YOUNGER INSULL ADmits MARKING STOCK VALUE UP

Crown Prince of Once-Famous Empire Shouts Dastantly At Prosecutor

SAYS NO DECEIT MEANT

Testifies as Fluid Witness in Attempts of Defense to Disprove Fraud

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (UPI)—Samuel Insull, Jr., admitted in federal court today that stock which cost him and his father $10,000 was marked up to $5,000,000 in the forming of Insull-Utah Investment company.

The 34-year-old "crown prince" of the Insull empire, answering Assistant Attorney General Leslie Salter on cross examination, denied that there was any intention of deceiving the public, however.

The testimony of the younger Insull completed the case for Samuel Insull and his co-defendants, and the defense rested its case against charges of perpetrating a $443,000,000 swindle, as charged by the government.

Shouts Marked Up

The youthful "crown prince" of the Insull empire, shouting defiance to a bitter cross-examination, was the last witness for the defense.

District Attorney Dwight H. Green said the government's rebuttal testimony would be completed this afternoon. The case is expected to go to the jury the latter part of next week.

The government was prepared to enter its rebuttal evidence around the battery of expert accountants who testified previously in support of the charges of market "rigging" and deep financial intrigues.

In 1934 when Insull, Ben & Company was formed as an investment house, the father and son paid $10,000 for 1,000 shares of stock, young Insull said.

Shares Marked Up

Four years later when Insull Utilities Investment was organized the 1,000 shares were marked up to $600,000 and put on the new company books at $1,200,000, he continued.

AVIATORS DIE IN FLAMING PLANE

Government Mail Burned As Ship Crashed on Farm In Missouri

AMAZONIA, Mo., Nov. 16 (UPI)—Fog was blamed today for the airplane accident near here last night in which R. E. Billings, of Kansas City, the pilot, and H. C. Brasfield, manager of the St. Joseph, Mo., airport, lost their lives.

Transporters said the occupants of the plane were Pilot Horace Billings, understood to have been a former manager of the Boston airport, and a co-pilot of the Ford Air Lines, and H. C. Brasfield, manager of the St. Joseph, Mo., airport.

Aunt to Get Girl Heiress Temporarily

Final Custody Will Be Given Mother When She Offers Gloria Happiness

NOW YORK, Nov. 16 (UPI)—The hearing was held out to Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt today that she might regain custody of her 10-year-old daughter when she could provide a life that would ensure the child's happiness.

Judge John P. Carey, who heard the custody case, eventually plans for the mother to take Gloria. It was learned after much confusion over his statement that the girl was to have a new life. Plans for the transfer will be placed before the justice by counsel Monday.

Temporary Custody

Although there was no official explanation of Justice Carew's import, it was regarded as certain that Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, the child's aunt, would retain custody for the present. Then at such time as Mrs. Vanderbilt might fulfill the stipulations laid down by the court, the child would return to her mother.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's counsel privately had indicated his client would accept any conditions to recover Gloria. This interpretation of the case probably would result in a gradual transfer to the mother's custody.

Custodians Contested

George W. Whickerham and Thomas E. Gilchrist, legal custodians of the child's property, were consulted by counsel in the case at the direction of the justice. They will be a party in formulating the order of custody and the conditions Mrs. Vanderbilt must fulfill.

Judge Carew instructed all parties in the impending decision to remain silent until the final order had been entered and made official. However, it became known that the court intended to recognize the claim of Mrs. Whitney as well as that of Mrs. Vanderbilt.

LONG'S DICTATOR PROGRAM PASSES

Louisiana Solons Ram Through 44 Bills Giving Kingfish Wide Powers

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 16 (UPI)—In a two-hour session today the Louisiana legislature rammed through 44 bills giving Senator Huey P. Long's state administration more power and then adjourned almost all day.

The bills will be signed by his governor, O. K. Allen, and will become law in 20 days.

Long's newest coup, cleverly engineered behind a smoke screen of "poor man's laws," makes him the most powerful state figure in the United States.

Both houses assembled and approved:

Establishment of a state civil service commission headed by six Long state office holders acting in excess of capacity to control all municipal police and fire departments.

TAX FOR RELIEF LOOMS IN IDAHO

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 16 (UPI)—Idaho taxpayers will have to dig deeper into their pockets to pay off relief Gov. C. Ben Ross warned today.

