ROOSEVELT BANS DELAY ON FINAL NRA SETTLEMENT

Demands Status Be Threatened Out at Present Session of Congress

BLANKET EXTENSION HIT

President Asks Definite Move as Means of Reassuring U. S. Business

By H. G. THOMPSON (Copyright, 1935, United Press) WASHINGTON, April 27 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt reported today on high authority to be insistent that the status of the NRA be cleared up at the present session of congress.

The move in the nature of a blanket extension of NRA, with determination of a more highly outlined scope and for the time being—was understood to have met with White House disapproval.

Several reasons for Mr. Roosevelt's stand were mentioned in apparently authoritative sources.

One was that of uncertainty, already concerned and uncertain over the question of government of the situation that would be decided upon, could settle down to a forward movement.

Another was a desire to avoid an accumulation of problems which might find 1936, a presidential year, rewording with talk of business, reorganization, and business re-organization.

Chairman Pat Harrison of the senate finance committee, encountering a movement to postpone the settlement of the NRA extension, said he would consult the president on the situation.

Harrison's committee has begun consideration of legislation to continue the recovery of the deficit, and is reportedly to get a satisfactory bill.

The senate "should be able to bring out a bill" as soon as it is brought out of committee, possibly within a week or two, the president is expected to say.

Mr. Roosevelt presented three amendments which would tighten NRA administration and meet the situation which has been directed against it.

His amendments would be considered by the senate next week.

U. S. CONSIDERS GAS LEVY HALT

Abandonment of Motor Fuel Tax Depends on Fate of Soldier Bonus

WASHINGTON, April 27 (U.P.)—Congressional tax experts are presently considering reduction or elimination of the federal gasoline tax.

Pressure is being placed on the senate and the committee to throw out the one cent gasoline levy, and also to reduce cigarette taxes.

The result of the drive, it was determined, will depend on whether the senate will agree to the bill.

The hope of ending or lowering the gas tax depends on the fate of soldiers bonus legislation.

U. S. Delays New Action on Silver

MORGENTHAU PUTS OFF MOVE OVER WEEK-END

Mexico Acts Higher Level Brings Near-Disaster to China, Mexico

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY WASHINGTON, April 27 (U.P.)—Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., today announced that the treasury would make no change in its silver policy over the week-end.

There will be no announcement on silver over the week-end, the secretary told news-patients.

Morgenthau's remarks were interpreted as meaning that the treasury was still considering a new course of action with respect to silver.

A decision was made for a currency of paper and copper exchange. A national silver reserve will be built up to back the paper money.

Export of coins or bullion obtained by melting coins was forbidden.

All bank deposits today which the government wanted today details of its plans.

Secretary of Treasury Narciso Bussan, said to Washington by telephone, accompanied by Thomas H. Locke, commercial attaché of the American legation, to confer with Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau Jr. It was understood that he would lodge a vigorous protest.

Morgenthau called Sen. Pat McClellan, the highest ranking member of the senatorial silver bloc, to conference. He declined to discuss his next move.

Yesterday he talked over the situation with other silver workers.

World markets in a spectacular rise yesterday, carried the silver price to its highest level in 1935.

The New York price was set at 67 cents an ounce, the best since 1929.

The price reached 34 1/2 cents, a new high since 1929, in the balance of the day.

The treasury now pays 77.57 cents an ounce to domestic producers.

The price was understood to be considering and discussing three alternatives. These commodities are:

(1) A possible pegging of the newly mined silver price at 125 cents.

(2) A possible pegging of the newly mined silver price at 125 cents.

(3) A possible pegging of the newly mined silver price at 125 cents.

Why Not An Enlarged Federal Building Here?

EDITORIAL

Every community in the United States should be determining the permanent improvements to be sought through the provisions of the new public works appropriation to create employment and building.

There are numerous desirable projects here, but one which should be the easiest to obtain, and admitted to be among the most essential, is the enlargement of the federal building which is at present housed in the post office.

It is believed that if there is the right kind of effort made, the building can be enlarged to meet the needs of the government.

The present second story amounts to an attic and houses the local office of the department of internal revenue and army and navy recruiting offices. The quarters are miserable.

With the construction of the second story, ample space would be made available for such offices, and in addition other federal agencies, including the United States commissioner, the production credit association and perhaps other such units could be housed in the building.

The Evening Times suggests that local civic bodies take immediate steps in agitating the additional story to the building which the project will secure early approval and give this city credit for an improvement which is needed not only now but which is essential for the future needs of the community.

Federal Clerks Claimed Living By 'Free Love'

WASHINGTON, April 27 (U.P.)—Congressional employees protesting the anti-Communist program of the government, today asserted that nearly 80 federal clerks were living together under one roof in Washington.

