PASSES TAX DEBATE
BOISE, Jan. 30 (UPI)—The house of representatives passed a tax rebate measure yesterday morning, and it will go to the Senate for debate on all tax paid in cash which due and a two per cent rebate on all tax paid in installments. The bill was sponsored by H. F. Wilson of Camas, Owen Meade, Lewis, and W. C. Thornton. There was considerable opposition and the vote was 33 to 25. Meade said nothing that he might call for a referendum.

Rehnolds Democrats

Democrats of the house were sending their wives and friends over to the meet together and work in harmony with Sis L. Wright, Head Lake, leader of the minority Repub-

"You Democrats cannot fight with the Republicans, because we are not fighting them, we are fighting among yourselves," he charged. His denunciation, which the Democrats took without response was received with a hearty cheer. A speech for a report from the committee studying the IERA. Harry Barry, floor leader, promised the report in a few days.

INHERITANCE TAX PLAN PRESENTED

Senate Memorial Advises Idaho
Legy Approximating Blue
Long's Demand

BOISE, Jan. 30 (UPI)—Two memorials to Congress, one to be introduced in the Senate and one in the House, are to be introduced in the Senate to adopt the Townsend old age pension plan are advocated, were presented to the Idaho senate today.

SJM 4, by Wilson, created a flurry of comment because of its demands for an inheritance tax of $50,000, tax rates of $30,000 to $1,000 and taxes 95 per cent of all inheritances over a lifetime. The bill was introduced with the wealth tax of the Long "share-the-wealth" program which calls for a tax of 100 per cent on inheritances over a million dollars.

Tompson's "on the Townsend plan was requested by D. L. by Purnell, who has been instrumental in lowing exactly the ideas of the Townsend plan."

OREGON CHARTS RELIEF MERGER

Legislature Given Propos
For Combining Facilities
Under One Unit

SALEM, ORE.—All of Oregon's welfare commissions may be combined under a new state department of public welfare if a measure reported by an ad hoc committee approved by the legislature.

The new department would include the state child welfare commission, state parole board and state prison commission. The department would have jurisdiction over all welfare functions, administration of all state institutions, appointment of commissioners, superintendents, administration of federal unemployment relief, mothers' pensions, old-age pension, blind, crippled and other public welfare services.

The department also would regulate the state relief commission, the home building homes for children and aged and share some functions of the state board of health.

LEON ADDY WINS RAILROAD AWARD

BURLEY, Jan. 30 (Special)— Leon Addy, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cari-Addy-Burley, has been announced as the recipient of the Union Pacific scholarship for Custer county by a committee of the Custer County Fair.

Maberry, vocational agriculture instructor at Rupert, County Agent W. C. Palmer and Miss Bertha Wittenberg, Minidoka county supervisor.

Richard Chambers also of Burley, was selected as alternate. Both boys are seniors in the Burley high school and members of the Future Farmers club. The contest was judged on the basis of leadership qualities, educational interest, personal qualities of leadership and activities.

The winner will receive $50 when he enters the University of Idaho next fall and another $50 on satisfactory completion of the first semester.

Addy is secretary of the Idaho Future Farmers club and general director of the South Central district of the organization. He is a member of the winning dairy and live stock judging team at Filer Fair last fall and the Ogden Livestock show in January.

Holdout Period
Here—But it's Nothing Novel

By JACK GUDY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Well, the holdout period is over. The baseball players are signing their contracts, giving off loud blasts and threatening to quit the game unless the club boosts the ante, etc.

But this holdout business is nothing new, or nothing to get the players worked up over. There have been holdouts ever since Al Reach signed the first professional contract in 1886, and since any player was as adamant as to remain out of the game for an entire season.

There have been salary revolts en masse, but these were doomed to certain failure and were the players' result in the formation of the Union association, which has led to the formation of the American Association in 1884, and the American players organized a 13-city circuit, which became the National League, or Brotherhood, in 1890, was another ill-advised demonstration by the minority discriminated players.

The first holdout history occurred back in 1870. At that time there was only one holdout, that of the White Stockings, Chicago. Bill Stocking, Clinton Sweeny, second baseman, who had received $800 for 1869, wanted $1,000 for 1870. The rest of the team, except the roll of the Red Stockings, totaled $9,500, considerably less, one might say, than the Yankees total.

The most tragic of all the holdouts was that of the White Sox. Kerr got less than $1,000 in 1910, but when the Black Sox hatched their conspiracy to fix the Reds they knew it was futile to ask Kerr to join them.

—Silver-Gold-Shoulder—
Diego came out of the Black Sox mess with an immaculate record, but when he demanded an increase of about $2,000, he was given the cold shoulder. He was given a check during his cut-in 1920 season, and for a few seasons after that. He finally returned to the game, but he had lost his old stuff. He had become a "hidden victim."

