COUGHING FLAMES F. D. R., BANKERS IN BITTER BAST

Plans Chicago Gathering Next As 18,000 Check Address At New York

UPHOLDS PATMAN-BONUS
Denounces Money Changers for Oppression of America's Common People

By JAMES C. AUSTIN
NEW YORK, May 23 (UP)—Chicago is the next organization ground for Father Charles E. Coughlin and his National Union for Social Justice. It was announced today. New York has not yet received an acceptance to Ohio and Michigan organizations meet at Cleveland and Detroit. He packed Madison Square Garden with 15,000 persons; he and his disciples were cheered lustily, and his opponents were enthusiastically booed.

Charles E. Coughlin, F. D. R., The Chicago meeting for organizing the nation's second largest union will be held June 4, Coughlin's speech last night bore a striking resemblance to previous addresses. He bitterly attacked bankers, the press, President Roosevelt and resented his emphatic approval of the Patman bonus bill.

At a recent address of President Roosevelt on two grounds: His veto of the Patman bill, his measure being characterized as "a money changer's argument," and his fixing of work relief wages at less than prevailing wages in private industry.

"I think in newspapers, which he termed the 'kept press' that voiced the views of the money changer's argument, the measure was loudly cheered."

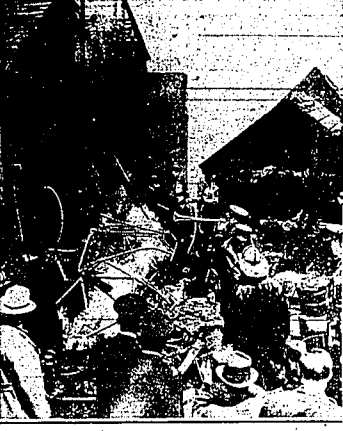

Raps Bonus Veto
Coughlin, who is attacking the president's bonus veto.

"I later than last afternoon you hear the president of the United States condemn a class of people he has called 'money changers' for years he and his predecessors in office have been upholding this class of legislation as for the benefit of the bankers."

Wednesday, May 22, 1935, once more he pronounced his views on the matter as follows:

"The United States member of Congress, the bankers' associates, not one who is a friend of the president, have been comforted with a money changer's feeble argument, pronounced by the name person who promised (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

Faulty Wing Dooms Ocean Flier

Death, whom Stanley Hauer, right, created in 1934 when rescued a flier floating eight days following a crash landing at sea during an attempt to fly to Warsaw, finally overtook him at Detroit. He crashed during memorial maneuvers for the late Marshal Pilsudski of Poland. Three hulls were caught fire when his plane fell through the roof of a cottage and exploded, burning him to death while Polish World war veterans, assembled for the occasion at the site, looked on helplessly. The veteran flier is pictured above, blowing nap fans beside the wreckage.

Six Navy Fliers Die As Plane Plunges in Ocean During Rescue

Ship Crashes After Directing Help to Sister Craft

By SKYPOWER
(Copyright, 1935, United Press)
ABOARD U. S. S. PENNSYLVANIA, WITH PACIFIC FLEET, May 23 (UP)—Six navy airplane crew members were killed Tuesday night while directing rescuers to a stricken sister plane, it is reported today.

The men died when their plane plunged into the Pacific after circling high above a second craft which had descended in distress miles south of Midway Island.

The disaster was the most serious of a series which have marred the elaborate fleet problem in which virtually the entire sea force of the United States are concentrated in the Pacific.

The lost plane members were searching for a straggler of the fleet. The craft to whose rescue they had gone was one of the aircraft carriers.

WASHINGTON, May 23 (UP)—The senate today sustained President Roosevelt's veto and killed the Patman bonus bill.

The veto was 54 in favor of the measure and 40 against. The bonus forces were nine votes short of the two-thirds majority they needed to enact the bill over the veto.

When the senate originally passed the bill, the vote was 55 to 33.

Champions of the $2,000,000,000 measure battled to the last during a dramatic session. But they could not win the two-thirds majority necessary to have the senate join the house in overriding the veto.

Secret Court Martial Orders Army Officer Dismissed; Urges Clemency

WASHINGTON, May 23 (UP)—Col. Alexander E. Williams of the army quartermaster corps was found guilty of two counts by a secret court martial today and sentenced to be dismissed from the service.

