RELIEF CONFLICT FACES CONGRESS AS MAJOR WORRY

Big Business Demands Vary From Program Planned By Roosevelt

F. D. R. AGAINST DOLES

President, New Dealers Map Work Relief; Capital Asks "Handouts"

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (UP)—New Deal unemployment relief cost more than $1,000,000,000 in the first 11 months of 1931. The exact figure was $1,246,309,651. Since Harry L. Hopkins became relief administrator on May 23, 1933, he has spent $1,569,728,039 to aid the destitute.

Must Decide Form

President Roosevelt and congress must decide this winter how the relief program shall be handled. Donald R. Bligh, chief New Deal co-ordinator, reported to Mr. Roosevelt last summer that relief needs would reach a February peak of upwards of 22,000,000 men, women and children. The highest estimate of the February roller load is 23,000,000 persons.

The administration finds one of the more difficult of recovery problems in relief. Unemployment, big business and the more conservative of Republican and Democratic administrations are alarmed by relief expenditures. Bankers and big business have abandoned their Hoover administration position that no federal funds should be spent for human relief.

WHEAT CONDITION SHOWS ADVANCE

Former President Hoover was the champion of the so-called anti-dole groups. Powerful business interests now are exerting their influence in favor of a dole and against the aid system known as work relief. Under a dole system the jobless and their dependents are supplied with goods and some cash, but in return they work relief projects. Jobs upon which the unemployed are put to work, in return for which they receive wages.

CITY PREPARES FOR CHRISTMAS

Social Affairs, Yule Buying, Gala Decorations Add to Holiday Spirit

Despite the arrival of rain last night, instead of the proffered snow, the Yuletide spirit was everywhere in evidence today, preparing a joyful holiday next week. Plans for the Yuletide parties are already under way. College students are arriving home, and the number is to be augmented with the coming tomorrow of students from the University of Idaho at Moscow.

Local schools will be dismissed tomorrow for a 11-day vacation. Programs, incident to the season, will feature the closing days of school locally, as well as the most of the other schools in this and neighboring counties.

LIBRARY ACTION POSTPONED HERE

Supporters of New Structure Will Ascertain Congress Attitude on Loans

Decision to continue the temporary organization of a Library Building Association until after Jan 15 when some idea may be gained as to the attitude of congress toward loan of federal funds for such purpose, has been made today following a meeting of organization representatives last evening in the protracted court rooms.

Mrs. D. R. Church, president of the Twentieth Century Club, is chairman and Miss Jean Dinkelaar, secretary of this organization. A third meeting will be called near the middle of January.

Cost of the projected new library would be $13,120, at the lowest possible estimate, reported Wilbur S. Hill, chairman of the investigation committee. Neither cost was a factor in the meeting.

For the convenience of patrons, the postoffice will provide window service all day Saturday, it is stated by P. W. Robertson, postmaster.

AAA Increases Hog Quotas Next Year

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 30 (UP)—Increased hog production will be permitted next year to make up for that eliminated by the 1934 drought. AAA officials told a news conference that the next year's quota will be 1,000,000 head, up from 800,000 this year.

County Auto Deaths at 15 During 1934

Fifteen persons killed and approximately 100 injured during the record auto fatality year in Twin Falls county.

Three deaths from automobile accidents in the county during November and two so far in December, accounting for a third of the 1934 total, have aroused public safety agencies and led The Evening Times to compile the year's statistics in an effort to draw attention to the menace of auto accidents and the unenviable record made here.

Exceeds U. S. Average

The average is higher than that for the nation at large, the figures for 1933 showing that the U. S. mortality rate from automobile accidents was 37 for each 100,000 population. Twin Falls county with about 30,000 population should have an average of 37 such tragedies annually. In the state the record for this year to date indicates that the rate will approximate about 23 for each 100,000 population. In this county the rate will be nearly 46, or twice that for all the 47 counties.

Three in City

Of the deaths taking place in the county, only three occurred within Twin Falls city limits, where the traffic is the heaviest and none of the others inside any incorporated place, all being out on highways. All three in Twin Falls were caused by accidents on Main avenue. Of the 16, four of the victims were children, three were women and nine men.

Triumph, Tragedy in One Day

Less than 24 hours after the Navy Department broke precedent by naming Admiral J. M. Reeves as commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet for another year, Reeves' son, Lieut. William C. Reeves, Army Major, died when his plane crashed near San Francisco. Staff Sergeant N. A. Peterson also died. Above, the wreckage. Below, Lieut. Reeves (left) had Admiral Reeves.

Preparedness Vital, Du Pont Tells Quiz

Best Means for U. S. To Prevent War, Probe Hears

BY RONALD G. VAN TINE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (UP)—Preparedness, Du Pont spokesman for the Delaware powder industry, told the senate munitions committee today that the "only way to prevent war is to prepare for war in time of peace."

"If you don't do that," he said, "you'll have a hell of a time."

