tributions, not taxes," was interpreted as meaning he favors employer-employee contributions to the insurance fund.

Organized labor, through President William Green of the American Federation of Labor was disappointed to find a sharp fight against the distribution system. Green has favored the payroll tax, a direct levy of from three to five per cent on employers.

The President's view is also in apparent conflict with that of Budget Administrator Harry L. Hopkins who urged by a thinly veiled reference that those who live on dividend "slices" be taxed on government notes.

ASKS CHANGE IN SCHOOL METHODS

Harvard Professor Says U. S. May Find Youth Devoid of Sense of Values

CLEVELAND (AP)—A generation of "integrated youngsters," devoid of a sense of values, is the direst American may expect. So says Harvard professor of education, Dr. William Ernest Hoeking, in a lecture at the Cleveland conference of educators.

Dr. Hoeking, professor of philosophy, spoke before more than 15,000 teachers gathered here for sessions of the Northwestern Ohio Teachers' Association.

Urges Changes

The school of the future must give first of all for the development of the emotional side of the child's mind and for the "serious business of building will and character," Dr. Hoeking said.

Teachers must give to their pupils two-thirds of the textbook now in use, since most of them are condensations of fact divorced from both action and feeling," he asserted.

"Bring children into contact with things of real value, such as you yourself enjoy. If you don't enjoy them, don't think you can expect your juniors. Great quality is apparent to minds of all ages."

HONESTY 1ST IN TEACHER SURVEY

Oregon Principals Tell Chief Factors Desired in High School Instructors

HALEM, Ore. (AP)—Honesty is the most essential character of a teacher, a poll of Oregon high school principals by Oregon Today yesterday showed.

Forty-three principals placed honesty first in necessary qualifications and dismissed church attendance as an important consideration. Habitual use of intoxicating liquor makes a person unfit to serve as a teacher, the report showed.

Essential Qualities

Qualities of good character, pleasant personality and a willing-ness to co-operate were listed as most essential for a teacher's success.

A committee reporting on high school selection and a willing-ness to co-operate were listed as most essential for a teacher's success.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world's armies are getting back to earth.

A recent French order that artillery men discard their colorful tunics, uniforms brought to the last major military power into the hands of those whose soldiers wear the uniforms, a National Geographic Society bulletin said. The French uniforms will be discarded.

LONDON WORRIES AT TRAFFIC JAM

Fears Increasing Difficulties Will Confront City in Ten Years

By JOSEPH CHING, Jr.

LONDON (AP)—Nightmare visions of London's traffic jangles during the next ten years conjured up by experts here are giving Londoners a bad attack of traffic blues.

Some of these prophetic depic-tions of the metropolis will be showed down to a one-mile-an-hour volume of taxis, trucks, private automobiles and elephants in 1945.

At the present time, in 1932, there were 108,079 motor vehicles in the London County Council area. Last year there were more than half a million.

Merry-go-Rounds

The big, L-shaped merry-go-round, which are the chief promoters of traffic conditions in London, show greater congestion every year. London's busiest roundabout at Hyde Park Corner now is jammed by 25,000 vehicles a day compared with 50,000 ten years ago. The number of vehicles passing Trafalgar Square daily has increased from 42,000 to 65,000 in the same period.

YANKEE PATENTS SHOW INCREASE

Number of Inventions Reveals Steady Growth Through All Parts of Nation

NEW YORK (AP)—Even the depression has failed to affect the number and high quality of American inventions. There has been an almost steady growth of the number of inventions and patents in the United States for more than a century, according to figures from the Patent Office today.

More patents have been granted to New Yorkers than to residents of any other state, with Illinois second, Ohio third, and Pennsylvania fourth.

American genius for patenting useful articles is widespread and every section of the country is represented in the archives of the Patent Office at Washington.

It is estimated that 80 per cent of the wealth of the country is derived from or involves patented articles. According to a survey carried out recently by the inventor's foundation here, a considerable part of the wealth earned by inventions fails to reach the original inventor.

CHONCHILL, Man, (AP)—The frozen Arctic has claimed another victim. He is Rev. Father Honor J. Brien, Hudson Bay missionary, who vanished in a blizzard near Chonchill, Inlet, Alaska, north of here. Two search parties were sent out, but returned without finding a trace of the priest.