The officer was found to have collected and oblige a sum of $2,500 from the representative of an automobile tube company which was seeking war department contracts in November, 1933.

Williams at that time was a brigadier general in charge of the transportation division of the quartermaster general's office, and the five tube representative was trying to interest him in the product.

Williams was acquitted on charge of receiving another sum of $2,500.

False Testimony
He was found guilty, however, of giving false testimony before a house military affairs committee which investigated army contracts. Williams had deceived the committee that he received the loan.

NATIONAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

M. C. MUGGERIDGE & CO., INC.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS

New praise must be forthcoming today to President Roosevelt for his matchless veto message delivered before the Congress of the United States Wednesday.

Regardless of the division of opinion concerning the most question of bonus payment, there is no discounting the logic of the address, the eloquence of the speaker and the sincerity of his views presented in his most forceful manner in the dramatic setting which the House chamber affords.

In the face of the widespread demand for bonus payment, it required no little strength of purpose for the President of the United States to thus present what to the ex-service men's groups at least, is an unpopular view, but he backed his presentation with convincing arguments.

The vote in the House, immediately following the address, indicates that sentiment there was changed little from that which obtained upon the occasion of the passage of the Catman bonus measure earlier this year. The big issue will come in the Senate vote.

While there will be disagreement in many quarters with the contentions of the President, it cannot be said that he failed to point a warning or to stick to his previously announced views on the bonus question.

His words are certain to carry much weight in the Senate, and indeed with the American people, and his precedent-breaking appearance before Congress to present the veto message has made important history.

At the rate the dime heiress is spending her money, Miss Hutton might do worse than start studying this chain letter thing.

JANE ADDAMS

Removal by death of Jane Addams, famous social worker, came at the end of an important career, unique in the annals of America.

She will receive the honors of the world for her efforts in behalf of humanity through the betterment of sordid conditions and in her efforts toward peace.

In life she was recognized for her true worth, had won the Nobel peace prize, had been honored by numerous educational institutions with degrees and received the acclaim of mankind for her unselfish ministrations through a long and vigorous life.

Few have not heard of Hull-House, the famous social settlement which she founded, and she has been benefactor to untold thousands.

The example of her life stands as a beacon to the cause she led and proves the compensations which are forthcoming when there is devotion to high principles in behalf of human welfare.

The axiom, "A word to the wise is sufficient," accounts for the lengthy speeches before Congress.

COMING TO SEE AMERICA

For a great many years, the transatlantic tourist trade has been a one-way proposition.

Now the tide has begun to turn. The devaluation of the dollar has made an American tour less expensive and Europeans are taking advantage of it.

The development is a wholesome one. Americans can earn much, and become better citizens of the world community, by visiting Europe.

Reversal of the time-honored trend ought to be a good thing for everybody concerned.

STILL FAR TO GO

The cost of living seems to be going up again. This is especially true of food prices, and much of the rise is unquestionably due to the processing taxes which the AAA is boosting farm incomes.

Before we get too glum about it, however, we might remember that these costs are still far below the 1923 level.

Figures just compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board show that food prices rose 2.5 per cent from March to April, and now stand 88 per cent higher than they stood in April, 1923.

POPPIES HELP TO GIVE VETS WORK

Disabled Soldiers Extra Needed Funds by Hand Making of Memorial Tokens

Memorial poppies which the women of the American Legion Auxiliary will distribute here on "Pappy Day," Saturday, have been a means of providing employment to hundreds of disabled World war veterans through the winter and spring months, according to Mrs. M. Groden, rehabilitation chairman of the Auxiliary unit. The little red flowers have made possible a savings of $100,000 for these disabled men, who are "kisses-in-the-eyes" poppies which the American Legion Auxiliary offers on "Pappy Day" to be worn throughout the World war dead is reserved strictly for war dead, Mrs. Groden explained.

The poppies are made in government hospitals and in special poppy workrooms maintained by the Auxiliary. They are distributed to veterans unable to do other work and not only bring them money for the support of themselves and families, but also in rehabilitation and in their own beneficial, interesting work.

MORE CASH NOW, SURVEY REVEALS

Rising Payrolls, Retail Sales Increase Drawing Money Into Circulation

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Rising payrolls and increased retail trade are drawing more cash into circulation, the federal reserve board reported today in its monthly bulletin.

