MODERN RAILWAY TRANSPORTATION

Seventy years ago western progress was begun on the construction of the first transcontinental railroad.

Next month, June 10-15 inclusive, Railroad Week will be observed throughout the country in an effort to bring to the attention of the public the New Deal inaugurated by the western railway companies.

Those persons who have been traveling by auto of late years have a treat in store for them when they travel by train on vacation, business and other trips.

Air conditioning of the principal trains of the west is only one of the new and improved services which have been adopted to attract the investment of the traveling public. With increased investments on the part of the companies the same low 1934 fares will prevail, announcements state, and good news also is the fact that sleeping car surcharges have been eliminated, bringing increased comforts and conveniences without costing the traveler a penny.

Travelers remark on the delightfully cool and clean conditions existing on transcontinental trains and how pleasant the experience of a trip is. This progress displayed by the railroads can be accepted in no other light than a concerted effort on their part to leave no room for criticism, and to justify the share of travel to which they are entitled by reason of their facilities, services, economical means of transportation and new speed.

The western railroads in their campaign emphasize that the wearing of white linen by men on the trains demonstrates that the improvements mean something vitally more important than temperature.

Indeed it is far cry from the small wooden platform coaches and "teapot engines" to the present Mogul type locomotives, all-steel passenger palaces with electric lights, air-conditioning, streamline design leadership with trains built of aluminum alloys and stainless steel.

All these efforts on the part of railroads cannot go unappreciated. Everyone in the western country has a high conception of the services provided by the railway in transporting the agricultural products to market, in maintaining a substantial payroll in communities and in contributing heavily to the tax income.

And there is certain to be uncommon interest in these new departures in passenger transportation facilities now available on a score of western lines which are making a strong bid for public patronage on the basis of merit in services.

What is more, the railways are not "keeping their light under a bushel." They are telling the public about these new transportation facts in a series of unique advertisements in the newspapers of the country.

These messages only help to reveal the contrasts between old-fashioned trains and those which are at the public's service in 1935.

IT'S HARD TO PITY THE RICH

The poor little rich girl used to be a subject of widespread pity, especially in plays and novels. Perhaps it was rather soothing to those of us who were never cursed by superfluous cash to reflect that you can have all the money in the world and still suffer from dissatisfaction and boredom.

Anyway, this ancient motif has popped into the news again. This time we have a wealthy young lady from Illinois who went to New York to see the sights a few months ago and who has found that a life of elegant idleness is a snare and delusion.

So she is advertising for a chance to undertake some feat of adventure or exploration; and she says: "I'm fed up with teas and cocktail parties—I want to do something real and exciting."

It all follows the time-honored tradition. And yet it is somehow hard to feel the pity we used to feel in such cases.

In a day when millions of Americans have been made to learn how extremely tragic life can be when money is lacking, it isn't easy to feel very sorry for a person whose one trouble is that she has too much.

New system permits free communication between passengers and the captain of a ship. A break for ocean-going back seat drivers.

Worms utter low moan-like sounds, it is revealed. The phenomenon is noticeable especially during income tax season.

It seems that "radio ear" is a device which aids the deaf to hear, and not something caused by listening to crooners.

Summer Sweethearts

By NABIL HEBRON © 1935, NEA, San Francisco, Inc.

MEAN WHILE TODAY... KATHARINE... ZOE... "I think I'll go on," Katharine said. She looked in the highlight of the room. Her eyes were bright. But her eyes were roving. She knew Dr. Kaye was somewhere about the house in a bedroom.

Zoe was in Gibb's arms, half-laughing, half-crying. "Oh, Gibb, darling!" she said.

"Don't worry, darling. We'll make it snappy." That ill in Zoe's voice, so woe-begone half an hour before... Katharine settled her frills in a deck chair, and Zoe and Gibb returned to the stars from which violently a low murmur of voices arose. The youthful chapter announced herself for a few minutes with perusing out the various lights she could see bobbing here and there. That dim gleam that she saw on the very top edge of the Brykhar's veranda, a sily lantern thing that Beedon had picked up somewhere. The twin red lights were the yacht club.

