NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (UPI)—American voters today are electing a potentially radical congress. It will convene Jan. 3 and may drive big business and big banks to President Roosevelt in demands of legislation against:

1. Exorbitant relief and PWA expenditures.
2. Currency inflation in various forms.
3. Additional statutory privileges for labor's unions.

Expect Senate Gold

Democrats claimed some 33,000 voters are pulling up bigger, bolder and more moderation for the administration today. Postmaster General James A. Farley informed Mr. Roosevelt in a final report that the party would gain six senate seats. Democratic hope to hold home losses to 10.

Republicans expect some senate losses. But Chairman Henry P. Fletcher has made predictions of gains in the house. The top Republican club was at 70 seats—made up of the enlarged end.

President Hoover won in California that practically overwhelmed Democratic control of congress jeopardized American institutions.

Party Lines Scrambled

Party lines are scrambled in the first national polling since the New Deal assumed to power in 1932. New parties have emerged from political disorder and may by next polling time supplant the old. Confusion of party alignments prevents a satisfactory national referendum on Roosevelt administration social, monetary and regulatory policies and experiments.

But in the meantime, big-city house and senate Democratic majorities will be maintained in an off-year vote of confidence for Mr. Roosevelt.

A steady business upturn would allow any congressional bolt on money and most other issues. (Continued on Page 2, Column 4)

ARSON REFUTED IN SEA TRAGEDY

Report Declares Spontaneous
Combustion Started Fire
Killing 124

(Copyright, 1934, United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (UPI)—Spontaneous combustion—not communist bombs, arson plots or lightning—probably caused the Morro Castle tragedy. Dickerson N. Hoover, assistant director of the U. S. bureau of navigation and steamboat inspection, will say in his report this week.

The United Press learned today that Hoover had submitted his 117-page formal report to Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Tracy.

A copy of the report was rushed by a special agent to United States Attorney Martin Conroy of New York for study in connection with possible criminal proceedings in the tragedy, which took 124 lives.

The findings, it was learned, will advance the theories that the fire started from spontaneous combustion either in the hold, where bales and other commodities were stored, or in the famous library bookshelf, where testimony at hearings in New York developed that inflammable fluids and rags were kept.

Hoover's recommendations will include: It was learned, extension of present laws regarding steamship owners' liabilities to their passengers.

In addition, Hoover will recommend changes in regulations providing more adequate inspection service, improved life saving facilities, more rigid fireproof construction for ships, and personal physical examination for seamen.

Killed in Crash

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 6 (UPI)—Lieut. Col. Horace M. Hickam, 40, commander of the 3rd attack group of the army air force, and Capt. George, who was killed last night in which he was flying alone nose-down and crashed in a landing on the fort airdrome. Colonel Hickam was taken to a military hospital. His plane pronounced him dead on arrival.

Hunger Marchers Felled in Battle With Police

When the 200-odd New York City hunger marchers who planned a two-day convention in the state capital to formulate their demands for relief this winter reached Albany, police were on hand to turn them back. In the battle that ensued at the Hudson river bridge, the marchers lost, as is obvious from the picture above. Injured men are shown being helped into patrol wagons by their foes in the melee. Three went to the hospital, 20 went to jail.

ELEVEN INDICTED AT KANSAS CITY

Grand Jury Discharged After Bringing Counts Against
Adam Richetti

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 6 (UPI)—Eleven persons were under indictment today in connection with the unionization movement of 1933. Following voting last night of an indictment containing three counts against Adam Richetti, lieutenant of the late Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, a federal grand jury that investigated the case was discharged.

Richetti was indicted on counts of aiding in the attempted escape, conspiring to conceal and attempting to rescue a federal prisoner, and aiding and abetting the unionization movement.

But in the meantime, big-city house and senate Democratic majorities will be maintained in an off-year vote of confidence for Mr. Roosevelt.