Among other players who were two members of the New York Giants; Eddie Roush in 1930 and Eddie Kasko in 1931, who got from $2,000 to $15,000, he took a vacation, Turkey Mike Donlin, wanted an increase of $1,000, but when he didn't get it he went off on a vaudeville tour with Mrs. Mike Mahel Hilt. That holdout ruined Donlin's career.

White Sox Acquire Ex-Pirate Player

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (UPI)—Glen Wright, ten a national league pitcher, has been signed by the Chicago White Sox from the Kansas City American association club. Manager Jimmy Dugan said Wright, 31, had the best fastball he has an all-time major league batting average of .294 completed with Pittsburgh and compiled a 10-12 record. He signed with Kansas City, playing first base most of the time. He will be 33 on Feb. 6.

Woods Decisions

Mike Stankovich
SEATTLE, Jan. 30 (UPI)—Henry Woods, 10, a national league pitcher, has been signed by the Seattle Indians. Mike Stankovich, 129, Phoenix, Ariz. (10); Jack Willis, 188, Los Angeles, technical Jack Morris, 18, Toledo, and Eddie Schneider, 175, Madison, Wisc., knocked out Jerome Lewis, 161, San Francisco, (8); Bobbie Johnson, 180, St. Louis, (10), and Declan Young, Corpus Christi, 182, Texas, (4); Pete Summers, 175, Portland, technical Nick Wagner, 170, Seattle.

Tinted-Ball

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 30 (NEA)—Syracuse, member of the International League, played its 10th consecutive game with tinted baseballs, some of its 1935 night games. This idea is expected to result in better visibility of the ball for spectators.

FUNDS NEEDED

It is not generally known that two years ago the state legislature appropriated $25,000 to help maintain a tuberculosis unit at a hospital at Boise through a plan sponsored by the Idaho Anti-Tuberculosis association.

From the present legislature the association is asking a still larger appropriation, because the unit is full and funds are running short. Cases uncovered by the social-service section of the IERA have increased the demands upon the fund — indeed the IERA is depending much upon the Anti-Tuberculosis units throughout the state to assist in the campaign to stamp out the disease, or prevent its spread to others.

The unit in this county is anxious that public support be given the campaign to gain legislative approval of a still larger appropriation than $25,000 and point to the record already made by the county in proof of the contention that the burden is not being passed to the state, but that by maintaining the required hospitalization unit, the state will only be supporting a movement in which this and other counties already have demonstrated definite interest and constructive action.

For instance, the Anti-Tuberculosis association in this county is maintaining a school nurse service; the McClusky Health camp is maintained at Buile; the Anti-Tuberculosis association is one of the participating local units in the Community Chest; tuberculosis-testing campaigns have been carried out in schools, and will continue to be; a ward is provided at the county farm for long-drawn-out cases of tuberculosis; the Anti-Tuberculosis association in the county is active, meeting monthly and carrying on a relentless campaign; and, where necessary, the county bears half the cost of hospitalization at the Boise institution.

The state of Idaho spends only slightly more than four cents per capita per year for health work, according to the Idaho State Health Council. The average for the United States is 50 cents per capita.

It seems that there could be no more worthy expenditure by the state than in the interests of health. The public recognizes the need and is generous in its donations, as witness Twin Falls county.

It is not indicated that the present members of the state legislature are unmindful of the continuing need for the appropriation, but in order to convey a cross-section of public sentiment, it would be advisable for all persons, organizations and institutions interested and concerned in keeping or increasing the appropriation, to write at once to representatives and senators expressing their desires.

Idaho, with a public health record none too enviable, should at least be as alert on the subject as is Twin Falls county and her citizens.

AN OPPORTUNITY

It is to-be-hoped that the second-annual ball for the President of the United States will be as successful as was the case a year ago. From this country more than $1000 was raised, and all the money went to the fund to endow the White Sulphur Springs Institution for the cure of those afflicted with infantile paralysis, and founded by Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself the unhappy victim of the cursed malady.

This year, seventy per cent of the funds raised by the unique national balls, carried on simultaneously all over the nation, will be returned to the countries of origin. This should be an inducement for everyone to purchase tickets and join in the most practical kind of a charity ball.

The President has set a high example in taking the lead in fighting disease. Tonight the people of the nation have opportunity to pay him signal tribute while at the same time benefiting the health of their own youthful loved ones.

The cost of living is going to take a jump, if charts prepared by New Deal forecasters in Washington are correct.

Between now and June 1, it is estimated, prices will undergo a steady rise. This, it is stated, will be due chiefly to increased employment, a great volume of business turnover, and the expenditure of $4,000,000,000 on the recovery and relief budget.