His Curtalment

"Second, I would abandon false policy of making things scarce and thus artificially making things high priced. Producing less than millions out of work, or under the terms of labor and weekly earning power.

"Third, I would remove restrictions except as to child labor and a minimum wage, on production on farm and in factory, open the door for competition, all with the object of getting our factories back to work.

New Racket Bared In Next Roxy Tale

How police combat organized crime, including the burglary insurance racket, is one of the features of the new Columbia picture detective production, "City in Danger," which will be at Joe-K's Roxy tomorrow and Saturday.

The old-fashioned "rings" as a method of disposing of stolen goods has almost passed away; instead, modern jewel thieves employ a racket which nets them more than they could recover from the sale of the jewels through old-fashioned channels.

Learning which company has written the burglary insurance on the goods, through a crooked attorney they communicate with the jeweler on payment of a portion of the insured value. The insurance company, faced with a complete loss unless they comply, many times pay off the thief to secure the return of the property.

It is against the law, but nevertheless, it is done.

'Carolina' Showing Last Time Tonight

The Idaho theater presents for the last time tonight "Carolina," with Janet Grayson, Lionel Barrymore, Robert Young, Henrietta Cromman, Mona Barrie and Stepin Fetchak.

LIQUOR VIOLATOR DRAWS SENTENCE

Frank Lyette, 35, found guilty here yesterday by a jury in justice court of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, was sentenced by Justice Guy T. Swepe this afternoon to pay a fine of $250 and to spend 90 days in the county jail.

The full sentence is to be suspended upon payment of the fine.

Assisting Prosecutor C. W. Witham is in court with Paul Boyd, Ruhl attorney. The offense allegedly was committed at Duell Sunday. A woman companion of Lyette is being held under $500 bond for trial in district court on charges similar to those filed against him.

PUBLISHER CITES RECOVERY PLANS

Frank E. Gannett Proposes Seven-Point Program For U. S.

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—A seven-point program for recovery was announced by Frank E. Gannett, publisher of 18 newspapers, before his departure to study conditions in Europe.

"I feel would reduce prices by raising the price of gold and then adopting a workable monetary system that would give the dollar steady purchasing and debt paying power," he said.

His Curtalment

"Second, I would abandon false policy of making things scarce and thus artificially making things high priced. Producing less than millions out of work, or under the terms of labor and weekly earning power.

"Third, I would remove restrictions except as to child labor and a minimum wage, on production on farm and in factory, open the door for competition, all with the object of getting our factories back to work.

RESOLUTIONS HIT MUNITIONS SALE

GRAPEVINE, Ark., Nov. 17 (AP)—Resolutions recommending government control of munitions, raising the price of gold to $41.43 an ounce and opposing reduction of agricultural appropriations were passed up at National Orange convention headquarters today for presentation early next week.

The convention, in its second day, settled into routine with exception of the address of M. L. Whelan, assistant secretary of agriculture.

Five Hit Munitions

At least five of the resolutions demanded profits be taken out of war and passage of legislation for federal control of manufacture and the placing of an embargo on arms to other nations. They were submitted by Edwin King, Seattle, Wash.; George Schneider, Sacramento, Calif.; D. B. Anderson, Moore, S. D.; Raymond W. Gill, Portland, Ore., and George H. B. Gamble, Lansing, Mich.

The recommendation to increase further the gold price to its legal limit was submitted as a means of bringing about a decrease in the price of basic commodities.

PRINCESSES WILL BE BRIDESMAIDS

Royalty Will Attend Marriage For Wedding to Prince George of Britain

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret, indisputably the most beautiful of the Duke of Kent, Nov. 20.

They include five princesses. They are: Princess Juliana, of Holland, aged 25; Princess Irene, of Greece, aged 30; a cousin of Marina; Princess Catherine, of Greece, aged 21; Irene's sister; Grand Duchess Kyril, of Russia, aged 25, daughter of Grand Duke Alexis, emperor of the Russian throne; Princess Elizabeth of York, aged eight, the Duke of Kent's niece; Princess Eugenie, of Greece, aged 24, another cousin; Lady Irene, aged 14, a great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria, and Lady Mary Cambridge, aged ten, Maria's niece.

