

OBSERVERS SCAM SINCLAIR MOVES

California Wonders If Epic's Leader Has New Plans In Mind

By ARTHUR C. DECK
LOS ANGELES, April 4.—Political observers cast speculative eyes over the probable political aspirations of Upton Sinclair today, awaiting the next move of the hide-and-seek politician who left the Socialist ranks to found the End Poverty in California movement.

The sharp political lines of last November when the state's hated leader of the "EPIC" movement fought a determined but losing battle for the governorship were revised yesterday when Sinclair issued two statements: interpreted as a politically significant call to arms for "EPIC" forces.

Holiday ended—Sinclair's monthly holiday appeared to be definitely ended when he emerged from the quiet of his Beverly Hills home and framed a salvo against Governor Merriman, opening political wounds that split California wide open last fall.

In his second statement, a message of congratulations to State Senator Cuthbert L. Olson, leader of the "EPIC" bloc in the legislature, congratulating him on his fight for "EPIC's" production for adequate relief measures, and a final gesture to bring the "end poverty" movement back to the political battlefield.

Gave Recall Warning—Last November, at the close of a contested election, Sinclair warned that the "EPIC" group would start action for Governor Merriman's recall if he failed to provide adequate relief measures.

Remembering this threat, political leaders pointed out that it is but five months since the election.

Sinclair declined to say whether his attack upon Merriman should be construed as an acceptance of political retirement. Observers, however, called attention to his statements in the broadsheet which charged that the state administration had betrayed the people with a tax program placing three-fourths of the burden on the shoulders of the poor.

Not on Probation—Sinclair said "I am not on probation. I criticize openly. When and if, the time comes that I may feel free to criticize again, I will act."

That statement, together with the fact that he has been in California since the election, caused political leaders of all parties to put their heads together and consider the message to Olson the most significant move of the former socialist since his departure from the state.

Interpreted it as meaning that Sinclair is still at the helm of his "EPIC" machine in spite of the fact that he has been in semi-seclusion since the election.

No one cared to speculate on what Sinclair may have in mind.

"Anything is possible," one said. "We'll just have to wait."

Jubilee Gaiety Will Pervade Britain As King Observes 25th Year of Reign

By HILTON DRONNET (NEA Service)

LONDON—This old gray city will become a sea of flags by day and a gem of light by night for two whole months beginning May 3.

It will know a gaiety, prosperity, vivacious joy known such as has not been for many decades. Princes and potentates, generals and admirals, soldiers, sailors and diplomats, diplomats and statesmen, all will be in London for the jubilee of the four corners of the globe will be sending their way to London as the focal point.

The reason will be the silver jubilee of King George V's accession to the throne of Great Britain. For the younger generation of Britons it will be the first of the kind they have seen. For the older people it will bring reminiscences of the pomp and the diamond jubilee of Queen Victoria, grandmother of the present king.

During the two-month celebration of his monarchical silver anniversary King George V of England will be greeted everywhere by huge electrically lighted crowns like that above, hundreds of which have been prepared. At left the bust modeled by Lady Pitt-Rivers which will be unveiled during the festivities. He is shown as right in 1910, the year he was crowned.

ITALY ASKS FOR WILD BIRD CARE

Will Carry Protection Drive To International Hunting Council Parley

ROME—Italy has an interesting and interesting project in mind for the international campaign for the protection of all wild birds especially during the period of mating. It is the hope of Mrs. W. F. E. Minchin, Italian delegate, to carry the campaign to the next convention of the International Hunting Council which will meet in Brussels in June.

The United States will be represented by T. Gilbert Pearson of New York, ornithologist and president and founder of the International Committee for Bird Protection.

Convention at Brussels—Delegates to the Brussels convention are expected from 23 countries. Italy will be represented by Italian ornithologist, president of a family of popes and Commander Giorgio Antonelli, bird enthusiast and ornithologist.

Prize statement by Prince Cigli and Commander Antonelli last issued recalls that have passed for all the practices condemned by lovers of bird life and the use of nets, traps and decoys.

A recent decree issued by Mussolini has prohibited the hunting of quail, snipe, ducks and other wild birds during the mating season. Formerly the practice of spring hunting had done great damage. It was felt that spring hunting, namely, during the period of mating, was doing the heaviest harm to the birds.

The reclaiming of great areas of Italian marshland also has worked a hardship on Italian wild birds but the government has provided for a bounty on Italian wild birds to the amount of 500,000 lire for the repopulation of birds in other sections of Italy.

...I do not irritate—

The celebrations in the King's honor will start on his Accession Day, May 6, when he and the Queen will drive in state to be present at thanksgiving services at St. Paul's Cathedral. The drive to and from the church has been so designed that the maximum of people may see him. That same evening the King will broadcast a message to be sent throughout the empire. Day after with light bonfires all over the kingdom, and all the big public buildings of London will be illuminated.

For the days and weeks following this a program has been laid out which will test the endurance to the full. May 6 he will receive the diplomatic corps and the representatives of the empire at Buckingham Palace. May 6 in the morning he will drive to Westminster Hall to receive a congratulatory address from both houses of Parliament and then he will give a state dinner at Buckingham Palace.