The prospect is one to be greeted with mixed emotions. A steadily rising price level will be accompanied by a general increase in values which will make it easier to pay debts — and reduction of our tremendous load of debt is an essential to recovery.

On the other hand, if the cost of living rises faster than wages and salaries, the wage-earner and the white-collar worker will feel the pinch severely.

Fixing things so that prices rise just fast enough, but not too fast, is apt to be a ticklish job.

CHAPTER 3-A

No one had done more to help Gale keep her courage, to face each day as it came, than Steve. Two years older than Gale, they had known each other in school. Two years older than Gale, he was widowed. At 17 he had gone to the world as a bobtail boy. Now he was in "the spindle room," considered, more reliable workers.

Steve and his mother lived a block down the street from the old house. Often he would walk home together in the late afternoons. Sometimes in winter they would go to the movies. When there were festivities among the young people of the mill village, Steve who "accompanied" the girl.

The girl knew he cared for her — she knew he did. She had been a little faster when she asked her self the question. She felt warm, though she was cold. "Steve, you met when you were away?" she thought and no right to give the answer. There were her own responsibilities and there were others.

She was totally unprepared when Steve's mother came to the door. She looked up at him slowly. "Steve, you're here again?" she asked. "I'm not the best friend I've had, but there's no use pretending things aren't the way they are. We couldn't be happier."

"On the level?" "Yes, I know. You're here again?" she asked. "I'm not the best friend I've had, but there's no use pretending things aren't the way they are. We couldn't be happier."

"You could say — whether or not you want to marry me — whether or not you love me?"

There was an instant's silence, then the girl said softly, "Wait a minute, Steve. You're here again? I'm not the best friend I've had, but there's no use pretending things aren't the way they are. We couldn't be happier."

"You could say — whether or not you want to marry me — whether or not you love me?"

She frowned. Her eyes, dimmed by the late afternoon light, looked almost black. She said softly, tremulously, "I tell, Steve, what that mean? You won't have a few days. Steve, you let me think about it. I don't know what you want, but I don't have a chance then. Come back, Steve, when we've been going around together again. I'll be here to help you. Gale, will you marry me?"

"Oh, Steve, I didn't say that. If that's what you mean, I want to know it now." "I'd rather tell you now," she said.

"Steve," she touched his arm, "you can't marry anyone — not even me. You've done so much for me — for all of us. I don't know how you could have got along without you. I mean, even if I were —"

"Then you're not?" "You don't want to marry me?" "I'm not the best friend I've had, but there's no use pretending things aren't the way they are. We couldn't be happier."

"I'm not asking you to leave home. I mean, we could find some other place to live together. After himself, and we'd manage about your father some how."

"And there's your mother?" "She's not the best friend I've had, but there's no use pretending things aren't the way they are. We couldn't be happier."

"Steve, I don't — I don't want to be part of the kind I know. I want to marry you, Gale. I want to marry you."

OVER-STEPPING

WASHINGTON — Some of the most loyal New Deal lawyers, not Republicans, but brain trustees, believe the relief bill is unconstitutional. They have argued that the bill does not give the states sufficient power to meet their obligations under the new restrictions against Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Ickes' irritation is supposed to have caused the reversal of the relief bill's course. At the time of that decision he had a suit of his own pending in Cleveland, but the Louisville result had him so much trouble with property owners who do not want to sell their land for tax clearance at the government price.

A Louisville Judge held against Mr. Ickes in a representative case. Mr. Ickes' representative came to the rescue of the plaintiff. At the time of that decision he had a suit of his own pending in Cleveland, but the Louisville result had him so much trouble with property owners who do not want to sell their land for tax clearance at the government price.

COLORFUL DINNER
GIVEN BY SISTERHOOD

Members of Chapter AI, P. E. O., Sisterhood entertained their husbands at a cleverly appointed dinner, the first ever given by the organization. Guests were seated at long tables decorated with red carnations, candlesticks of tall tapers, and flower arrangements. Each guest followed the dinner program, arranged by Mrs. Al. Farry and Mrs. Kenyon. Guests were present from the chapter, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. E. Anderson, played violin selections. Two vocal soloists were present—Mrs. Nellie Odorom and—Mrs. James Kiel gave a humorous sketch.

Cards were the diversion of the evening, while cards and bridge were at play. Prizes were won by Mrs. Kiel, Mrs. J. E. Johnston, Harry Benoit and J. W. McRae. * * *

PATTERN BOOK

If you've been following the fashion news in the papers you know that the classic shirtwaist frock is still one of fashion's pets. And here's a delicate pattern book to help you make a nice shirtwaist. The sleeves and shoulders are cut in one to give a nice smooth line, and make them easy as a dream. The waist is a wide belt with a slot-pint at the back-to match the clip of its buttoned front closing. It's easily gathered to the waistline. The bodice is in a jaunty inverted pleat—and the pocket panels follow the latest trend of being set in at the square. Make it of a rough crepe and put an impudent little trim bow now at the throat for your chie.

