PARAGUAY'S FINAL WAR PUSH OPENS

Troops Press North in Gran Chaco Region Seeking Decisive Win Against Boliviaans

Threaten Chief Base

Brilliant General Starts Driven Offensive to Reach Edge of Rich Oil Fields

BY ARCH RODGERS
BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 1 (UPI)—Paraguayan soldiers fought their way mile by mile northward through the hot of the wild Gran Chaco country today, seeking a decisive victory in the war with Bolivia.

Dispatches from the front indicated that Paraguayan were striking in force from the south and attempting a flanking movement from the east. They were trying to drive Boliviaans into their own territory or into the Pilcomayo river.

Near Main Base

Some army experts here believed from reports that Paraguayan advance forces by tomorrow night might be in position from which the main army could organize for an attack on Villa Montes, the great Bolivian army base at the edge of the rich Chaco and Holivian oil fields.

Bolivian soldiers were said in Paraguayan dispatches to be dispirited and disorganized. But the same dispatches forecasted a desperate resistance before Villa Montes. It was believed that Boliviaans would now risk men in the path of Paraguayans while engineers and infantry strengthened the Villa Montes fortifications and those of Carandavó behind it.

There was no expectation that the Boliviaans were ready to concede defeat.

Firm Resistance
Dispatches from Asuncion, Paraguayan capital, as well as from La Paz, Bolivia, indicated firm resistance at each stage.

President Louis Tejada Soriano, heading a new coalition government, was backed by cabinet

BONUS SHIFT DRAWS FIRE

Legislators Oppose Compromise For Paying Cash to Veterans

Actually in Need

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (UPI)—Unfavorable sentiment toward a suggested compromise payment of the veterans' bonus was expressed by members of the house today.

Rep. John Rankin, D., Miss., chairman of the house veterans committee, and a moderate for speakers said he believed that a large percentage of members of both houses were pledged to payment of the bonus in full.

Rankin's statement came after a declaration by Sen. Frederick Stetler, R., Ore., that payment of the cash value of the bonus to needy former soldiers would be unacceptable to the veterans.

Hits "Prairie" Out

"If we are going to pay the adjusted service certificates," Rankin said, "then why put a 'needs' clause in the bill and compel the veterans to sign or take what is tantamount to a pauper's oath in order to collect on their certificates, and preclude thousands of worthy and thrifty veterans from receiving payment on their certificates at all?"

Rep. Wright Patman, D., Tex., also announced his intention to re-introduce his famous house bill No. 2, which calls for the immediate cash payment of the bonus by spending the currency $2,200,000.

GIRLS ALLOFT FOR RECORD

ALASKA, Oct. 1 (UPI)—Women sumo wrestlers and 10 minutes of "hot" new audience entertainment were the highlights of the "monoplane" roaring high and evenly over Wiley Post's hangar.

Post completed a second round trip, adding 40 gallons of gasoline to the women's tank. He then went to add a third round trip, taking up

Lined With Cedar

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Housewives in Washington county, Tex., during the early days did not mind cutting down trees when they needed cedar wood. They now look for cedar chests. Closets and most of the woodwork in their houses were cedar. Many of the old houses are still standing.

PWA STARTS INDIAN PLAN

Extensive Program Will Assist in Education, Hospitalization, And Agricultural Work

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (UPI)—A $7,000,000 program to aid the American Indian has been initiated under PWA auspices, a United Press survey allowed today.

The money is being spent to educate Indian children, construct hospitals to check disease among Indians, aid them in cultivating their land and improve their reservations.

One hundred and ten Indian day schools will be built at a total cost of $2,000,000, addition to services for Indians will be used as centers for Indian community life, with facilities for laundry, sewing rooms, health service and clinical work.

More Hospitals

The government has allotted $2,000,000 for building and remodeling hospitals to aid the Indian bureau of the department of the interior in a drive against tuberculosis, trachoma and other diseases. A combined $1,000,000 of PWA money will go toward construction of 20-acre plots of land and will cost another $350,000 and furnish employment to 1,275 Navajo Indians in New Mexico. The project, when completed, will provide for irrigation of 5,100 acres of reservation land.