IDAHOANS MAKING NEW DEAL, BORAH CHOICE AT POLLS

Register Verdict on Attacks Offered
By Senator

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Nov. 6 (UPI)—Idaho voters today made their choice between the New Deal and the political philosophy of Senator William E. Borah.

During the intensive six-week campaign, candidates of the two major parties met state by state in their chief subject for discussion. But underlying all platforms was the question:

"Do you approve of the New Deal?"

Ross for New Deal

Gov. C. Ben Ross, Democrat, seeking re-election, has used "Support Roosevelt" as his campaign slogan.

Frank L. Stephan, Republican candidate for governor, was endorsed by Senator Borah, spokesman for the party in Idaho and critic of the New Deal, which he believed favored monopoly.

The campaign for the two congressional seats in the state was overshadowed by the gubernatorial race.

While there is no senatorial race in Idaho this year, results of the election today may be a pointer in that contest in 1936.

May Oppose Borah

If Governor Ross polls a convincing vote, he will probably be the Democratic opposition offered Senator Borah two years hence when the individual senator must face the voters.

Heeding the challenge, governor, two congressmen and a host of state and county officials, Idaho voters will record their approval or disapproval of several offered amendments to the state constitution.

Most important of these is one which seeks to legalize the sale of "hard" liquor in the state. Sale of any beverage of greater than 3.2 alcohol content is still illegal in the state.

Wet Plank Favored

The amendment has been made an issue of the election. Political observers believe it will pass. A prohibition party has candidates listed on the ballot, but they are given little chance of receiving a sufficiently large number of votes to keep Idaho an "island in a sea of wet states."

Candidates of the Socialist and Communist parties, respectively, are also listed. It is believed they had little hope of any of their candidates being successful. Leaders of the group intimated they were continuing their efforts to plan for the next general election.

Nowhere else in the country has the wet plank been so strongly supported.

FERA MAPS CASH AID TO STUDENTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (UPI)—The federal emergency relief administration revealed today that it was prepared to extend financial aid to 40,341 needy students in 4,000 colleges and universities this fall.

The figures were based on total enrollment of students as of Oct. 25 and as such are preliminary.

Students will be employed in socially desirable work on and off the campus. Selection of students to receive aid will be from among those who could not afford or remain in college without this help.

Students will be permitted to earn up to $20 a month, but allotments to colleges will be made on the basis of $10 a month for each of 12 per cent of their enrollment of full-time students.

In addition, Hoover will recommend changes in regulations providing more adequate inspection service, improved life saving facil-

ties, more rigid fireproof construction for ships, and personal physical examination for seamen.

RATE OF COUNTY VOTE INCREASES IN FINAL HOURS

Frank Smith Predicts Record
Off-Year Figure After Slow Start

EXPECTS 8,000 AT POLLS

Ideal Weather Aids Turnout
Here for Balloting-on Varied Issues

Early reports brought to the Evening Times from widely separated precincts in the county indicated that Democratic candidates were leading in the count, which commenced shortly after the opening of the polls at 8 a. m.

With but a few hours remaining before the closing of election polls at 7 p. m., voters in Twin Falls and throughout the county and state increased in numbers late to day after getting off to a slow start this morning.

In practically every one of the seven Twin Falls precincts less than 200 votes had been cast up to noon at Washington Avenue voting place, while at No. 7, only 176 votes had been counted at 12:30 p. m.; while at No. 2 precinct, with polls at the court house, the count stood at 183 at noon.

First Minute Rush

It was predicted that the residents of Twin Falls county encouraged by ideal weather, heightened interest and appeals of both parties for a large vote would set a new off-year record. Frank E. Merriman, Republican, will win by at least 50,000.

No election in 20 years has stimulated the excitement surrounding Sinclair's proposal to end poverty by state-subsidized substance farms, by pensions to the old, infirm and blind, and by converting idle factories to the use of the unemployed on a co-operative partnership basis.

Considered a certain winner not less than a month ago, Sinclair had ground rapidly under bitter attack of partisans and non-partisan groups in the last few weeks. The Democratic national administration virtually deserted him, although it had repudiated his candidacy while supporting the rest of the ticket of running silent when a word of running for office would have given him a boost.