Quoted by Chairman Gerald P. Nye, R. N. D., about the advisability of concentration of wealth and industry in wartime, Du Pont said:

"If we have another war, we're going to have a hell of a time anyway."

"The only way to wage a successful war is to have an abundant supply of munitions and explosives on hand at all times."

Putting vigorously on his favorite "curved-stem pipe," he added: "You never hear of a democracy waging a successful war."

"There is only one way to prevent war—prepare for war in time of peace," he continued.

Must Be Prepared

"If we are well prepared we will never have a war."

"Germany was well prepared in 1914. She was not, and she had it war."

"She was well prepared but she started the war. I am talking about defense, not offense," Du Pont replied.

The committee, plowing together evidence left undeposited in the last three weeks, brought out that under the war department's industrial mobilization plan all munitions requirements would be met by 14,000 manufacturers who already know the amount of supplies they would be expected to produce.

No Code Yet

Turning to negotiations with two small arms manufacturers and NRA, Nye brought out that the industry had not yet accepted a code of fair prices.

C. F. Davis, president of the Remington Arms company, testified, however, that his firm was complying with section 7A of the recovery act, and was "according employees a great deal more benefits than they would receive under a code."

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

HEAVENLY HILLS, Cal.—It seems by the papers that Dillingham's escape gun wasn't exactly all wood. It was loaded with $11,000.

The city of Los Angeles was doing away with motor autos to save money. They auctioned 'em off, they brought big prices. Now let 'em drive one of the motor cars around a corner and back, and see what they can sell it for.

The old man of mules won't get you to town an often as the car, but they will get you there an often as you can get there. And you can drive them back empty. Everybody is predicting something for '35. I predict it will be a great mule year.

Legislators Punish City Heckling Long

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 30 (UP)—The Louisiana legislature voted today to adjourn early this morning to vacate every city office in the town of Alexandria, where fire sirens sounded last fall while Senator Huey P. Long was delivering a political speech.

The legislature provided that the governor, a follower of Senator Long, shall fill municipal offices in Alexandria by appointment until an election can be held in 1932.

Seer Visions Happy Days For America During 1935

By HEYWOODS PEARLAND
(Copyright, 1934, United Press)
PARIS, Dec. 30 (UP)—Happy days for the United States during 1935 were forecast today in the crystal of Mme. Valentine, the oghmone, French seer of Paris.

First of the depression, rise of the dollar and brilliant diplomacy that will overcome danger of war with Japan are among the main events predicted for the United States.

Also in the crystal are murders, floods, storms, transport accidents and the possible violent retirement of President Roosevelt as having done all he could for the country.

But this last, she said, was a guess, and probably would not happen in 1935.

The sign of Mars will dominate the year.

Brewers Indicted

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 30 (UP)—Annuity suits of $3,000,000 were indicted by the federal grand jury here yesterday on charges of violation of the fair labor act.

The indictment was returned against 11 brewers.

The grand jury also returned indictments against 11 brewers.

The indictment was returned against 11 brewers.

Savant Urges Nationalized Universities

Sees Duplication in Proximity Of Schools Like Idaho And Washington

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 29 (UP)—Nationalization of universities with highly developed regional centers of learning was proposed today by Dr. L. D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, in his biennial report to the board of regents.

Citing the duplication involved in two such grand grant colleges as those of Idaho and Washington, Dr. Coffman advocated a "carefully situated university" in each section of the country to carry on the chief work in advanced research or in medicine, other status to provide scholarships for groups of selected men.

Dr. Coffman, an advanced leader in the field of education, says in the future:

No More "Credits"

Disappearance of credits, honor points and examinations by instructors.

Universities devoted to training of young men and women of superior talent for scholarly effort and high professional service.

A new type of adult education, not for the masses, but for modernizing the knowledge of adults already accepted as leaders.

Increased college attendance, prevalence of other students necessitates it.

Saturation of professions more with the ideals of service and less with those of personal gain.

Growth of vocational training.

Consolidation of libraries and research staffs.

IDAHO PLANNING TAX EXTENSIONS

More Time Will Be Accorded On Delinquent Payments, Ross Announces

BOISE, Dec. 30 (UP)—Further extension of time are planned for persons who cannot pay their taxes, says Governor Ross today. He is mapping out his recommendations to the legislature with regard to delinquent taxes.

"Many legislators have been in the camp on and without exception they cannot pay their taxes," said the governor.

"We want the tax money, of course," said Governor Ross, "but we will not get it by force. For this reason we hope to work out a plan so that there will be only two reasons for the taxes on farms not being paid."

University Budget

The University of Idaho budget is at present taking up the attention of President M. G. Neale and the governor. President Neale and his bookkeepers have literally moved into the office of Governor Ross and are working out a budget which will be satisfactory to the university and also to the legislature.

"We cannot render the university incompetent by cutting down its budget too much, but we can keep it within bounds, and that is what we intend to do," said Governor Ross.

