BIG OPPORTUNITY

Congressional, state and local officials appear to be alert to the needs of this section in the matter of federal grants from the huge federal appropriation designed to relieve unemployment and to administer a smashing blow to the depression era.

Already Idaho is slated to secure five million dollars for road, grade-crossing and kindred construction, and in addition the program calls for the construction of 62 small reservoirs to protect and improve irrigation water rights.

In Washington, Sen. J. P. Pope and Congressman D. Worth Clark and Compton L. White are looking after the state's interest. Gov. C. Ben Ross has just returned from there in the interest of federal grants, and other officials are seeing to it that the state's claim to generous consideration is being presented.

To complete the larger reservoirs and reclamation projects in the state some $27,000,000 in appropriations has been asked, and about $7,000,000 has been promised. In the meantime the state of Washington, a next door neighbor, has been allocated $400,000,000.

Locally, Mayor Duncan McD. Johnston has already outlined needed highway improvement which would bring an approximate $100,000 project here, and others are being urged.

There has been activity on the part of Twin Falls, Burley, Piler, Shoshone and other towns to induce the location of a proposed huge federal airport some place in this area. Indications are that there will be an army conservation camp near Rupert, and a new CCC camp at the head of Rock creek.

In the Rupert territory there is need for federal assistance for perfecting the water rights to an undeveloped north side tract of considerable scope and value. In other communities practical projects are being uncovered. An addition to the post office has been proposed by the Evening Times as a needed improvement here.

It is true that in securing grants under the new public works bill acceptable projects must be of permanent public value and for this reason great care must be exercised in choosing and promoting only those of the most practical nature.

Communities, planning boards and public officials in each town and district should be devoting themselves to these matters and in calling to public attention to needed improvements. For instance, in this county there should be concerted public attention for assistance being given the water supply of the valuable Salmon river tract.

Much work needs to be done. Officials at Washington should be apprised of all possible projects and then plans should be submitted to the state office shortly to be set up.

Opportunity is presented Idaho by the present national work drive to secure many of the advantages it has long needed, and to have those which will serve long-range needs. But congressmen cannot do it all.

Families who will eventually want to send them through college are given only the brighter babies to adopt, says human society director. In this gridiron era, we can't see the connection.

UNITING OUR POLICE EFFORTS

A county-wide radio system which would link all police forces in a unified campaign against crime has been outlined by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice.

In view of the war radio has proved its usefulness to scores of city police departments, this plan would seem to have much to recommend it.

It might, indeed, be the means by which we could achieve the necessary degree of national co-ordination of police work without sacrificing local autonomy.

From the standpoint of efficiency alone, we need a federal police force. No one wants that, however, because of the sacrifice of local liberties it would involve.

Some sort of national radio tie-up might give many of the advantages of federalization without any of its drawbacks. The idea ought to be well worth study.

"Keep the Home Fires Burning" was a popular war-time song. Maybe that's why people are up in arms when they hear it during these late springs.

Here's a possible solution. Out of their profits, let the telegraph companies chip in and pay the bonus.

We have learned one thing from the Mae West controversy—that the forgotten man is a fellow named Frank Wallace.

NOVELTY WASHINGTON—These farmers who came here to applaud the A.A.A. actually were farmers. Most of them were. A private check-up indicates that possibly 200 of the 400 were county agents.

ORGANIZATION It has already been published that C. H. Day, a Texas casher and cotton beneficiary, outlined the idea, but the revealing details of how the movement was organized have not been set forth. It was built mainly upon the county control committees in each county and the township committees in most townships.

FIGHT The next issue of Labor, a forceful one, was put on the railroad-brotherhood, will contain a charge that Supreme Court Justice Roberts was on the J. P. Morgan preferred list. The brotherhood boys have dug up evidence from a former teacher in the issue committee indicating that Mr. Roberts was on Morgan list for 100 shares of Morgan Corporation common stock. This was long before Mr. Roberts became a supreme court justice and while he was an attorney in Philadelphia.