Mud-Slinging

It was a campaign of mud-slitting and name-calling. Even Merriman, who campaigned on a conservative platform of "constructive rehabilitation" and a plan for $51,000,000 unemployment and veterans aid bond issue, was drawn into bitter controversy over his proposal.

Merriman, dislodged at point of his shaft at Raymond Height Commonwealth Progressive candidate, but some struck at Sinclair with "gut-wrenching ideas."

Sinclair and Height struck back and then attacked each other.

Height, terming "Epic" a Frankenstinian beyond control of its creator, Sinclair and "Epic" will go on, regardless of the results.

No intense heat excitement as the polls opened that police department

Judge O. P. Duvall will be chairman of Twin Falls' Community Chest drive this year, according to a decision made last evening by the board of directors meeting in the Chamber of Commerce.

Judge M. J. Hines will continue his work of last year as publicity chairman for the drive, which will open Nov. 19.

The board appointed Leon A. Chaplin, L. Clos and R. S. Toffel, a budget committee, to study the budgeted apportionment of the member organizations and to apportion the funds among them.

Auditing Committee

W. M. Meach, Harry Eaton and Irene Williams received appointment as an auditing committee to go over the treasurer's books.

Kenneth Tipton, district supervisor of the ERA social service, and Raymond Craven of the Associated Charities, gave brief talk outlining the work done by their organizations.

EAST INTERSECTIONAL CARD, TOPPED BY SPARTANS-SYRACUSE

MICHIGAN STATE 7 TO 5 FAVORITE

Unbeaten Midwest Crew Holds Slight Edge on Undefeated Eastern Eleven

By JACK CUDY

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (UPI) — A grand inter-sectional struggle will be staged Saturday at Syracuse when Chetley Bachman's powerful Michigan State Spartan eleven slams into the strongest Syracuse university football team turned out during Via-Hansen's two-year reign.

Moors, Warmbier, Wagner and Co. from East Lansing will take the field favored at least 7 to 5 to shatter the perfect Syracuse record, although each outfit has elected off the same number of victories this season—five straight.

Spartans Favored

Bachman's huskies will be favored because their victims appeared the more robust: Grinnell, Michigan, Carnegie Tech, Manhattan and Marquette. Syracuse bowed over Clarkson, Cornell, Ohio Wesleyan, Brown and Penn State.

Regardless of the figures quoted, this fifth meeting between the two schools—with the standing deadlocked at two victories each—should develop into a smashing close fight.

Syracuse has a machine which in the answer to a coach's prayer. Dark-haired Hansen, who galloped to fame in an all-American end for the Orange, has been praying for just such an outfit ever since he succeeded Lou Andrus as in a minor ten to reach the peak; but he has been built up in abundance of power, speed and fight; a team backed by plenty of able reserves, and a team that escaped the injury jinx which dogged other Hansen elevens.

Staters Versatile

It must be mentioned at this point that Michigan State also demonstrated impressively its ability on terra firma or in the clouds. It is recalled that in the Michigan game, Bachman's boys completed six out of 13 passes while in vain the completed Hansen, who was an all-American player under Roche at Notre Dame in 1916, knew just what to do with speed and power, and seems to be doing it.

Strong Rice Team Puts Southwest on Grid Map

By STUART CAMERON • United Press Editor NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (UPI) — The southwest, whence to the front from in the current gridiron campaign and Andy Anderson of Houston's "Press" does the broadening:

"There is no public school in two respects. First, we do not have a publicity department. There isn't a public relations engineer, publicity director or even a press agent connected with the school. Second, there has the highest scholastic standards in the south."

"For instance, right after spring football practice they dropped a bombshell by expelling the star quarterback after finding a bit of gambling in him. It's no tough that you can't even look over a guy's shoulder to see what time it's Star Bell Curriers

"And getting back to All-American mention, those two heroes, Wallace and McCauley, certainly deserve some of it, so long as it is passed out."