Robbers Escape With $48,000 In Payroll Holdup

Bandit Quartet Loots Electric Company in Durand Theft At Philadelphia

FUGITIVE DIRECTS RAID

Pennsylvania's Public Enemy No. 1 Leads Armed Crew Into Offices

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29 (UP)—Four bandits who are the leadership of Robert Mads, Pennsylvania's public enemy No. 1, today looted the Philadelphia Electric company's payroll office of between $40,000 and $48,000.

A number of the 32 employees who were lined up against a wall while the looting occurred, identified photographs of Mads, an escaped convict, as the leader of the gang.

Fugitive In Gang

Walter Leggett, another fugitive leader, also was in the gang. The four bandits went to the third floor offices of the company while a fifth man sat outside in an automobile. Two about on the sidewalk prevented interference while two entered the payroll room.

Pointing shotguns, the two looters forced men and women employees to be on the floor.

"Give me that big bag," the leader demanded of a pay clerk. The bag contained about $48,000. Then the bandit grabbed a smaller bag and some loose money and change. It was estimated this bag contained $8,000.

"Not a sound, or we'll kill you," the bandit warned as he backed toward a door.

As one man on the floor moved a spot was fired by the bandit to frighten him.

Woman Snagged

Earl Smith, a watchman, attempted to stop the bandits as they fled and was snugged on the head. Less than a square from the door, the bandits escaped with another automobile. One of the robbers fired at the driver.

Little is known of the early criminal career of Mads, who in 1927 was a member of the Pennsylvania's "public enemy No. 1."

ROOSEVELT AND INDUSTRY PLAN RECOVERY TALK

F. D. R., Business Chiefs Will Chart Cooperation

BY H. G. THOMPSON
(Copyright, 1931, United Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (UP)—President Roosevelt and industrial leaders plan to get together soon for a heart-to-heart discussion of business problems, it was learned today.

The White House conference, to take place "at the earliest possible moment," was arranged at the joint conference for recovery at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. The conference ended last night.

At the conference between the president and representative members of the 30 industrial leaders who attended the West Virginia meeting, both sides will lay their cards on the table for a frank discussion of perplexing business problems.

Will Hear Complaints

The administration, it was learned, is ready to discuss recovery problems and any complaints business may have. In the light of the conciliatory attitude shown by the businessmen at the White Sulphur Springs conference.

The men entrusted with carrying the conference message to the White House were C. H. Amos, chairman, and George Meade of New York.

An the business leaders who participated in the West Virginia conference separated to go to their homes some of the more significant features of the meeting became apparent.

Young, Haskob Help

One important feature was the part played by Owen D. Young, John J. Haskob and others in guiding the conference away from acrimonious disputes and into the fold of conciliation.

Young, particularly, coming into the limelight when divergent viewpoints through wide-open discussions within the conference, steered the business men at the industrialists into a common meeting ground.

While this maneuver was held responsible for causing some of the resolutions to be of a flexible and business nature, the attitude of the majority at the conference was that it would be better to refrain from specific commitments that might endanger the program.

'This was particularly true of debate over the resolution regarding the national recovery act. As finally evolved, the proposal adopted the results of the act for another year as an emergency measure, with modifications designed generally to put coefficient of industry on a voluntary basis.

While the results of the White Sulphur Springs conference showed industry had no intention of capitulating.

Conference Asks Emergency Code Legislation for One Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (UP)—The industry leaders who met at White Sulphur Springs today urged that the National Recovery Administration be reauthorized for one year.

The recommendations that new emergency legislation be enacted for a period of one year in conformity with principles heretofore applied.

Such emergency legislation should be administered by an administrative agency of at least five members.

Give the agency power to approve or disapprove codes of fair competition in or affecting interstate commerce.

Emergency Character

Any new legislation continuing NIRA should be of the same temporary emergency character as the original act.

The continuance of present codes or the adoption of new codes should be conditioned upon the voluntary action of respective industries or trades.

The new act should require the industry in which the agency finds child labor used or threatened would be applied to by business to apply for a code.

A recommendation that no industry or trade voluntarily desiring to do so may adopt and make effective a code of fair competition.

No code provision should be approved or continued which results in a price level burdensome and unfair to the public.

Voluntary Codes

The development and submission of codes of fair competition should be entirely voluntary by industry and subject to approval or disapproval of the administrative agency.

The new act should extend only to those businesses which are engaged in or affect interstate commerce.

Code violations should be adjudicated, if possible, by the code authority with the aid, on proof of violation, of the administrative agency, with ultimate resort to judicial process.

The use, application or possession of NIRA labels or other such emblem or device should not be required.

Two years ago the legislature put into effect the equalization law which puts Idaho out in the front rank of the states which are looking out for the poorer districts in matters of education. Only New York, Missouri and Delaware have similar laws. California leads all by providing for state aid every high school child in the state an $80 for every grade school child.

Would Aid Property

In taxing the burden will further upon the state it will be possible to reduce the load carried by property values," said Mr. Condit.

