When the next congress convenes, I hope to be able to present to it a carefully considered national plan covering the development and the human use of our national resources of land and water over a long period of years."

Urges Cooperation

On social insurance, Mr. Roosevelt recently announced a maximum of federal-state cooperation and proposed that unemployment and old age pension funds be raised by a contribution rather than by taxation.

"I am convinced," he said, "that social insurance should be national in scope, although the several states should meet at least a large portion of the cost of management, leaving to the federal government the responsibility of investing, maintaining and safeguarding the funds constituting the necessary insurance reserves."

south-southwestward on Villa Montes from the Carandilli area; a second more nearly westward to the Cerro Negro, a third sought to pass northward to the Bolivian fort d'Origny on the Pilcomayo river fronting on Argentina.

Taligarrilla was characterizedly about to be begun his attack. The war office at Asuncion was making almost no announcements. From Gen. Enrique Penaranda, the Bolivian commander-in-chief, however, came a series of messages which revealed not alone the bitterness and importance of the fighting but the confidence of victory. He is a specialist in defense; Edgarrilla in attack.

Bloody Execution

In the Carandilli and Capiranda sectors the Paraguayans attacked with bayonets. The Bolivians, entrenched behind barbed wire, met them hand to hand. The Paraguayans retreated. The Bolivians counter-attacked. At the end of the situation was in favor of Bolivia. The ground over which they fought, dispatches said, was covered with bodies lying in the blistering sun. Firing kept up and it was not until late in the day that Bolivian airplanes took the air and began bombarding Paraguayan positions, particularly ammunition dumps and gasoline tanks.

One source indicated, however, that the fight was just starting and that it would be a decisive finish.

RELIEF CHANGES STRESS PENSION

Removal of Unemployables to State Care Constructed as Dramatic Warning

plan of Dr. F. E. Townsend, Long Beach, Calif., physician.
"There is great suffering among the old people in many instances already," Birch said, "and it will be more general and more acute unless old age pension legislation is provided immediately."

Old age pension advocates explained that many state legislatures would meet during the winter months, and it was necessary for the administration to warn them of mounting relief costs.
Under the plan for a special fund, the government would ask states to provide possibly one-third of the money necessary for unemployables through a pension system, pending creation of an unemployment insurance fund.
It was pointed out that insurance which would pay a fund from annual contributions could not be drawn upon for a number of years and would be insufficient to solve the immediate problem of relief for unemployables.

Dr. Townsend said "hopeless" work relief program "is not practical, is destroying the people's initiative and will fail if it continues as it is doing."

JAPAN FORMALLY ABROGATES PACT

Brief Message to U. S. Put End to Historic Naval Limitation Treaty

The political and territorial integrity of China.

Violated in 1911
Officials here contend privately that Japan grossly violated that treaty when she sent troops into Manchuria in 1931 and overtook the northern province of China from the Nationalist government of Nanking, later setting up a puppet government under the nominal sovereignty of "Empress" Hanyu Pu Yi, but actually under the dominance of Japanese bayonets.

This action was considered by most observers to have had a heavy bearing on the failure of the three-party naval conventions in London to agree on continuation of naval armament limitation by treaty.

ONE-SIXTH OF ALL THE TELEPHONES IN THE UNITED STATES ARE LOCATED IN ONE-TWELVE HUNDREDTH OF ITS AREA (N.Y. AND N.J. TERRITORY)

WE RECEIVE MORE LIGHT ON EARTH FROM STARS WHICH WE DO NOT SEE, THAN FROM THOSE WHICH WE DO SEE.

FOR SEVERAL YEARS, THE TROPHY FOR THE WINNER OF THE ILLINOIS-CHIO STATE FOOTBALL GAME WAS 'LILBUCK,' A 20-POUND SNAPPING TURTLE!

Although we seem to see countless stars, the naked eye is capable of seeing only about five or six thousand, and not all of those at any one time. A person with good eyesight can see stars of the sixth magnitude, but most of us cannot make out their dim points of light.

BANKER REPORTS WILL SHOW GAIN

Year-End Condition Summary Expected to Reveal Big Recovery Strides

By RICHARD L. CHIDLEY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Vigorous recovery from the 1933 bank crash and the lowest figures in 14 years will be reported by bankers in year-end condition statements to be made shortly.

The American banking structure has gained enormous strength through billions of dollars in new deposits. Together with continued expansion of loans, during the past 12 months, nearly a billion dollars in government cash has been poured into banks. All have increased their government security holdings.

Fortworsening This revival is expected to be shown in figures when government agencies receive condition statements of all banks under their jurisdiction in response to a report to be made as of Dec. 31.