He contended this situation was due to federal laws which, according to Babcock, after marriage by restricting community of husbands and wives in such houses as were already working for the government.

Confession seeking, retention of the law, and the law, today disputed Babcock's assertions. They defended the law, and the law, today disputed Babcock's assertions.

Babcock testified recently before a Senate subcommittee that he knew of a group of clerks who were living together under one roof in Washington.

Since then, Babcock said today, he has been unable to find any more copies in the same situation.

WINS BY CHEST EXPANSION

Lucas Conquers Seattle Outfit

What looks to be a dead heat in the mile run during the dual track meet between California and Stanford, at Berkeley, was won by Warren Dixon, left, of Stanford, when his heaving chest struck the tape a split second ahead of Bob Heavie, Hear star. This excellent action picture was taken as California won its first track meet in a dozen years from the Indians.

By United Press
A change in climate was just what the doctor ordered for itay Lucas, a stubby right-hander for Seattle who reached the Pacific coast league last season in the deal through which the Mission Red advanced Johnny Babler to the big leagues and a new ball game yesterday the man who couldn't finish a game for the Mission west against the Oakland club league leader in percentage and batting, and lanted the pace with only one hit over his Seattle gave him full of encouragement by slugging Lou Gehrig, a big home run for 11 hits, and Mickey Vernon, a big home run for three by Mike Hunt, and the Indians began a new season with an 8-1 victory. Spindler, Seattle's catcher, hit his third homer in four days.

Newest Map of Proposed Twin Falls-Bruneau Project

Shown here are the projected new irrigation tracts in the territory west of here, water for which is to originate at Blue Lakes north of this city. The Bruneau development, termed a source of tremendous potential prosperity to this area and Idaho in general, is regarded as irrefragable in light of the government's sub-marginal land program in other areas, contemplating removal of thousands of midwest farming families from unprofitable land. It is estimated the Bruneau project would bring an influx of at least 10,000 new farms to southern Idaho. (Illustration, courtesy Boise Capital News).

Engineer Sees Bruneau Tract As Big Opportunity For Idaho

By RAY J. LYMAN
Geodetic Engineer

Why I am in favor of the Bruneau tract first development is that there are 300,000 acres of the finest irrigable land in the west in this land.

2. There is an adequate water supply for this land.

3. The project would bring into Idaho 10,000 families and new homes, with an expenditure of private capital of $50,000,000.

4. Reclamation of this land to originate at this time it would create private labor for 2,000 to 4,000 men and women during the next three years and greatly improve employment conditions, relieving much of the heavy load placed by the state and federal governments.

5. It would greatly expand business of every kind throughout all southern Idaho and bring a large amount of new revenue into the state's treasury.

As to No. 1 above, a reconnaissance survey shows this statement to be a fact. Under No. 1 of the development plan is about half of the total 600,000 acres capable of being irrigated by canals in the area south of Snake river and west of Salmon Falls river. It is the best portion of the area, in much of which the soil is hundreds of feet deep, being a combination of lake bed silt and wind-blown lava ash.

The requirements of the land, or nearly 1,000,000 acre feet. The state water law limit the amount of filling to five acre feet per acre, but since the actual requirements would be only about one acre foot of water for every five acres, a large margin could be made. The determination cited here is on the basis of a 12-month available supply and a storage reservoir which would make it possible to run water in the main canal throughout the year, thus obtaining double duty. Preliminary surveys indicate the feasibility of constructing a 2,200 cubic feet per second strategic points on the tract to impound from 300,000 to 600,000 acre feet, to be used on the lower half of the area during the irrigation season and the reducing the flow on the upper main system during most of the irrigation season.

Canal Capacity. This plan would require a main canal capacity of only 1,250 cubic feet, which would be available flow after all present rights are satisfied. But since an average of 2,200 cubic feet per second would be available throughout most of the irrigation season, a canal capacity of 2,500 feet would deliver enough water in seven months to allow for a crop of 100,000 acres. Let it be recalled that there would still be available 1,000,000 acre feet of water for other lands which might be cared for by construction of a similar canal.

Let it be noted that this amazing supply of water nearly all originates west of Miller dam, there having been only 178,000 acre feet which passed Miller throughout the year. During all the irrigation season of 1934 only eight acre feet got past Miller dam. This is not dependent on any rights or flows above Miller. Its source is less likely to fail than any on which the north and south Twin Falls tract depend.

Benefits to State

As to the remaining three reasons why the Bruneau project should be supported by all good Idaho citizens, scarcely any argument should be needed. The story of the Twin Falls tract is a living example of what will occur on the Bruneau.

This is a safe, super-nice opportunity for the state to develop its most latent values to the good and great benefit of every man, woman and child in the state.