He interpreted a recent announcement that states would have to make large contributions to FERA support as a prediction that the coming session of the Idaho legislature will have to find a new means of collecting taxes.

In making the prediction on high-speed Gov. Ross declared that if states fail to lend support to the FERA, they should have a greater voice in this administration.

He maintained that greater participation by states in selection of work to be done would make the federal relief program more efficient and of more permanent value to the states.

President Stops in Kentucky En Route to Inspect Giant Tennessee Valley Economic Experiment

BY FREDERICK A. STORM
HARRISBURG, Ky., Nov. 16 (UPI)—President Roosevelt today called on new pioneerism on the part of the nation to meet the challenge of a changing world.

Standing on historic ground hallowed by the sacrifices of the early settlers, the chief executive told an audience of thousands of rugged Kentuckians that "mere survival" depended upon cultivating such a spirit.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke in connection with the dedication of a memorial to George Rogers Clark, stopping for an hour en route to the Tennessee valley where he will inspect for three days the progress of the country's major experiment in economic and social planning.

"We have been told who we are today, pioneers of 1934," said "I mean everything that the word implies. We, too, in these bitter years throughout the length and breadth of the land have come to a realization of the pregnant fact our formerly established lives does not suffice to meet the perils and the problems which we are compelled to face. Again, mere survival calls for new pioneering on our part."

Citing the early-building by the early settlers, the president observed in contrast:

"U. S. Seeks Security
"We are carrying on, we shall carry on, the purpose of these men and women of Harrisburg. They were having out a commonwealth—and I like the word, 'commonwealth'! We, too, are having out a commonwealth—a commonwealth of the states which we hope will give the people more truly than any other nation the fulfillment of security, freedom, opportunity and of happiness which America asks and is entitled to receive."

In her later years, Alice was a frail old lady, living with her memories of Charlotte Dodgson (Lewis Carroll) and the tale he wove for her of the little girl who tumbled down the rabbit hole into a fantastical wonderland where she was entranced by the lightning-bug turtle, the mud batter, the sleepy dormouse, the weeping worm and the carpenter and other denizens of that land, bind.

Vandenbergh, R., Mich., whose re-election as Republican presidential candidate was predicted until New Deal criticism forced his campaign to Landon was asked:

"Are you admitting any New Deal policies in Kansas?"

"Yes, we pledged in our platform out here to cooperate with the administration in working out social legislation which is to be submitted to Congress on old age pensions and unemployment insurance."

Landon is wealthy. Graduate of the University of Kansas; married; and in his mid-forties. One daughter is in college and another was born more than a year ago in the conservative Landon at Topeka. His home is in Independence, Kan.

PLATFORM BASIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (UPI)—The Republican platform on which Michigan's candidate rode through the election was endorsed yesterday by the basis of a national platform for 1936 by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., whose victory elevated him to a position of party leadership and presidential timber.

That platform, succinctly described by Vandenberg, is:

"I stand for social responsibility without Socialism."

Laughable example of this philosophy, Vandenberg's mind, are the deposit insurance law, which he helped formulate, and the railroad retirement pension law.

"That," he said, referring to the platform, "is the correct Republican attitude if we are to claim any kinship with Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt."

It is this attitude, he believes, which will permit the Republicans in congress to go along with President Roosevelt on all reforms which conform to their ideas of "social responsibility" and will have them free to oppose those they consider tending toward socialism.

Despite the fact that under his leadership Republicans won five new congressional seats and the state slate in Michigan, Vandenberg is reluctant to discuss party politics.

He has refused to join in the urge for a reformation of the party although this has been asked by older and less successful members of the party.

the president delivered his address yesterday, for the first time since becoming chief executive.

Compares Paths
Tracing the settling of Hartington, the setting up of a new government in the wilderness, he remarked:

"There is a very definite analogy between those days and ours. Upon the pionera of these great stretches of the central west we forged new activities because of the circumstances of their surroundings. They were compelled to lay out a new path, a path that was dependent not on the axe and the rifle alone, but upon their ability to govern themselves in new ways as well."

To most of the pioneers the message was a new life called for effort and experiment, in which they had not been accustomed to this—over years—the ordered civilization of the Atlantic seaboard. Survival itself demanded immediate and new action."