"Personally, I don't think All-American mention makes you any better, but I do. I don't think it is worth anything at all because every one picks All-American teams. The man who delivers gifts to my house has one pieled and I know I am auto mechanic who is screwy about all anything teams."

"Don't forget Wallace and McCauley."

"So with those well chosen words, Anderson folds up his typewriter and steals away. And now you've heard about Rice."

NICK FIGHTS AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6 (UPI) — After we had been belling the news that Miley Walker, the Tex Bulldog, had quit the fight racket, here we again see his name in pugilistic news. The Mick has signed to fight Paul Primo, Cleveland battler, at the Arana here, Nov. 12.

Herr Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, has gone native on his German estate, even donning the traditional Bavarian costume to complete his role of country gentleman. As this picture was taken, he seemed to be enjoying the role. His blonde wife, Amy Ondra, is perched on the fence beside him.

STANFORD TEAM AT FULL POWER

Woody Adams Ready to Play Against Huskers; Phelan Outfit Limping

STANFORD, Calif., Nov. 6 (UPI) — The Stanford varsity will be at the full strength for the University of Washington game Saturday. Woody Adams, only regular troubled by injury, is ready to play 30 minutes, team-mates said today. Stanford in drilling on-pus defense in anticipation of an aerial barrage when the Huskies invade the Stanford bowl in the week-end's biggest game.

SEATTLE, Nov. 6 (UPI) — While reports from their opponent's camp indicate that the Stanforders are sound in limb and mind, the Huskies found misfortune in their football schedule, limping today after the Oregon State game. Coach Jim Phelan believes Haines, half-back, and Tony Burke, center, will not be able to play Saturday. Other injured are halfbacks Burl Birkin and Jimmy Cain.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 6 (UPI) — Five of Oregon State's first starting came out of the Washington game with severe injuries, a checkup and practice showed today. Frank Hellsten, Guard; Bill Tomashoff, end; and Ted Schmitz require medical treatment, while tackles Bentley and Brumba are bruised.

Levinsky Asks Unkissed Wife To Return Dog

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 (UPI) — If King Levinsky, the Maxwell street prize fighter, gets his dog back he'll be willing to kill his marriage just one of life's little mistakes.

IMPORTANT ELECTION

As the people go to the polls today and exercise their sovereign rights of franchise, it is well to speculate on the results.

Indications point to a sweeping victory for the Democratic aspirants, most of whom have already served in office two years or more. If this is true, the candidates of that party have a responsibility to perform greater than ever, and they should be able to perform it, for they have the experience, and certainly the campaign should have impressed the winners with the necessity for rendering the highest possible service to all the people at the greatest economy.

Idaho today is choosing a new congressman from the second district, and that will mark a new milestone in the history of state politics, for only two men have served in that position before. The voters are determining whether they will send to Washington, D. Worth Clark, who will work in harmony with the President, or one whose party and platform is opposed to the New Deal. They are deciding whether to continue the present state and county Democratic administrations, which have proved to be economical and efficient; and they are, for the first time, choosing a supreme court justice and district judges on the non-partisan basis.

The winners in today's contest will assume grave responsibilities, for the problems of recovery, of reconstruction, are still upon us.

It is to be hoped that the people today will have counseled with themselves and exercised the height of judgment to the end that they shall put in office the party and the officials who will be able to render the greatest good, for beyond party there is government to maintain.

Every man or woman who runs for office should be prepared for defeat at the outset, then there will be no bitterness, no disappointment. Is not always that the best persons are chosen for office for under the present system of party politics, individuals are lost in the success of parties and principles.

It is confidently believed that the people today are voting for a continuation of the recovery efforts of the Democratic party in nation, state and county.

The verdict will be known tomorrow. The results are important to every man and woman, for this reason, those who have not voted should do so before 7 p.m., casting their ballots for the candidates who will work most effectively for a continuation and administration of the New Deal which already has brought us thus far along the road to recovery.

