FAIR AT LEIPZIG SHOWS UPTREND

Famous Exposition Points to Increasing Business in World Economy

LEIPZIG (AP)—The Leipzig Fair just closed has been the largest and best attended in years.

It attracted 190,000 buyers, or 60,000 more than last year, including 10,000 from outside the fair grounds of 20 per cent of whom 350 were from America.

The fair included over 8,000 exhibits, a gain of 12 per cent over 1934. To carry the crowds to Leipzig 200 special trains were required and over 40,000 rooms were provided for private families.

A single restaurant served 33,000 meals on the second day of the fair. A large volume of business was transacted, which caused rises in quotations on the Berlin exchange.

Industry on a "trans-harbor beam," which is 700 years old, is considered an accurate barometer of world trade.

SWAGGER AND STYLE PERSONIFIED IN LATEST FASHIONS

In sports or dress wear, the new spring coats for Millady carry a distinctive chic. At left, beige and silver fox make this one of the most stylish of the season's garments. Except for the large-cap sleeves, it is form-fitting. Right, a sports coat with fitted waistline in bold berry-color, collarless and closed with leather buttons. (Coats from Jay-Thorpe, New York.)

Swagger Style Marks Newest Coat Fashions

NEW YORK, April 9 (NEA)—Tough-looking fashions that radiate soft and light as feathers—yet are shadings of green and rust as well as the always-good blues, browns and black—interesting new mottled-at-the-waist and flared at the hem silhouettes—faded to match materials—this is the Easter coat picture.

You can be an alluring bit of femininity in a beige, grille, or pale blue dressmaker's coat with fur-trimmed caps and a neckline that is to be worn open at the throat. Top it with one of the new poke-bonnet type hats, add a corsage of fresh, feathery flowers and step out, happy in the assurance that the world is yours for the taking.

Tailored Before
If, on the other hand, you like to look dashing in a career sort of way, there are beautifully tailored, narrow in body, checked and plaid and swaggy models—that flare out at the back as you stride along, dartering the figure and giving you an air of self-confidence. Practical indeed are the sweaters that come with matching two-piece suits.

For the milliner, there are alternating wrap-around designs with collars and cuffs of shining gabardine and other lustrous fabrics. For the woman who travels a good deal, nothing could be more practical than a coat that's teamed up with a harmonizing dress in a dark, matching color.

Dressed Should Blend
Incidentally, have your spring wardrobe well planned in your mind before you get your coat. All the dresses you wear with it should weather still its coolish should blend with it. This goes for accessories, too.

If you want to be "dramatic" in 1935, look at three- and four-colored and checked length tunic types that are belted and plucked at the waistline, flared, Coe-sack fashion, at the hem. Most of these have plain V necklines into which you tuck a gay, A-cup, collar-shaped sleeve and leather belt.

One particularly handsome design is a coat, shown in a Paris collection, is the color of fresh strawberries and is worn over a dress of pinkish beige.

COURT MOVES TO 'SAVE' DEAD MAN

Lawyer Finds Death Heirive Buried in Files After Negro Hanged

LOS ANGELES, April 9 (AP)—Court machinery moved solemnly here today to "save" the life of a dead man, hanged four days ago at San Quentin prison.

At a public trial, officials investigating the legal blunder which sent Ruth Griffin, 28-year-old Negro, to the gallows last Friday, although he had been granted a stay of execution.

An appeal which automatically postponed Griffin's death sentence was found in the files of a lower court's office yesterday, apparently forgotten.

Lawyer Stuart Probst filed the investigation filed after Richard F. Bird, the Negro's attorney, read of his client's execution in newspapers.

He started on the trail of the appeal, filed with a transcript, to record two months ago, and found it in the office of Court Clerk E. R. Boardman.

Boardman admitted the error and immediately ordered the appeal filed and brought to the state supreme court, where, if used, it will "proceed" tomorrow, and may succeed in being used to save the dead man's life.