New Capital

The government is budgeting $500,000 to erect new capital on the Navajo reservation, in Arizona, a new administrative center for all Indians living in a 25,000 square mile area.

Construction of 3,134 miles of new reservoir roadway, 488 bridges and 2,715 culverts, with PWA money has provided work for a total of 21,100 Indians.

The whole government program, officials said, is pointed toward betterment of Indian tribes in the west and southwest. Preservation of Indian racial traits is the key note.

Death Takes Homer Abell

BURL, Dec. 1 (Special)—Homer Abell, 87, well-known Buhl citizen, passed away at his home in the McCollum addition shortly before noon today. Apparently in perfect health, Mr. Abell performed his morning chores today. He died of a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. Abell moved to Buhl after retirement. Mr.

Mr. Abell was said to have the high tides removed from the Twin Falls Inter-county bridge. This is one of the principal objectives of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, and, along with canning factories, would be one of the best things which could happen to central Idaho right now.

Please remember the homely old man. If there is anything you want me to do in order to bury along the consummation of this community good, thank you for part fathers we are. Affectionately,

THREE MAGIC CITY."

PIONEER DIES

Menard Whitcomb, received word yesterday of the death of his wife, a long-time friend of her mother, the late Mrs.
Mina Vincent. Mrs. Price, one of Utah's pioneers, was widely known in G. A. R. circles. She was an honored member of C. Howard Women's Roller corps, post No. 1, of the department of Utah, and was also an active member of the Woman's Republican club. She died at her home in Salt Lake City.

Community Unity Pays

On account of detection dating over a period of more than a year, Elroy Swan has filed suit in the federal court seeking divorce from Gladys Swan, whom he married in Twin Falls May 26, 1929. The couple are parents of a four-year-old daughter, now in the custody of the mother. The father offers to pay $15 monthly to the child's support. Rayborn & Rayborn are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Trio Plans Musical Series Over Radio

Mrs. O. P. Duvall, Mrs. W. B.
Anderson and Miss Lois Anderson, three of Twin Falls' best liked musicians, will begin at 8:30 p. m.
today a series of weekly broadcasts over KTFM, which they will continue through the winter.

Mrs. Anderson will play the violin, Mrs. Duvall the piano. The programs will consist entirely of chamber music and violin solos.

OF LASTING BENEFIT

There was inaugurated here today a trade campaign which should have more than temporary benefit.

For one thing it will demonstrate the ability of local merchants to cooperate fully in bringing more business to this city, should serve to broaden the Magic City's trade territory, and, because of the benefits to be gained, enhance the commercial advantages of the people in the entire area and definitely put this city in the forefront compared with other key cities in the intermountain country.

Every town is doing something of the sort and the net result is to increase the Christmas spirit, generate more business, additional employment and a progressive civic spirit.

Locally the effort will be extended beyond the holidays and into the first of the year, and in addition to the mercantile angle there is coupled a home modernization program which will benefit not only this particular community but will extend throughout south central Idaho. Thus all the territory will have gained.

There is much work involved in staging the kind of effort incorporated in the Twin Falls Empire Exposition and Trade Campaign, but this city appears to be possessed of the type of commercial leaders with the ability to undertake such a task.

Furthermore, there is a new spirit in Idaho which is calling upon all to take full advantage of the opportunities, to promote the resources of the state and to capitalize on the advantages which this integrated empire possesses in comparison to many less fortunate districts in other parts of the United States.

The present effort here is but an example of this new spirit which needs encouragement. If this and other communities are to go forward they must be alert, progressive and cooperative.

On these principles and by these methods, Idaho can have a new deal of her own and one of lasting benefit.

The reason Europe insists on maintaining the League of Nations must be that the only fun it gets is in breaking its provisions.