Princesses Elizabeth and Lady Mary Cambridge probably will act as bridesmaids.

Four bridesmaids regarding their duties are available. It is rumored, however, that they will wear white crepe woven with a delicate silver thread to make a perfect background for Princess Marina's amber bright gown.

Princess George's attendants have not been announced, but it is generally expected that the Prince of Wales will be best man, assisted by the Duke of York. The close friendship between Wales and the young bridegroom is well known.

For at least the last two years they have been everywhere, together.

ROYALTY TO SEE BRITISH WEDDING

Foreign Blue-Bloods, Accept Invitations to Attend At Westminster

LONDON (AP)—Invitations to the wedding of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina of Greece at Westminster Abbey, Nov. 20, have been accepted by nearly 25 members of foreign royal houses.

The royal guests, besides the king and queen of Denmark, include: Princess Paul of Yugoslavia and Queen of Yugoslavia, Princess Olga and Elizabeth; Count Torring, nephew of the queen-mother of Belgium; Prince George and Princess Maria of Greece; Prince Valdemar, Prince Mark, uncle of the king of Denmark, and the grand duke and duchess of Rumania.

Carl's Attendant

Prince Paul of Yugoslavia cannot attend the wedding, owing to his duties on the regency council, appointed after the assassination of King Alexander in October.

Most of the royal visitors will be the guests of the king and queen at Buckingham Palace, but several will be accommodated at Mayfair hotels.

Special precautions to safeguard the lives of this assembly of royalty are being taken by the British government. Scotland Yard has been watching all ports to prevent the entrance of possible assassins, and suspected persons, including members of the British aristocracy already in Britain also are being quietly, but steadily, rounded up.

On the day of the wedding, apart from the troops lining the route, the whole of London's police force will be on duty, and hundreds of plain-clothes men will circulate among the crowds.

Triple Shot

YORK, N. H. (AP)—R. J. Wells can do more with one shotgun charge than many Nimrod can accomplish with a whole box of shells. While hunting near Concord, N.H., Wells fired at two ducks flying low over the surface and was gratified when he saw he had brought down both. He was astonished, however, a second later to see a large jack rabbit leap from the bushes and fall over dead. He investigated and found part of the charge apparently passed between the birds, killing the rabbit.

PRISONER SEES BRIDE LODGED IN JAIL CELL

The bride of George Shelby Smith, colored, joined him in the county jail today, under sentence of 60 days for drunkenness.

After a week after the two were married by Justice H. M. Holler, the bridegroom became involved in a shooting with the sheriff, was given a jail term. The bride made frequent trips to visit George, but never intended taking up temporary residence in a cell similar to that occupied by her husband.

Yesterday she was picked up by police officers on the drunkennes charge, and today she has quarters in the "roof-guard" cell. The sentence was imposed by Justice Holler.

Smith, according to Sheriff E. P. Pifer, is due for release about a month ahead of his bride.

A new type of aluminum cylinder head now in use on many popular cars is said to add about 5 to 15 per cent in power and decrease fuel consumption by about 10 to 15 per cent.

FLAX SEED GAIN VIEWED ON WAY

Wisconsin Educator Declares Raising Prices Indicate Potential Profit

PLATEVILLE, Wis. (AP) - If flax seed is to be a profitable investment of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin, it is not in the hands of the flax seed raisers in the United States. "Never," he said, "has the country been in such a dire straits of flax seed as now. The depression has broken the flax seed market and has caused it to be in a hurry. Flax seed is all being one of the principal ingredients of paint, the demand will be great."

IRRIGATION SAVES TEXAS RICE CROP

Carrying of Water from 480 Miles Away Averts Heavy Loss for Growers

WHARTON, Tex. (AP) - Rice growers in this section of Texas are completing harvest of a 4,000,000-acre crop, which was saved by water brought 480 miles away.

The growers not resorted to land experiment in long-range irrigation. The crop would have been ruined by dry weather that prevailed several months ago.