"By this new plan we do not intend to increase the cost of education," he emphasized. "Our program calls for the minimum program of education. Anything more than the minimum must be voted by the people of the district."

The gift of a Wurlitzer, two manual all-electric pipe-organs to the University of Idaho, southern branch, by the Orthopne theater, was announced by Mr. Condit. This organ was originally valued at $16,000. At the branch a new instructor in auto mechanics was appointed. He is Roy F. Christensen.

The board decided to postpone the investigation of the deaf and blind school at Coaling until next March.

Article in 1890 Tells Glory of Shoshone Falls

To old timers, who, remembering its former glories, are just a bit apologetic now about the wonders of Shoshone falls, an article, found recently by Miss Jessie Fraser, Twin Falls, will bring a renewal of memories they would hate to forget.

The article, which appeared in the Century magazine in 1890, tells of the falls, when westward emigrants justly called it the Niagara of the West.

The author of the article, whose name is not given, tells how, after a dreary journey across a strange and uncomfortable desert, his party came "suddenly, just at the dusk of evening, to the abrupt precipice and at the same instant the mighty roar of the cataract greeted the ear."

After describing the effect of his first glimpse of the water's "furious" fall of 210 feet, the abyss above into the great abyss below," he tells how his party descended to the meadow where a tent served the purpose of a hotel. He also relates his visit to "Cathedral Dome" and of the difficulty of clambering about the falls to obtain the proper variety of views.

But he was deeply impressed by this grandest of sights, an even old timers, jealous of those former splendors, will admit if they read the article, which Miss Fraser has on file at the library.

Bowling Banter - by FRED STONE

"As a leadoff man, I'm the hero," observed Bill Bailey. "Ten splits had Bill so he was afraid to hit the head pin. Bill had six of his 10 splits in the first game."

Archib Anderson's tenpin ball held up his position for him. Ove Colman got himself a double in the 4th and 7th frames of the first game, but after that strikes were hard to get. Orville picked up two nice splits in the second game.

Lefty Oetjen started his first game with a spare, then a double, and finished with a 100. He had a total of 300. We'll order him with left-handed strikes in 'em next year, Art.

Johnnie Stinson had a hard time getting all the pins down in one frame. Johnnie's ball just curved by those single pins like nobody's business.

Al Smith wasn't bothered with too many strikes, either, but did have splits. Wow. Three in a row in the second game didn't help his score at all.

Charley Larsen had his share of open frames. Also Charley just couldn't get his strike ball to working. And believe me, it isn't because he doesn't hit 'em hard. Boy, does he smack 'em!

CHRISTMAS HELP RESPONSE GAINS

"Adoption" of Needy Families Makes Headway as Yule Project Here

Following publication in yesterday's Evening Times of some of the needs of unfortunate Twin Falls folk, a number of responses were received today at the Welfare Clearing association in the city hall. Mrs. R. A. Reynolds, director, reports.

Asked that all who can "adopt" a needy family and take the responsibility of supplying needed garments, Christmas toys, and other requirements. One family needing aprons and mittens were raised by several women.

Seen Today

Unusual sight: a woman eating black walnuts with a hat-pin. Where she knew up the old hat-pin, no one knows. The walnuts were raised by several women. Buhl, and are on sale here. A husband frantically looking for Christmas trees, alarmed at the diminishing supply, only to find out that he had bought them on hand. Lover of Owl cigars, a bit envious, as he sees a stranger walk into a cigar store, and order a full box of 50, slipping away the money, and a $2.00. Barber, admitting that he had followed his trade for high into 40 years. Motorist, relating how he almost killed a child, and was freed, when the child dived in front of the machine. Fortunately, both the child and the car were able to stop at once, with no result excepting a couple of scratches. A change in the desk arrangement at the office of the county auditor and recorder, providing for more of the welcome morning sunshine.

Salvation Army's Kettles Will Provide Yule Cheer

A Christmas dinner in the homes of those who are unable to provide for themselves is the object of the Salvation Army in setting out the collecting kettles each Christmas season, according to Adm. R. T. Stuel, commander of the Twin Falls post.

Many needy families in the Twin Falls district will be made happy this Christmas season with full baskets of Christmas cheer, made possible by the generosity of the Salvation Army and a generous public.

"A real Christmas dinner with all the 'fix-ins,' and a cheery 'God bless you,' will make life a little brighter for some of the less fortunate ones in this community," said Stuel today.

Children of these families will be remembered also at an entertainment in the Army hall next Monday night, as Santa Claus and his aides have arranged for a present for each child attending. Gifts of toys and candy will be distributed at the close of the program.

It was pointed out by Stuel that the Christmas collecting kettles in no way conflict with the Community Chest, as the matter of funds for this event is left out of the sum for which the Army is budgeted in the chest. All donations are voluntary from the public passing by the street corners, he said.

"Do not stepped into a higher price field when it introduced the first Airflow model a year ago," he said. "This year, De Soto is retaining the Airflow and at the same time is returning to its former price field with the new Airstream line."

