Agriculture Department Sees Increased Export Demand For Products

PREDICTS LOW SURPLUS

Prospects Bright for Higher Foreign Shipments of American Pork

By WILLIAM A. BELLA, JR. WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—The department of agriculture peered into the future today and predicted improved farm conditions.

Increased export demand for American farm products was seen in the report of the department of agriculture to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace. The nation probably will not be limited with any large surpluses, it was said.

Small Wheat Crop The department's crop reporting board forecast a third successive small wheat crop next year, but said there was small danger of a shortage. The 1935 crop may be slightly larger than this year.

The board tentatively estimated the 1935 winter wheat crop at 475,000,000 bushels, compared to 495,000,000 this year. This, with a spring wheat crop of 200,000,000 bushels, would give a total production of 675,000,000 bushels.

Added to that would be a carry-over of 150,000,000 bushels to satisfy the nation's annual appetite for about 825,000,000 bushels. Based on those figures the department doesn't foresee a bread shortage.

No Shortage Fear Secretary Wallace said "We're not worried." Nils A. Olson, chief of the economics bureau of the department of agriculture, saw Europe as an increasing market for American farm surpluses.

"The demand for increased pork shipments is especially encouraging," he said.

House Chiefs Will Restrict G. O. P. Power

By EDWARD W. LEWIN WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—House Democratic leaders plan to "crack down" on the Republican minority in the next congress, depriving them of strength on important committees.

House Majority Leader Joseph W. Parnell, D., Penn., is expected to announce at the start of the next congress, that he favored such a move in the interest of the preponderant Democratic majority.

Under the plan Republican representation on house committees would be reduced to give important committee assignments to Democrats.

G. O. P. Too Strong "Some Republicans are on two or three committees, and I don't think that is treating ourselves right in view of the fact we now have a representation of three out of four members."

"The change will be proposed at a party caucus shortly before congress convenes. Democratic strength in the next house will be 322 to 101 Republicans, compared to 312 Democrats and 114 Republicans at the close of the 73rd congress. There will be 210 vacancies on 47 committees, including nine chairmanships as a result of the clearing turnover, deaths and resignations.

Commenting on the summary of mortality from automobile accidents in this country during 1934 as compiled by the Evening Times and published yesterday, Sheriff E. P. Prator said today that commencing with the new year, a drive against motor traffic violators will be launched in conjunction with the state department of law enforcement.

DRIVE WILL AIM AT AUTO HAZARD

Unexpected Causes "Accidents sometimes originate from unexpected causes," he said, referring to the fact that just following the grading of a particular place on the highway, four or five cars were found in the ditch within a short distance.

He warned that during rain, snow and fog all drivers should drive slowly and carefully, and issued an appeal to all motorists to make certain that headlights, brakes and horns were in good working order.

WESTERN SOLONS SEEK INQUIRY ON SILVER PROGRAM

White-Metal Senators Doubt Facts on What Treasury Has Actually Done

SAY MOVES TOO SECRET

Lawmakers Want Glimpse Into Federal Reports on U. S. Purchasing

By JOHN A. REICHMAN WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—Western senators called today for a possible congressional inquiry to find out what the treasury is doing about silver.

Failure of Secretary Henry Morgenthau to enlighten them as to the extent of the treasury's operations toward nationalization of silver prompted the talk of an inquiry.

Want Facts President Roosevelt last summer ordered the treasury to purchase silver until the ratio to gold reserves was three to one. Silver blue senators want to know if that has been done.

The study, it was understood, would be undertaken with a view of determining the effect of the silver program on national and international trade and on world economic conditions.

Crystallization of silver blue sentiment awaited the arrival of others interested in the matter. Those here are divided on the subject of an inquiry. Some feel the treasury has carried out the president's orders as far as in either way is possible.

Too Much Secrecy Those inclined to be critical of the treasury base their objection chiefly on the belief that movements in silver have been shrouded in too much secrecy. They'd like a peek at the records. Some senators believe the proposed inquiry will not materialize. Several said they felt the treasury should inform congress as soon as possible as to the extent the purchase program has been carried out, the effect of purchases on the economic situation, the price paid and whether any sales have been made to halt or slow down price increases.

HOPKINS, ICKES RAP DOLE PLAN

Administration Leaders See No Good in Suggestion By Conference

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—The suggestion of business leaders, that the role of the president should be limited to that of a figurehead, was rejected today by administration spokesmen.

"I don't see how anyone could have made a suggestion worse for the country," said Henry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, said.

Asked by Leaders The suggestion was made by representatives of the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Manufacturers' association meeting at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

NRA DISCLOSES REGIONAL PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—A far-reaching plan for decentralization of NRA control was disclosed today by the national industrial recovery board.

The board will set up immediately subordinate regional offices at New York and Chicago to handle NRA matters in those cities.

Within a short time headquarters will be established in Boston, Cleveland, Philadelphia and San Francisco.

The plan is in line with the decentralization of NRA compliance announced by Sol Rosenblatt, compliance officer.

Earn Freedom by 'T. B.' Tests

Stalling their lives in a perfum medical experiment for hope of liberty, two Colorado tuberculosis patients have been freed today by order of Gov. E. C. Johnson. The pair was inoculated with a new serum developed to prevent tuberculosis, then millions of the disease germs injected into their veins. After months of experiment, they were pronounced in perfect condition.

The scene is a dismal one. Between Rutland Wells and Bagfield there is only a narrow ploughed by Royal Air Force tractor in 1918 and the only inhabitants are occasional wandering Gypsies.

Business Firms Renew Christmas Bonus Plan

By United Press Christmas bonuses to employes, which in boom years of 1929 and 1929 totalled hundreds of thousands of dollars, are re-appearing this year, a United Press survey showed today.

Various industrial companies and organizations this week announced Christmas gifts to employes. Some stock exchange houses announced payments to employes.

Walt Street Surprised Bonuses in Wall street came as a surprise inasmuch as securities business has been at a low ebb all year—some companies operating in the red but private fortunes have been good.

Month's Pay' Mecca Machine company, a month's bonus to all employes who were on the payroll last Dec. 1 and other employes payment proportionate to their service.

Hammond Bag & Paper company, 5 per cent of year's wages and an extra day's pay to each employe.

YOUTH, 17, KILLS WEALTHY FATHER

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—A 17-year-old boy shot his father to death in the dining room of the palatial Rock home here because the father refused to sanction his marriage.

The son, who weighed 150 pounds, told San Antonio detectives, summoned here by Sheriff A. W. Sargent, that he quarreled with his father over the proposed marriage.

The father wished his son to continue at Sequin Lutheran college, where the boy attended classes until his recent withdrawal without his father's knowledge.

British Planes Find Wreckage Of Giant Netherlands "Flying Hotel"

FALLS IN IRAQ DESERT

Searchers Believe Craft May Have Been Struck by Lightning

Baghdad, Iraq, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—Wreckage of the Netherlands air liner "Flying Hotel" was found today in the south of a desert black-hole in the desert. Its seven occupants, three passengers and crew of four, all Netherlands, were killed.

British Royal Air Force planes found the wreckage of the great "flying hotel," an American built Douglas transport which finished second in the England-to-Australia air race.

Struck Lightning Bolt It was believed the plane might have been struck by lightning. It crashed south of Rutland Wells, a desert black-hole fort guarded by Irak soldiers the only building within 10 miles. The terrain is nearly level, and in normal circumstances an airplane could land easily.