In order to avert the impending loss, the rice growers and the Gulf Coast Water company have negotiated with the operators of Brownwood Dam to buy 14,000 acre feet of water for $10,000.

Dr. H. A. Axtell

When this section's impressive crop was undertaken, rice fields in Wharton, Matagorda and Colorado counties were suffering heavily from lack of water and drastic action was required. The water was pumped from Brownwood Dam to the area. The water was pumped from Brownwood Dam to the area. The water was pumped from Brownwood Dam to the area.

ICC REGULATION

Rail Co-ordinator Sees Strict Control Needed Over All U. S. Carriers

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP) Interested in the regulation of all carriers to end confusion in the nation's transportation system was made today in a broad program advocated by Joseph Eastman, federal transportation co-ordinator.

Under Eastman's plan a reorganized and expanded ICC would co-ordinate federal regulation with separate decisions for railroads, motor bus lines, airlines and other carriers. He outlined a four-point program in a speech before the National Industrial Traffic League.

Briefly, these were:

1. The best and cheapest method of transport should be secured for the country.
2. The nation should be protected against unnecessary duplication of service in transportation.
3. Safe, convenient and efficient service by responsible operators should be assured at all times.
4. Rates charged for transportation ought to be known by dependable, reasonable and relatively fair for all shippers.

FOUR KILLED IN NEW YORK FIRE

Wealthy Wool Dealer, Wife, Two Servants Die in Madison Blze

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP) Henry Russell Browne, wealthy wool merchant, his wife, and two servants were burned to death in a fire that destroyed the Browne mansion early today.

The fire was discovered at 5 a. m. after it was burning fiercely on all five floors of the mansion in the exclusive west 70th street district. The blaze was extinguished by a woman appeared at a top floor window, unharmed by roaring flames behind, screaming. She aroused neighbors who summoned the fire department.

Roaring Furnace

Fire trucks found the building a furnace. Dozens of fire hose poured water through the windows for a half hour before flames could enter. Browne's body was found on the third floor. The body of a woman was found on the top floor. Where the other two bodies were found was not known.

The servants, a man and a woman, were not immediately identified.

The fire apparently started under the flat top, swept up the stairway, and mushroomed out on every floor, trapping all the occupants before it was discovered.

Our navy has been estimated to have a value of $2,500,000,000; $1,000,000,000 of this is in shore property and the remainder in ships.

Recently, during lunch hour she noticed her faithful steed fighting with another horse. Helen Louise stepped between the kicking animals to attempt to quiet them. A hoof struck her. She died two hours later.

LAMSON BACK IN SAN JOSE'S JAIL

Young Intellectual Removed From San Quentin With Hope of Freedom

SAN JOSE, Calif., Nov. 14 (AP) David Lamson, young, Stanford intellectual, saved from the gallows by the state supreme court, was back today in Santa Clara county jail with a new and strong hope for freedom.

Quartered in the cell block from which a month last year dragged Thomas T. Lamson and Jack Hedden to bench them for the thirty-day playing of Bridge Hart, Lamson will await the decision of county authorities on whether he will be retried on charges of murder in the death of his wife, Althea Thorne Lamson.

Went Wait Long

District Attorney Fred Thomas indicated Lamson will not have to wait long to learn the county's decision in setting aside the death sentence imposed in the former Stanford press executive's first trial, the supreme court ruled that the circumstances were "in the case was not sufficient to justify conviction. Thomas argued that new evidence before proceeding with a retrial.

Thomas meanwhile, has a choice of two courses. He can arrange for a new trial or he can dismiss the charges against the disheveled playwright whose wife died in the bathroom of their campus home on Memorial day, 1933.

The state in the first trial charged that Lamson had struck and killed his wife with an iron pipe. The defense claimed she had fallen in the bathtub.

Just as Senator William Gibbs McAdoo and Mrs. McAdoo, recently divorced, were presenting to the marriage of their daughter Ellen to Rafael Lopez de Caceres, Spanish movie actor, they learned that the senator's son was to be divorced by Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo, Jr., shown above. She charges incompatibility.

IN NATIONAL FOREFRONT

Idaho, we are told, is given a rating of 1.210 when national distribution is taken into consideration. This is an account of its approximate population of half a million persons, contrasted with the 120 millions in the United States.