"The new models will be shown here soon," he said.

Properly Owners Keep Staff Occupied With Payments As Deadline Nears

With Monday the final day for receipt of real and personal property taxes at the office of the county treasurer and the county assessor, foremen in their offices were busy today caring for the lines of taxpayers.

No recent computation of the amount of receipts has been made in the treasurer's office, but Mrs. Cora E. Stevens, treasurer, said that the payments were coming in splendidly.

Saturday is the last day for the payment of the first half of 1934 real property taxes at the treasurer's office, this official, however, payments by mail will be received over the week-end, and, on account of the large amount of such mail, it will perhaps be after the first of the year before all credits are made and receipts issued, she said.

L. D. S. PLANNING CHRISTMAS PLAY

"The Gift," a one-act Christmas play, and program, to be followed by a dance will be the entertainment at the L. D. S. recreation hall Friday at 8 p. m. The program is in charge of Miss Virginia Davidson, who is leaving soon on a mission to the east central states with her headquarters to be located at Louisville, Ky.

Members of the cast for the play are Virginia Davidson, Grant Harris, Claude Brown, J. Colleen Hill, Fay Hopkin and H. C. Howell. Mrs. Stella Harris Oakes is directing the play. A dance by Norman Hines and numbers by the Charles Shirley string ensemble will make up the program.

Donations will be taken for missionary Christmas gifts.

Funeral Conducted Here for Mrs. Arn

Arn, lay at the family home, 620 Main, avenue north at the service. The mortuary directed interment in Twin Falls cemetery.

MENUS OF ACTOR STARTLE MOVIES

Carl Brisson Has Hollywood Amazed at His Extensive Danish Meals

By ALEXANDER KAHN HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Food-conscious Hollywood has been standing in awe ever since Carl Brisson, Danish actor and non-ivian, came to town.

Brisson it is who introduced the continental custom here of "international breakfasts," a different kind of repast each Sunday morning from some different nation.

A typical day at the Brisson home finds:

Carl ordering his servants to bring forth some "Smorrebrod-abord." It's not so bad as it sounds being a form of "hors d'oeuvres."

A course "Smorrebrod-abord" consists of from 50 to 100 dishes of every nature—fish, meats, fowl, salads. To be correct according to Danish style, there must be at least 50 dishes on the table for the "Smorrebrod."

This is followed by a meat course with vegetables and green salad and then three or four cheeses, avocets and hamlet. Coffee and cigars to top it off.

At the Brisson menage a Danish brandy called "Akvavit" serves as an aperitif. With the cold table, one has Danish lager beer, according to the Brisson formula, and with the meat course a red wine.

Here's some of the dishes found in that "Smorrebrod-abord": Campo a la Rigor; spring croquettes; sautéed herring; cauliflower; herring in cream dressing; anchovy fry; mock caviar; eggs with Madeira and tomato sauce; frikadelles; Hinkelbefer with onions, beef fat and egg yolks; and others that cannot be written out in English.

The favorite dessert in the Brisson menu is Abrikog or apple cake with whipped cream.

Brisson recently invited studio workers to his home for dinner on completion of his new picture, "All the King's Horses," but the technicians had heard of Brisson's dinners and were not invited.

"Would you mind if we asked for ham-and-eggs? We can't pronounce anything else on the menu you offer."

SMARTNESS TEST OF BEST STYLES

Famed U. S. Fashion Adviser Declares Women's Apparel Isn't "Beautiful"

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women's clothes, far from being beautiful, are and always have been essentially unattractive.

So says Tobe, international style authority and fashion merchandising counselor to over 100 of America's leading department stores and shops.

According to Tobe, in that what counts with women is not beauty in clothes, but smartness, and the best dressed woman is the one whose clothes are smartest.

Not Beautiful "Women talk about clothes being beautiful and lovely," said Tobe, "but a little thought quickly establishes the fact that women's clothes are not beautiful and probably never have been. If you look through the advertisements of a newspaper or magazine of five or six years ago you laugh and say to yourself: 'How did we ever wear such awful looking things!' But at that past time you described those same dresses as beautiful and lovely," and laughed instead at the clothing of the decade before.

And five years from now, you may be sure, we shall think the lovely clothes of today are thoroughly unattractive.

The acid test of beauty, according to this authority, is its ability to endure time. A painting by Leonardo da Vinci is as beautiful today as it was when that great artist painted it. So it is, she says, with all objects that are truly beautiful. They do not become less beautiful with the advance of time.

The important thing to observe is that beauty is essentially an unimportant consideration in what women wear," explains Tobe. "What really counts is whether clothes are smart. That is the real standard."