"That is why I am happy that in addition to paying tribute to the memory of George Rogers Clark, who led the men here to a great victory against the Indians, the United States has offered to amend the constitution to the United States (you are also honoring the men and women who made the expedition possible and who followed it with the permanency of home building).

People Decide Permanency

"It has come to be a generally accepted rule of civilized nations that mere discovery of new lands conveys no sovereignty; and, indeed, that mere conquest conveys but little better title. It is after all, the opening of the wilderness which gives the people of the wilderness which gives the people of the world an opportunity to lay out a new path, a path that was dependent not on the axe and rifle alone, but upon their ability to govern themselves in new ways as well."

The prosecutor read from the minutes of a director's meeting of I. U. I. held Nov. 25, 1929, when the Insults and their associates agreed to place a market value of $5,000,000 on stocks which originally cost $100,000.

Insult Values
"What can't a fact?" Salter retorted, "that although this value of $5,000,000 was decided upon and each figure was used in your statements to the public, the value on the company's books remained at $1,250,000?"

"I may not be certain, but quite likely I may have been the cause," Insult answered.

Salter asked if the two Insults, father and son, had not taken money out of I. U. I. in dividends and proceeds from cash sales that they had invested originally.

"No, there is no proof," Salter retorted.

Damaging Admission

The government claimed a damaging admission from young Insult when he said, in response to Salter's questioning, that the stock of Corporation Securities company were worth "$112,200 less nothing" on Sept. 30, 1931.

That was about eight months back of the $2,000,000 Insult crash, and despite the insolvency in the stock's value, the company continued to make sales to inventors, the witness acid.

One of the major claims of the government is the trial of the two Insults and 16 others in that they continued to represent Corporate Securities stock to the public as "a good investment" when they knew it to be worthless.

"You knew, didn't you, that it would be necessary for every stockholder to contribute $11.21 a share if the stock would be worth even a penny on Sept. 30, 1931?" Salter asked.

"Yes," Insult said.

SOVIET TRAINING YOUTHS IN ARMY

They Get Thorough Drilling
In Propaganda as Well as Military Tactics

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
MOSCOW, Nov. 16 (UPI)—Through the length and breadth of the Soviet Union there are tens of thousands of young men who, leaving farms and factories to exchange their "civvies" for the long khaki tunics and peaked, starred caps of the Red army.

They are hurrying to recruiting stations in answer to a summons from Commissioner of War Klement Voroshilov to all Soviet males born in 1912. Each year a new class composed of boys, who have passed their 21st birthday, is called to the colors to replace men, who are being mustered out after their required period of service.

For two years, if the boys elect to join the Red army; for three years, if they choose the air corps; and four years if they enlist in the Red navy, the recruits will receive an intensive military, scholastic and political education. When, finally, they re-enter civilian life, they are supposed to be not only good soldiers, but ardent defenders of Communist ideology.

Perhaps no army in the world is subjected to such intensive political propaganda as the troops of this socialist state. And, whether they are right or wrong, the fact remains that the Red army is invariably convinced that the army performing best in its country, in comparison with all capitalist nations, is indeed the world's Paragon.

FAIRY-TALE HORSES

FAMOUS ARTIST
TO PAINT HORSE

George Morris Will Depict
Championship Three-Gait
Animal on Canvas

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 16 (UPI)—Roxie Highland champion three-gaited horse of America is going to have her picture painted again.

A few years ago, when Roxie Highland was owned by Miss Mary Gwyn Flors of Oklahoma City, she was painted by George Ford Morris, and now Morris has come back to paint her again, this time for Mrs. S. M. Younts of Beaumont, Texas. Mrs. Younts, owner of the Spindletop stables, bought the beautiful chestnut mare for $20,000 from Miss Flors.

Morris, who lives in Shrewsbury, N. J., and has a winter studio at Altos, S. C., is known as the outstanding painter of horses in America. To his technical skill with the brush he has added the advantage of knowing horses, for he has bred and owned some of the finest himself. Also he has a "camera eye" for horsemanship.

It is this last, however, that has enabled Morris to produce such fine paintings. High spirited horses will not "sit" for their painters with the long suffering patience of humans, so it is hard to catch them in the right pose and hold them at it. And that is where Morris' "camera eye" comes into play.

He gets the mortal picture of the horse at almost a cursory glance and retains it until the picture is completed.

The second exhibit will be composed entirely of Soviet art of the post-Romanoff period.