The "stock-taking" will include the 14,200 of the country's 15,000 member banks of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

The year-end condition statements of all banks under their jurisdiction likely will coincide with the "audit" of the FDIC.

New York Post
Bankers meanwhile were confronted with a steadily rising agitation for new banking legislation calculated to give the federal government wide power over them in the conduct of their business.

Of primary importance was the agitation for a "central bank" to be built around the present federal reserve system. Under some plans considered by administration officials, the federal reserve board, comprising presidential appointees, would be given virtual dictatorial power over most phases of the country's banking.

By RICHARD L. CHIDLEY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—In reply to demands for further changes in banking laws and additional power over banking, bankers point to a record of fewer than 75 bank closings over the past 12 months, involving less than $40,000,000 in deposits. Nine of these banks had or shortly will have their smaller deposits "made good" by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

This record, the best since 1920, compared with the peak closings of 2,430 banks in the 12 months ended June 30, 1932, which led up to a total of $1,749,992,000 in deposits exposed to the Federal board, $2,725,000 failed.

Many factors were responsible for the rise in deposits, principal of which were being confidence in banks, added by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, heavy government expenditures and liquidation which has drawn hundreds of millions of dollars of hoarded money into the banks.

NEWSPAPERS TO FIGHT NRA CASE

Will Convene to Consider Code Continuation After 'Frisco Test'

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Because the national labor relations board asked the NRA compliance division to withdraw the Blue Eagle of the San Francisco Call-Journal, representatives of 1,200 newspapers will meet in immediate convention to consider their continuance under the daily newspaper code, known as the "Frisco Test."

Charles H. Ladd, chairman of the publishers' national association, announced today that the board's action violated the newspaper code and established a precedent that might endanger the freedom of the press at some later date.

The newspaper publishing association, which provisions giving the newspaper industrial board jurisdiction over all disputes and the act of the labor board was "an attempt to usurp power over the code which is specifically prohibited," he charged.

The labor board acted when the Call-Journal declined to obey its order to reinstate Dean B. Jones, a radio man, who charged that he was discriminated because of union activities.

The convention of the 1,200 daily newspapers that assembled today will be called on the instructions of the American Newspaper Publishers association, the New England Daily Newspaper association, the Southern Newspaper Publishers association, the National Newspaper Association, and the Pacific Northwest Newspaper association—these being the six publishers' groups that cooperated in preparing and submitting the newspaper code to the board.

David, who also is president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, said all the associations regarded the board's action a violation of the code.

The issue raised by the union at labor relations board has provoked the greatest protest with which the press of this country has yet been confronted, he said. He incorporated in his statement the communication the six associations sent NRA Dec. 10, which in spite of the board's action, reviewing this action, it set forth that the code "contains complete, final, and exclusive provisions for the adjustment of controversies" and declared that the board "has not only asserted a jurisdiction over a controversy, which, by both the spirit and letter of a solemn compact between the President and publishers was exclusively vested in the newspaper industrial board, but even has asserted a claim to superior jurisdiction."

The communication contended that the issue of freedom of the press is at stake.

Mrs. Minnie Pickett entertained members of the Relief society at her home Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Fanny Peterson presented the social service lesson.

Mr. and Mrs. Moroni Peck and family left here Tuesday evening to spend the holidays with their children, Raymond and Leonard Peck, Mrs. Riva Payne and Mrs. Edith Butler of Shelley, Ida.

press might not be directly involved in the question of the dismissal of a newspaper employee, but declared that "the issue of freedom of the press is raised rather by the attempt of the national labor relations board to place a construction on article VII of the code contrary to that understood by the parties to the compact and thus, in effect, to modify the code in violation of the restrictions against modification."

"In the present case, a bureaucratic board is endeavoring to arrogate to itself power to modify the code. If conceded, this would undermine the bill of rights as preserved thereby. The newspapers cannot safely resist until the process of destruction is started. The precedent set by this case would, if maintained, destroy at a stroke the essential safeguard of the freedom of the press contained in the newspaper code."

Threats Clear
"If the newspapers now submitted to it, the threat for the future would be clear. The mischief would be done if the newspapers failed to protest the assumption of the national labor relations board that the code may be modified in disregard of article VII against the effect of such modification in the absence of consent by the publishers."

"The courts might regard such acquiescence as a waiver of the constitutional right itself. And it would lie in the mouth of no newspaper which had solemnly undertaken to remain under the code to assert its constitutional rights later in protest."

"These associations which, in behalf of their membership, participated in the negotiations leading up to the submission and approval of the code therefore feel their course to be clear. They cannot permit the future of the press of America to be compromised and endangered. Both for their own protection and as trustees of a protection and as trustees of a by and see their own view of freedom, preserved as in the code, bearing the President's approval, become a scrap of paper."