The liner sent out an SOS call Wednesday night, after passing Gazza on the coast of the Gulf, en route from Cairo to Baghdad. It was believed it crashed soon afterward.

The scene is a dismal one. Between Rutland Wells and Bagfield there is only a narrow ploughed by Royal Air Force tractor in 1918 and the only inhabitants are occasional wandering Gypsies.

Administration Pushes Program For Power Cuts

Ickes Announces Loans In War to Slash Rates

"Just Starting to Fight," Asserts PWA Chief; No Municipal Plants Where Private Scale Reasonable

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt's "just begun to fight" for lower utility rates, administration leaders said today as they pushed forward with a federal program backed by millions of dollars of PWA money.

Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes, who as PWA administrator holds the purse strings in the war against excessive utility rates, emerged today as the spearhead of the administration's attack.

Ickes announced more than $200,000,000 already had been advanced from PWA funds for construction of federal and municipal plants and indicated there was "plenty more where that came from." Applications for more loans are under consideration.

Under plans announced by Ickes, federal loans will not be used for municipal plants in cities where private utility rates are just and reasonable.

"We haven't begun to touch the market for power," Ickes said in contradiction of the industry's contention that this country is over-supplied with power.

"An announcement that huge amounts were being expended for municipal plants and on federal power projects was the administration's answer to an attack by power utilities on the Tennessee valley development project.

The administration plan to push its power development program through to completion, leaders said. It has under way now, with start shortly, five major power developments to cost $146,250,000.

Millions of dollars are being poured into "hydroelectric" dams in the south, northwest and the Rocky mountains, these are the Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams and power plants on the Columbia river in the northwest; the River Peck dam on the Missouri river in Montana; Norris dam in Tennessee and Muscle Shoals in Alabama; Boulder dam in Colorado and the Casper-Alvora project in Wyoming.

Non-federal allotments for construction of power plants and distribution systems by municipalities and other local public bodies total about $50,000,000, Ickes said. About 100 municipalities have received federal aid for power plants.

Two Granted Help Two such instances of PWA help came yesterday, when the administrator announced grants to Columbus, O., and Lamoni, Ia. Columbus received $320,000 for a power house and Lamoni received $70,000 as a grant and loan for an electric system.

Mayor Florence H. LaGuardia flew back to New York to prepare plans for a power plant upon which he hopes to obtain a $2,000,000 federal loan. He has assured presidential treatment of the application.

TAX EXEMPTION REMOVAL URGED

Morganthau Will Ask Sponsors To Remove Privilege from Future Bonds

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—Legislation to remove tax exemption of future Federal, state, and municipal bonds will be urged of Congress by Secretary of Treasury Henry Morganthau, jr., the United States treasury today.

Now outstanding are $35,000,000 of $100,000,000 in tax-exempt government securities. The exemption of these would not be removed but future issues would be affected under the plan.

The tax-exemption security program was authorized by the most important subject in a comprehensive tax survey ordered by President Roosevelt to determine means of eliminating overlapping taxes and more economical methods of collection.

The treasury program probably will take the form of recommendation to the house ways and means and the house judiciary committees.

Agriculture Department Sees Increased Export Demand For Products

(Continued From Page One) Thinking import restrictions can be required through reciprocal trade agreements," he said. "With a return of world wheat prices to a higher level, foreign preferences for American and Canadian wheat will reassert themselves, he said."

Olson repeats the evidence of widespread pyramiding of prices on the result of processing taxes, coles and benefit payments. The former's portion of the consumer's dollar increased from 35 per cent in the first half of 1932 to 47 per cent in the corresponding period of this year, he said.

The report noted a "marked slowing-up" of the inflation from 1933 to 1934, the movement during 1933 having averaged only 65 per cent of the 1932 total.

Consumption of flour showed "a very small decline," the board reported. Based on normal consumption of wheat and the best available estimate of 1935 production the surplus should reach 175,000,000 bushels next year.

The report placed wheat acreage at 44,200,000 acres and the condition of the winter crop on Dec. 1 at 73 per cent of normal. It predicted a normal abandonment of about six per cent and said the yield per acre would be "comparatively low" from the wheat report were that domestic wheat prices will remain high, although perhaps not so high as at present; the United States will not be a factor in the export market at least another year, and the AAA will seek additional return toward normal seeding if it offers a benefit payment contract to wheat growers in 1935.

Vet Denies Report Of Own Demise

BILLIATRE, O. (AP)—Paul A. Wimmer, has sent a letter to the Veterans Bureau at Washington denying a "greatly exaggerated" report of his death.

The bureau had notified Wimmer's family it was ready to pay his adjusted compensation for his death. The mistake occurred when a Columbus man used Wimmer's service serial number to obtain a flag for a veteran's funeral.

I hope you have a long wait before paying that claim," Wimmer wrote.

GEODETTIC SURVEY MAKES PROGRESS

Director Lyman Says 35 Men Now Doing Valuable Work On Brunau Project

Revealing considerable progress in the geodetic survey now underway on the Brunau project west of here, Ray J. Lyman, director of the work, in an Evening Times interview said that 25 men are running a level through the tract a distance of 10 miles. The area covered lies between Hild and Brunau and south of the Snake river from Glenn Ferry.

"The two ends of this line are tied in with either first or second order government bench marks," Lyman said here today. "Bench marks are being established by these parties every half mile and the position of many of them is being determined with regard to latitude and longitude by tying them in with the first-order triangulation monuments of the coast and geodetic survey. One of these first-order monuments, established by the government about 20 years ago, happens to be in the very heart of the Brunau project."

In addition to the geodetic surveys now underway on the neighboring tract, it is known that a company promoted by T. B. Perkins, father of the "Twin Falls tract," has been engaged for months in surveying a canal along Snake river canyon. It is designed to carry water from Blaine lakes to the Brunau tract.

Discussing the geodetic survey, Lyman said that some 30 years ago the Union Pacific railroad made a preliminary survey for a railroad across the tract.

"Ever since more of the surveying has been going on in connection with the development of this vast tract of land for irrigation purposes, some very splendid reservoir sites have been located in the back part of the area. In addition to all this a through highway has been planned as a part of the Scott International Highway system. This highway is to pass westward from Hild across the tract and approximately through Brunau and onward toward Oregon in Grant Pass, thence westward over the present highway system to Crescent City, Calif. The object being, according to Major Scott who is the author of this route, to establish a short cut Pacific coast connection for this great inland area."

Valuable Plan

"A highway of this kind would, of course, be of tremendous value not only to this part of Idaho, but to the entire central region including Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming and probably a part of Montana, Nevada and Utah and points east."

"Survey work of this nature and actual realization of a construction program can result only in benefiting every point of this great inland empire regardless of whether the community in question is located directly in the area affected or whether it is in an outlying section. Even outlying sections will feel the tremendous building power of great projects of this nature."

"Therefore, it is apparent that there are four national and state engineering projects which would tie into this Geodetic Survey line, with the railroad construction program, the canal construction plan of the Brunau, the reservoir construction and the highway construction plan. To this might be added the surveying of lands in areas where there are apparently no land corners or where the land has never been surveyed."

PERT CURL

A tricky new touch in coiffures is this one shown by Patricia Lee of the films as she attended an exclusive club party in Hollywood. It looks something like a biscuit roll across the forehead, or one of the old-fashioned coiffures draped fetchingly across the brow. But whatever it is, it's the last word in fetchingness.

Co-Eds Find Test Not Proving Point

AKRON, O. (AP)—An object lesson in what is supposed to happen to bad little co-eds who won't out their spinach and take their cod liver oil, has been going slightly awry at Akron university.