EDMONTON, Alta., U.P.—Out of the north country went an unusual shipment to China recently.

A consignment of 200 rattlesnakes, picked in the Chinese Gansu Lee, Chinese snake propagator at Lloydminster, said he was shipping the rattlers to his father-in-China, who would "extract from them an oil highly prized by Orientals as a cure for rheumatism."

SEATTLE TO PLANT
MANY PHEASANTS

SEATTLE, U.P.—Pheasants of rare varieties soon will inhabit the Skagit River wilderness, from which the Seattle municipal power supply comes.

PARRISHBORO, N. S., U.P.—Footprints of a prehistoric animal, which lived and died in the days when most of Nova Scotia was a low-subtropical swamp with a hot and humid climate and great forests and horsetails, have been found.

More than 100 clear impressions of the foot-tracks have been found.

'FIGHT FAIR,' RING CHIEFS WARN ROSENBLUM IN TITLE GO

MAX ORDERED TO SHIFT HIS STYLE

Light Heavy Champion Facing
Laws of Crown by Default
Or by Victory

NEW YORK. Nov. 16 (UPI)—Moxie Rosenblum has spent the greater part of a pugilistic career building a fistic-and-cut style of attack that he will change overnight, or failing, he may be another wearing the crown that has perchance so suddenly over his head for four years.

The right-handing champion of the light-heavyweight 23-year-old Bob Olin, long-time Madison Square Garden, even if Maxie wins, he might now go boxing officialdom of New York and the national association will be there to see that he changes his ticks and fights right.

NBA Chief Coming

Augmenting New York commissioners at the ring will be Edward C. Foster, president of the National Boxing Association, who made a special trip here from Philadelphia. He is to see the champ go and to determine whether he should be reinstated.

As it is, Rosenblum has only half a title, that part being recognized by the New York commission. The N. B. A. took the other half last September and threw it away.

Foster, here at Rosenblum's special request, made himself clear:

"We have no intention of persecuting Rosenblum. We took his title because his flicking and tearing are illegal and therefore he is going to knock somebody's eye out sooner or later unless he changes his style. Hence, I shall determine whether he should be reinstated from what he does tonight. If he follows the rules I shall take a null vote of the association, with a recommendation for reinstatement."

Most Fight Rule

The New York commissioners' attitude is much the same, except they haven't barred Rosenblum, but might after tonight. They've explained that he must follow the rules.

Assured of attracting at least the boxing commissioners, Rosenblum's next two ticks are to whip Olin and to let the legal way. He's 7 to 5 choice in the betting on the first score. No one will wager how he'll do it.

BRONCS FAVORED TO TRIM GAELS

Experts Predict Santa Clara Will Defeat St. Mary's in Clash of Old Rivals

SAN FRANCISCO. Nov. 16 (UPI)—Twelve football experts interviewed by the United Press believe Santa Clara to defeat St. Mary's in their "little big game" in Kezar stadium here Sunday afternoon.

The football writers and sports editors polled based their selection of Santa Clara on the Bronco's unbeaten record and the excellent physical condition of the team. They were influenced, too, by their junction to some of St. Mary's best players, most notably in the backfield, and by the likelihood that St. Mary's will not have recovered fully from a hard game at U. C. L. A. last Monday.

See Idaho Beaten

In conference this the experts unanimously chose California over Idaho, and Oregon State over Montana, Oregon and U. S. C. were stand-offs in the selections, each team receiving six votes. Oregon has a better conference record than the Trojans, but has stumbled twice in the conference. Idaho and Montana, a third was over Oregon State, which has failed to win a game this year in major competition, and a fourth was over U. C. L. A., beaten by California and Stanford.

Stanford and Washington were unanimous choices to win "breathless" contests against the Olympic club and College of Puget Sound, respectively. Gonzaga likewise, was proposed choice over Wichita, as was Nevada over Idaho State.

Six experts picked University of San Francisco to defeat Loyola of Los Angeles, while one favored the Lions.

CLUB PICKS NEW BOARD MEMBERS

Charles Casey, George Wiley, Capt. Hitchcock and G. D. Gaughran were new board members of the Twin Falls country club today following last night's annual meeting of the organization.

Casey, Wiley and Hitchcock were named to succeed the retiring three-year directors, Alvin Casey, Grant O. Paquet and Paul Taher. Gaughran was selected to fill the one-year post left vacant by John D. Egan.