ENCOURAGEMENT Florida has been going around the farm demonstration was organized by the A.A.A. to offer the bad publicity which the farm program has been receiving in Florida. In all, they managed to convince the capital that they were really sons of the soil. As such they were cordial. Most of the farmers seen-around here lately are two or three hours away from the home-farm politicians and agitators, who like many laborers, discovered early in life that it is easier to lead than to labor.

PROMOTION The A.A.A. did not directly organize the move, but certain officials in the A.A.A. unofficially encouraged it, and helped to make it a success officially. They arranged for the A.A.A. to offer the farm program to the farmers themselves. They lent clerical help and they helped to make it a success. It appears to have been primarily for government, but that is not entirely clear yet.

and left other farmers about his name. The farmer was put on the A.A.A. payroll for that purpose and is now out making money.

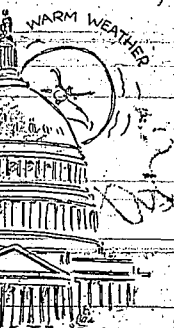

Without saying anything about it, the New Deal seems to have scrapped the idea of spending for the maintenance of the cotton crop. President Roosevelt himself is supposed to have ordered discommodities for the cotton crop.

A new project was put forth by Congressman Conroy of Massachusetts to spend $25,000,000 of federal money for making about 100,000 acres of land in the group that the government is now doing that sort-of thing any more.

The next issue of Labor, a forceful one, was put on the railroad-brotherhood, will contain a charge that Supreme Court Justice Roberts was on the J. P. Morgan preferred list. The brotherhood boys have dug up evidence from a former teacher in the issue committee indicating that Mr. Roberts was on Morgan list for 100 shares of Morgan Corporation common stock.

The secret of the popularity of the farm program with many farmers was found in some of the A.A.A. statistics. There are 3,000,000 farmers subscribing to the A.A.A. contracts. Payments to the cotton farmers amounted to $24,450,000 in the end of March. The A.A.A. expects to pay about $100,000,000 to a million cotton farmers this year, as compared with $20,000,000 paid to them last year.

FIRE THREATENS HOTEL IN DENVER

Blaze in Night Club Creates Panic at Famed Hotel; None Injured

DENVER, Colo., May 20 (UP)—A sudden explosion and fire, which in five minutes had completely gutted the Cannova, Brown Palace hotel night club, created panic in the famous Denver hotel.

Smoke from the fire poured up through the center well of the hotel and carried into every room threatening suffocation to the 250 guests.

The fire started with an explosion in the night club, according to Fire Chief John Healy, about 7 o'clock and within five minutes the entire room and the main dining salon were enveloped in flames. Flaming draperies and hanging decorations in the Cannova went up like tinder, pouring smoke and gas fumes through the hotel.

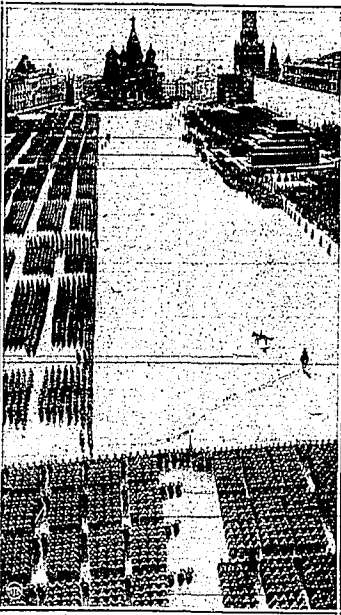

Flames checked.

Prompt action by the Denver fire department prevented spread of the flames into the hotel lobby or into the rooms and confusion of the hotel personnel in warning guests prevented any dangerous rushes for exits.

Some of the guests, alarmed by the billowing smoke, rushed to the windows and threatened to jump. Firemen and fire-fighting nets but were unable to prevent any of the guests from jumping by calling to them to remain in their rooms.

Only two guests needed to be escorted from their smoke-filled rooms. They were Mrs. W. B. Tuttle, 75, permanent guest of the hotel, and Mrs. M. L. Tracy, wife of the assistant manager of the Brown Palace. Neither was in a serious condition.