Dick Powell's Kettle Causes Pains Aplenty

By ALEXANDER RABIN HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dick Powell, like Arkansas, is cooked in a deep, black kettle, swung over an open fire.

Until several months ago Dick didn't have a home, let alone an outside fireplace, but he decided finally that he probably would be around the film colony for some time to come, so he built a home.

Of course he had to have an outside fireplace, and one of the Kansas soup-soap included plans for the fireplace.

Finally the home was completed. The fireplace was built, and was ready to be put to use. A swinging iron hook was over the center of the hood—the kettle—but Dick had no kettle.

Not realizing what he had let himself in for, Dick went to a hardware store and tried to buy one—without success. He went to dozens of hardware stores with the same result.

He was told to go to the "Hollywood Market," where employees said they knew exactly what he wanted, but didn't have it. It seemed that everybody in Hollywood was building open fireplaces and wanted deep, black kettles.

Vetoes Tour
The manager of the market offered to go on a shopping tour through the south in search for such kettles. Dick vetoed the plan, believing it would cost him plenty of money.

Dick's mother, visiting him from her home in Little Rock, Ark., said she would try to get one for him from friends in Arkansas. Days of writing back and forth finally brought result.

An old friend of the Powell family in Mt. View, Ark., where Dick was born, had one of the antique kettles. After several letters had been exchanged, she decided the antique needed more than she did and sent it to him.

With his mother's packing, Dick and several friends and their Arkansas soup and smacking their lips, said it was worth the trouble it cost to buy Dick.

RELIEF—PRINT-FABRICS
The printed silk flock being to spring fashion what it is to the design prints a bit of news to add variety. There are two types of "relief" prints, both equally exciting. One type has the design printed in such a way that one motif stands out so predominantly that it looks just about ready to pop off. Another type is printed on heavy surface creped. The "pumps" bring out the print in relief.

Single-Flower Scents in Favor as Spring Perfume

Astria Althoff, Fox film star, representative of the very modern-looking perfume sprays to apply scents.

By ALICIA HAIT (NEA Service Staff Writer)
In the spring perfume race, single flower odors are ahead. Smart women are choosing these old favorites—lily of the valley, lilac, wild rose and carnation and wearing them in the evening as well as for daytime.

In addition, because there is such a vogue for corages and bouquets of fresh violets, plain violet perfume is more popular than it has been in years. If you are wearing a nosegay of artificial violets, it is a splendid idea to sprinkle them lavishly with your violet perfume.

There too, there's a new perfume on the market right now, called Chrysanthemum, it is to be used sparingly. This drops on a coat collar will last for at least ten days and a disinfectant dash behind your cars or on wrappings will stay fragrant all day.

Remember, of course, that any perfume is more effective if a subtle sort of way if you put it directly on your skin. Besides, applying it in this manner assures you that there will be no staining of your clothes and no static build-up in your closet.

If you have an atomizer, by all means use it. If not, you might drop a few Easter gift hints to members of your family who, like you, are confused as to what you'd like for one with some kind of patent for that perfume evaporation and a removable bulb that can be packed separately when you go away for the week end.

Baillie Elected Head of World-wide United Press

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—The election of Hugh Baillie as president of the United Press was announced today.

Baillie succeeds Karl A. Bickel, who has been president since January 1, 1928. Bickel will continue as a director of the United Press, and a member of the executive committee.

Announcement of Baillie's appointment followed a special meeting of the board of directors in New York, at which Bickel's resignation as active head of the press association was tendered. In so doing, Bickel proposed Baillie as his successor, and this was ratified by the directors. The change is effective immediately.

Baillie has been executive vice-president of the United Press since 1928. He has done so without interruption for three decades.

The association will be managed by Baillie, as he has shared its responsibilities with me for that time or six years.

Baillie's incumbency, the United Press has grown from an organization of 500 editors to one of more than 1,500. Its service has been extended into many foreign countries so that now it has 40 countries and its news dispatches are transmitted daily into 100 different languages. Its bureaus throughout the world have been increased from 20 to 51. Its leased and staff personnel has been increased proportionately.