The government is going to let anyone inspect your income figures next year. It has not yet decided whether or not it will furnish the microscopes.

A CHEERING BANK NOTE

Among the multiplying signs that economic recovery is actually in progress is the fact that accounts in New York state savings banks were, at the beginning of October, 145,000 greater in number than they were a year ago.

These figures come from the Savings Banks Association of the State of New York. They show a total of 5,861,000 savings accounts as of Oct. 1, with deposits of more than $5,000,000,000—an increase of $65,000,000 in the past year.

The significant thing about them is not so much the rise in the total sum on deposit as it is the increase in number of depositors. That increase is definite proof that New York state, at least, has more citizens able to put money in the bank now than it had a year ago.

Despite all the talk of poor business, things must have made a pretty strong improvement somewhere.

Sinclair opponents report a rush of unemployed to California, and not the kind California has welcomed for years, either.

THIS MAY HALT ABUSE

One of the best suggestions as to ways of stopping the abuse of pardons and paroles seems to have been the one proffered recently by Attorney-General Homer Cummings—that the names of all politicians who ask clemency or lenient treatment for criminals be made public.

It is very hard to think of any good reason why this policy should not be adopted—why, as a matter of fact, it should not be written into state and federal laws.

A man who asks a parole or a pardon for a criminal ought to be perfectly willing to have the fact published, if he has anything resembling a legitimate reason for making the request.

If he hasn't, of course, he will shy away from the publicity; and that might well result in a vast shrinking in the number of criminals improperly released from prison.

"man in Riverview," Griff said, "I didn't know him," she said. "What did he die of? Was he a friend of Father?"

"And then, of course," Griff went on, "Mother is dead."

"Oh, she is?" I knew that the newspaper reporter I read about him in the newspaper," I said. "Did you know him?" asked Griff.

"She shook her head. "Never saw him before?"

"No," she said. "Who?"

"We have reason to believe that he was here in the apartment the day he was murdered."

She looked at me with wide, startled eyes. She made a fist with her right hand and pressed it against her lips.

"Oh," she said in a suppressed voice.

"And you're certain you'd never seen him?" asked Griff.

"I'm certain," she said.

Griff stared searchingly at her face, now devoid of makeup, showed a puffy white. Her lips were thin and pale. Her eyes were dark with pain.

Griff's eyes gleamed steadily upon her lips.

"You?"

"Yes," Griff said. "I'm sorry I disturbed you, but I've got to ask you a few more questions."

"Come in," she said.

Griff entered the apartment. The windows were open and a slight wind whipped the lace curtains about. Alice Lorton went to the window, closed them, shivered slightly and dropped into an overstuffed chair, curling her feet up under her.

"What time is it?" she asked.

"Not very late," I told her. "Somewhere near midnight."

"I guess I'd just dropped off to sleep," she said and yawned.

Griff took a cigaret case from her pocket, extended it to her. She hesitated for a moment, then took a cigaret, Griff took one and held a match to the tip of the girl's cigaret.

"It couldn't have been," she said, "unless Esther had given it to him." Her confidence, he said casually.

"You knew Cathay was dead," of course?"

The words stiffened into rigid immobility. She remained perfectly still, the flame from the match blackening the paper tip of the cigaret. She did not inhale the smoke.

Griff watched her, narrow-eyed.

After a moment she sucked a deep inhalation and expelled a cloud of smoke, drew back from the flame of the match and settled down in the chair.

"Who?" she asked. "Is Cathay?"

BUSINESS WOMEN BEGIN DINNER SERIES

Judge O. P. Duvall, guest speaker at a dinner meeting of business and professional women's club last evening at the Park hotel, explained his program presented to the club, which will be carried on in the Idaho state constitution which they will affect. Other programs numbers were several selections by Mrs. O. P. Duvall and Mrs. W. H. Dwight. Mrs. W. E. Anderson accompanied Mrs. Duvall, who also played for Mrs. Dwight. Mrs. Genevieve Dwight, program chairman, introduced the performers.