May 11 is Kingdom Day. On May 11 the other parts of the United Kingdom will have their share in the ceremonies. The Prince of Wales will be at Fillingham, the King at the White Town of Cardiff, while the Duke of York represents his father at Edinburgh and the Duke of Gloucester at Belfast. On the previous day the King will receive thanksgiving services in all the churches in the kingdom. A state ball will be held at Buckingham Palace May 14.

On May 16 there will be a second state dinner at Buckingham Palace and May 22 the King and Queen will go to a reception and ball at the Guildhall, tendered them by the Lord Mayor and corporation of the city of London.

May 31 the King will hold a levee at St. James Palace and June 23 there will be a second ball at Buckingham Palace. July 9 there will be an investiture of the Palace, and July 10 there will be another. July 13 he will review the army at Aldershot, and July 16 he will review the navy in a grand review at Spithead. July 20 he reviews the London police at Hyde Park and July 25 he gives a huge garden party at the palace.

But there is one part of his program especially designed for the plain folk. The King will always considered himself a Londoner and he wants to see as many of them as possible. Therefore, weather permitting, he and the Queen will drive through two different large sections of London on four successive Saturday afternoons—May 11, 18, 25 and June 1.

WHAT'S THE ALTERNATIVE?

There appears to be a hullabaloo in Boise over the state sales tax, with controversy back and forth as to the legal phases of a referendum and as to all well-aimed good for electors to call for a vote by the people on the measure, this method having been provided by the state constitution. But there must be more than mere denunciation of the tax. Its purpose, in this case, is entirely a humanitarian one. It permits Idaho to comply with the requirements of the federal relief administration in providing funds for relief.

Few persons there are ready to defend any kind of taxes. All of us will defend the many of the institutions for which taxes are used — in fact taxes are the basis of our government and we cannot have the latter without the former. But it is manifest that the relief funds must be supplied, and since the sales tax is the only method which provides this assurance, there should be full attention given to an alternative tax before there is an attempt to repeal the present one.

Organized opposition to the sales-tax flouts the phrase "A Penny for Benny," which is a passable wise-crack, but when it infers that the revenue benefits Governor Ross—the humor is lost in the fact that the money in reality goes to feed the needy and to provide work for the unemployed. Instead of the sales tax legislation bringing any benefit to the state administration, it is really a great handicap, for every public official instrumental in imposing new taxes runs the risk of antagonizing large numbers of taxpayers who are also voters.

The sales tax, irksome though it is, in reality gives opportunity for everyone to share in the relief burden. It is distasteful, annoying, expensive and undesirable. But some such revenue is a necessity as an emergency measure, and its payment gives assurance that relief funds will be forthcoming. Admittedly the levy comes in the nuisance class, but considering the worthy purpose for which it is employed, and the greater expense to which taxpayers would be put if the relief load had to be cared for from general taxes or from contributions to charity, maybe the citizens of this state are not getting off so badly after all.

DENY PROFITS OF WAR

An honest-to-goodness bill to take the profits out of war might turn out to be an excellent means of keeping the nation out of war altogether.

Take a look at the plan now being considered by the senate munitions committee. This plan, submitted by John T. Flynn, New York financial writer, is reported to bear a certain amount of White House approval, and whether it does or not, it at least suggests a new way of keeping the country at peace.

This bill would take the profits out of war with a vengeance. Under its provisions, the government would take 50 per cent of the first 6 per cent profits of corporations, and 100 per cent of all over that in excess profits.

It would limit all individual incomes to $10,000, taking everything over that for Uncle Sam. It would slap income taxes on everyone earning more than $1000 a year, and the rates would be stiff.

HEINER HENRICH TODAY
MILLENCE GRAVES' employer, GEORGE HENRICH, tells her he has a confession to make. He says he would not have wanted a woman to be as beautiful as she is. He says he would not have wanted a woman to be as beautiful as she is. He says he would not have wanted a woman to be as beautiful as she is.

MILLENCE'S nerves had uttered too many shocks that day. This was the last straw. She wanted to scream at the top of her lungs. She wanted to break into tears. Instead, however, she faced the man and said: "You are a damn good actor. You are a damn good actor. You are a damn good actor."

MILLENCE faced it with a wink. He smiled in her stomach. A feeling of purification stole from every pore of her skin. Good heavens! What did the man know? What was she getting into? And come to think of it, what had she done with that notebook? She remembered taking it from Drimond's office. She must have had it with her when she went to the hotel. She must have had it in the closet, then when she got out in the morning she had forgotten to take it with her. "And now what will happen? Would they find it?"

A knock sounded on the door of the room. The door opened. A woman came in. She was a woman dressed in black, black jacket, eyes said, "Mr. Eaton, the housekeeper. These are clothes for you." The man deposited the boxes on the bed and withdrew. Mrs. Eaton stared behind her. Millicent opened the boxes. Intending to her exclamations of delight as she saw the contents. "How wonderfully complete," she said. "There are dresses, coats, lingerie—everything."