With some 35 members present, the club was well thoroughly discussed at the session. The board of directors was given power to determine advisability of securing a professional to fill the new position left by Egan.

Rosenblum, Olin Will Settle Quarrel Tonight

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK. Nov. 16 (UPI)—Madison Square Garden's opening of countless battles of the century—ranging, counter-clockwise, decade, final year, fortnight and week-end, tonight will provide the setting for something new—a battle of the Red Cats.

It is the first rift ever come up in the 176-pound class. Olin is a devoted Maxie and Bob is a confirmed Maxie, but the answer they turned the fair west together, sharing everything, including the direction of the same manager. When the dice went again Maxie it was Bob who lent him money, and when Olin returned from a fight, "tender and bruised, it was Rosenblum who dabbed him with iodine and comforted him.

Top-Leaver-Offer

Rosenblum, followed by a mob schoolmasterial entourage, came to Olin's office, the tooth-paste, squeezing it now in the middle, now at the bottom, and now at the top. Furthermore, he is an arch top-leaver-offer. They eluded again, this time over the environs of the bed. From childhood, Olin has placed a premium on keeping his feet covered. Rosenblum, chief proponent of the "no pants" theory, remonstrated nothing so much as a tug-of-war between the freshman and sophomore champion on that day. The fact that they are prize fighters explains why they never thought of twinbeds.

Things went from bad to worse until, as I said before, they began to argue again. Tonight, under the glow of the headlights, they will settle their grudge. My guess is that before it's over, Olin will regret he ever turned on Maxie, or perhaps when Maxie handled the tooth-paste tube as though it were a garden hose.

Football Writers

Tonight's football writers, maybe Pitt, Syracuse, Southern Cal., California, Washington, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Princeton, Alabama, Indiana, Rice, Texas, Dartmouth, Columbia, Holy Cross, Georgia, N. Y., Purdie, Southern Methodist, Utah, Colorado, Tennessee, Minnesota, Illinois and Bradley.

MAX BAER GOES TO MEXICO CITY

LOS ANGELES. Nov. 16 (UPI)—Chaperoned by two of his managers, heavyweight champion Max Baer was to leave by plane today for Mexico City, where he will visit three days before proceeding to Chicago to referee a Christian boys' fight card. Andi Hoffman and Leo Morrison accompanied him.

The college band is expected to meet him at the airport and parades through the streets in a pageant for the man who, a generation ago, performed girdron feats that today seem almost unbelievable.

He is reluctant to talk of the years that intervened between his graduation and his "discovery" in Westwood, Calif., two months ago.

Shots Fired

After having selected his catch-hands, Baer is due to appear in San Francisco. The hero worship of his football days followed him. He got tired of just being a football hero and decided to keep his identity.

He found a haven in Westwood, where he became a business and civic leader.

O'Dea came from Australia to enter the University of Wisconsin to become probably the greatest boxer of all time. Many of his bouts traveled 100 yards in the air, and one, fought in Yale in 1890, traveled 10 yards.

He is to appear in Mexico City, New location, from Billings, Adm.

HITS BIG 10 FOR REJECTING ARMY

Sport Scribe Scores Decision to Ban Further Ticks of Cadets-Illinois

By HARRY GRAYSON
CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (UPI)—Pigskin preview:

Big Ten prohibiting continuation of undischarged Illinois-Army series. Eligibility regulation, I presume. Big Ten prohibiting post-season contests, particularly inasmuch as seems that battle for the dear old gate receipts all season are deprived of a tilt in the Pasadena Rose Bowl during the holidays, which are not much.

Big Ten, I think, anybody who has played the game reasonably from coaching. This rule must be reminded if Red Grange is to assist Bob Zuppke with the Illinois-back-in-1930—"there is a movement on foot to bring the old Wheaton team back to its alma mater in that capacity next autumn, and who is more entitled to the opportunity?"

"Professional" Notre Dame alumnus.

Ills "Scamp" Sectors

Overzealous old goat who can't get coaches' heads. Ohio State forced him. William, although his Buckeyes lost only twice in two campaigns to a mighty Michigan machine on each occasion.