The good little white rat that ate his spinach and carrots and drank his cod liver oil like a good little soldier has a cold. And the bad little white rat that lived on nuts and potatoes and bread and butter, are growing stronger than ever, thriving on the sympathy of the home economic class.

Meanwhile, girls of the two opposite beliefs have no ill feelings toward the lowly rodents but hope for final victory for their own sides.

STUDENTS HOME FROM COLLEGES

Added Zest Given Christmas Holidays as Young Group Makes Appearance

Christmas festivities gained an added zest today with the arrival of students from colleges and universities throughout the country, who will spend a busy holiday season here. Feature of the afternoon was the arrival of the special train from the University of Idaho at Hild and Shoshone, bringing nearly 200 students to Twin Falls county for the vacation.

An advance guard arrived from the university yesterday afternoon when Miss Irene Forrest, Miss Myrtle Jensen, Miss Anna Swerley and Miss Ruth Taylor descended from a plane at the landing field yesterday afternoon. They had flown from Lewiston. With them were Frank Stovell, Bill "Bud" Lewis and John Gaskill, Burley.

From Southern Branch students from the University of Idaho, southern branch, Pocatello, were also beginning to arrive in numbers today. Among those who will spend the vacation here are Jack Powell, Rialto; Kimes, Virginia Lawrence, Grove Wiley, Bernard Dickerson, Marjorie Cain; Margaret Brown, Helen Hardy, Gertrude Becker, Helen Barber, Twin Falls; Wayne Carter, Ralph Lacey, Tom Mann, Joe Becker, Ernest Mullins, Linnir Makomsky, Edward Joyce, Aubrey Mahannah, Knox Boring and George Arthur, Hild; Ray Buckman, Homer Clarke, Sherman Williams, Alma Knauer and Kenneth Reid, Elmer; Dorothy Hollfield and George Pledger, Hannon; Rhoda Robinson and Holland Patrick, Hellsater; Letha Glenn, Loren Drums, Eugene Brown and Charles Latham, Kimberly.

Others Arrive

Others who have arrived are James Barnhart and Luther Evans, the University of Colorado, Boulder; Harold Bergen, University of Idaho; Anita Wallace, College of Idaho, Caldwell; Curtis Eaton, Stanford university, Palo Alto, Calif.; Melvin Schubert, University of Southern California.

A group from Alhambra State Normal school was expected to arrive this evening or tomorrow.

Stones from foreign nations, the various states, cities, fraternal and other organizations were used to line the interior walls of the Washington Monument when it was constructed.

TONG DEDICATES NEW STRUCTURE

Portland's Chinatown Stages Fete at Opening of Headquarters

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—To the music of drums and gongs, the dancing of the lion and the ancient symbolism of the lion dance, Portland's Chinatown dedicated its new Gee How Oak Tan Association's headquarters. Chinese came from all over Oregon, Washington and California for the celebration, one of the most elaborate held here in 50 years.

The association numbers about 400 Portland Chinese, both American and foreign-born, who are members of the Chin Woo Yuen family long. Heading the list of Chin dignitaries who came for the dedication was Chin Doon Puk, San Francisco, president of the Chin Woo Yuens in America.

Ancient Family

More than 800 years ago the family came into being when three men knelt before their great god, Di Boon, and swore they would be brothers. Today their descendants make the Chin Woo Yuen family one of the largest. The Portland branch is one of the three largest in the United States, and the biggest in the city.

Di Boon, as legend says, started in life as a farmer, and lived so righteously and was so kind that even the birds and beasts aided him in his work. Di Boon's reputation reached the ears of the Emperor of China, Do Yew, and on investigating he stopped said he made Di Boon ruler of the kingdom. He later died.

A huge hand-carved pine statue of the god, 500 years old, is a shrine in the Gee How Oak Tan Association rooms. Here the East and West have been united since the lights of the world were first kindled.

1934 TAKES TOLL OF MOVIE STARS

Mario Dressler Heads List of Favorites Succumbing During Past Year

By LEO BARON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—To the red and green wreaths that heralded the Yuletide season, there is Hollywood boulevard there should have been added a somber touch of black.

The symbolical color of mourning would have been appropriate homage to Mario Dressler, Lew Cody and other favorites who died during the year.

Death removed more than its usual quota from the motion picture world in 1934. The toll was exacted through accident, natural causes and suicide. In the colony where frayed nerves provoke frequent outbreaks there was, albeit, not a single murder. Violence was held to an occasional one-punch fight, each scrupulously recorded as "The Battle of the Century."

Dressler's Death

Gravest blow to the industry and its millions of fans was the death of Mario Dressler. The beloved comedienne, who topped them all as a box office attraction, succumbed to a fatal coronary artery after a courageous fight which outlasted her physicians for weeks. Her demise, "Will Rogers became the industry's best drawing card."

A voice that had thrilled millions of radio listeners was silenced by the bullet that ended the life of Russ Colombo. The crooning troubadour, who was just getting a start in the movies, had called at a friend's home. They were inspecting some old firearms when his friend tripped the trigger of a supposedly empty gun. As this is the Colombo's agent, who believes him living. In frail health, she was told he went to England for picture work.

Cody's Passing

Cody died in his sleep. A fatal heart attack seized him a few hours after he returned from a gay party. Cody was one of the last members of that fast-disappearing group which found life in conventional Hollywood's "Colonial" days.

Another bon vivant of the same stamp was Lew Tellegen. Once the toast of fondling hearts, Tellegen was broken in health and spirit when he killed himself. Dramatic to the end, he plunged a scalpel to his breast seven times, inflicting a mortal wound.

Dorothy Dell

No young actress in Hollywood had a brighter future than Dorothy Dell, a New Orleans girl who stepped into fame by winning a "The Universe" beauty contest a few years ago. She was headed toward stardom in motion pictures when she was crushed to death under an automobile.

Jarreglin's Suicide

While a party was in progress at the home of Jarreglin, the writer stepped into another room and shot himself to death. His actress wife, Irene Brandin, suspected foul play, but police and a coroner's jury ruled it was suicide.

Men Came First; Costs Them More

AKRON, O. (AP)—A fine point of etiquette—men or ladies first when going to jail?—was identified by Common Pleas Judge Arthur W. Doyle.

The men came first, but the girls, charged with being decoys in a hold-up, found themselves sentenced to serve only 90 days in jail while their men companions drew 1-to-25-year sentences.

Margaret Lower, 20, and Helen Quenden, 19, were sentenced to jail and fined $25 each for 90 days in a charge of luring a man out of his home to be attacked by the hold-up men and robbed of $665. Louis Abrams, 35, was sentenced to 10 years in the Ohio State penitentiary. George Caswell, 18, Cleveland, one to 15 years; and Albert Genare, 20, Cleveland, 10 to 25 years in Mansfield reformatory.

Deer Wore Pants

ALPENA, Mich. (AP)—"Sandy," J. Bouche's pet deer, wore a pair of denim pants during the winter deer hunting season to repel hunters from taking pot shots at him. Bouche rescued Sandy, who is now a full grown buck, from a forest fire and set a trap for him more than a year ago. The leg knit so well that Sandy can now run as well as a deer.

WRITER WILL WED AGAIN

Edgar Rice Burroughs, writer of Jungle-lands fiction, and Mrs. Edith Burroughs. They both recently divorced their first wives, will wed in the spring, they announced. The bride-to-be was known on the screen as Florence Gilbert.