The report emphasized predictions made yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper that there was on the eve of an immense flow of business and trade.

Another harbinger of better times the reserve bulletin said. Daily interest rates charged by banks for loans are now lower than at any time since the World War.

Money Increases
In "citing an increase in money in circulation to $5,048,000,000, a gain of $100,000,000 over a year ago, the bulletin said:

Part of this growth is accounted for by an increase in retail trade and payrolls in excess of the usual seasonal expansion.

This reflected partly an increase in wage payments and retail trade, but also an expansion of currency as against checking accounts and deposits.

The bulletin also mentioned that the Japanese troops occupied unscathed.

ARKANSAS FINDS BIG OIL WASTES

Ruthless Path of Promoters Declared to Cost State $62,877,000

By TED H. MALLOY
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Careless and ruthless oil men have wasted $62,877,000 worth of Arkansas oil and gas supply. Dr. George C. Branner, state geologist has computed.

The error of waste began when the Ducey discovery well was struck in 1921. Operators went wild with the boom town mania and worked fearlessly but not objectively to get oil-out-of-the-ground-as fast as possible and on the way to waste.

Count and Countess Kurt von Haugwitz-Novikov—she's better known as Princess Barbara Malmqvist, or just Barbara Minton, five-and-a-half-hour pause for tea in San Francisco on day one of a weekly appointed honeymoon. "She's" after a hectic two days which saw her become divorced Monday and a bride Tuesday—and her court will travel to New York and thence to Europe on the royal honeymoon.

It is difficult, if not impossible, to calculate with any degree of accuracy the losses incurred by the wasteful operators. Dr. Branner said, "but they may be classified as follows: (1) the loss of the gas itself; (2) the loss of the gasoline vapor carried by the gas; and (3) the reduction in the quantity of oil recoverable from the oil sands by present production methods due to the reduction of gas pressure in these sands.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Sporling through Shirley Temple's fan mail like looking in the telephone directory at the names of the stars. Nearly every mother in the United States has a daughter like Shirley.

It's not surprising the number of letters this child star gets from mothers who enclose photographs of daughters they avow are exact imitations of her.
Too Enthusiastic
The mothers writing Shirley on the screen or her photographs in the magazines and newspapers, apparently are carried away by their imaginations, as the pictures they enclose don't bear the slightest resemblance to very young Shirley Temple. Mrs. Gertrude Temple, her mother, has studied hundreds of magazine photos and has yet to find one that resembles her daughter.
All Well-wishers
Unlike the fan mail most Hollywood stars receive, all the letters to Shirley are kindly. As a general thing, they merely wish her continued success.
Inquiring Mothers Also Write
Mrs. Temple to learn what games she plays, and how Mrs. Temple goes about selecting her clothes. Studio attaches say they haven't received a single letter expressing jealousy or resentment over Shirley's success. And she has received all many a 7,000 letters a week.

MOTHER AND SON TO BE EXECUTED

Woman, 52, and Man, 27, Will Go To Delaware Gallows For Murder

By JOSEPH S. WANSLEY... MOTHER AND SON TO BE EXECUTED... The case is one of the strangest in the annals of police history.

The original plot... Mrs. Carey, according to testimony, was for the mother and two of her three sons to conceal themselves in San Diego, waiting for the automobile mechanic to return home from work.

Hill Murder Weapon... Mrs. Carey and her three sons returned to their apartment in the town, burned their clothes and hid the sludge in a woodshed.

Police worked on a theory that Hiltchen was killed by robbers and until six months ago this was the only probable solution of the crime.

Mrs. Carey collected about $200 insurance, the remainder of the policy going to settle the estate and funeral costs.

Then came the break. Lawrence, youngest son of Mrs. Carey, was arrested for house breaking. He was questioned about the sludge of Hiltchen and finally made a confession.