Set-up gunners, or broadheads. Cornell booted them no logic that the Big Red finally tumbled into the clutches. A flagrant example was the Ohio State vs. Western Reserve, 26-0, on Nov. 3. The Columbus club has more candidates for this position than the Cleveland team has on its roster. It is unlikely that more than one or two of the Red Cats would be retained on the Scarlet and Gray squad.

The Men Behind

Those who rate "one" players above another, Lou Little, are responsible for his appointment as captain of the Cornell team with a panoply of material. An Zippie pointed out, Pat Wadsworth's double-wincting scheme is great when a team has a fullback with all the tricks of the trade. And the Roche plan requires four real backs, and backfires at schools that are lucky when they possess one. In the final analysis, it's the men in uniform.

Bathing, swimming, such as the Division and Williamson, which prefer to reduce their body to a mathematical bath. Too many things enter into the great college game, tradition, psychology, playing conditions, and broader, to name but a few. In no other game are there such stunning reversals of form.

Tiger Schedule

The Princeton schedule. With all the weighty material and an fine, drilled staff as it is, the Big Red deserves little credit when it's all over, including the shouting. Stanford is to blame. It's a shame to see the rest go through an entire season with no little real competition. Ohio State went far out of its way to book Princeton this season, but Fritz Crisler wouldn't budge.

Elmer Layden, Jack Butterfield, and the rest of those who are keeping gloomy Gloomi Doolie, who round up with good reason to sing the blues.

Grandstand quarterback, who second guess yesterday being bounced around out there on the turf. You know the kind I mean. They snap their fingers and hiss "D-I-1" What was he thinking of? Pulling a play like that? When an important maneuver is played up.

Top-Leaver-Offer

Another likely All-American, and a fellow with a good chance to make the All-West Coast team, is Owen McCusker, the sophomore center. Although this is his first year, McCusker is playing like a veteran, and the spirit of the team comes from his fiery play.

Valuable Cog

Satty Santino is a valuable cog in the backfield. He is in being called the hot-head, but he is no substitute when his Broncos are within scoring distance.

Gooding Meets All-Star Foes

200,000 Will See Five Leading Battlers; Illinois Circus Tackles Wisconsin

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

CHICAGO. Nov. 16 (UPI)—Midwestern football drama today moved swiftly toward a climax as more than 200,000 spectators prepared to attend the five major games in this region tomorrow.

Kickoff Time Saturday

A gridiron version of the old David and Goliath at Milwaukee, where Chicago's one-man team will attempt to upset Milwaukee before 45,000.

Illinois' aerial circus attempting to continue its string of victories against Wisconsin before 36,000 homecomers and Pat O'Dea, Indiana No. 1 football hero and football's most famous player, at Madison.

Ohio State seeking a top-heavy victory at Columbus over Michigan, before 70,000, the Big Ten's largest crowd of the season.

Renewal in Dyche stadium of the arch-rivalry between Notre Dame and Northwestern before 40,000, Chicago's biggest football crowd of the year.

Indiana trying to avenge something from a whetched season with an intersectional victory over Maryland, the team that almost beat navy, before 20,000 at Bloomington.

Purdue, joint holder of the Big Ten lead with Minnesota and Illinois, in a battle between the two, will bring together its rival two-tomatoes of Rockne's "Four Horsemen."

Noble Kizer, Purdue coach who blotted for Jimmy Crowley, Fordham coach on Notre Dame's 1924 team. Purdue will unveil to the east two of the Big Ten's greatest backs, Duane Purdy and Jimmy Carter.

Today, buffeted from pillar to post since an early season victory over Northwestern, had a badly needed rest this week.

Michigan's judgment, rated as the nation's No. 1 team, is heavily favored to roll over Chicago to its eighth straight victory and hold its place at the head of the parade. The Gophers, however, may miss Glenn Seidel, foxy quarterback who is out of the game with an injured back.

Ohio State, with its fast, fluid attack on the ground and in the air, seems to have, in the army overseas without a scratch.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 16 (UPI)—According to a survey directed by the University of Wisconsin extension division, more than 50 per cent of their rankin are confirmed pacifists.

The survey, conducted by Dr. Philip H. Person, head of the psychology department, revealed that while 67 per cent were unwilling to go to war, only 50 per cent were willing to obey their convictions. At the point of baptism, 50 per cent would renounce a foreign invasion.