So, when it is necessary to compute the amount of relief funds to which the state is entitled, or the quota which the state should raise in a Red Cross or other drive, the fraction 1.210 applies to Idaho.

The judged by events the past week, this state occupies a position in the national councils greatly exceeding this miserable figure. When the President wanted a new head for the Federal Reserve Board, he picked, not a Wall Street financier, but a Utah-Idaho man, Marriner S. Eccles, former head of the chain of Laikes numerous right in this territory, and a man whose sympathies and knowledge is not only with the smaller banks and institutions, but with the West, and the intermountain country in particular. In addition, we now have the spectacle of Idaho's senior United States senator occupying the limelight again in his agitation over the distribution of relief funds and payment of the so-called soldier bonus, causing him to receive serious attention from Relief Administrator Hopkins and President Roosevelt himself.

Before the month is over, the state's junior senator, James P. Pope, will be back in Washington in time for the reopening of the munitions hearing, and again the Gem state will be in the nation's eye.

What's more, the palates of the country's people are now being satisfied with Idaho beans, Idaho potatoes and Idaho apples and pines. Idaho turkeys on Thanksgiving day will occupy the principal position on the nation's tables.

The state may rank 1.210 when the nation as a whole is considered. The products of its fields and political folds have given it a percentage out of all proportion to its population, and keeps the Gem of the Mountains very much in the national forefront.

UN-GERMAN ECONOMICS

One of the big problems facing the Nazi government in Germany these days seems to be the task of keeping retail prices from rising out of all proportion to consumers' income — and, also, of reconciling the people of Germany to such rises as cannot be prevented.

Dr. Carl Goerdeler mayor of Leipzig, has been appointed "price dictator" by Hitler, and has been given complete control over food prices. His position certainly is not enviable. The actions of the party that put him in power have made his task almost impossible.

In order to protect German agriculture, food tariffs have been put at unprecedentedly high rates. Natural laws of supply and demand would seem to make a hoist in living costs inevitable. Yet a Nazi newspaper remarks contemptuously that, "We National Socialists do not believe in economic laws" and the effort to blame rising prices on malicious profiteers is being pushed with vast energy.

Dr. Goerdeler's lot can hardly be a happy one. Not for that matter, can the lot of the German consumer.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15 (AP) — A. J. Egan, member of the New York legislature, has proposed a national advertising campaign in newspapers and other publications as a means of educating the public to a proper selection of securities.

HUEY LONG COLLECTS

When the football team of Louisiana State university went up to Nashville, Tenn., to play the Vanderbilt team, Senator Huey Long made it possible for the team's routers to go along by loaning $7 apiece to some 500 students.

Anyone who has ever had much experience with the attitude of college students toward small loans of this kind must have doubted that the Kingfish would ever see much of his money again. Just enter the Kingfish is an able debt collector, or the Louisiana State lads are a little more conscientious than their brethren on other campuses; for the loans are actually being repaid. The senator doubts that he will lose even $100.

A man who can loan $7 apiece to 500 college boys and get practically all of it back is nothing less than a genius at finance.

BALANCE

The situation apparently is not very general. So far it is confined to the payments of the New Deal and not the loans. At the White House and at the offices of some of the larger men there is an undue responsibility voted upon them by the electorate, and it is not clear why they are able to do all that the voters expect. These people seem to be more than competent to handle any unprecedented jangle of 1932.

TELEPHONES MARK RISE

For the 19th consecutive month, the Bell System has reported a gain in the number of telephones on its lines. The increase for the year, to date, is 260,000; for the month of October the gain is 33,200, as compared with a gain of 33,700 in October a year ago.

These figures can hardly indicate anything else than a definite and steady improvement in the financial status of a considerable mass of citizens. The man who orders a telephone installed in his home or his office is a man whose finances are getting better. A long-continued pick-up in telephone installations is pretty clear proof that somehow, somewhere, things are on the upgrade.

CASH IS PUZZLE TO FILM CHIEFS

They Can't Use American or Fake Money, so They Get Old Foreign Bills

By ALEXANDER KAHN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) Hollywood is the one place where United States money has no real value.

