The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

W. CARLETON KENDRAKE
COLUMBIAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When CHARLES MORRIS, 37, was shot in the lobby of the Hotel Idaho, it was the first of a series of events that have been investigated by FRANK McINTOSH, famous "hot" writer and dramatist. MORRIS had been investigating the murder of FRANK McINTOSH, famous "hot" writer and dramatist, following the arrest of an impostor who claimed to be the man who had been shot by a girl called MARY McINTOSH.

On the day following MORRIS' death, CHARLES MORRIS, 37, was shot in the lobby of the Hotel Idaho, it was the first of a series of events that have been investigated by FRANK McINTOSH, famous "hot" writer and dramatist. MORRIS had been investigating the murder of FRANK McINTOSH, famous "hot" writer and dramatist, following the arrest of an impostor who claimed to be the man who had been shot by a girl called MARY McINTOSH.

How did you know who he was?

"I saw that he was registered in the hotel and I asked one of the bell boys if he knew Mr. Cathay. He said that he had taken him to his room and that he thought Mr. Cathay was in the dining room. He pointed him out to me."

Could you describe his appearance?

"He was a big man, about 47, and the girl with him was more than 20 years younger. She was a blond."

Can you describe Cathay any better than that?

"Why, no. That's the best description I can give you of him. I'd know him probably if I saw him again."

That was the first time you've seen him?

"Yes."

But you made no effort to speak with him?

"Certainly not. My appointment wasn't until 10 o'clock. I didn't wish to intrude. I gathered that Mr. Cathay had other business."

Yes, so you continued to wait in the lobby?

"I was waiting for someone there at the hotel and I waited in the lobby. At 10 o'clock Mr. Cathay didn't appear. I called his room. He didn't answer. I had him paged. There was no answer. I had him paged at intervals for more than an hour, until about midnight. Then I got discouraged."

Did you read The Blade on Tuesday morning?

"Yes, I read that he had been arrested, and then I read afterwards that it wasn't so. But that wasn't a hit-the-bull that was with him. That was the young woman who had dinner with him. They seemed to know each other quite well."

Did you see them come out again?

"Yes. I saw them go out of the hotel and get in a Chrysler roadster and drive away."

The woman must have had a hat and coat when she came down to the lobby, didn't she?

"Doubtless," Fancher told him. "I don't remember her very much about her. I noticed it was the same young woman, and that was all. I'm quite certain now that I think of it—she had on a long coat. I was more interested in Mr. Cathay."

But you still didn't say anything to him?

"No, of course not. My appointment was for 10 o'clock. He wouldn't have liked it if I had butted in ahead of that time and told him who I was."

Didn't it occur to you that perhaps Mr. Cathay might have intended to keep your appointment, but his agent prevented him from doing so?

"I thought so when I read The Blade the next morning," Fancher said, "but subsequently The Blade said it was mistaken and that Mr. Cathay wasn't the one who was arrested at all, but someone who had picked his pocket and was using his name."

You made no effort to communicate with Mr. Cathay afterwards?

"No, sir," said Fancher with dignity. "I did not. Mr. Cathay made the appointment, and he was the one to break it. I felt that it was up to him to get in touch with me. My business was very much to make someone a lot of money."

There was a what? look in the man's brown eyes.

Griff got to his feet and extended his hand.

"I wanted to talk with you," he said, "but not going to keep you here in the cold."

"Oh, it's warm in here. The furnace is on," Fancher said. "I wanted to ask you some questions."

"What questions?" Griff inquired.

"Oh, I don't know—just questions about how it happened that Mr. Cathay died; about what brings you down here to see me. You know we don't have very much to occupy us other than the daily routine of life here in Millvale."

"There isn't very much to tell," Griff said.

"Did The Blade ever find the person that was using Mr. Cathay's name?" Fancher asked.

"No, I'm sorry to say they haven't. It's been rather a difficult quest. We can't understand why anyone should have used his name. We can't understand what he expected to profit by doing so."

I presume, of course, he intended to cash a check later on at the hotel," Fancher said. "But what I can't understand is why the impostor should have chosen the Hillcrest hotel which was the place the real Mr. Cathay had chosen to meet me."

"As far as that's concerned," Griff said, "why should Cathay have neglected to keep his appointment with you?"

"I feel that Mr. Cathay probably changed his mind in regard to the desirability of the investment and simply failed to notify me," Fancher said. "Gentlemen who have business usually become exceedingly arrogant."

Griff nodded.

"You have a telephone?" he asked. "I may want to talk with you on long distance."

"I'm sorry," Fancher told him, "but the telephone has been temporarily disconnected. I can't be called. I'm very sorry."

(To Be Continued)

THE COUNTRY BENEFITS

The unprecedented vote given the candidates of the Democratic party throughout the nation, augurs well for the future.

It shows that the people approve the new order in politics and in government as exemplified by the first two years of the Roosevelt administration. This should lend encouragement to the leaders, demonstrating as it does, complete confidence in their ability.