Inside Story Reveals New Lindy Case Data

Edith's Note: "The Lindbergh case," said Justice James M. Proctor, "brought out all the best in the hearts of men, but also gave the opportunity to some of the worst and wickedness of human nature." The justice, holding court in Washington, D. C., delivered his final verdict at the conclusion of the trial of Gustav F. Meana, who admitted kidnapping Valde Melan out of $104,000 on the pretense he could deliver the Lindbergh child to his parents. The following dispatch, sixth in the Sidney H. Schipper series, relates the details of the Meana case.

BY SIDNEY H. WHITPLE
(Copyright, 1934, United Press)

Broken by the "blind treatment" given him by the police during the five days after the finding of the Lindbergh baby, John Hughes Charles Norfolk, capturing the eye of a confiding kidnaping agent, has been free from beginning to end, a gigantic fabrication of lies. Six weeks later he was convicted of obstructing justice and sentenced to 15 years in jail and pay a fine of $1,000.

Curtis never served the full sentence. Perhaps his protests that he had grown "immune" on the subject brought some amelioration. For on Nov. 7 the imprisonment clause was suspended, and he went back to Norfolk, a free man.

Amazing Parallels

The number of parallels with the Norfolk case, revealing it in many of its more sensational aspects, was the amazing case of Gustav F. Meana, former department chief of justice operative, who admitted kidnapping Melan out of $104,000 on the strength of a story as wild as any told by Charles.

Gustav F. Meana, round and dimpled faced, his bland personality, his geniality always had been effective weapons in dealing with women.

In 1917, he had been acquitted of the murder of Mrs. Minnie Robinson King, a woman whose $2,000,000 estate he "managed" so successfully that it was alleged only a few thousand dollars remained in it after his operations.

Shortly after the kidnaping in Hopewell, Meana approached Mrs. Melan, the former Washington publisher, with a melodramatic story of a "contact" with kidnapers. Mrs. Melan agreed to give Meana $100,000, of which $50,000 was to go for ransom and the remainder was to be his commission for returning the child to the Lindberghs. She also advanced him $4,000 "for expenses," and Meana pretended to act to work.

Significant Details

The kidnapers, Meana said, had discovered they could not use the ransom money given them by Lindbergh. They wanted the bills, serial numbers had been noted, replaced by others which should be unmarked.

The child of the kidnaping gang, he told Mrs. Melan, was in the hands of "The Fox." And the baby was being held at Allen, B. C.

"I have seen the child," he said, and have persuaded the gang to have motion pictures made of him as proof of his identity.

Mrs. Melan and the nurse, engaged to care for the baby when he should be turned over to them, kept at Meana's request to Allen, B. C., and in the El Paso, Texas, where the $100,000 deal was to be consummated.

Turns Over Money

With the return of the baby only a matter of hours, Mrs. Melan turned over the money to the nurse operator and impatiently awaited the result. She was doomed to disappointment. Meana said the contact with the kidnapers had been broken.

Feeling she was being deluded, Mrs. Melan finally asked for the return of her money. Meana was "very astonished."

"I sent the money back to you, didn't you get it?" he exclaimed.

A man he had never seen before, he explained, met him near Allen and whiskered the exact amount "number 11 sent me" into his car. Thinking this was an emissary from Mrs. Melan, he gave the man the entire $104,000.

Short Trial

Meana's trial was short. Found guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses, he was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment at Allen.

In the following year, the department of justice actually picked up "The Fox," a wily individual whose real name was Roman Whitaker, and found him hiding from police to attend trial with "The Fox" for complicity.

On this occasion, Meana embellished his story with additional details. He stated that the child of the Lindbergh baby, he said, was wrongly identified. "The child is in Mexico," he said, "and I can name the actual kidnappers."

The name, Meana testified, was conceived by "Wellington Henderson, head of the Communist Third International in this country" and one "Irving Fenton, whom I met in the Atlanta penitentiary."

In addition to these fictitious characters, Meana brought into the case the names of two run runners, Max Greenberg and Max Hassel, who comprised the quartet of "master minds" in the kidnaping.

Unfortunately for Meana, Greenberg and Hassel had only recently been liquidated by gun fire in a New Jersey hotel and could not therefore be summoned.

"The jury didn't believe the story, and found the bland avenger guilty of complicity. An additional two years were tacked on to the original sentence of 15 years."

Meana smiled when he was sentenced. His eyes twinkled and his dimples appeared deeper than ever.

All the efforts of the department of justice failed to find the cache in which he had hidden his $100,000 profit. To this day, its hiding place is a secret.

"And he never even split with 'The Fox,'" the department of justice officials declared.

BEST OF MOVIES' DRESSERS PICKED

Adrian Points Out Shearer, Bennett, Garbo, Crawford and Lombard

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—New comes Adrian, the dress designer, and picks his best out. He names his five best-dressed women in Hollywood as Jean Crawford, Norma Shearer, Garbo, Constance Bennett and Carol Lombard.

If the promulgation started and among such worthy claimants as Gloria Swanson, Dolores del Rio, Kay Francis and Genevieve Tobin, they have a grand contest. They run pelt to the fact that the wardrobe created by Crawford is in the permanent employ of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and the careers Bennett and Lombard are currently making picture contracts with the M.G.M. agency. Adrian is dress designer at all places in M-G-M.

Seta Styles

Crawford sets styles among the very young women of all ages. Adrian says she has the means. "I'm not at all in the way of each and individual. Lombard is the most sophisticated lady, being granted the daring things women of the world wear. Garbo is later at cocktail hour, the demure, the race and other slightly wicked smart occasions. Miss Shearer represents a giant, but looking as fluffy and pure as he explained, met her near Allen and whiskered the exact amount "number 11 sent me" into his car. Thinking this was an emissary from Mrs. Melan, he gave the man the entire $104,000.

Garbo Law Herself

Garbo, she says, is a law unto herself. "She transcends time, fashion and custom," he says. "The woman something however unusual and makes it right. If Garbo made a picture in a slinky, hat, I could be good all over three weeks later."

Lo Bombet, he says, is the most lovely of them all, seldom appearing in anything but the very best. "She captivated into a woman who ever she happens to wear," Adrian says.

Warless World Due Soon, Ford Tells Children

DETRUIT, Dec. 21 (AP)—The present generation of girls and boys may be the first to live in a warless world, Henry Ford believes.

Spoken in a Christmas greeting to the children of the Edison Institute, published in the Herald, Ford said: "The children of the present generation will live in a warless world, I believe."

"It is possible," Ford said, "that the airplane is a great help of peace. When war can be carried to everyone's back porch, the airplane can do, people suppose, war. It is a war of a few dollars a day to a war of a few million dollars a day to a war of a few billion dollars a day. This is the high cost of the airplane. The world was at war. The war was covered by ships of war. I had gone to Europe because there seemed some hope of doing something to stop the war."

"I don't think that this was not possible for anyone to do at that time. Others tried to do it later, but they failed. I don't think there was anything to be done that way; I was returning home."

Learned students will do it in the future, but I learned something that most of the world is just now finding out, through the munitions investigations by congress, which I hope you are reading.

"I learned that war was a profit-making business, and that there are men in the world who are up wars for profit. It is a terrible thing to think of. War is a business and it is not natural. It never existed before."

"The Christian message you will remember, in peace on earth and good will to men, but this is not the message of the first generation to live in a warless world."