Unbiased Medium
"One of the great accomplishments of the United Press is its unbiased, unprejudiced, non-nationalistic medium for the dissemination of uncensored international news," said Baillie. "This accomplishment is due to the long-visioned guidance of Roy Howard, was carried on by William W. Hawkins when he was president of the U. P. and was made a constantly greater influence for good in world affairs under Karl Bickel's administration, which has been filled with propaganda, with wars threatened and discussed, with social unrest still in our faces, here in today's greater need than ever for truth, sincerity and accuracy in the news disseminated between nations. The reputation of the United Press for an objective report—for responsible management with but one purpose, furnishing its clients with the truth, was never higher than it is today. The carrying on of personnel are contemplated.

Later he returned to New York as assistant general news manager, while Bickel was in charge of the news report, and subsequently became general news manager when Bickel was made president.

In 1924 Baillie left his executive post after 14 years active editorial experience and switched to the business office, going on the road as a salesman. Within a year he became night manager and in 1927 general business manager. His appointment as executive vice-president in 1928 placed him in general charge of the entire organization and was followed by a series of interviews with European statesmen, one of which is particularly remembered today because it is Franz von Papen, then chancellor of Germany, announced that Germany would never relax her desire to escape from the provisions of the Versailles treaty until that agreement was broken and Germany regained her "lost" colonies, her "right" to arm, and her former position among the first-class powers.

No other changes in executive personnel are contemplated.

ELECTRICIAN HAS VITAL FILM JOB

His Important Personage in Business of Producing Motion Pictures

BY NORMAL B. DUELL HOLLYWOOD (U)—When Edison invented the electric light he undoubtedly had no idea that its use would become a film art.

The job of a motion picture electrician is not just a matter of connecting plugs and lamps. It must be an artist, capable of painting with lights in much the same manner a painter uses brushes and color.

As the cameraman is responsible for the finished effect of the film, the first general lighting scheme with Geiger, and the hundreds of lights of various types and colors are placed in strategic positions.

Then comes the disposition of light in contrasting grades. In various types of lights, each with a different purpose, all innumerable shades of brilliance, from the illumination of 300 kilowatts in armature to a highlight on the nose of Loreta Young, leading lady of the picture.

Unlike the static art of painting, film lighting must allow for movement. Always when a set is lit, the actors are in motion, and the electrician must be careful not to allow unusual shadows, or to permit shade shadows where they would occur in nature. It's a ticklish business.

On such a task as that of the cameraman, in which 3,500 extra and 800 horses took part, the job consisted of painting a picture, three acres square, light and shade must be brought out in a fine painting.

Linen Ensembles Brighten Kitchens And Bathrooms in New Spring Trend

Matching patholders, glass and roller towels for the kitchen in blue, green, gold or red set a new vogue for the home-keeper.

Three designs for guest and finger-towel sets are shown here—stripes and dots, checked and dot, and bow-knot. They are printed on linen.

(Linen designed by Marguerite Mergentz; from Wannamaker's, New York)

BY MARY M. McINTYRE NEW YORK (AP) (U)—The ensemble idea hit the linen closet with a bang this spring and applied into a brilliant series of stripes, dots and bow-knot patterns.

Not only do your roller and dish towels match each other, but also the bed linen and pillow cases. In the bedroom break out in the same stripes or plaids as the window curtains. The best designs have turned to this new ensemble.

FRANCE HASTENS ELECTRIFICATION

Modernizing of Railroads Now Being Carried Out at Swift Pace

BY JOSEPH D. RAVOTTO PARIS (U)—Electrification of railroads in France has been going on at a rapid pace during the past few years.

The P. O. M. is farther ahead in modernization—process than the other lines of France, who for various reasons; mostly military, have not adopted electric traction extensively.