The responsibility of the Democratic party is now greater than ever. This election has proved that there is a greater interest in government than ever before, and more reliance is being placed on the ability of government to improve the conditions in which man lives.

Under President Roosevelt it has been demonstrated that there is no need for the government to sit back and let nature run its course, in a depression, in a drought, in bank failures, or in other channels. The theory of the New Deal is that the government, as the instrument of the people, must serve human needs, must minister to the victims of misfortunes beyond their control, and be as concerned over the welfare of the forgotten man as over that of any other member of society.

In this theory, the New Deal is opposed for the most part by those who believe the old deal of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover is still the best.

By the votes of the majority the course for the next two years has been charted. As in all elections, most persons are willing to accept the verdict of the people with faith and confidence. In this instance there is the added satisfaction of knowing that at the head of the government is one with an understanding heart, a broad human sympathy and proved ability.

No one needs to fear the fact that the Democrats are in power to a greater extent than ever before in history, and to a greater degree, perhaps, than any other political party. They are fully capable of administering the trust reposed in them, and the people of the nation are assured of a continuation of government in the interest of all.

That is why the election spells further progress in recovery and a forward step in human happiness.

DOWN TO BUSINESS

The ambitious production program announced for next year by Henry Ford seems to foreshadow a healthy revival in the important automobile industry generally. It also looks like the actual beginning of the long-awaited pick-up in the capital goods industries.

For this program carries with it heavy expenditures on capital goods. Ford will pay freight bills of $74,000,000, for instance; he will spend $53,000,000 on steel in the open market; he will put $100,000,000 into the production of bodies, and $22,500,000 into the rubber industry.

Now it is certain that Ford is not going to go it alone on a program of this kind. If he spends at this rate, other auto companies will do likewise.

The result will be an extremely helpful stimulation of some of the great, basic industries without whose recovery we cannot regain a real prosperity.

CHEAPER POWER

The Federal Power Commission reports that more rate cuts for electric current consumers have been reported during the last year than in any other year on record.

This may be a reflection of the government's entrance into the power business, as in the Tennessee valley, or it may come from some other circumstance or set of circumstances.

The power commission refuses to say. But whatever the cause may be, it is evident that the consumer is getting a long-needed break—for which he should be exceedingly thankful.

The prices of most things we buy these days are going up. To find a broad field in which the trend is downward is encouraging.

Isn't it possible that this may eventually mean a new prosperity for the power companies, as well as a break for the consumers?

Ginger Rogers and Lew Ayres Plan Church Wedding With Elite Guests

(Copyright, 1934, United Press) HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9 (U.P.)—A church wedding will start off married life for "Ginger" Rogers and Lew Ayres next week.

The wedding will be next Wednesday. One hundred guests, including many of the elite of Hollywood, have been invited to the ceremony.

The young players, both of whom have been married before, set out today on a house-hunting expedition.

Ann Harding in facing the necessity of taking a six-month layoff. Puzzled by her illness, physicians finally concluded she is suffering from dehydration. Heat from the bright studio stage lights absorbed the water in her body to the point where she is threatened with a nervous breakdown, it was said.

Norma Shearer's enforced retirement to await the birth of her second child threatened today to tip up a $300,000 picture.

For 15 months her studio has employed a staff of age writers to whip "Marie Antoinette" into shape as a Shearer vehicle. The production is now up in the air and unless Mrs. Shearer is replaced, it will be shelved temporarily.

Growers Who Move Will Get No Benefits Under AAA Crop Program
Extension Agent C. W. Dughan announced today that growers who move to new land will not receive AAA benefits under the new crop program.
He explained that the basis for computing the base acreage in the land, not the production. Benefits will be paid such as usual producers only in the event that regularly allowed quotas are not met.
Other relevant factors of the program is that control program are: 1. $1 a ton has been set as the advance payment figure on an estimated 1934 production.
2. Final payment will be 25 cents per ton on estimated or actual 1934 production.
3. A refund on the 1933 crop due from preceding taxes collected will be made.
4. A deficiency payment will be made in 1935 if crop is so low as to warrant abandonment or because of drought or insect destruction.
5. The 1935 payment will be sufficiently large to give growers parity price.
6. All contracts are extended to 1936 a two-year payment and a possible deficiency payment will be made.

PROMOTION PLAN MAPPED IN CITY
New Program Will Be Told Merchants at Dinner Meeting Tuesday
Announcement of a business promotion plan for Twin Falls merchants will be revealed at a dinner meeting to be held at the Park hotel Tuesday evening. It was stated today by a committee made up of A. S. Gilbert, Pat Haula, Ralph E. Leighton and Harold H. Harvey, secretary of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.
Coopering in the program are both Chambers of Commerce and civic clubs. It is stated that no details of the proposal are being made at this time, but it is urged that all business institutions be represented at the banquet.
Committee members from various participating groups include: Chamber of Commerce; C. M. Tinker, Harvey Cason and Lloyd Lepp.
Junior Chamber of Commerce; Claude H. Detweiler, A. D. Bellamy and Lloyd Young.
Kiwanis Club; E. P. Robinson, E. Hollingsworth and John Hulch.
Magleum; Vay Hudson, Al Young and Walton Swain.