Long Life and Security

THE Metropolitan Life Insurance Company began publishing "Health Hints" for its policyholders in 1871 and ever since has carried on its efforts toward better health.

The Company cooperated with government officials in a campaign against a threatened cholera epidemic in 1892 and thus began its cooperative work with public health organizations.

In further developing its activities in the field of health, the Metropolitan organized its Welfare Division in 1909 and, at about the same time, a nation-wide nursing service was established for Industrial policyholders.

Subsequent health records demonstrate the value of these services.

During all these years the Company has worked shoulder to shoulder with national, state and local health organizations to stamp out preventable disease.

New low mortality figures were recorded in 1934 for practically all of the diseases against which public health forces have directed special preventive efforts—notably typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diphtheria, infant mortality and maternal mortality.

During this year the good record of previous years continued to obtain among Metropolitan policyholders.

TRAFFIC SCHOOL PROVES SUCCESS

Education Instead of Jails
Termed Best Method for
Auto Violators

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Cities which send their traffic law violators to school rather than jail have found the system a success, the American Automobile association has reported. The association based the finding on a survey conducted by its safety and traffic engineering department. President Thomas P. Henry of the association stated that schools have proved meritorious in several types of cases, including juveniles and offenders who would have been indifferent to a fine, and where a fine would have constituted a hardship.

Cities with Schools
Violators' schools are conducted in Berkeley, Los Angeles, Oakland, Phoenix, St. Louis, St. Paul, St. Paul, Calif.; Wichita, Kan.; Detroit; Minneapolis; St. Louis and Portland, Ore. Henry said plans were under way for establishment of similar institutions in other states. These schools are based on the generally accepted principle that education is an important factor in any comprehensive program for the reduction of highway fatalities and injuries. Henry said "Magnetics" are usually are faced with the fact that quite a large proportion of violators do not have a proper understanding of "traffic regulations, of causes of accidents, or of the principles of safe driving."

"TOOK ALL KINDS OF PILLS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF"

Constipation Due to Insufficient of Kelllogg's ALL-BRAN

A fine letter from Mrs. Snyder: "I have had trouble with my bowels for years, taking all kinds of pills and drugs, with no relief. One year ago I saw Kelllogg's ALL-BRAN and bought a package. It has good movement every day. I am 75 years old, I am telling my friends what bran has done for me."—Mrs. M. L. Snyder, 918 N. Craft Ave., Hollywood, Cal. "Constipation due to insufficient bulk" in meals. Research shows that Kelllogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines. ALL-BRAN is also good for constipation, an element of the ailment. "Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient to correct constipation. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the "bulk" in leafy vegetables. How much better to use this food in place of patent medicines. At all grocers in the retail and mail order packages. Made by Kelllogg in Battle Creek. Keep on the Sunny Side of Life

MOVIES HELP TO SWISS PUBLICITY

Motion Pictures Used as Part
Of Campaign to Stress
Industries

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Motion picture films are used as a publicity medium for Swiss industries, according to a report from the American consular general at Zurich. Three films of this type now are in circulation and a fourth will be produced shortly, the report stated. Financing of this publicity was done by both the industries and the Swiss office for the development of trade. Three-fourths of the amount was subscribed by various Swiss industries and the trade organization covered the remaining one-fourth. In reality, however, the government contributed only about 12 per cent, the explanation added, as the organization derives 40 per cent of its income from the federal government and 60 per cent from Swiss industries. The film "Lancet Power" depicting Swiss hydro-electric industries, will be shown in the United States soon, the report said. During 1930, five million acres of lumber were burned by forest fires in the United States.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

NO STATE IN THE UNION IS BOUNDED ENTIRELY BY NATURAL BOUNDARY LINES. NEW JERSEY HAS THE LEAST MAN-MADE BORDER LINES.

ROOKS HAVE A BIRD LANGUAGE CONSISTING OF AROUND 40 "WORDS" (SOUNDS WITH PARTICULAR MEANINGS.)

MOST SHARKS BRING FORTH DEVELOPED YOUNG... ABLE TO FEED FOR THEMSELVES.

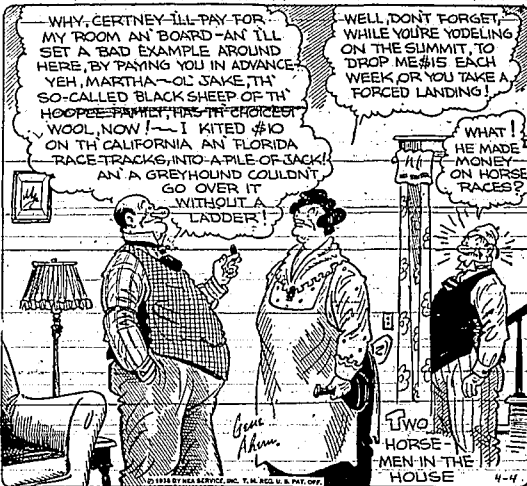

Crooked boundary lines are the rule in Europe, but in the United States, especially west of the Mississippi, straight lines are most common. New Jersey has a straight surveyed line only along its northern boundary, between the Hudson and Delaware rivers.