EMPLOYEES GIVEN MEXICAN PLANTS

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 21 (AP)—Government factories making military equipment, except war munitions will be turned over to employees and operated cooperatively, it was announced today.

The government will buy the products at prices to be agreed upon between the war department and workers.

Other factories operated by the government are to be turned over to workers.

CARS FALL INTO PERRINE COULEE

Passengers Escape Injuries As Machine Overturns In Waterway

Two automobiles ran off roadways here last night and both fell into Perrine coulee, but at different points, the sheriff's office reported today.

Henry Prange, driving on Illinois road, east of here, had an accident to his car at the center crossing at about 8 p. m., the machine running off the bridge and falling over in the waterway. The driver and passengers suffered no personal injuries, but the top of the car was torn off.

At 1:30 a. m. a similar accident took place on the Latawa boulevard, where that thoroughfare crosses Perrine coulee, a car driven by H. L. Walker, going through the guard rail and into the stream. The machine is said to have turned over. Pat Wynn and companions, following the Walker car in another machine, noted the plight of the accident victims, extricated Walker and his four passengers, and insisted in getting the car onto land. While the car was damaged extensively, the passengers escaped with only minor injuries, officers stated.

MUSICIANS' WAGE DROPS IN REICH

BERLIN (AP)—Only 10 out of roughly 15,000 musicians registered with the Reich Music Chamber in the districts of Berlin, Brandenburg, and Prussia, Marches are earning 1,000 marks or more, a month, according to an official announcement.

In the number of registered are included all conductors, actors and actresses of the operatic stage, male baritone, musicians in the big symphonies and symphony orchestras, down to the last flutist and bass-tuba player in coffee houses and beer halls, as each person earning his livelihood by music is compelled to be a member of the Reich Music Chamber, even if he is temporarily out of employment.

According to figures now given out for the above districts by the chamber, the majority of registered musicians monthly, $200 are earning 100 marks a month. In the class up to 200 marks a month, 1,600 musicians are registered, and 1,200 are earning up to 100 marks.

With each additional 100 marks earned the number decreases progressively. Only 300 are earning 400 marks, 200 are earning 500 marks, 70 are earning 600 marks, and 28 are earning between 700 and 1,000 marks per month.

In this list are included 1,000 soloists, both vocal and instrumental, as well as conductors who graduated from an established state school of music.

P. T. A. TO FILL CHRISTMAS BASKETS
The Junior high school opened, "In Quest of Santa Claus," and a talk on "Tones at Christmas Time," by Rev. C. H. Hinegarner, pastor of Church of the Brethren, featured the meeting of Junior-Senior high school Parent-Teacher association last evening at the high school. An unusually large crowd attended, and brought contributions of food, clothing or toys as admission. The gifts are to be packed into Christmas baskets, which will be distributed to the needy of the city by association members, assisted by the Girl Reservers.

Mrs. O. G. McCall presided at a business session during which the group voted $10 toward the meeting pool fund. The message of Mrs. Mary Langworthy, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, was read by Mrs. John E. Haynes. Mrs. George F. Hainman presided as program chairman.

Miss Parrott, Director
Miss Helen Parrott directed the young players who presented the Christmas play at the meeting of the young girls club, held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Hinegarner. The play was staged by Miss Parrott and Mrs. H. M. Proctor, accompanist. Miss Mildred Gilbertson directed conducting.

Principal Carl Mobern wrote: Gordon Gardner, Lathrop Stork, Loren Fuller, Adda May Brackon, Helen Thomas, Verna Shinn, Yvonne Lou Bowman, Jack McCall.

Members of Ascension Episcopal guild elected officers at a meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George F. Sprague on Broadway street. Those chosen: Mrs. R. J. Wallton, president; Mrs. T. M. Robertson, first vice president; Mrs. O. J. Trull, second vice president; Mrs. Stanley Larkin, secretary, and Mrs. C. D. Pryor, treasurer.

In the absence of Mrs. F. E. McAtee, Mrs. T. M. Robertson presided. Descriptions of the early religion of Japan and of how Christianity may be introduced in the Japanese people, were given by Mrs. E. H. Williams, as part of a review of "Avenues of Faith." Mrs. R. L. Hamedal summarized a recent article in "Herald's Digest," and Mrs. Robertson those in the December "Spirit of Missions." Mrs. J. S. Robertson and Miss Joan Sprague assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

GROUP ENTERTAINED AT ATTRACTIVE LUNCHEON
Mrs. R. A. Parrott's division of the Women's Study and Service guild of the Methodist church was entertained at a Christmas luncheon at the parsonage yesterday. Mrs. William Bassett Young and Mrs. Parrott were the hostesses. "Contemporary American Literature and Religion," by Bishop Lucecock, Yale university, was the program subject.

Floral centerpieces surrounded by holly formed the table centerpieces, and tapers and holly carried out the holiday motif throughout the room. Silver service was presided over by Mrs. Parrott and Mrs. C. H. Hinegarner.

CLUB CONDUCTS EXCHANGE OF GIFTS
Mrs. Lillie Potholt entertained 15 members of Highland View club at her home Wednesday afternoon. Refreshments were served and the club president, Mrs. J. H. Hinegarner, presided. Gifts were given by Mrs. J. H. Hinegarner, Mrs. Lora Roth and Miss Cora Haggis. Mrs. Walter Parrott was a guest. A gift exchange followed the business meeting at which Mrs. H. M. Proctor presided. Mrs. Hattie Fuller assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

CATHOLIC GIRLS ELEGY OFFICER STAFF
Young Girls' class of St. Edward's church met in the club room Thursday evening and elected their officers for the year. The officers are: President, Miss Lenore Diebolt; Vice President, Miss Annabelle Goe; Secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Dutzler; Treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Dutzler. The hostesses served refreshments at which Mrs. H. M. Proctor presided and Miss Lenore Diebolt acted as the hostess.

POINTEDLY FLATTERING
Complete, Diagrammed Marlin Martin Sew Chart Included
PATTERN 9210

If you are one of the thousands of women with a "figure complex" you'll like the triangular lines of this well-tailored frock. For the dress is cut with a flatterer's touch, the more mature figure. The skirt panels sweep up to chic points above the waistline and give the long slim look which all of us are trying to achieve today. The bodice closes in a buttoned point and aids a crushed scarf collar for flattery around the neck. Make the frock without the collar, and semi-belted, if you prefer—add let the graceful belt sleeves hang open at the wrist, or stitch them into smart triangular flares as shown in the smaller sketch.

Pattern 9210 may be ordered only in sizes 34, 36, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards 30 inch fabric and 1/4 yard contrasting.

TEACHERS PLAN HOLIDAY JAUNTS

Twin Falls Instructors Will Leave on Yule Journeys As School Closes

With the beginning of Christmas vacation in Twin Falls schools this afternoon, teachers of the Junior and senior high schools will start a trek to all four points of the compass, for holiday festivities at their homes, some of which are in larger cities.

Miss Dorothy Call, of the high school, has scheduled one of the longest trips, a journey to Springfield, Mo. Henry Dovers, football coach, with his bride, will go to San Francisco. Miss Martha Parrott is also going to California, but her destination is Long Beach. Washington will draw Mrs. Bonnie May Simpson, who is going to Honolulu, and W. H. Smith, who will spend the holidays in Walla Walla.

To Salt Lake
Miss Cora Jensen will go to Salt Lake City, and Wayland Mattson to Salt Lake. Miss Tommarie Minger, Miss Helen Miller and James E. Tomlin will spend Christmas in Boise.