Most of this region was in recent geological time covered by a great sea which was gradually withdrawn, which was probably even more recent the great lake originally covering the Boise valley and lower Snake river and Payette valleys as one body.

Much of this ancient lake-bed was never covered by the lava flows of the tertiary and later times, although there are tongues of lava which extended from the lava cones to different points, filling ancient depressions and natural channels.

From the flows and other came the disintegrating lava ash soil which was distributed by the wind and mixed with the fine silt, such as the winds are now transporting. This is the soil on which the present Bruneau valley is now being developed. The soil is a fine, sandy loam, with a depth of 600 to 1,400 feet lower than the Twin Falls tract.

Water Plentiful

As to the available water supply, let it be said that there is an absolute minimum of 4,000 cubic feet per second available for the lowest monthly flow of the year and in the dryest year in recent times after other rights are completely satisfied.

The average available flow throughout the year, however, is 2,500 cubic feet per second. These deductions on the U. S. geological survey stream gauges over a period of a dozen years up to and including 1934.

Now, since the average available flow produces nearly seven feet per acre over 300,000 acres a year, and an average duty of 2.5 acre feet per acre, there is available for transportation 4.5 acre feet per acre.

Excess on Hand

Since the flow is not to be more than three times the figure herein, there is an excess of four feet per acre in excess of requirements of the land, or nearly 1,000,000 acre feet. The state water law limit the amount of filling to five acre feet per acre, but since the actual requirements would be only about one acre foot of water for every five acres, a large margin could be made. The determination cited here is on the basis of a 12-month available supply and a storage reservoir which would make it possible to run water in the main canal throughout the year, thus obtaining double duty. Preliminary surveys indicate the feasibility of constructing a 2,200 cubic feet per second strategic points on the tract to impound from 300,000 to 600,000 acre feet, to be used on the lower half of the area during the irrigation season and the reducing the flow on the upper main system during most of the irrigation season.

PLAN ANNOUNCED

New York Accorded Largest Increase in Idaho. Granted 2,300 Additional

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—The civilian conservation corps today announced its detailed plans to increase enrollment this summer from 352,000 to 600,000 young men—largest peacetime mobilization in the nation's history.

The youthful workmen, coming mostly from the cities and earning $30 a month, will be housed in camps scattered throughout the nation. Directives were issued in planing, in telling how the increased quotas were computed on a basis of strength and relief needs from each state.

Nevada, Smallest

Largest allotment is New York's which will supply 62,000 men. Nevada's quota is small—only 200. The enrollment will begin June 15. Fechner expects the organization to reach peak strength by August 31.

Present and future enrollment by states include:

TROLLINGER WILL TRANSFER STOCK

Completion of Removal Over Week-End; Shaggs Onces Monday

Removal of the Trollinger pharmacy to its new home in the McCormick building will be made over this week-end. It is stated by J. R. Trollinger, proprietor.

Some of the stock of the store, located at 210 Main avenue east, has already been transferred to the new location which will be in the west half of the former Booth store. H. H. Stokes, proprietor of the O. P. Shaggs store at 118 Main street, has agreed to carry the east half of the structure during the removal.

It was learned today that the present Trollinger quarters in the Weaver block have been leased to a washing machine and household equipment concern with headquarters in Ely, Nev. The Shaggs store location will be the "new" location for part of next week of an electric refrigeration shop. Whether or not it has been leased permanently could not be learned today. It is located in the Boyd building.

Frederic Kirgis Taken by Death

G. O. Anderson Store Manager at Buhl Succumbs in San Francisco

BUHL, April 27. (Special)—The Buhl community was shocked today by receipt of the news of the death at San Francisco last night of Frederic Kirgis, 60, manager of the local C. C. Anderson store.

Mr. Kirgis left here April 18 for observation at the University hospital; following several months illness from uric poisoning and was stricken on route, being taken out of the train in a state of coma. He succumbed at the hospital at 8:30 p. m. yesterday.

Surviving him are Mrs. Kirgis, who is seriously ill at the family home here, and by a brother Will Kirgis, San Francisco. He was born in Bridgeport, Conn., in May, 1874, and came to Buhl to open the C. C. Anderson store in 1921. He had previously been with the company at Welser and Caldwell.

He was a member of the local Masonic lodge, the Kiwanis club, of which he had been a director, and of the Presbyterian church, where he was organist for the choir and chorale.

The body is to be brought here for burial next week under the direction of Evans and Johnson.

Owns Rare Portrait

BEFTON, Ont. (AP)—Mrs. Louisa Barlow, widely known Beaton resident, has a portrait of Napoleon I which she believes can be proved an authentic portrait from life. The painting was allegedly done by Napoleon's son, 26, painted on a medal the portrait in a poor condition, and has been in the possession of her family for generations.