The principal advantages of electrifying the lines are a reduction of 30 per cent in traction expenses and greater commercial speeds.

One electric locomotive can do the work of three ordinary steam locomotives. The P. O. M. line has at present an electric locomotive which can draw a train of 500 tons at a speed of 62 m.p.h.

The most extensively electrified section of the P. O. M. system is that from Bordeaux southward and across the valleys of the Pyrenees, extending from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean and accounting for 1,157 miles.

This system had its beginning from the short section between the Gare d'Orsay and the Gare d'Antin, the two underground stations in Paris, a distance of about 2 1/2 miles, which was begun in 1900.

Four years later an 11-mile extension was made to Juvisy, Paris suburb, but it was not until 1927 the electric lines were first extended outside the Paris region.

The electrification program was first carried out in 1911 in the southern section of the system with 35 miles of track to reach the big great stretch of 187 miles, Toulouse, in 1925.

Stag Route Change Brings 3 Stations JEROME, April 9 (Special)—Change of one Union Pacific stage route from Twin Falls by way of Gooding, Wendell and Jerome, instead of the south-side highway through Bull and Filer to Twin Falls, has brought about the construction of three new service stations here.

Paul Rudy is erecting a station on West Main street; Sam Burick is building one across from the park on Main street east, and Elmer and Emory Potter will locate their station on the corner now occupied by the Patz Metal Works.

Work has not definitely started upon a location for the business. Upon the completion of these three stations, there will be 10 stations in Jerome.

Transport lines of the United States operate 350 scheduled planes over their air routes.

MOVIES ACT TO FIGHT TAX BILL

Will Hays Charts Battle to Balk Levy and Prevent Studio Removal

(Copyright, 1935, United Press)

HOLLYWOOD, April 9 (U.P.)—The motion picture industry's plans for limping out of California to escape a proposed state income tax took on today the aspect of a "now you see it, now you don't" trick.

Walter P. Reuther is expected to take his Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company to Florida. Samuel Goldwyn was going to England. Joseph M. Schenck was going to pack up his Universal lot and take Century and movie somewhere else.

But Will Hays, high mogul of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, came forth with a big can of oil which he poured on the troubled waters.

Will Hays Solons

"The movie industry will not leave Hollywood," he said, instead of threatening to leave. Hays announced plans for turning all the political guns he has in his hands on toward the state legislature to make the lawmakers fire the movie.

The movie case has been able to confer with Governor Frank F. Merriam on the proposed tax measures and will go to Sacramento for another heart-to-heart talk with the executive before the legislature votes on the bill.

Meanwhile a Hollywood booklet peddled at 100 to 150 cents per copy is being distributed in the present form and had the same kind of wages that the industry now pays. There were no takers.

Mary Astor, screen actress, and her husband, Dr. Franklin Thorpe, today had come to a parting of the ways because they were caught in two different spheres," according to the Astor's attorney.

Dr. Thorpe filed suit for divorce yesterday charging the actress with mental cruelty.

The divorce was granted in New York, N. Y., in June, 1931.

Dr. Thorpe was given custody of their two-year-old daughter, Marylin, under an agreement reached with the court. Miss Astor will have the child six months every year, if she so desires.

IOWA CITY, Ia., April 9 (U.P.)—Twenty-three members of Phi Beta Delta fraternity suspended from the University of Iowa last night for "maintaining a disorderly house," charged today that similar conditions prevail in many other Iowa fraternities.

Members of Phi Beta Delta, a national Jewish fraternity, were accused by the university board of discipline of "lewd, lascivious, and immoral relations with women on the campus."

University authorities said two girls, one 17 and the other 21, visited at the Phi Beta Delta house at least four times in December and January, engaging in wholesale immorality.

The university chapter of the fraternity was ordered disbanded and all its members suspended "definitely."

Hatmakers Protest Bareheaded Herriot

PARIS (U.P.)—When French hatmakers attend a cabinet meeting at the Elysee palace they leave their hats and coats at the palace coat room.