Community singing, which opened the meeting, was led by Miss Flora Bower, and Mrs. Leonie Osborn, played piano accompaniment. Miss Dorothy, the undisputed Miss Idaho, was present. Other speakers were Mrs. Anna Hemphill, who gave complete membership reports for all the Twin Falls schools.

Community interested in home making were invited to attend an audience given by Miss Magdalena Clements at the home economics room at the high school today at 7:30 p.m.

LADY ELECTS NEW OFFICER STAFF

Neighbors of Woodcraft elected a new officer staff at their meeting last evening at the Old Folks Hall. Miss Violette Wyman was elected president; Mrs. Lillian Edwards, Mrs. Anna Johnson, vice-president; appointed Miss Isobel McWayne, Miss Ethel Newby, Shusterwood and Miss Myrtle Anderson to arrange the annual Christmas party.

Guests of the evening were the musclemen, Mrs. L. E. Hitler, Mrs. Reince Stevens, Mrs. J. E. Langendorfer and Mrs. Mary V. Norton, an old club member. Mrs. B. M. Wielert was introduced as a new member.

TWIN FALLS GIRL BRIDE OF KIMBERLY MAN

A simple ceremony performed Sunday morning in the study of the Lutheran church united in marriage Mr. and Dorothy Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. John Dohle, Kimberly. Rev. M. H. Ziegel read the service. Miss Lucille Meier, sister of the bride, and Edward Dohle, brother of the bridegroom, were attendants. The bride wore an attractive frock of midnight blue velvet. Only immediate relatives attended the ceremony.

A wedding luncheon was served at noon at the home of the bride's parents. A huge wedding cake centered the table, which was marked at either end with lighted tapers. Guests included the initial couple, John Dohle, Mrs. and Mrs. Otto Dohle, Jr., and family; Mr. and Mrs. Travin Boden, Mr. and Mrs. George Hettig, Mrs. Hatlie Crawford, Edward Erhart, Elizabeth and Doris Dohle, Lucille and Allen Meier.

The bride and bridegroom will make their home on a farm southwest of Twin Falls.

CAMP FIRE GUARDIANS OUTLINE PROJECT PLANS

Twin Falls Camp Fire Guardians association met yesterday afternoon at the Washington school. Mrs. G. Gordon Goldhawk, Buhl, who has had experience in Camp Fire in Chicago and has recently organized a group in her town, attended and told about her plans for the work in Buhl. Project plans, including spatter printing, count books and simple budgets were exhibited.

Two guardians reported that their groups had participated in gathering seeds for the ERA. The group voted to aid the nursery work by soliciting needed cooking utensils and cutlery.

EDWARD ERHART TAKES HOME BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Erhard have announced the marriage of their son, Edward V. Erhard, and Miss Mildred Lovejoy, Boise. The ceremony took place Sunday at the Baptist church in Elko, Nev. Rev. Mr. Allen read the service. The bride and bridegroom attended a wedding dinner at the Erhard home here Sunday evening. They will make their home at 335 Franklin street, Reno. Mr. Erhard is employed by the Ford Motor company in that city.

Marian & Martin Pattern

PERFECT FOR SATIN

Complete Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart Included.

PATTERN #183

Satin's certainly taking a great shine to crepe this year. It's been bucking it up in practically every move it makes. And where could you find a better design for a slimming black crepe-satin dress than in this graceful frock? Use the dull side of the fabric for the body and the shiny for the trimming. The soft double-jabot is stitched like the unusual shoulder yoke—just across the waist, with its straight seam up the back and its stitched placket down the front, do grand things for hips that are a little too full—and if you prefer, the sleeves may be made snug-fitting at the wrist instead of open. Pattern #183 may be ordered only in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 34 requires 4½ yards 80-inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for MARY MARTIAN MARY MARTIN PATTERN BOOK. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

THE FALL AND WINTER ISSUE OF THE MARY MARTIAN MARY MARTIN PATTERN BOOK is now off the press. It contains many new and delightful designs, all filled with stitching and easy-to-follow patterns for street and house dresses, blouses, skirts, lingerie, sports clothes, all the essentials of a smart outfit for a matron maiden or little child. PRICE OF BOOK: FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TO GO EITHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

effect that if election of the editor was returned to the students, an iterated request and strike against affiliation with the editor of their publication would be achieved.