PINTOS SEEN AS GOOD IDAHO BET

Dudley Driscoll Optimistic At State's Chances After Trip To Rival Sections

Following a 2,200-mile trip which took him through the Pinto bean sections of Colorado and New Mexico, Dudley Driscoll, manager of the Idaho Bean and Elevator company, returned over the week-end optimistic over the possibilities of that crop in Idaho this season.

He was accompanied on the trip by H. E. L. Garnand, local inspector of the federal-state station.

Driscoll says that most of all Idaho bean growers, as well as his own firm, have been wanting to know the real conditions in the Pinto sections, the personal investigation was made. In a statement today he said:

Big Crop Uncertain

"A big snow about three weeks ago, followed by rains throughout this entire section, covered, hills given ample moisture for the present. However, this does not mean that they will have a big crop of Pinto next fall by any means. They may not have rains during the summer and there was a small amount of snow in the mountains of the federal-state station."

"As to what acreage the farmers can put in down there is a question. Stock is in poor shape; you see cattle and horses dead as you drive along. The highway, and we only saw one stack of hay on our trip. Grass has not revived from the recent moldings and things seemed late compared to Idaho."

"It was told that since these recent snows and rains that farmers were applying for seed loans, however, I understand that $400 is all that one farmer can get, and owing to the fact they have no feed it would seem logical that the first thought would be to plant something that would produce feed. If it did not produce a crop then it could be cut for hay. Seed beans would run around $7 to $7.50 per bushel."

WISCONSIN BLOC BANS 3RD PARTY

Progressives Discourage Idea Of Political Insurance In 1936 Election

FOND DU LAC, Wis., May 20 (UP)—Wisconsin's 1,500,000 but previously progressive party today declared itself unopposed to a national third party movement in 1936.

Gov. Philip F. La Follette disclaimed proposal of a 1936 political insurance at a celebration here yesterday of the Progressive party's first birthday anniversary, but at the same time expressed confidence that a realignment of party lines eventually will be effected.

He said today his remarks were intended to make it clear that the Progressive party that he and his brother, Sen. Robert M. La Follette, organized and led to victory in its first election last year, will carry itself forward only with other liberal movements.

POPE FORESEES TROUBLOUS ERA

Tells German Pilgrims Time Of 'Martyrdom' Coming For Faithful

VATICAN CITY, May 20 (UP)—Troubled times are ahead for the faithful, Pope Pius told a group of 20 German pilgrims from Munich, Cologne and Freiburg today.

The present times are critical, the pontiff said. "A time of martyrdom is also coming for those who never abandon those who trust in him."

He referred to yesterday's canonization of Thomas More and John Fisher.

"Perhaps it will not be a martyrdom of blood," he continued, "but martyrdom of life, caused by all obstacles raised against fulfillment of the duties imposed by God and ordered by the church. The only hope lies in the fact that we never abandon those who trust in him."

Defending Champlain Displays Ragged Form in British Amateur Tournay

ST. ANNE'S-ON-THE-SEA, England, May 20 (UP)—Despite a rugged exhibition, Lawson Little of San Francisco, defending champion, today advanced to the second round of the British-amateur championship by defeating T. H. Park, one up.

Little was given a scare by his relatively unknown opponent.

By the narrowest of margins he missed the fate which overtook two other standouts, Ross Somerville of London, Ont., former United States champion, and Dick McFarlane, many times winner of the Scottish title.

Favorite Gus Wainwright, who they were three of the four selected as probable semi-finalists, the fourth being Cyril James Hastings Tolley.

Somerville was a victim of Leslie Hallowell, by 2 and 1, and McLean lost to J. H. Bryant, 1 up.

Dna Topping of Greenwich, Conn., wealthy owner of the Brooklyn football Dodgers, was having a close fight with C. J. Anderson. Each was out in 37 and were square at the turn. Topping was two down after six holes were completed, but won the eighth and ninth.