Nationwide Poll Places Will Rogers at Top of Leading Screen Stars for 1934

Here are the ten leading stars of 1934 as revealed by a survey of independent motion picture exhibitors whose decisions are based on drawing power of films and actors. They are, in order of popularity, and as numbered above: 1. Will Rogers; 2. Clark Gable; 3. Janet Gaynor; 4. Wallace Beery; 5. Mae West; 6. Joan Crawford; 7. Bing Crosby; 8. Shirley Temple; 9. Marjorie Dressler; 10. Norma Shearer. Eight of the ten gained similar honors last year. Bing Crosby and Shirley Temple, newcomers, replace Eddie Cantor and Jean Harlow.

BUILDER OF TELESCOPES, AT 88, REAFFIRMS FAITH IN RELIGION

By DAVID DIETZ CLEVELAND, Dec. 20 (UPI)—Ambrose Swasey, world-famous builder of telescopes, celebrated his 88th birthday yesterday.

As a present he received nothing less than a planet. A star and an island, radiating energy, were named after him.

Between Mars and Jupiter are some 7,500 tiny planets, known technically as asteroids. Whoever discovers one has the privilege of naming it.

Dr. Struve recently discovered a new planet, and wrote Swasey that he had named it "Swasey." A few days ago a Belgian astronomer, out of gratitude for Herbert Hoover's services to Belgium in the World war, named an asteroid "Hooveria."

Swasey is world-renowned as a telescope builder. At present the 60-inch telescope for the new McDonald observatory is under construction at his company.

Surrounded by flowers and telegrams from friends from all parts of the world, Swasey confirmed his belief in religion, science, the future of America and opportunities for youth.

He is an optimist, Swasey said. Discussing his life as a condition. "The old ship of state has sailed stormy waters before this. Her timber may crack at times but she will weather the waves."

"There is plenty for industry to go to work and do it. I believe that the way to resume business is to resume business."

Swasey said his faith in religion was stronger than ever and that he observed the greatest scientists were devout men.

"They are building a 200-inch telescope now," he said. "Maybe some day they will build a 500-inch one. I do not know what they will see in it. But I know what they will not see. They will not see over the edge. The Creator is still greater than his creation."

Churches, Homes, Schools "Times have changed and the world has grown more wonderful. But those old New Englanders had the right formula. They built homes, churches and schools. Those are still the most important things in the world."

FLIER, 76, HOPES TO HOP PACIFIC

Aged Chicago Millionaire Will Test Weather Conditions For Flight Data

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Charles Dickinson, 76-year-old aviator of Chicago, has ambitions to fly across the Pacific, he revealed when a snowstorm grounded him here on a trip to Chicago from the West coast.

Dickinson deplored the storm which stopped his flight here and then mentioned that he would have to catch a plane back to the coast as soon as possible to catch his boat for Asia.

"And why are you going to Asia?" he was asked. "I'm going to go as a passenger. A couple of weeks ago I looked at some planes—50-passenger crafts with four 800-horsepower motors. I have a pretty good idea of what I want."

"I am not going to be satisfied with making one crossing of the Pacific. I am going to fly across it twice in order to show that air transportation across the ocean is practicable," he wound up his speech.

Dickinson is said to be a millionaire, retired from the seed business about 14 years so that he could devote his full time to flying. He has been flying for about 28 years, but did not receive his pilot's license until three years ago.

Dickinson's first with Orville Wright in the pioneer days of aviation.

Since 1921 Dickinson has been making plans and studying conditions for his flight to Asia, he said.

SCREEN PLAYERS DISCARD DOUBLES

Starr Perform Own Perilous Work in Film Studios

By DAN THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Any of you people who have been laying bets on who is the outstanding star in motion pictures today, now can pay off or collect, if you're lucky.

The correct answer is, Will Rogers. That's not merely my personal opinion, either. It's the opinion of the combined independent exhibitors (theater owners without any studio connection) in practically every city throughout the United States, all of whom were polled in a survey just completed by the Motion Picture Herald, leading film trade publication.

Will Wins Easily What a break that is for those who have been campaigning for clean film! Rogers, who consistently has led for good clean entertainment with plenty of laughs, won in a walk replacing the late Marie Dressler who had been in first place for two years. However, despite her death, the ground and tide of the screen was not crowded out entirely. She still ranks among the ten biggest money makers of the year. And that, without a single new picture during 1934.

Here's the List The ten leading stars, listed according to their respective standing in this survey, are: 1. Will Rogers; 2. Clark Gable; 3. Janet Gaynor; 4. Wallace Beery; 5. Mae West; 6. Joan Crawford; 7. Bing Crosby; 8. Shirley Temple; 9. Marjorie Dressler; 10. Norma Shearer.

This list shows, among other things, an ever increasing tendency on the part of the American public to refrain old favorites. Only two new names, Crosby and Shirley Temple, are in the line-up. All of the others were among the ten leaders last year. And many of them were in similar position two years ago.

Up from Sixth However, there has been some juggling of positions. Two years ago Rogers was in sixth place. Last he was second. Now he's at the head of the parade. It has taken Gable only one short year to climb from seventh place into his present position.