Editor, Managing Editor:

William Phillips, who was named as editor of the new daily newspaper, the "Emerald," in the fall of 1933, had opposed Polk's editorializa-

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

THE FLYING GURNARD HAS BEEN KNOWN TO KNOCK SAILORS SENSELESS AS THEY STOOD ON THE DECK OF A SHIP.

The pike is a fish of many names . . . no less than 30 different names being given for it. In Wisconsin, it is most frequently known as pike, pickerel, snake, jack and great northern pike. The law there says every pickerel under 16 inches must be thrown back . . . and the maximum length of true pickerel there is only 12 inches!

NEW DEAL SEEKS SENATORIAL GAIN

Democrats Hope to Add Six More Seats in Nation's Upper Chamber

By H. O. THOMPSON
NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (UPI)—The New Dealer's week in today's election to add a half-dozen seats to the predominant Democratic majority which it won in the Republican nomination in the Senate during the last session of Congress.

Last minute prediction by Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee, spoke of anticipated gains which would give his party a two-thirds majority in the Senate and assure its control there for at least another six years.

New Deal Fight

The national alliance centering around the program of President Roosevelt, were joined in clearly earnest in several of the states where Senate seats were at stake.

During the closing weeks of the campaign Democratic efforts were centered in an effort to defeat Sen. David A. Reed, the handsome Pennsylvanian who has represented conservative Republicans in the Senate since 1922.

His Democratic opponent, Lt. Col. D. C. Farley, had directed a smashing campaign in his behalf. Republicans were confident, however, that Reed would survive the contest.

31 Contests

There are senatorial elections in 31 states. In three of them—California, Florida and Mississippi candidates were elected without opposition. The unsuccessful senators were, respectively, Illinois' W. Johnson, Park Trammell and Theodore G. Bilbo.

Malone, in his September election, defeated Frederick Hale Jr., to the Senate for another six-year term.

Farley's predictions were based upon confidence of success in six states and the possibility of picking up seats from a group of five other states. Democrats admit the possibility of defeat. In only one state, Wyoming, where Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney is seeking return to office.

Expect Bourbon Who

The six states Democrats expect to gain are Ohio, Missouri, West Virginia, New Jersey, New Mexico and Maryland. All were represented by Republicans in the last senate.

There is the possibility of Democratic triumph in Pennsylvania, Indiana, Rhode Island and Vermont. Republican incumbents are seeking re-election from those states.

Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, who deserted the Republican banner to form the progressive party in Wisconsin, was opposed but heartily by the Democratic high command.

Cutting in Doubt

A Republican who bolted Herbert Hoover in 1932, Ben Bronson of New Mexico, was opposed strongly by the Farley organization. His re-election was classified as doubtful.

Republicans who appeared most likely of defeat were Sen. Simon D. Franks, Ohio; George G. Patterson, Missouri; Henry D. Hatfield, West Virginia, and Hamilton E. Keen, New Jersey.

Democrats expressed confidence they were able to defeat Sen. Fredric G. Walcott, Connecticut; Esty Hobart, Rhode Island and perhaps seven Warren R. Austin in Vermont.

The make-up of the Senate in the last congress was 80 Democrats, 38 Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite.

SAYS HAUPTMANN EVIDENCE SCANTY

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 6 (UPI)— Clarence Darroch, criminal lawyer, asserted in an interview today that the state of New Jersey "does not have enough evidence" to convict Bruno Hauptmann on a charge of kidnapping the Lindbergh baby. He also predicted that Samuel Goldfuss would not be convicted, because of lack of evidence.

