interconference games in the east pit Notre Dame and Pittsburgh; Tennessee and Furman; and Indiana State and powerful Washington and Lee. In addition, Ohio marches on West Virginia.

Secondary to the Army-Illinois clash in the Midwest are four Big Ten engagements in which members of Minnesota and Chicago will try to maintain their conference leadership. Minnesota, an outstanding candidate for the national title, meets Michigan and Chicago in a game which will be a test of the conference game plan.

Three games are slated in the southern conference: Maryland-Virginia, North Carolina State-Clemson, and South Carolina-Duke. A southern conference leader faces an outsider, Alabama Poly.

Two big conference games stand out in the Pacific coast: Stanford-Stanford and Washington-Oregon State. Outside, Santa Clara risks a perfect record against California.

FRICK HINTED AS LEAGUE'S CHIEF

Publicity Man May Be Heir Apparent as President of National League

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—"Frick" director of publicity for the National Baseball League, is most prominently mentioned as a successor to John A. Heydler, who resigned yesterday as president of the New York-based league.

It is the opinion of those who know Frick well that he will be appointed unless the club owners decide to obtain a "big name" man for the special position called for by the resignation of Heydler.

Heydler, president since 1915 and connected with the league for the past 40 years, resigned because of ill health. The resignation will take effect on Dec. 1. At the same time he will give up the office of secretary and treasurer, which office he held since 1907.

Unexpected Move The resignation, tendered at yesterday's meeting of the league's board of directors, was entirely unexpected. It was accepted with regret Thursday in New York, but has been in poor health for more than a year.

Although his resignation followed closely upon Heydler's recent public announcement that he had offered close surveillance on the pending terms in the closing stages of the present year to make certain that everything was on the level, both Heydler and the board of directors denied vigorously any connection.