Miss Kathleen Povey is planning a visit to her parents at Halley, and Miss Martha Lindsey one with friends in Buhl. C. L. Mink will visit in Rupert.

Miss Mildred Richardson and Miss Mildred Gilbertson, of the junior high school, will go far into northern Idaho to their respective homes in Burke and Moscow. The northern part of the state will also attract Miss Bonnie Murray, who is going to her home in Lewiston. Miss Ann Williams will spend the holidays in Nampa.

Two to Oregon
Miss Rebecca Curtis is going to Portland, and Miss Verna Watt to Eugene, Ore. Loretta Hughes states that she will spend his vacation in California.

Several members of both Junior and senior high school staffs will remain in Twin Falls.

High School News

Instead of the usual charity basket offering an admission to the Christmas assembly, refreshment bundles have been turned in throughout the week. Principal C. H. Bond said that it would over-charge the baskets at the multitudes doors and would be more satisfactory for all concerned.

The atom was discussed at the meeting of the Science club yesterday. John D. Flint, chemistry teacher explained the atomic theory and how it was found. With a blackboard diagram he showed the construction of several elements and compounds. Mr. Flint began the discussion of the atom at the last regular meeting of the group, and will continue with the talk at the first meeting after the holidays.

Frank Walker, business manager of the Bruin, announced that sales of the Christmas issue, which came out yesterday, amounted to more than $20 and that all available copies were sold. To stimulate sales, a prize was given with each paper.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM RIVETED, Dec. 21 (Special)—The free Christmas entertainment, sponsored by the L. Y. P. S. in the Trinity Lutheran school home Sunday evening, was well attended. An interesting program was presented and the young ladies sold candy to cover expenses.

102 IDAHOANS KILLED BOISE, Dec. 21—During 10 months of 1934, 102 Idahoans were killed in automobile wrecks, 21 more than during the same period of 1933.

KID ARRESTED ROCKLAND, Mont., Dec. 21—A kid was "arrested" after it was found wandering along a street. Police Chief George Papp locked the gent in a cell until its owner claimed it.

W. C. T. U. GIVES GRADERS' PRIZES

Children Receive Awards at Bickel, Washington Assemblies

Children of Twin Falls grade schools received their final awards from the Women's Christian Temperance Union essay and poster contents at assemblies held at the Bickel and Washington schools this morning.

Fourth grade students constructed booklets in the content of the subjects: "What Does Beer Have to Do With Us?", "Why Do We Not a Good Drink for Children," and "What is a Better Drink and Why?"

City awards for their booklets went to Martha Perennette, Glen Terry and Glen Habel, in the order named.

Awards to Bickel school children were: Ella Buehler, first, 50 cents; Thelma Olson, second, 25 cents; Donna Crowley, honorable mention.

Awards to Lincoln school children were: Martha Perennette, first, 50 cents; Glen Terry, second, 25 cents; Donna Crowley, honorable mention.

Pupils of Room 6 at the Washington school won a prize of 50 cents for the best poster presented from that school. Miss Clark in teacher. Second prize of 25 cents went to Barbara Wiman, and honorable mention to Dorothy Van Bopgen.

Christmas Program Offered by Students

Children of Allendale school entertained parents and friends with a Christmas program last night at the school building. The program was under direction of Miss Isabelle Clark, teacher at Allendale. Presenting a pantomime, "Katie Gets Adopted," and a playlet, "Wanted—A Santa Claus," the pupils later participated in a grab bag and Christmas tree sale.

The entire school membership participated in the pantomime. The cast in "Wanted—A Santa Claus" was: Topsy Wilma Leichter, Marjorie Marje Leichter, Ned Keith Buch, Jim Eldon Siglar, Christmas Spirit Betty Ithea Stewart, Snow Queen Margaret Lambert, Snow Father Wendolyn Fletcher, Winston Siglar and Ithea Siglar. Santa Claus—Marjorie Buch.

DERN ASKS MORE FUNDS FOR ARMY

Secretary of War's Report Seeks Added Cash as Necessity

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Increased appropriations for practically every division of the war department were asked by George H. Dern, secretary of war, in his annual report.

Among the requests made by Dern for his department were:

- 1. An additional $400,000,000 for army housing, both at home and abroad.
2. Construction of a war department building so that the war department might be housed all under one roof.
3. Better pay for army officers.
4. Increased strength in both commissioned officers and enlisted men to a minimum of 14,000 commissioned officers and 100,000 enlisted men.
5. Purchase of at least 600 new airplanes for the air corps.

Dern preceded his request for additional planes and equipment for the air corps with a stout defense of that body in connection with the army air corps air mail service last winter. He informed a sharp criticism of the shortness of notice given the air corps that it was to carry the mail and assailed the critics of the air corps as unjust.

In Feb. 6, 1934, the army air corps was called upon, on 10 days' notice, to take over the carrying of air mail for the post office department," Dern said.

Emergency Measures
The intricate task thus devolving upon the air corps entailed emergency measures in the distribution of personnel and equipment, preparation of terminals, facilities, alteration of instruments and of an administrative organization. A serious complication was a period of unfavorable weather conditions, almost unprecedented in severity and duration. As a result, a number of fatalities occurred, and these, without any real investigation of attendant circumstances, were placed upon its own negligence and obsolescence in the army air corps.

Actually, the air corps took over, with almost dramatic suddenness, an exceedingly complicated and entirely unfamiliar task and, in spite of regrettable accidents, proved that it could and would carry the mail. Officers and men were compelled to work long hours, often under conditions of real hardship and even for a period without the necessary monetary allowances to provide for their own support. Yet morale was unimpaired.

Defects Exposed
Although the criticism was largely uninformed, it was, in certain respects, justified. The experience exposed a number of defects of which developed through no fault of the air corps, but were due to insufficiencies in appropriations. Among these probably the most important were inadequate training in night and blind flying and lack of special instruments.

In his request for more money for army housing, Dern said that since the World War increased portions of the army have been living under deplorable conditions. At many points the shelter provided for officers and enlisted men has been of such a character as to constitute a fire hazard, a menace to health, and a disgrace to the government.

Army Housing Funds
He said the war department was gratified that funds had been made available from public works money for army housing, but noted the requests for $136,000,000 for construction of army housing had resulted in almost nothing totaling $61,413,614 for this purpose. He said additional money should be made available for continuation of the construction of quarters for the army.

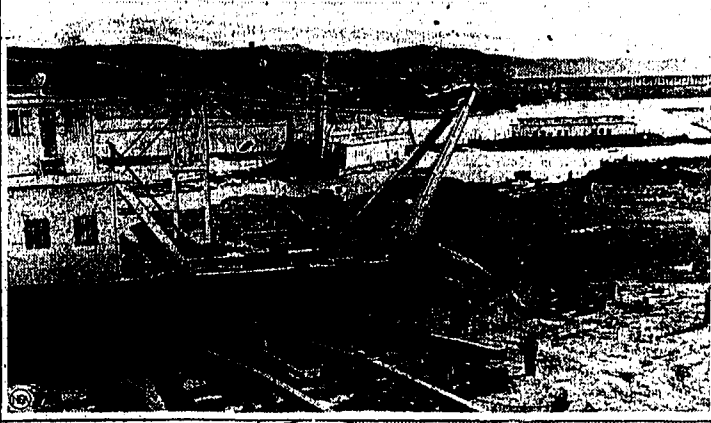

Supporting his request for construction of a war department building, Dern said the various branches of his department now occupy space in 37 separate buildings throughout the city, and proper co-ordination is difficult and needlessly time-consuming under these circumstances.