Janet Gaynor remains right where she was. Only Shirley Temple has climbed a notch. Mae West has come up from eighth place. Joan Crawford has moved up from the tenth rung. And Norma Shearer has slipped back one step.

Two Drop Out Eddie Cantor and Jean Harlow, fourth and sixth respectively last year, have been dropped from among the ten stars.

An interesting feature revealed by a close analysis of these movie leaders is the public's very decided preference for laughs rather than drama. Rogers is an out and out comedian.

The picture starring Gable, Beery, West, Temple, Dressler and Shearer have been comedy dramas. Crosby's films have been largely comedies with only Glynis and Crawford could be considered straight dramatic actresses.

WALLACE REPORT LAUDS AAA PLAN

Agriculture Chief Declares Much of Farm Recovery Aided by Program

By WILLIAM A. BEIL, JR.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace informed President Roosevelt in his annual report that the farm recovery program had proved more than worthwhile in an experiment, and should be continued indefinitely as a necessary function of national government.

Following 10 months of agricultural adjustment, administration's efforts to put the nation's farmers on their feet economically, Wallace concluded that upon further industrial revival and the restoration of foreign markets depended additional gains to agriculture.

"Agriculture cannot achieve prosperity by itself," he said.

Sounding Buying Tone

Industrial activity must increase enough to afford employment for additional millions and by lowering costs of manufactured products create sounder consumer buying power, before great liberalization of export controls can be considered, Wallace wrote. Likewise, he said, the only way alternative to the adjustment programs is expansion of foreign trade to a point where acreage reduction is no longer necessary to prevent price depressing surpluses.

"Everyone now recognizes that in the combination of benefit, income and production, the agriculture has an effective means of adjusting its production to the needs of the market, a method which overcomes the obstacles that wrecked the old system to accomplish that end," the secretary told the president.

"So successful has the new method proved that the year leader has been over the objection that it will work too well for the good of the community, that it creates want and not welfare."

Denies AAA Creates Want

That the AAA ever will create want Wallace denied, pointing out that the AAA never contemplates the reduction of acreage, should be continued indefinitely. The aim, he declared, is "a balanced abundance, involving reduction in some things, expansion in others."

"Agriculture cannot create scarcity at will, because the motive to keep men and land out of production weakens as surpluses disappear."

Full Employment

Emphasizing his belief that the AAA has done its part toward putting agriculture out of the post-war era, he said it was up to industry to contribute more, the secretary said.

"The farmer's great need now, as he continues his efforts to produce a balanced output, is that of securing full employment of the industrial population in order that consumers may be able to pay fair prices for higher commodities."

Necessary as it is to meet the curious foreign markets and the surplus crisis of 1933, reduction in output is only a very partial and paradoxical answer in the long run to the crying need which is being created in the phrase, "balanced abundance."

Voluntary Principle

Recalling that whenever there has been direct popular objection to a control plan offered farmers, the AAA dropped the voluntary principle which has been preserved in regulating farming, Wallace remarked.

And much of the so-called reg-

imentation, he counseled, can be removed if America decides to buy enough abroad to supply sufficient purchasing power for imports by other nations of U. S. agricultural products.

Foreign Goods

"Hence the admission of foreign goods into the American market since it would be accompanied by an increase in the purchasing power of the farmers, would handicap industry far less than the alternative policy of enforcement of agricultural protection."

Wallace said the experience of the summer's record drought emphasized the logic of the program. An orderly adjustment of animal numbers having been accomplished. Another benefit, he said, was apparent in the fact that agriculture came through the year with more grain per grain-consuming animal than otherwise would have been available. In the most hard-hit regions, the only income of many farmers was derived from AAA crop benefit payments.

One of the secretary's pet plans

the "ever-normal granary" to which recent years have had year after year failure was developed at some length. Reduced production for export, Wallace said, makes it necessary to maintain larger reserves. These would result in relative policy of enforcement of agricultural protection.

the government loan arrangements coupled with an obligation to participate in continued acreage control. Under this plan the crops would be stored and would have the basis for permanent control of livestock production cycles.

Private Traders

Government would guarantee the price of the "the" crops and would be disruptive relative to that plan. Wallace said.

the New

control of farmers through storage of livestock production cycles, private traders.

Through production adjustments financed by processing taxes and through marketing agreements with production control features, it has brought the supply of farm commodities more nearly into a profitable relationship with the demand.

Paying the debt homage of one sky dweller to a greater one, this steel worker stands silhouetted 500 feet above the earth, intently watching the progress of the U. S. S. Minnie, naval dirigible, as it escorts the American battle fleet into San Francisco bay. As shown in this picture, the worker is perched on a tower of the Oakland-San Francisco bay bridge, with a view spread before him beyond the imagination of any more earth dweller.

Denies AAA Creates Want

That the AAA ever will create want Wallace denied, pointing out that the AAA never contemplates the reduction of acreage, should be continued indefinitely. The aim, he declared, is "a balanced abundance, involving reduction in some things, expansion in others."