HITLER RAISES FEAR IN SAAR

On Jan. 18 a plebiscite will be held in the Saar basin to determine whether the inhabitants of that rich mining area wish to become part of Germany, part of France, or an autonomous area under protection of the League of Nations.

Hitler's Nazis have made the return of the Saar a cardinal point in their foreign policy. But now it develops that their very determination to get it back may prove the chief stumbling block in their path.

Dr. Michael T. Florinsky, professor of economics at Columbia University, who spent the summer in the Saar, investigating conditions there, reports that the inhabitants have almost no desire for annexation to France.

They are German by birth and culture; normally, they would vote overwhelmingly for reunion with the fatherland.

But they are beginning to be afraid of Hitler. The benefits of Nazi rule are not as apparent to them as they might be. So there is a good chance that they will vote for autonomy under the league.

Hitler's noisy determination to regain the Saar may prove the one factor that will keep the Star out of Germany.

Japan is going to raise the biggest national defense fund in its history, since the Boxy man has been seen to take in Manchukuo as well.

A BILLION DOLLAR TRADE

Manuel L. Quezon, slated to be president of the Philippine commonwealth next year, tells interviewers in Baltimore that he will do his utmost to help American business men retain their present $1,000,000 market in the islands after independence goes into effect.

But he points out, also, that whether this market is kept depends chiefly on the American Congress. The Philippine government, he says, will protect the United States with quotas or tariffs if assured of preferential entry into the American market for Philippine goods.

This trade with the islands is large enough to be well worth keeping. It can be kept, as Mr. Quezon says, if we approach the problem intelligently.

It should not be too hard to find a way of doing it without, at the same time, working any injustice on American producers.

CHAPTER I

ALL the Hollisters were in seclusion today—all except Ann Hollister who had thrown the big doors of the house in which she had been born 20 years before wide to a scandalized but eager public.

With the gesture she had smashed traditions that had bound the Hollisters together, despite the failing fortunes of most of the clan. "A 'sale' would soon be in full swing in the large double drawing room where Ann's mother had entertained "so beautifully" and where Ann's grandmother had entertained still more lavishly.

There had been little entertainment since Ann was a child. She had grown up after the death of her mother, after "things had changed."

Ann and her adored father had continued to live in the old home which was much too large for them, had managed somehow to escape the stigma of "poor kin" that was attached to other relatives of Aunt Hattie Hollister Hammond.

Within the past week Ann had learned that all she owned in the world was the roof over her head and a few "old things." Soon now she would be homeless. Ann's decision to sell the family antiques was responsible for the resentment of her relatives and the puffed surface of calm, old Greenfield today.

WHEN Ann had arrived home the week before Aunt Hattie had met her in the outmoded limousine that was flaunted in the face of aristocratic Greenfield because Aunt Hattie was rich and therefore could do no shame.

They had driven to Aunt Hattie's Victorian home, "The Elms," instead of to Ann's house on Cherry street. Ann had attributed this to sympathy on her aunt's part. It would be hard for the girl to go back to the home where she and her father had been so happy and where he had died last fall.

Almost before she had time to remove her hat, the news that she was penniless was broken to Ann.

"You haven't a cent," Aunt Hattie had said in her thin, acid voice. "You might as well know the truth because you'll probably be headed to death by your father's creditors. Luckily there's nothing they can do. The house is yours, and then there's nothing they can do."

Aunt Lucy had come in, blushed Ann profusely, and then, shuddering, her eyes on Aunt Hattie.

Aunt Hattie, meeting Cousin Lucy's eyes and reading the signs there, said importantly, "You can come and live with me, of course, Ann. I'll be glad to have you."

Cousin Lucy had been at this magnificence and then slipped from the room like a quiet little mouse.

Ann's eyes had met her aunt's cold gaze. It was like a sudden plunge into cold water.

"Thank you, but I couldn't—see I'm going away."

"But yourself, of course. But I don't see how you're going when—"

"When I haven't a penny," Ann said soberly, with a wry little smile about her mouth. She hadn't an idea either how she could go away. She only knew she must go somewhere. It would be unbearable.