Army Strength
Dern said comprehensive studies by the general staff had determined that a regular army of 14,000 officers and 100,000 enlisted men at the minimum with which adequate national defense can be attained.

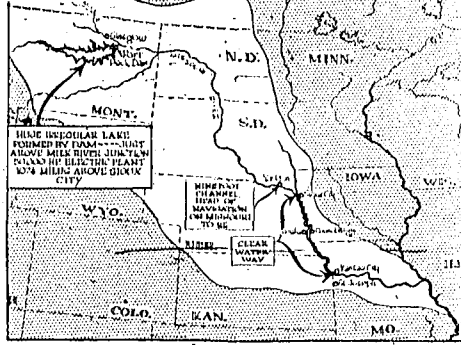

The need for a greater defense force must, of course, be balanced against the necessity for emergency expenditures for recovery programs," he said. "In the interest of immediate economy, and in view of the urgent calls on the national treasury for relief operations, it may be necessary to restrict expenditures to those which are essential to the strength of our military establishment. Nevertheless, we should realize that such a policy would mean a reduction in our national defense for the moment, and that we should not be in a position to meet any emergency which it imposes on us."

FORT PECK DAM UNIT IN MIDWEST'S "TVA"

Possibilities of another great river drainage basin development also that of the Tennessee Valley are opening up in the great Fort Peck Dam in Montana begins to take form. The picture, right, shows a dredge about to be launched, and another at work on the $50,000,000 earth dam at Fort Peck, Mont., which will hold back the headwaters of the Missouri and create a lake with a shore-line of 2500 miles. This water, it is expected, can be released in such quantities as to make the Missouri navigable all the way down from Yankton or at least Sioux City, this, in turn, would open up for water transport the vast farming and stock-raising regions of the midwest. The drainage area of the Missouri river is roughly shown by the map's light area, a potential beneficiary if a Missouri Valley Authority similar to the TVA should be established.

DOCTOR, 102, IS AGAINST LEISURE

Oldest Pennsylvania Alumnus Declares Busy Existence Best for Health

LEBANON, Pa. (U.P.)—Dr. William L. Gullford, who at 102 claims to be the oldest living alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania, believes that some solution to too much leisure must be provided, if the world is to continue to derive happiness from the scientific progress of the last century.

"Scientific progress has brought with it an unrest and nervous tension that are unhealthy," he said. "There is too much going on at one time and in too many places."

No Hurry
"A busy but not hurried existence is essential to physical and mental alertness," Dr. Gullford was born in Lebanon, Nov. 26, 1832. His father died at the age of 94 and his grandfather at the age of 95. Fieredly and moderation in living are responsible for his advanced age, Dr. Gullford believes.

He lives here with a daughter, and he took great pride in exercising his right to vote Nov. 6. Dr. Gullford was graduated from the medical school of the University of Pennsylvania in 1852. He began a 30-year practice at medicine in Lebanon in 1854. He retired in 1915.

F. D. R. DECREES STUDY OF TAXES

Comprehensive Inquiry Will Find Basis for Avoiding Overlapping

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt has ordered a comprehensive study of federal, state, and municipal taxes to work out a program for elimination of overlapping levies. Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., revealed here.

The tax study will take in all taxes levied by all federal agencies in an effort to get sufficient data for a general tax conference to be called next summer.

The survey will determine which governmental can collect taxes most economically and which tax collections should go to various governments.

Will Study Data

The tax conference next summer will study and recommend and possibly legislative steps will be worked out for the following congress.

State, municipal, local and federal government tax experts will be represented at the conference and the entire tax situation possibly revised.

Secretary Morgenthau cited the gasoline tax as an example of possible reform. The federal government as well as state and local governments, he said, collect gasoline taxes. He indicated that possibly one agency could better collect this tax and distribute it among the tax collectors. He said this process could be carried to such taxes as income tax, sales taxes, and liquor taxes.

BUHL

The two and a half months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wheeler died Saturday at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Childs, Sviringa district, according to word received here. The body was taken to Lawnton, Utah, for burial Sunday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler. The baby is survived, besides his parents, by one brother, Albert.

An adequate old age pension system was the subject discussed at the opening meeting of the New Deal club held Monday evening at the J. O. F. hall. Speakers on the subject were Fred Nihart, Harry Barry and Mrs. Elizabeth Heron. Miss Nellie McEvoy, daughter of John McEvoy, and William I. Bond, Castleford, were married at Twin Falls Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wuehenschulz accompanied them. Mrs. Wuehenschulz is a sister of the bride.

Mr. Ralph Morio entertained the Monday Afternoon Bridge club this week at her home on Ninth avenue.

Sun local contract bridge club met this week for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. Ray Barbary on South Broadway. Mrs. Van Tigar received the high score.

Mrs. Sam Crismon was hostess to the Sviringa Pinochle club Wednesday afternoon. High score prize was awarded to Mrs. William Lund and low to Mrs. Hennemann. The annual Christmas gift exchange was made.

Quarter Century of Church Life Honored

HAGERMAN, Dec. 20 (Special)—Celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Methodist church in Hagerman, an all-day meeting and banquet social were held Sunday. Special features of the program throughout the day were the reading of letters from Herbert Collins, Victor Collins, Mrs. Florence Sharp and Mrs. Gladys Payne, charter members of the church, and Rev. Charles Barnes, first district superintendent in Hagerman, and a talk by Dr. J. D. Gillilan, Gooding, on his experiences during five years in China.

Others who took part in the program included: Rev. Charles G. Stoel, Jerome, Mr. and Mrs. C. Perry, Mrs. Harry LeMoine, the choir, high school band, Miss Hetu Walth, Shoshone; Miss Judith Honer, Bull; C. Holt, Mrs. John Bappte, Mrs. W. Justice, Mother Kendall Wood, Tuttle; Rev. G. L. Kendall, Bull; Rev. Miss Paula Cochran, Miss Dorothy Kowler. Ladies of the church served dinner to 150 people at noon and to 50 at night.

DEXTER Defender

Century of Service Model

This new Dexter "Defender" is MODERN — to the minute. Its "Master" wringer, for instance, is a very marvel of efficiency and convenience. The frame and gear-head are cast in one piece of Lynite rustless aluminum — the super-alked rolls are top-quality and run in oilless bronze bearings. It releases at a touch and sets in a jiffy.

No washer in its price class approaches Defender's durability. On April 6th, 1932, a Defender was started on a non-stop test run. It's been going continuously ever since — has never been oiled or adjusted or serviced in anyway. Up to date, it has given the equivalent of 189 years of washing service in the average home and it's still running.

LAST TRIBUTE IS PAID MRS. BEDAL

L. D. S. Service Honor Woman Who Came to Hagerman Valley in 1885

HAGERMAN, Dec. 21 (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Kate Cecelia Bedal were held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Park opera house in Hagerman. Rev. William Johnson of the Reorganized church of the L. D. S. was in charge. Mrs. A. Giddley, Mrs. John Bappte and Mrs. L. J. Johnson, both, accompanied by Mrs. R. Parsons, being several among the guests.

Walter Giddley, James Hurlbut, Ed Thompson, Fount Frost, Fred Blinn and Guy Leamon served as pall bearers. Interment was in the O. G. P. cemetery of Hagerman. Mrs. Kate Cecelia Bedal was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander. She was born at Longwell, Walby Island, Wash., June 28, 1847. Her parents took her to Grant Creek in the Bonanza when she was still an infant. Her mother died, and she was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Johnson.