Pattern 6068 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24,

26, 28, 30, 32, 34.

THIS OBVIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

Europe was without writing as late as 3000 B.C. For this accomplishment, as well as for many other things necessary to the progress of civilization, Europe turned to the Orient and the Near-East, where writing had been used for a thousand years or more.

BEET DEADLINE SET FOR FEB. 9

Twin Falls County Growers
Given Chance to Share
In AAA Benefits

Deadline for signing intentions to grow sugar beets under the AAA program this season has been set by the federal government's production administration for Feb. 9, according to information given out today by Harvey S. Hale, county extension agent.

To indicate such intentions will not require the growing of beets, until permit participation in any program, the growers will have to raise beets this season, it is explained.

Already 500 contracts have been signed by Twin Falls county farmers, and of this number half have already been forwarded to Washington for approval, acceptance. Total number of contracts to follow in the course of a few weeks, it is indicated.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (UPI)—The AAA today set Feb. 9 as the deadline for signing sugar beet and sugar can production control contracts in the states of Indiana, Illinois and Washington, where the closing date will be Feb. 16.

The sugar beet and sugar can producers, the AAA reported, does not refer to purchase contracts which growers enter into with contractors.

Officials said they expected 100,000 control contracts would be signed.

Fifer Youth Seized In Murtough Theft

Vern Davis, 20, fifer, is being returned here today from Ogden, where he was arrested yesterday on authority of Sheriff E. W. Williams, in connection with the theft of a radio and two guns from the Murtough Hardware company store early Monday morning.

Prater has been informed that the young man attempted to sell some of the stolen articles in the Utah city.

Entrance to the Murtough store was made by pushing in a door, officers report. The embezzler is identified as a boy named F. W. Wachholz. Officers suspect that more than one person was involved in the robbery.

RESCUE ARRIVE AS FLOODS SWEEP SOUTH

"Surging waters of the Mississippi river, far out of its banks in northern states, pounded at this house near Memphis, Tenn., as a rescuer in a rowboat arrived to take off the surrounded residents, two of whom are seen perched on the roof. With levees menaced and rivers far above normal stage, the south is threatened with a flood which may equal in devastation that of 1913-14."

Giant Zeppelin NEARING FINISH

Hugo German Airship Expected
To Make Test Flights
By Next May

By H. A. PETERS
BERLIN, 419.—The airship LZ-129, "the blader" of Germany, is now nearing completion and is expected to make her test trips by May 1935, at the latest, according to present estimates of the German airship experts.

The cost of putting up the giant flying blimp will be made in Germany before her maiden voyage to London, Paris and New York, the unusually cold weather lasts, work of mounting and covering the giant plant is being continued to prevent damage to the framework, which cannot be heated.

This work is in charge of Kurt Eicker, son of the Zeppelin engineer, who has been in charge of the Graf Zeppelin from its inception.

The Graf Zeppelin from its inception, its gondola, girders, wings, etc., are swarming in and out of the huge framework of the LZ-129 like ants over a skeleton.

Work is progressing steadily, with cross braces or steel in order to bear the strain of steering.

The LZ-129 is scheduled to begin a fortnightly trial service to North America in July. At present it is estimated 20 hours will be required for the round trip journey to Lakehurst in Miami; 40 hours for the return. These times are considerably longer than those of the purest long distance record.

Miss Gee is a graduate of Burley high school with the class of 1934, and is a member of the class of 1935.

At the present time Miss Gee is teaching at the Southwest School in Burley.

Freeze in Florida.
Aids Farmers

HARRINGTON, TEXAS (UPI)—Farmers in the Panhandle of Texas, where the winter freeze has been particularly severe, are being aided by the Red Cross.

The Florida freeze was followed by increased prices and subsistence for the state's grain industry.

The grapefruit proration order which now in effect has also acted to increase prices and inflation.

Prater has been informed that the young man attempted to sell some of the stolen articles in the Utah city.

P. T. A. Unit Hears Report on Welfare

Mr. O. C. McMill, president, presented a report of the executive board of the Parent-Teacher association last evening at the high school.

Mr. McMill, Mrs. McMill, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, school nurse, and the health projects undertaken.

She also reported that some children in the schools of the high schools in which she took care of the nutrition program, the dental and medical services, were given free dental and medical services.

The P. T. A. unit expects to dispense these funds to the children as they are prepared to become American citizens and my allegiance will further the cause.

None of the money goes to my adopted country.