"Creditors!" Ann had gasped, her face white.

"That's what I said. Your father owed everybody. That is, every body who was foolish enough to lend him any money. And there were a great many. As Barnum said—"

Ann's fierce eyes stopped the older woman. "Please! Why wasn't I told about this before?"

"Because your father exacted this manliness and then slipped from the room like a quiet little mouse."

CHICAGO STARTS

LIVESTOCK SHOW

By JOHN T. THOMPSON

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (CP)—The 23rd annual International Livestock Exposition, with entries from 40 countries, the choice of Winter and Midwestern timber, opens today in new quarters in the Union Stockyards.

Although the buildings occupied by the show have been demolished by the winter, a new structure has been built capable of handling more animals than before.

The new building is a stadium concrete and brick containing nearly double the number of stalls in the old building. Exhibit space also is larger, necessitated by the new equipment.

Although the buildings occupied by the show have been demolished by the winter, a new structure has been built capable of handling more animals than before.

The big event of the show is the judging of the grand champion of all breeds. The animal winning this award would be known as the "Grand Champion." It would be awarded to the owner of the best animal in the show.

The judges of Wales have entered several shorthorn bulls and steers from Alberta ranch. He has not exhibited since 1926, when his shorthorn bull was named grand champion of his breed.

Society

Many Dances Appear On Holiday Calendar

With the first of December and cold weather giving a holiday tingle to the air, Twin Falls residents are looking forward to a month of interesting holiday activity. The Christmas season promises to be an unusually brilliant one this year, with most of the more important organizations and clubs scheduling dances sometime during the month.

—Calendar—

Wayside Club will meet at the home of Mrs. D. E. Clark Tuesday afternoon.

Twin Falls Council of Parents and Teachers will meet Monday at 7:45 p. m. at the home of Mrs. H. A. Bell, 1544 Poplar.

The meeting of Twin Falls PTA Guardians Association usually scheduled for Monday will be held Tuesday, Dec. 1, at 8 p. m. at the Washington School.

Home Guards will meet at the home of Marvay, Sara and Charlotte Flemming Monday night after school. Members are requested to bring their donations of the quilt, a gift to the Christmas tree.

Members of Sigma Delta Pi are planning a dance for their annual party for members and friends given by Zeta Zeta club Saturday at the Legion hall. The dance will be held at Radioland. The date has been tentatively set for Monday, Dec. 17.

Charity Ball

The Elks' Charity ball, to be given this year on Dec. 10 in the hall, is always one of the most en-joyable and largely attended events of the holiday season. An unusually large attendance is ex-pected for this year.

Members of Sigma Delta Pi are planning a dance for their annual party for members and friends given by Zeta Zeta club Saturday at the Legion hall. The date has been tentatively set for Monday, Dec. 17.

Charity Ball

The week between Christmas and New Year is to be crowded with activity. First event will be a annual party for members and friends given by Zeta Zeta club Saturday at the Legion hall. The date has been tentatively set for Monday, Dec. 17.

Holiday Honors Birthdays

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Eldred entertained at a 2 o'clock dinner Thursday for Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Eldred, Jerome, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Eldred, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Taylor, Miss Helen, and George Taylor. The holiday event was in honor of the birthday of Mrs. G. H. Eldred, Mrs. Taylor and A. R. Eldred. A large birthday cake was in ivory and distinguished as the initials of a colonial doll, with which it was topped, centered the table. The cake was flanked with triple pronged silver candleabra, holding lighted tapers.

QUI VIVE CLUB

ENTERTAINS AT PINOCCHIO

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Torrens were hosts to members of Qui Vive club last evening at their home, 12th and Ninth avenue east.

Mr. and Mrs. John Detweller and Hugh McMillen, the high score prizewinners, were the guests of the club, as Mr. and Mrs. George Detweller Refreshments were served.