Face value, to the screen, means photographic value and while money may be earned, saved, spent, wanted, or squandered, it can't be photographed.

Every picture has at least one scene in which money is handled. As good money is not good for cinema purposes, so worthless money is perfect for the screen.

Foreign Money
To solve their problem the studios have large collections of bills from foreign countries that are worthless or obsolete. Most of some foreign country's monetary system collapsed, the studios quickly acquire stacks of bills.

Just as our government prohibits photographing our money so it bans foreign countries to cooperate in suppressing photographs of American money in their films.

By agreement, therefore, studios can't photograph money that has any value. However, a large collection of Russian, pre-Soviet money, German marks of the Empire's day, and others, serve the purpose.

On the stage faked money is used, but for the screen this looks what it is, fakes.

Coins, Too
The same restriction against photographing bills holds against coins. American or foreign coins never are seen on the screen. Metal slugs, dulled to more closely resemble used coins, are substituted and even the most keen-eyed of audiences cannot tell the difference.

There is only one time when real coins are used in pictures, that's when coins are inserted into telephone slots.

The usual slugs are too light for sound recording purposes, technicians discovered. So they use the real thing, but the camera never sees the coin. The eye may be fooled, but the ear demands the McCoy in coins.

JURY PONDERING 'CURE-ALL' CASE

Newest California Plan for Solving World's Ills Is Put Under Quiz

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California, birthplace of a wide array of "cure-alls," built a new theory today while the courts, at the request of the Better Business Bureau, investigated the International Institute of International Research and Administration.

The purpose of the organization, it was revealed, is to buy up the world's resources with funds derived from the nine-a-day contributions of members.

Meetings and other affairs were mysterious; officials were secretive, and the bureau wondered where the money was going. They asked a grand jury investigation.

Cited for Contempt
When Arthur L. Bell, the institute's mysterious "Mr. X," refused to answer questions at the grand jury inquisition, he was cited for contempt.

Testimony of Bell, who unaccountably addressed institute meetings, was introduced during the contempt hearing. The testimony, as presented to the grand jury, disclosed Bell received from a "man on a Pullman car" instructions for enlisting the institute's army of cutting work, preventing Communism and placing everyone in jobs with minimum salaries of $3,000 a year for a four-hour day. Bell said he did not know the man.

Judge Walter Perry Johnson said he would rule on the contempt charge into this month.

For next month's summer business should get a good growth in June.

Girl Artist Helps Earn Fame By Keeping Pig in Her Parlor

By MAIY McBRIDE

(NEA Section)
NEW YORK. Keeping a pig in the parlor of a conventional Manhattan apartment in one way to win social success in this topsy-turvy town, according to Ruth Carroll, artist.

Miss Carroll has kept not only a pig, but a gray Belgian hare, a chimpanzee, a prairie minkie and an Irish setter pig in her parlor, all photographed with the high purpose of art. The creature have served as models for the children's books she writes and draws, but also they have made her lean and thinner extremely popular. The pig was the most complicated of all the animals to get into the parlor, Miss Carroll declares. She brought it in a taxi from a pig farm in New Jersey. The pig cost four dollars but the taxicab cost ten. And the gold-buttoned door man at her apartment house was so suspicious of the wiggly gummy snout that she distracted it up in the elevator herself.

Well Treated
She taught the animal to eat milk-soaked bread and later human and canned corn. It had a daily bath and afterwards was sent to welcome all guests with its pitiable grunts. First it would thoughtfully untie the shoe strings of all the guests. Next, to show it didn't mean to nibble the ladies, it would root at their ankles with a hard, moist, sticking-wrecking pig.

When the book for which the pig posed as hero was finished, he was sent to the country and the Belgian hare arrived. The hare had a surprising love of orchestral symphonies played on the phonograph. When jazz strains filled the air, it would walk in a corner, turning sensitive, affronted ears away. But to Toscanini play, and with mounting excitement the hare would level round and round and weave in swift figure eights around two arm chairs.

Chimpanzee Smart
A four-year-old chimpanzee proved the most intelligent model of the Carroll lot.