The students chose President Roosevelt as the most desirable type of leader with Hitler in the least desirable. They denounced pacifism as a plausible means of averting war and unanimously agreed that the real hero was the man who could stand by his pacifistic convictions while his fellowmen were being overcome by militaristic frenzy.

SEN. POPE RAPS REIGN OF NAZIS

Idaho Junior Senator Asserts Hitler Regime in Grave Menace to Peace

BORDE, Nov. 16 (UPI) — Senator John P. Pope, speaking before the Boise Rotary club here yesterday, declared that "the Nazi regime in Germany is a menace to peace to world peace in our time."

"It is, of course, true," declared the junior senator, "that every nation has a right to govern itself as it sees fit. Russia had a right to communistic government, Germany has a right to Nazism, as long as the activities of those governments are confined to the borders of the nation in which they rule."

"Modern times, however, have so interrelated and coordinated the methods of nations that the power of the world seems in a delicate balance that may be easily disrupted by the Nazis."

Critic Civil Rights

The Nazis in their "regime have denied all personal freedom, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly, freedom of petition, and all the civil rights of a free people."

"They have made war on science, art, literature and culture."

"The aim of Hitler is to numb the brilliant mind of the German nation, to cloud and smother their judgment, to take them on a side tangent, to turn them astray."

The junior senator said an experiment had not yet failed and preliminary practice for more and bigger battles to come.

Sparks Envoy Nation

On the spark that won over Hitler a great flame has enveloped the German nation. When Hitler came into power Hitler's stock and the stock of other armament firms made a sudden and remarkable rise in exchange.

"The world has grown smaller with the passing years. An international conflict may spring up over night. The possible danger of the Nazi regime is to civilization and is, at least, food for thought."

Knothole Trap

PROSPECT, Conn.—W. L. Taylor Green, humorist and nature writer, departs from the exaggerated to tell this one. A garter snake broke into his chicken coop, swallowed an egg and started to crawl through the knot hole of the egg stopper, it barely permitting the reptile to down a second egg. Its body swollen on either side of the knot hole, the snake was a captive until Lester sawed away the partition to capture the thief.

BABY'S CRAVING FOR CIGARS IS WORRY TO FOLKS

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — Kipper Charley, a four-year-old boy, is a smoker in family, as well as in the neighborhood, according to his three-year-old Charley Czech, father, whose addiction to nicotine is a source of much worry to his mother, Mrs. Mary Stuffer.

Charley does not insist on cigars, however. He can make out with a cob pipe if necessary, and this often the case, since his relatives grow weary of buying cigars for him.

Charley is of normal height and has good complexion, brown eyes and dark hair. He fell several months ago and lost several front teeth, causing him to limp.

Started Early

The boy acquired his fondness for tobacco when a year old. His grandfather had set a pipe down and the boy picked it up and started to smoke. Thereafter he insisted on having a pipe, and a month without tobacco didn't satisfy him for a minute.

The mother was kept a family secret until recently, when Charley went to the grocery store with an uncle. The uncle bought a cigar and Charley howled no end he had to be bribed with a cigar of his own. The two walked off down the street, puffing energetically.

"He can't go on like this all through his boyhood," said his mother, "but I can't seem to find him without running the risk of disturbing the neighbors indefinitely."

PROGRAM HELPS CHINA'S JOBLESS

Model Governmental System Offers Opportunity for College Grads

NANKING, China (UPI) — Hope for the steadily growing army of white-collared unemployed in China has come from an unexpected quarter—the National Military Commission and its energetic chairman, General Chiang Kai-shek.

After three years in the field, General Chiang is looking forward to the early completion of the military phase of the anti-communist movement, which will provide ample employment opportunities in Central China. Convinced that the problems of peace will be more difficult than those of war, the general is setting up what he hopes to be a model government in the interior areas, which have been dominated by communists and harassed by bandits for seven years. This administration will be based upon the principle that every peasant has a right to till his soil and raise his family free from the exactions of the rich and influential.

Such trained youth

To carry out this work of political and economic reconstruction, General Chiang has called for educated young men and women. To all who have the training qualifications and are willing to work hard, the general assures employment. At the capital general assurances were given the job seekers, but governmental positions continued to go to those with or without academic degrees, who had friends at court.

General Chiang's reconstruction program offers a real chance for educated youth. While many have suffered by academic life will be willing to leave the comfort of the big cities for the work of genuine pioneer work in the interior regions to be seen.