Agriculture cannot create

scarcity at will, because the motive to keep men and land out of production weakens as surpluses disappear."

Full Employment

Emphasizing his belief that the AAA has done its part toward putting agriculture out of the post-war era, he said it was up to industry to contribute more, the secretary said.

The farmer's great need now, as he continues his efforts to produce a balanced output, is that of securing full employment of the industrial population in order that consumers may be able to pay fair prices for higher commodities."

Recalling that whenever there has been direct popular objection to a control plan offered farmers, the AAA dropped the voluntary principle which has been preserved in regulating farming, Wallace remarked.

And much of the so-called reg-

imentation, he counseled, can be removed if America decides to buy enough abroad to supply sufficient purchasing power for imports by other nations of U. S. agricultural products.

Hence the admission of foreign goods into the American market since it would be accompanied by an increase in the purchasing power of the farmers, would handicap industry far less than the alternative policy of enforcement of agricultural protection."

Wallace said the experience of the summer's record drought emphasized the logic of the program. An orderly adjustment of animal numbers having been accomplished. Another benefit, he said, was apparent in the fact that agriculture came through the year with more grain per grain-consuming animal than otherwise would have been available. In the most hard-hit regions, the only income of many farmers was derived from AAA crop benefit payments.

One of the secretary's pet plans

the "ever-normal granary" to which recent years have had year after year failure was developed at some length. Reduced production for export, Wallace said, makes it necessary to maintain larger reserves. These would result in relative policy of enforcement of agricultural protection.

the government loan arrangements coupled with an obligation to participate in continued acreage control. Under this plan the crops would be stored and would have the basis for permanent control of livestock production cycles.

Private Traders

Government would guarantee the price of the "the" crops and would be disruptive relative to that plan. Wallace said.

the New

control of farmers through storage of livestock production cycles, private traders.

Through production adjustments financed by processing taxes and through marketing agreements with production control features, it has brought the supply of farm commodities more nearly into a profitable relationship with the demand.

REICH'S WOMEN GET WAR STUDY

New University Rules Chart Military Work for Girls in Colleges

By EDWARD BEATTIE
BERLIN (U.P.)—German women university students are discovering that their place under the Nazi scheme of things may not be entirely the home "Women's war service," including cartography, air protection and intelligence and communications work, in part of their new curriculum.

Drop Plan

Compulsory residence in dormitories, which caused many a shiver and loud objections from the aristocratic dueling fraternity when it was proposed, has not been carried out.

"It is expected, however," students are warned, "that each student for at least one semester will learn the new college's community life by voluntary, carefully residence and co-work with the others."

Attendance at lectures will be left almost entirely to the individual student because "political responsibility and the consciousness of duty toward the people already has become a basic requirement for admission to the entrance examinations."

"Political Service"

So-called "political service" for all students begins with a compulsory admission to the Labor Service, a requirement already filled by the incoming freshmen. Upper-classmen who have not already done so, or who are not exempt for physical or other grounds, must serve ten weeks between now and spring.

The girls are exempt this year,

but for all future classes it will be compulsory.

YULE DECORATION INTEREST GROWS

Sponsor Club Believes City
Will See Varied Display
Effects This Year

Growing interest each year in the Christmas decoration contest, sponsored by the Twentieth Century club, with the assistance of the Red Knights, is expected to be responsible for an array of displays this year that will be worth remembering, members of the club predict.

Last year members believed the city to be more beautiful than ever before during the holiday season, says Mrs. D. R. Churchill, president, and they expect those decorations to be outstanding this year.

A different system of prizes has been inaugurated this season. An award of two dollars will be given for the best display, one of one dollar fifty cents for the best side tree, and a similar prize for the best outside tree.

The first victim of the Montmartre gangster' gun was Louis La Fèvre, known to his intimate associates as Louis the Surprising, who ran a chain of lucrative gambling joints. He was rubbed out as he emerged from a tuxedo bar on the Rue Fontaine.

Louis the Surprising came into gangster prominence at 26, when he was the bodyguard of Dede of the Broken Nose. That was back in 1917. He soon became more prominent and then he was not heard of for several years.

But in the very height of the depression it became known that he was enjoying a good income from a number of clandestine gambling dens. His success at such a time apparently aroused the ire of less pliant members of the milieu. Anyway, he was snuffed and the following victims were his closest friends.

BIRTHS ANNOUNCED

OAKLEY, Dec. 20 (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Birch announced the birth of a son, and Mr. and Mrs. Garringer are the parents of a daughter.

Relief Beef Thrown

On Director's Step

TWIN FALLS, O. (U.P.)—Eight cans of roast beef distributed to relief clients in Potosi, O., were tossed against the door of the home of H. L. Houbolt, Seneca county relief director, during his absence.

Each of the cans had been punctured by a knife. Although no had been opened, a tag printed with red pencil was attached saying, "This meat killer my dog. I don't want it. A friend."