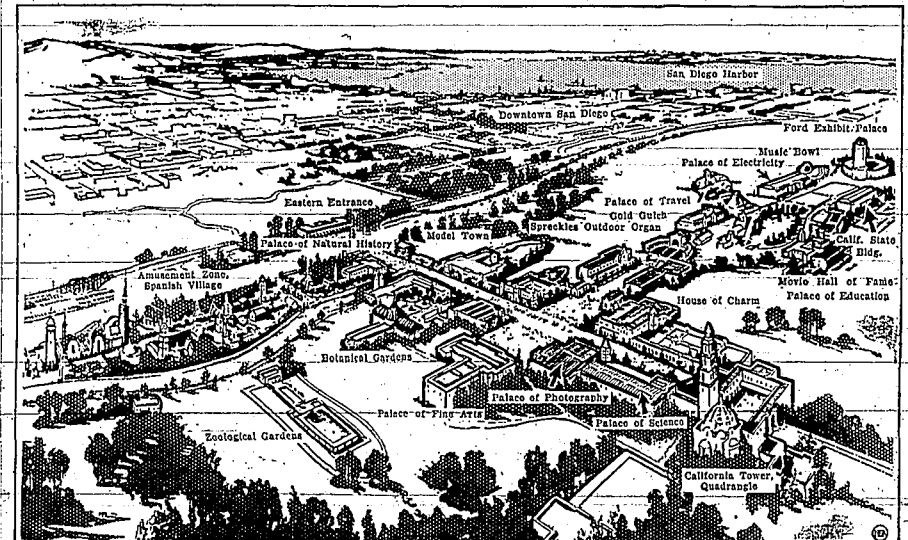

Mrs. Carey and her three sons were immediately arrested. April 26 the woman, Howard and James were convicted for first degree murder with a jury verdict of "guilty."

One Day Trial... The trial of Mrs. Carey and her sons lasted but one day. The woman said she was "not to blame" and that she had forced her sons to do what they had done.

Mrs. Carey and Howard are now in "murderer's row" of the Sussex County Jail. Her three sons are in the State Penitentiary.

Insect Boring in Palm Tree Gives San Diego Idea Resulting in $20,000,000 World's Fair

Spread across 300 acres in Balboa park, locations of buildings which have risen for San Diego's world's fair are shown in this artist's conception.

By MARGUERITE WHITNEY (NEPA Service) SAN DIEGO, Calif.—The California Pacific International Exposition, opening May 29, in San Diego, most westerly city in the United States, owes its existence to an insect. The insect, a termite, bored into palm trees in San Diego's historic downtown plaza. The top of the tree fell off, killed a young woman, and started a series of events that would change the city.

position, with investments totaling $20,000,000, is a fact. Nearly 1,000,000 plants, trees, shrubs, and vines were installed in the park. A 90-cent commemorative stamp was authorized. There was no time for importation. Great crews of San Diego workmen in trucks toured nearby farms, gardens, and orchards areas, moving a tremendous amount of plants, trees, shrubs, and vines to the exposition grounds.

cial daily programs will be given by the respective national, state and local organizations. An unusual feature is a replica of a 40 mining camp, Gold Gulch, complete with weekly paper, Chinese laundry, etc. In addition to the exposition, many events of national interest are scheduled for the summer.

ALASKA BOASTS RICHES IN LAND

Originator of Movement for Colonies Claims Farmer Has Big Chance

(Editor's note: Col. Otto F. Ohlson, general manager of the Alaska railroad, is originator of the movement to colonize Alaska with agricultural pioneers. In the following article Col. Ohlson outlines the opportunities and obstacles awaiting those going to America's latest frontier.)

By COL. OTTO F. OHLSON
General Manager Alaska Railroad, Director Federal Colonies, U. S. Department of the Interior (Copyright, 1935—United Press)

It is the gold in the soil of two great Alaskan valleys but it is gold that only the tiller of the soil can find.

America's last frontier—now ready for the farmer to follow—has the gold of the trapper and the gold-seeker. The broad and fertile plains of the Matanuska valley and the Tannana valley are waiting for the third phase of Alaska's development—the agricultural era.

For a month, the great 325-mile project has not stirred here. Senator-Millard-Tydings of Maryland, a member of the acquisition committee, which approved it, has been elected to the U. S. House of Representatives.

Every family accepting our invitation to make its home in the Alaskan valleys should have a minimum of $2,000 in ready cash. The minimum of $2,000 in ready cash is a minimum of $2,000 in ready cash.

Too often we find that previous colonists came to us without resources other than the money they took to get to Alaska. These soon were forced to abandon their farms and return to the States.

Northwest Will Gain... which these foodstuffs formerly were imported, will gain through the increased buying power each has in the past week and under the doctor's care.