Mrs. Bedal came to the Hagerman valley in 1885, where she lived until 1900 when she moved to Boise. She returned to Hagerman in 1920 and has lived on the Riley ranch ever since.

She became ill at midnight Dec. 14 and died the following Monday. Besides her husband, James I. Bedal, she leaves a son, Richard S. Tucker, and three grand-children, all of Hagerman.

Enrollment Up

CHILTON, Wis. (U.P.)—Wisconsin's smallest student body was increased 300 per cent in one day recently when three new students enrolled at the Fulton public school near here. Eunice Itoh, in the second grade, was the only student to enroll at the beginning of the school year. Last year there were five, but four graduated. In former years the enrollment had been as high as 60 and 70.

DISAPPEARS

The disappearance of Mrs. Leah Gutka Durand (above), nearly 34-year-old widow, native of Johnston, Pa., created New York's newest night life mystery. Wearing a $5,000 mink coat and gems worth $0,000, she left her apartment to go to Greenwich Village at 2 in the morning. A 11 hour pull-out search for her secretly for several days, no trace of her whereabouts could be found. She was well known in gay night resorts.

A total of 280,564 troops served in the American army in the war with Spain.

BRITAIN PONDER'S AIRSHIP EFFORTS

England May Again Consider Dabbling With Dirigibles As Commercial Aid

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Britain may again begin to build airships to aid her in the battle for world supremacy of the commercial skies.

The London to Melbourne airship has shown a need for faster, safer and larger machines. Proponents of a renewal of Britain's airship policy point to the success of Germany's Graf Zeppelin on her fortnightly run to South America.

Airship Disaster Blamed

It was the disaster of the R-101 in 1930 that decided Britain to abandon an airship policy. That wreck was the culmination of years of low successes, and many disasters. It was the only thing needed to make the government wash its hands of airships with a sigh of relief.

As far back as 1902 Britain had an airship policy. Lack of money, however, prevented its development. The first airship envelope was the only evidence of it, until 1911 that Britain had her 1907, the "Nulli Secundus." She flew from Farnborough to London at 18 miles an hour, and sailed around Buckingham Palace and St. Paul's cathedral.

First Rigid Airship

By 1910 there was another small ship, the "Bath," but it was not until 1911 that Britain had her first rigid airship, known as the "Majesty's Airship No. 1." She broke her back, and an Admiralty conference in 1912 decided to abandon airship construction. Britain then relied on non-rigid blimps from other countries, and when the war broke out there were about half a dozen.

Britain had practically no experience of rigid airships during the war, and when the Armistice was signed she owned 103 airships nearly all non-rigid. They have been scrapped.

Then the series of R-30 airships were started on a program that cost the nation many millions only finally to be abandoned with the disaster to the R-39. The United States had to buy her. She was wrecked during trials over the Humber river and 44 lives were lost. She had only flown 70 hours. So R-30 was cancelled.

Two Objections

There are two main objections to building airships for commercial use. They fly too slowly and they cannot stand rough weather. Since 1919, however, safety records of the Graf Zeppelin has slowly proved that safety is a matter of structure. In 1930, however, it took an airship four and one-half days to reach Bombay, eight days to reach Singapore, and ten days to reach Australia. W. A. Scott and Charles Black recently flew to Melbourne in 71 hours. The airship has the airplane beaten for range. It can carry fuel for 6,000 miles, and it can afford to make detours to avoid bad weather. It can also carry a load of 60 passengers, mail and freight, with the passengers living in comfort.

ITALY REPLACING WOMEN IN JOBS

Gradual Elimination Part of Duce's Plan for More Marriages

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
ROME (AP)—The 40-hour week is in operation in Italy. Women gradually are being replaced by men which coincides with Mussolini's plan for more marriages and babies.

"Social Justice" was the new slogan of Mussolini's program for his third year of power. Practical application of "Social Justice" takes the form in agreements between the employers and employees confederation with the sole aim of increasing employment in all branches of industry, banking and insurance, by means of abolition of overtime, restriction to the 40-hour week and gradual elimination of women workers.

Overtime can only be authorized on special occasions when both parties (employers and employees) agree that it is necessary within specified reasonableness. Under no condition must it become habitual. If work in any branch be developed so as to demand overtime being prolonged or habitual, an increase in the number of workers must be instigated instead.

With the introduction of the 40-hour week, wages based on daily, weekly or longer periods of scales, will be reduced proportionately to the reduced working schedule. Collective wage agreements in which the number of workers determines the wage scale will not be affected by the increase of workers. Insurance and banking confederation employers who receive 500 lire a month in office and employment positions will not be affected by the increase of workers. No one person can hold two jobs. Of 31,000,000 women in Italy, of which 10,000,000 are over 10 years of age, 4,000,000 are engaged in gainful occupation, including the one and a half million in agriculture.

In the past decade, a marked increase in women in industry over the past century can be observed in the comparison of statistical tables. Companies having more than 20 employees must not exceed 12 per cent of their number in women in any one similar industry. In 1925 15 per cent in women in the textile industry where this was the actual replacement of the place within the industry.

This is Little Drama of Film Studio Prevue

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21.—Some: A studio prelude of "Sweet Adeline" presented at a fashionable Wilshire boulevard theater in Beverly Hills, home of most film stars.

The show is over, and curious crowds stand by to watch the stars emerge. Irene Dunne, "Sweet Adeline" in person, slips away almost unseen. Others of the cast follow out.

Because it is a Beverly Hills prelude, the show has attracted other stars. Jeanette MacDonald stands at the curb, blowing a kiss to a friend. Her new screen Arroz glides to a motionless stop. The chauffeur steps out, speaks a few polite words and points to the body of the automobile. There is a long jugged delay, but there by a passing truck.

Big Gleaming Cars

She strugs indifferently and steps into the machine. Two or three other and the car slips away. Other gleaming black autos glide up for other stars.

Standing over by the drug store which is the topmost close around his throat in a silent figure, watching the proceedings with interest.

To might be just another spectator, but he is Gene Raymond, very much of a star himself, and when the last chrome-plated limousine has moved away with its escort of two motorcycle officers, he steps into the drug store and orders a cup of coffee.

KITCHEN DESIGN GRANTED AWARD

Winning Entrant Would Save Housewife 1,000 Steps Each Day

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—A kitchen designed to save a housewife a thousand steps a day was awarded first prize in a national competition just held by the Architectural Forum.

Martin Ellard and Joseph Roberto, New York architects, made the winning design. It carries faithfully the latest advice of domestic science experts that working surfaces in the ideal kitchen should be continuous along one or two sides of the room.

Over the working surface are grouped all the cabinets in which utensils and other kitchen paraphernalia are stored. One corner of the room contains a lounge seat, a dining table, two chairs. A stainless metal sink is part of the continuous working surface on one side of the room, and an electric dishwasher is part of the modern gadgetry.

Flat Top Stove

A flat top electric range, with working surfaces at both sides on a level with the range top, is another feature.

There were 233 designs submitted in the competition. Second prize went to Don E. Hutch of the architectural firm of Bond and Poulthous, New York; third prize to Bergman S. Letzler of Louisville, Ky.; fourth prize to Alfred N. Hoel of New York; fifth prize to Charles C. Hanning, Harold G. Sloper and J. Gilbert, Worke of New York; and sixth prize to Herbert C. Hanson, Chicago.