PLEDGED TO SERVICE HONORARY

Word has been received here that Mrs. Mary Ellen Brown, daughter of Frank W. Brown, Twin Falls, has been pledged to the Cardinal Key, upper classwoman's service honorary at the University of Idaho. Another accorded this honor was Miss Cynthia Dahl, Buell.

ACCESSORIES IN FUR

Fur accessories are smart this year. Hats and belts, hats and mufflers and neck scarfs and belts come in luxurious as well as inexpensive furs, and on their part to turn extremely simple articles into rather pretentious ornaments. Fur coats in a plain style with a soft shoulder cape of Persian lamb and with a matching turban, have a costume that looks quite glamorous.

Francis' Pupils To Give Recital

Violin Instructor Will Offer Students in Program at Filer Church

A grown-up who blunders into toyland has much the same notion the Alice who went into Wonderland must have had when she ate from the side of the mushroom, which made her shrink and shrink the entire world around her, but, in miniature, though he had suddenly grown too big for it.

The business office in the biggest part of his world, the grown-up would be particularly pleased this year, for he would find almost complete office equipment in Twin Falls toyland which opened Monday.

Typewriter that have wood in typewriter that may be adjusted by turning a dial so that they really type are one of the especially new features of toyland this year. Also offered are banks in the form of tiny cash registers that show the balance on hand and others that are adding machines.

Real Tires

Car tires are made to take him in the office, too. And this year they have real pneumatic tires, the front parlor doors are going to be subject to flats as well as collision injuries from now on.

The car will be streamlined, too, with the headlight of spot lights and head-lights. Or if the grown-ups were really that right size for the toy, he would be delighted with the tiny streamlined airplane and airplane. They're absolutely the latest.

And when the day was over the male grown-up would no longer have to lug his in the hotel lobby or conference room, the manly clothes he wore dinner. For they come that you don't have to pay to play all the rage this year in toyland.

Popeye Is There

The rest of his amusements would be provided for him, too, all in miniature. Swinging Popeye, the Sailor, the figure appears at every turn. For those who saw the County of Progress there are plenty of games where he can play quoits with Jimmy Durante's nose on the post.

The grown-up blunders out of toyland again whirling regrettably he can't find the mushroom which would make him as small as the tiny Noah's Ark.

An interesting feature of the toyland opening in Twin Falls to-day is the movable model of Noah's ark, which appears in one department store window of Van Engelen-Hood. It's a really authentic ark crowded to overflowing with lively animals.

It's a habit whether he eats at one end and an impudent monkey fishes at the other. The Democratic donkey and the Republican elephant are apparently standing hotly back to back, for they're faced in opposite directions, and a long-necked giraffe cranes his neck constantly in search of land. Meanwhile the ark rocks along on a movable sea of bright blue movable waves.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hull entertained at a farewell party Tuesday evening in honor of Vernon Mann, who is leaving this weekend for his home in Novato, Mo. He has been working here since last fall.

Verne Paone and Miss Dorothy Dean Klein, Colo., were guests Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher.

Members of the M. L. A. are rehearsing now for "The Old Fashioned Mother," which is to be produced next week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Klinckopf and daughters, Florence and Adeline, who have been visiting relatives in Spokane, returned Wednesday.

Don and Thora Stanger, Oakley, who have spent the past few days with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Egbert left Monday for their home in Novato, Mo. Egbert has been working here since last fall.

Three babies were born in the past week: Mr. and Mrs. Edith Whittle, Oakley, a girl, Nov. 26; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, son, Nov. 21; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Whittle, girl, Nov. 28.

Toyland Is Miniature Replica Of Grown-Up World This Year of town he could go in a tin box that is really a luxurious pullman car, complete even with an upper berth.

Toys Homes

With the male grown-up spent his day, he could play at house keeping in a home six sizes too small for him. She would have a table with a red leaf to it, to be put in when company came. She would have a miniature lunchroom cloth half the size of a napkin.

Typewriter that have wood in typewriter that may be adjusted by turning a dial so that they really type are one of the especially new features of toyland this year. Also offered are banks in the form of tiny cash registers that show the balance on hand and others that are adding machines.