J. P. Morgan Faces Two New Probes by Senatorial Groups

By ROSEY BUTCHER Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 23.—J. P. Morgan, who became famous when a midget sat on his lap, may have more later with senatorial committees before the year is up.

Testifying before senate committees is originator of the movement to colonize Alaska with agricultural pioneers.

And Senator Durr Wheeler will almost surely be investigating railroad financing, in which the Morgan company is involved up to its neck.

The railroad investigation is temporarily held up for lack of a suitable Alaskan valley.

GOLD KING DIES IN DIRE POVERTY

Romantic Story of Balkans' Once-Richest Man Ends In Death

By F. C. M. JAHN

TIENSA, ILL.—Alexander Pokok, once the richest man of the Balkans, who presented King Ferdinand and Queen Maria of Romania with crowns of solid gold, died in complete poverty in Budapest recently.

The story of his life reads like fiction.

Pokok, 45 years ago, was a simple school teacher in the little town of Tienza, Hungary.

Decades before this district had been a gold mining center. The gold never had dried up and here a handful of gray-bearded diggers, who will not be discouraged by hundreds of failures, still persist in the hope that one day they will strike a rich vein of the precious yellow metal.

Dovry Gold Claim

The young schoolmaster seemed immune against the fever which he married a poor peasant's daughter whose only dowry was a gold claim which the family had considered valueless and therefore long ceased to work.

Pokok, trusting blindly to his luck, not only invested his whole savings in the exploitation of the claim, reserving only a small part to cover the bare necessities of life of the young couple, but he even contracted debts with a wealthy peasant to pay the men whom he had engaged to dig.

Grocer's Diligence

When the gold had run up to several hundred guilders and no trace of the precious metal had been seen, the grocer lost his confidence in the promised golden harvest and told Pokok, when he came for a new load.

"This is the last gulder. I will risk in your enterprise hereafter do not expect another penny from me."

With his last gulder, exactly as in a cheap novel, the school-teacher made his luck.

On the eve of the day when he had decided to give up, his workmen struck a vein of gold, two fingers thick.

Overnight the poor-school teacher had become a millionaire. This was in 1894.

Pokok gave up school teaching. He built himself a magnificent estate near his home town, bought a palace in Budapest and kept a racing stable.

Whenever he came into a restaurant, nobody else was permitted to pay a bill. He called in rhyms and the cost of his meals and foods were lavishly served at his expense.

Kind to Poor

To the poor he threw gold and "some" sometimes, which he had given away all the money in his pockets, he would tear off one of the gold buttons from his coat and give it to a beggar.

He was known far and wide as the "Gold King of Sienchour."

In recognition of his important contributions to patriotic and charitable undertakings, King Francis Joseph conferred upon him the title of Baronet Pokok of Nagylozsa.

Sold Mine

When the output of his mine began to diminish, Pokok sold it in 1910 to a Swiss consortium for the sum of 2,500,000 Swiss francs.

Trusting in a second stroke of good luck, he invested the greater part of this sum in buying up other gold claims. But Fate did not smile again upon him.

Following the war, in 1921, when his district had become part of Rumania, the magnificent "Gold King," although his fortunes were at their low ebb, presented his new neighbors with a pair of solid gold crowns as wedding together six pounds.

Operation costs of his new mines, which remained sterile, and the inflation swallowed up the rest of Pokok's fortune, who never had been a good business man. He was compelled to sell out his properties one after the other.

The premature death of his beloved son, who was councillor at the Rumanian Legation in Berlin, was another hard blow for the declining "Gold King."

In a second hotel at Budapest, whether he had come to seek "help" from illness, Pokok, one of the richest men throughout the Balkans, died in complete poverty at 73.

STRIKE ENDS BY COOK'S ARTISTRY

Unlucky Attractions Provoked Too Much for Communists In Holland Jail

AMSTERDAM (U.S.)—The culinary effort of an army cook has won a battle against German Communist agitators interned in Holland.

The internees at the fortress of Honnink, near Utrecht, went on hunger strike they refused contemptuously at the dishes set before them—delicious soups, huge soups, cooked to a tender brown, and dishes of nice fresh vegetables. But the strikers held out for three days.

The cook, however, was a good one. An army cook—poor man's friend of his art. Even the general had tasted his dishes and had expressed approval.

Wasn't a culinary artist to be beaten by interned agitators?