LEGION BRINGING CIRCUS TO CITY
This week-end will see "the circus coming to town," according to the American Legion committee. The club will present a program for the presentation all next week at Burns Park. Indoor circus at Legion Memorial hall.
Hailed as an all-professional organization, with no amateur talent, the circus will present a program of acts, including Farmer Burns and his troupe of trained razor-back pigs; the Hood sisters, acrobats; Bob Henry, celebrated tight-rope walker; and a variety of other acts.
Burns will open at 7 p. m. commencing Monday and the circus will start at 8:15 p. m. Entertainment will follow each night's performance.

Acquia Couple Get Complimentary Book
ACQUIA, Nov. 9 (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Seaman have received a book, "Big Brown Holes," written by Mrs. Ann Eliza Greenwood. The book was sent by the D. Appleton Century Publishing company, New York City, in appreciation of the assistance they gave the author by furnishing pictures of early day scenes of the project and hydrographs and trial incident to pioneer life.
Mrs. Greenwood taught one term of school in Acquia a number of years ago. She also lived on a farm near Hazelton, with her husband. Experiences and incidents of this time make up the back ground of her book.
She now lives in Salt Lake City.

AN OSTRICH CAN EAT ORANGES SO FAST THAT SIX CAN BE GOTTEN IN HIS BEAK AT ONE TIME!

The Glow-Worms That Are Seen Flashing Their Light in Flight Are All Males! The Females Cannot Fly.

Glow-worms are not flies or worms, but beetles. In midsummer, the males can be seen at night, flashing periodically as they fly. At the same time, the females crawl about on the ground and emit a light to attract their more frivolous partners.

VETS WILL SELL FORGET-ME-NOTS

D. A. V. Holds Annual Event Tomorrow for Benefit of Ex-Soldiers

Disabled American War Veterans will sponsor their annual sale of forget-me-nots in Twin Falls tomorrow. Each year this organization combats the sale throughout the country. Funds from the sale go to World War veterans who are suffering disabilities caused by their military service. In a statement the local chapter committee says:

"The D. A. V. is the only Veterans organization composed exclusively of men who were disabled by reason of their military service, which has ever been granted a charter of incorporation by act of congress. Its membership is restricted to those veterans who were wounded, maimed or disabled by reason of their active military service."

The slogan for the sale tomorrow is: "Come across for those who went across."

YOUTHFUL F. F. A. LEADER HONORED

Father and Son Banquet Here Celebrates Winner of National Awards

A father and son banquet followed by a congratulatory program last evening at the New Popover hotel honored Leonard Arrington, newly elected first vice president of the national Future Farmers of America convention. While at the convention and American Royal livestock show at Kansas City, where he received the vice presidency, Arrington was also awarded the American Farmer degree for outstanding Future Farmer activities.

His toast, "My Trip to the American Royal," was the featured event of the evening. Other members of the program were a talk on "Land and National Farm Cooperation," by W. H. Smith, superintendent of Twin Falls schools; talk "F. F. A. Activities," by H. Bond, high school principal; report "Value of Project Work," by Jim Grant, vice president of the local chapter; and a response by Harry Caples, board of audit, secretary of Twin Falls Future Farmers, acted as toastmaster.

SHADOWLAND TO HAVE S. L. BAND

Frank Cookson's Salt Lake City "Old Mill" orchestra is announced for the gala Armistice Monday night frolic at Shadowland, Kimberly. This is a farewell date for this orchestra, which is on its way back to Salt Lake City.

The Shadowland management has prepared a variety of entertainment including a grand finale and many special features for Monday night. A record breaking crowd is expected to attend.

Frank Cookson's orchestra is familiar to the people of this locality through the radio broadcasts which have been heard from KSL and other Columbia system stations for several years. The management says it is planning a program packed full of surprises for Monday night.

Former Resident of Burley Is Summoned

BURLEY, Nov. 8 (Special)—Word was received here Wednesday of the death of A. G. Shaden, former Burley resident, who died that day at his home in Willow, Calif., following an extended illness caused by cancer.

Mr. Shaden was well-known here and for several years was field manager for the Oakley Land and Water company. He was a member of the Atlantic Lodge, and an active worker in the Methodist church. Before coming to Burley, he lived in Twin Falls and later spent his last days in the commonwealth of California.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Beulah Shaden and Mrs. Esther Hule, all living at Willow.

My office will be closed until Nov. 15th, during present construction work. Temporary office, 211 3rd Ave. North, diagonally opposite city hall, with Mrs. Mary Gillette, telephone No. 1228, H. W. Wilson, M. D.—Adv.