Bluff, hairy Edouard Herriot doesn't like cloaks. His hat and coat stay in his car, parked outside.

Result: The ritual photographs showing the ministers leaving the presidential palace which grace the front page of Paris newspapers every time the cabinet meets invariably show Herriot's hatless, cloakless attire.

At the last meeting, Herriot saw the camera aimed at him as he left the Elysee.

"Don't say 'hi,'" he said. "I'll get my hat on." The hat-makers of my constituency have protested. I've no joke, you know.

Cabin Still Stands

ODGEN, Utah (U.P.)—Miles Gooden was believed to have built the first cabin in Utah in 1845. It is still in good condition.

Here are examples of the fashions for spring, that's shown in new spring and Easter coats for women. The seated figure shows a youthful waffle-weight lightweight wool coat in black with a high little collar of the material curled and held with two buttons; it is shirred above the waistline. Standing, her companion wears a seven-eighths-sweater model in navy blue navy wool with fur collar a shawl lighter. At right seated is a model for the more mature woman in "black wool with rippling galley collar and cuffs." (Coats from Jay-Thorpe, New York)

BACKERS FIGHT AGENT OUSTER

POCATELLO, April 9 (U.P.)—Disregarding W. P. Whitaker's statement that C. W. Dalgh, former Bonanza county agent, "cannot be reinstated," a committee believes they can secure 97 percent of the signatures of county farmers, favoring his return to office.

Whitaker received the group yesterday when it appeared before him to plead in behalf of Dalgh, J. L. Hartvigson, Donny; Bishop L. J. Petty of Swan Lake; and Dean John H. Nichols of the University of Idaho, members lunch, comprised the group appearing in behalf of Dalgh.

Meanwhile petitions are being circulated among the farmers, and it is reported that 800 signatures have been obtained so far.

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Chinese motion picture fans like films packed with action. Vice Consul John C. Pool reported to the commerce department.

Pool said American pictures are the favorites in Hong Kong. Approximately 75 per cent of all films shown in Hong Kong theaters during 1934 were made in the United States.

Oregonian's Death Shakes Vicinity

ASTLAND, Ore. (U.P.)—Joe Louis, 40, rocked the world when he committed suicide. Lying on a couch of 400 pounds of dynamite he touched a match to the fuse.

Joe Louis was a dynamite expert in the solid rock upon which the dynamite rested. Only eight years ago he was 100 pounds of dynamite but it did not explode.

The blast was so terrific, according to Sheriff Syd Brown, that it knocked a cow to the ground a half mile away, broke a door in a house a quarter of a mile from the scene, and uprooted trees a foot in diameter.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 9 (U.P.)—Thousands of messages of condolence from every part of the world came today to the family of Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times and the Chattanooga Times.

Are you using 1924 oil in your 1934-35 car?

Plain mineral oils are obsolete! You need a Germ Processed* oil for today's car!

BACK in 1924 most cars had less than 60 horsepower, and only high-quality motor oil could lubricate them properly.

But today's cars range from 80 to 180 horsepower and the average is over 100. With increased power have come like increases in bearing pressure and crankcase temperature. Oil today must do a job undreamed of ten years ago.

Yet motor oils generally have no more oiliness and film strength now than they had 10 years ago. New refining methods have recently come into use to make oils free from carbon and sludge. But the new refining processes have lowered instead of increased film strength and oiliness—the very qualities on which depends an oil's lubricating value!

There is one exception—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. It, too, is free from carbon and sludge troubles. But more important, Tilden Machine tests prove that the new Germ Process* puts into this oil 2 to 4 times the film strength of any straight mineral oil!

That extra film strength enables Germ Processed Oil to stay on the job and prevent wear under the most extreme pressures and heat. It helps Germ Processed Oil give long mileage, as proved by the famous Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Plain mineral oils were all right 10 years ago—today they are becoming obsolete. Say "O.K.—Drain!" and fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—custom-made for today's cars!