Brazil, with an area of 3,176,354 square miles, has a population of 30,000,000.

BRING FAMILY TREE TO FILMS

If family trees are any help in the Hollywood club, these Alabamians, twin debutantes should go high and far. Margaret and Mary Sage are in the film capital, determined to crash the pictures. They're daughters of Ira Sage III, construction firm head; granddaughters of the Southern Pacific railroad builder; granddaughters of Russell Sage, financial power of the 90s; and great-granddaughters of Eli Yale, founder of Yale University.

MRS. HAYES IS P.T.A. SPEAKER

John W. Hayes, president of the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers, was guest speaker last evening at a meeting of the Murray P.T.A. She spoke on "The Way a P.T.A. Affects the National Objective."

A project emphasized at last night's meeting is a drive for some sort of visual education in the schools, says Mrs. Hayes. Officers, committee chairmen and their representatives will hold a series of meetings Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. E. P. Browning.

BUHL

The Buhl service station, which has been operated by A. J. Amos for the past nine-and-a-half years, has recently been taken over by William G. Cox. Cox was acting postmaster for Buhl until the appointment of L. P. Runyon recently.

Henry Jess and Soren Jensen left Buhl Thursday afternoon for New York City. They have engaged passage on the steamship "The Homeric" and will leave New York on Aug. 8 on a visit to Denmark and Germany. Jensen is returning to Esbjerg, Denmark, after an absence of 22 years. Jess will visit relatives in Holstein, Germany. They plan to return to the United States in March.

Members of the freshman class of the Buhl high school were initiated Friday morning during a formal ceremony. Approximately 1,100 students accepted the freshman class into the tribe of the Buhl high school. Max Dorn Lacey, program chairman of the initiation ceremony, was in charge of the affair. She was assisted by Marcel Jones, Vivian Swiger, Gladys Parker, Bob Morgan and Lloyd Jones.

SOVIET IMPOSES FAMILY PENALTY

Relatives of "Deserters" Get Exile Under Application of Draught Law

MOSCOW, Nov. 6 (UPI)—The government has issued the first application of the Draught Law, under which the relatives of someone who "deserts" the Soviet Union shall suffer in place of the actual "deserter."

The military collegium of the supreme court pronounced the death sentence against Sergei Vorontsov, a young man, charged with deserting his ship at Gdynia, Poland, and returning to return.

It is not clear if he will be sent back to Russia, but he would be immediately arrested, his property would be confiscated and all his near relatives arrested.

FAMILY FACES EXILE

The sentence was pronounced under a decree of last June against "traitors and deserters." The decree provides that if a soldier or sailor "desertes," his immediate household of people living with or supported by him shall be deprived of all civil rights and be exiled to Siberia for two years. Presumably this fate awaits Vorontsov's family.

The supreme court also handed down a death sentence against Linnick Vassily, 26, station master at Omsk, for criminal negligence. He was held responsible for the wrecking of two freight trains. A signal operator at the station was sentenced to five years imprisonment and a switchman to three years.

Albert Prebrick Tashjian, 77, died at his home on Route 2, Twin Falls, at 3:10 a.m. today. He had been ill for 10 days with injuries received in a fall.

His only surviving relative is a sister, Mrs. Anna Setters, Kankakee, Ill. He was born May 3, 1857, in Armenia, and came to the United States when he was eight years old, and came to Twin Falls 10 years ago from Illinois.

The body rests at the White mortuary, where funeral arrangements are pending word from Mrs. Setters.

FAIRFIELD

Snow fell to the depth of four inches Friday night and continued through Saturday.

The freshman class of Canaan high school entertained members of the family and student body Friday evening. Various entertainments opened the evening, which was ended with games and dancing. Light refreshments were followed by a victory rally in honor of the champion of the football team who had defeated Dietrich last afternoon.

Another that will be held Saturday evening from the east of the white elephant, a religious order, with announcement of a far-flung campaign against all forms of elephantism.