They Surrendered

On the third day the cook surprised himself. He made a grubstake that would have made a sick inmate proud of his art. Even the general and agitators. They surrendered and simultaneously began feverish activities with knives and forks. The meal disappeared like magic. Some of the strikers even resumed work, and the Communists and the cook at Honnink now are great friends.

The agitators, however, were somewhat disgusted when they discovered that one of their number, while pretending to be with them, actually had been diving into the cook's tempting dishes when he was out of sight of his fellow prisoners.

OLD BLUE LAWS DECREED DEATH

Execution in Connecticut Was Ordained for Blaspheming, Stealing Corn

HARTFORD, Conn., May 22 (U.S.)—By one, during the 300 years that Connecticut has out-grown its original settlement founded by a small band of pioneers from Massachusetts Bay Colony, the blue laws which ruled with an iron hand have been sundered from the statute books.

The treacherous celebration of the state-sent may-pole during the pages of history. They found it only days that the death penalty could be inflicted for:

Stealing an ear of corn from a neighbor's garden.

Blaspheming God.

A youth of 30 years or more to strike his parents.

To be a stubborn or rebellious son.

Return to the colony after being banished as a Quaker, or a Roman Catholic priest.

Wilful treason, adultery or rape.

And, it also was found that they had called "Blue Laws" because they first were written upon blue paper.

Blue Sundays

The Sabbath was strictly observed. One was not permitted to loiter about in his garden, his wife, or a mother kiss her child; or to do any work—except the necessary—except eating, and all food had to be cooked at least the day before.

The Sabbath began at sundown Saturday night.

The General Court dealt severely with scandal-mongers. Early offenses were punishable by fines. Repeaters went to the stocks and chronic offenders faced a magistrate court after a public whipping.

The magistrates' court in 1800 before the death penalty.

Before the laws were reduced to writing, the town clerks announced them in a public place at regular intervals.

In case it was found a law had not been made for some specific offense, the violator was judged under this concluding clause in the fundamental law of the colony:

"The want of a law in any particular case shall be judged by the word of God."

There's no record of such judgments.

CHEMISTS LABOR ON HOME HELPS

Experts Expected to Discuss Building Boom and Aid Job Creation

NEW YORK (AP)—Research chemists are putting money into the working man's pocket, Dr. James H. Whitrow, professor of chemical engineering at Ohio State university, said at the building material symposium of the American Chemical society convention here. A surge of re-employment for renewed building and modernizing of homes and buildings is predicted by Dr. Whitrow on the basis of creation by chemists of new materials more economical than those now available. He said that such materials as plastic, mineral or rock wool for insulation of houses. These materials rapidly are finding practical application and, said Dr. Whitrow, their comparative economy and conservation of space features will create an increasing demand for labor, sending more money into the pockets of workmen.

Home Insulation. Dr. Whitrow believes "will in a short time" become a household word. He said that the "electric" refrigerator, for the manufacture of mineral wool from materials of waste material, has been developed in the laboratory to the point that entire structures can be built with the extreme of temperature at comparatively little cost. The wool which science has manufactured is a fibrous mineral that can be blown into the walls of houses. The interesting feature of this material is that it is non-conducting of heat. This heat remains in winter, requiring less fuel and found to reduce heating bills by 25 per cent; in summer the sun's rays are turned back at the roof and inside the house is found to be six to fifteen degrees cooler, said Dr. Whitrow.

Tests and experience have revealed that wall-thickness wool insulation gives better insulation than any other material. It is one of many types, but because of its low thermal conductivity, it is the most efficient insulation.

Most-houses-assembled-in-construction have an average of approximately four inches between studs and interior walls. Filling this space completely with the wool fibers and placing a similar thickness in the attic converts the house in a temperature. In houses under construction, said Dr. Whitrow, "bars" of the wool can be placed by hand between joists and rafters. In existing structures the wool can be blown in from the outside.

NEW OIL METHOD MAY HELP CHINA

Carbonization Method Viewed As Way for Nation to Get Oke Supply

DONGCASTER, Eng.—China is the latest country to become interested in the low temperature carbonization method of extracting oil from coal. Two Chinese engineers, sent by their government, have arrived here to study at the Aulana plant of Low Temperature Carbonization, Ltd., the actual treatment of a load of Chinese coal which has been shipped here for testing purposes.