"Only, who was embarrassing, because while I was studying her, I felt that she was studying me very closely," Miss Carroll asserts. "She was always inquisitive, and would examine my ears and my dress-hem with all the interest of a woman fingering goods on a bargain counter."

"One day she actually grabbed pencil and pad out of my hand and began to draw. I still have the highly representative sketch she made, apparently of me."

The prying mania Miss Carroll picked up on Sixth avenue, where it was moping on the sidewalks, drew her to a petting parlor where she was doing a work along the path became curious, stopped to inquire about the bug and finally found it a snug green retreat off the boardwalk.

Troublesome
The Irish setter, Miss Carroll adds, was her most obnoxious model. He was into everything, notably wet pellets, from which he trucked mixtures of red, green, blue and orange paints all over the studio floor. He also chewed up pencils, licked the hands of that stretched him and roared around so violently that drawing him was worse than drawing a whirlwind.

In time, however, he was transferred to canvas and from there to the pages of Miss Carroll's latest book, "Bounce and the Bunnie," a junior literary Guild selection.

The pretty, dark-eyed Miss Carroll was born upstate in New York and has lived in Manhattan most of her life. She was five when she decided to be an artist. Her first sitters were the cats and dogs of her neighborhood.

All 25 illustrations that collectors would not interfere with painting and enrolled at Vassar. During her junior year the Philadelphia Academy accepted one of her illustrations. The studio her graduation she has turned to children's books, pictures and text, and has a number of volumes, chiefly about animals, to her credit.

Her next model, she now plans, will be a young tiger cub.

Public luncheon in England took dinner for rural at a nominal charge of three to five cents, depending on size. The dainties, naturally, are supplied by the diner.

SALTED PEANUTS OFFER DILEMMA

English Judge Pondered Long to Decide Whether They're Candy or Food

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Liverpool's police court magistrate has just spent a puzzling quarter of an hour over a tough problem about a bag of salted peanuts.

The question he had to figure out was whether a salted peanut is candy, vegetable or fruit.

William Heath, owner of a candy store was charged with selling a bag of salted peanuts at 10:10 p. m., 40 minutes after the legal hour for the sale of any food except candy. He argued that salted peanuts were obviously candy and that he wasn't breaking the law in selling them.

The court got out the encyclopedia, dictionary, thesaurus and other books of reference, but could not find any enlightenment about salted peanuts.

Finally the magistrate gave it up. He declared, however, that in his opinion, whatever a salted peanut might be, it wasn't candy.

Heath was fined the the equivalent of $2.

MOVIE PLAYERS ENJOY READING

Intellectual Level of Screen Colony Shows Increasing Upward Trend

By ALEXANDER KAHN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) Hollywood movie players are enjoying reading more than ever before.

The intellectual level of motion picture actresses, by quoting Thelma Ritter as saying "There's nothing I love so much as curling up with a good book before a cozy camera."

The implication that movie stars thought of books only as props probably was true in the days of silent films when culture and acting ability were not as necessary as in present-day audible films.

With many of today's stars recruited from Little Theater movements, the intellectual level of the film colony has gone up. Many learned to enjoy reading plays from legitimate theater experience. Others feel a broad knowledge of life and affairs furnished the necessary background for true characterization.

Edith Barrymore, who reached Hollywood by way of Eva La Gallienne's Civic Repertory Theater, is considered one of the best read women in pictures. She leans toward biographies with periodic re-reading of classics.

Ruth Donnelly, whose father was a writer, reads much fiction as well as travel books and plays.

Alfred Economus, who is now a writer, reads much fiction as well as travel books and plays.

Edmund Lowe, one-time Santa Clara University instructor, takes a keen interest in works on political science and economics while Alfred Barrymore has a large collection of books on art.

Rosemary Ames enjoys readings the early history of California and at the slightest provocation will go into a recital on the death of de Anza, Father Serra and a host of others.

The proprietors of Hollywood's leading bookshops, and there are many, will tell you of movie stars who wait impatiently for important books, of which they have read advance announcements.

Reading, for many, is no pose in Hollywood.

Liberal Tribal Customs Give Women Full Rights on Property

KINSHLOW, Ariz. (AP) — Sex equality is not going to be any problem in government education for the Navajo-Indian Reservation.