The tests are declared to have shown that Chinese coal can be profitably treated by that method and the two engineers have been authorized to place contracts in Sheffield for a plant to be erected in China. Short on Coke While China is one of the richest countries in the world in coal resources, with an annual output of around 20,000,000 metric tons, she is very short of good coking coal suitable for blast furnaces. In fact, this lack of good coking coal is stated to be one of the great handicaps of the struggling iron and steel industry in the Pacific basin for the low temperature carbonization technique is that it produces as a by-product, a good non-caking coal not suitable for blast furnaces. It is considered probable that this aspect of it has weighed with the Chinese authorities.

It also produces a gas, mostly hydrogen and lubricating oil, but although these are useful enough, they would have to compete with the huge natural petroleum resources of the Far East and are probably less interesting from an economic point of view, than the semi-coke.

JAPANESE STUDY NAVY MANEUVERS

Problem Being Worked by U. Fleet Officers Facts to Nippon Experts

By HOWARD C. MONTZIE

WASHINGTON (UP)—The military and naval leaders of two nations on the opposite sides of the Pacific ocean today started out on the curving border toward the Aleutian coast, where the fleet is attempting to determine whether the United States is vulnerable to a naval attack sweeping down through the Aleutian Islands.

Although the Japanese military elements have raised a loud protest over the United States holding naval maneuvers in this section of the Pacific, characterizing such first exercises as a threat to Japan, the Japanese naval leaders are almost as much interested as American naval leaders in the outcome of these maneuvers.

Scott at Threat

American navy men scoff openly at the cry of "threat to Japan" contained in the maneuvers, and the Japanese officials frankly admit that the U. S. navy has both the right and the privilege to hold its maneuvers anywhere it pleases on its own side of the Pacific. In truth, the feeling prevails here that the high command of the Japanese navy would be disappointed if these maneuvers had been called off.

The maneuvers are expected to shed light on a number of military and naval problems in which the military and naval officials of both Japan and the United States have been concerned for some years.

Fog Conditions

One of the outstanding features of the practicability of operating in fog conditions which prevail under the fog of the year off the Aleutian coast and along the Gulf of Alaska. The maneuverability of large numbers of surface ships and submarines in these waters will be studied closely by both sides.

To a limited degree, the United States is spending the money to hold these maneuvers and the Japanese stand to profit almost as much as the United States.

The reason for this is that the Japanese navy is protecting the Empire from a possible attack from across the Pacific, the problems which are practically identical with those of the U. S. navy in protecting the Aleutian and North Pacific coasts.

Hurlie Islands

Japan has the Kuril Islands stretching in a curving chain from the north coast of Japan toward the Bering sea, which are almost a duplicate of the Aleutian Islands leading away from the Alaskan coast. The U. S. navy's "Projector Sixteen" could be reversed and it would serve as an equally interesting and profitable maneuver project for the Japanese navy.

The American naval maneuvers already have served the Japanese navy in good stead. The popular "Projector Sixteen" which has been in operation there have made no effort to still, has helped the "big navy" sail to push through the Bering sea the huge 1936 navy appropriation bill.

Study Aircraft Work

Aside from that aspect of the situation, however, the Japanese as well as American naval authorities will study with keen interest the accomplishments of aircraft off Alaska coast during the maneuvers. The two huge U. S. plane carriers, the Lexington and Langley, with some 400 fighting planes on board, are expected to take a strategic part in the maneuvers.

SUSPECT HELD IN SLAYING OF KING

They are expected to show whether it is practicable to establish regular military and naval air bases on the coast or in the interior of Alaska, from which the forces of war the planes from these bases might carry hostile commercial shipping and intercept any submarines attempted approach of a hostile war fleet. They also should prevent the establishment of hostile submarine bases along the Alaska coast, from which submarines could intercept the shipping lanes across the North Pacific.

SHANAHAN, May 23 (UP)—Michael Abramovich, 33, a Yugoslavian, was held by Chinese courts today as a suspect in the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Serbian Minister Louis Barthelemy of France.

FRANCE

French Minister of War, Louis Dreyfus, arrived in April aboard a French steamship. Following passengers said he talked during the voyage of the possibility of the assassinations at Marseilles, and a report was made to the French consulate.

Abramovich was not found until he was arrested Sunday for participating in a street fight in the court held him for extradition proceedings by France.

Boondoggling is Old Ozark Idea, Says Film Star

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Boondoggling. The word off the tongue as easily as pithcanthropy, but you won't find its meaning in a Federal dictionary.

When a witness before a New York committee investigating use of Federal relief funds, described the making of junkinicks as "boondoggling," he had the country laughing.

Although philologists claim there is no such word, Guy Kibbee knows otherwise. He uses the Ozark mountains can tell you any language.

He Was Expert

"In fact, an old cousin of mine, whom I called Uncle Charlie, was the first to use the word 'boondoggling' of his time."

"I used to visit him as a boy, remember he used to take old gin bottles, tie a string around the neck, fill it with glowing, put the bottle on the top, and fill it with gin. The top came off, smooth and clean. He used the bottom part for glasses. They were square, but that made no difference."

When that Emily, his wife, complained that the house was full of square glasses, Uncle Charlie said, "All right, I'll boondoggle something else."

"That was the first time I heard the word."

"His new boondoggling was a lamp, made by cutting a small hole in a tin can, and sticking a wick through it. Then he placed the bottle in the hole, and the wick burned flat. The result was a very efficient lamp. He had the best lighted house in the Ozarks."

Aunt Capitalizer

"His influence as a boondogger finally got Aunt Emily. 'You're drinking away a rough finished ceiling and she got the idea it would look better if she could get a dog to play with. He got a lot of tobacco seeds and sowed them together into a kind of bag, she could find from a brand of tobacco—very little tin stars. It was very pretty in the light of Uncle Charlie's lamp. When the wind came all the way from Cedar Gap to look at it."

"The way the word boondoggling started is no mystery, either. Up in Cedar Gap, the story goes, Daniel Boone had a dog of which he was very fond. He always was making things for the dog to play with. He would use string, hairpins, rags, or anything else to shape into toys and gifts for the dog."

"So, when some spoke about making something out of discarded tin stars, they called it 'boondoggling,' which finally became in mountain-speak, 'boondoggling.' 'Boondoggling' is no mystery to me, comes from an old boondoggling family."

SIX NAVY FLIERS DIE IN SEA FALL

Airmen Killed After Directing Rescue of Sister Craft In Manoevers

was one of the attacking force which had been forced down when one engine went dead.

The Brandenburg plane radioed immediately for destroyers to go to the rescue of the stricken craft.

Sea Is Safest

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Despite loss of eight lives in the navy's war games so far, the sea is still the safest place for the sailors, the navy department asserted today.

The department, while recognizing that 57 lives in a plane crash near Albatross island, and the casualties of the fleet while man are on shore and at liberty average much higher.

An average of three fatal accidents a week occur to fleet members while on shore, the department said, while during the hazardous war games about 100 have been lost in three weeks.

plane were rescued and powerful searchlights swept the waters for trace of the six men.

During the night numbers of destroyers and cruisers were ordered to the spot as the search went on under scudding clouds and searchlights fingered across the sea in hope that some member of the crew might be located.

All Reveals Crash Spot
Not until dawn did a patch of oil on the rough sea betray the spot where the plane had sunk. Four souvenirs of the accident floated on the surface of the water. These were the broken tip of a wing, a single seat cushion, a battered gasoline tank and a fragment of the radio log of the plane.

All attempts to simulate war far in the mimic games were suspended as Admiral Joseph R. Roess directed the search. Planes were recalled from scouting duties to search an area of sea 60 by 80 miles in hope some survivor might be found clinging to a bit of wreckage.

After discovery of the wreckage and a body, the fleet destroyer squadron to stand by the rest of the 335 vessels of the battle fleet proceeded toward Honolulu where they are due Saturday.

On Sunday, the third phase of the fleet maneuvers was declared officially at an end.

Barber Hurts Wrist
On Door of Auto

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Max Barber, world's heavyweight boxing champion, suffered a "slight sprain" of his right wrist today when he attempted to close the door of an automobile in which he was riding from Niagara Falls to Buffalo.

The car, containing Barber, Anet Hoffman, his manager; Joseph Thomas, his trainer, and a Buffalo newspaperman, was speeding at about 10 miles an hour when one of the doors of the automobile opened.

Thomas said it would interfere only slightly with Barber's training for his title fight against Jimmy Braddock June 18.