DR. KAYE answered calmly, "I was just taking a stroll." "Hello, John!" Her laugh was nervous. Was Zoe out of sight? Not that John would tell—he could be trusted—but it was just as well not to confide his intrigue to anyone. "I loved your place today, Johnny." She had said suddenly, the conviction that he was disappointed in her. John Kaye, who had often fawned over a womanly conduct, thought she had been slipping out, clandestinely to meet some man. It must be clandestine or else the sailor, whoever he might be, would have himself openly at her father's house.

ARTHUR WATSON, "Greece" McElvaine... "Oh, very good, partner," Katharine said. "You are so brightly. But her eyes were roving. She knew Dr. Kaye was somewhere about the house in a bedroom." "I think I'll go on," Katharine said. She looked in the highlight of the room. Her eyes were bright. But her eyes were roving. She knew Dr. Kaye was somewhere about the house in a bedroom.

WASHINGTON—A full explanation of how the N. R. A got into the shape it is now in may be found in an unobserved order issued by it about two weeks ago. It was the last official act of the act was very imposing. The head of the act was very imposing. The head of the act was very imposing.

EPITAPH The order contained 5000 words just an imposing as those here cited. It simply meant the basic order filing and some other features. It was going to be in effect through the basic order filing and some other features.

WOMEN'S NOTE "The inside crowd says the best prospective candidate for chairmanship of the new social security board is Joseph Roche, now assistant treasury secretary. She ran a coal mine successfully in Colorado. The move will be attended by the board is Edwin E. White, of Wisconsin, who helped draft the legislation.

REWARD A purified contest is on among some other applicants for whom will be disappointed.

THE best New Dealers are now saying of the record that if they had codified the ten or twelve major industries of the country, and let the rest of the N. R. A. would not only have had become popular and successful, but they are willing to concede privately that the point where they made their first mistake was in the blanket application of the Blue Eagle. All expansions of order-keepers—then only applied the original order.

SURPRISE What favored the New Dealers about the court decision was the unanimity of it. They knew it was a direct descendant of the one that would be that. They had no advance warning of his sweeping capture. You could tell from the looks on their faces when they heard about it.

CHILD WITHOUT RESPONSIBILITY HAS INFANT ATTITUDE TO HOME

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON Recently I read a novel that takes the toll as its protagonist. On this farm lived a happy family. The author portrays the mother and father not primarily as heads of the family, but part of it. Three daughters and two sons are the other partners. One is not told this in so many words. She records that little, 10, who is to be the next day, gets up at 4 to start things going. Learning that Jesus has to go to town, refuses neighbor's invitation to supper to ride over the millings. Goes in the business head, and although under 20, buys the supplies and helps arrange for prices on impromptu and fees.

PARISIAN STYLES CLEAN TO MOVIES

Unusual Clothes Displayed by Lucille Parry Suggest of Cinema Fashions

By MARY FENTRESS PARISIAN—Parisian clothes seem to be the fashion for the exception this year with the mid-season collection. The showing at Lucille Parry, extreme trend of clothes seen on the stage or cinema. An evening gown that will light have been displayed in the plenitude of ice blue satin. The pattern was a simple, straight, back again for summer. This gown is fitted at the waist and in the bodice is made of material covers the front of the dress and the hips, but the back is left plain and is made of a different material which forms a sort of train in the back. There is a graceful and delicate twirling of the material at the throat.

BILLY SUNDAY AND HIS MINISTRY

It was my esteemed privilege a number of years ago to attend Billy Sunday's most successful revival. I have also read, with great interest, daily reports of his most recent revival in Chattanooga, Tenn., my home town. As a result of these contacts and other observations for a number of years, I have become a great admirer of Billy Sunday, both as a man and a faithful minister, and for the following reasons: First, Billy Sunday is a fearless preacher. He preaches what he believes, and believes what he preaches. He never at any time or place, puts on the soft pedal. He never at any time, is a strong fundamentalist and his famous sermon on "Mother, Home, or Heaven?" The Second Coming of Christ, "Sin," "Death," "Hell," and "Judgment," has resulted in thousands of people conversions.

Los Angeles Ex-Truck Driver Finds Prospect of More Money to Come

OWENS, ROUGH ON RECORDS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (UP)—Kelly Petillo, who learned his driving behind the wheel of a truck in Los Angeles, today isn't worrying any more about where his next spin automobile parts are coming from.

He had $35,000 in his pockets and $25,000 of it in a great race more before the next Indianapolis 500-mile speedway race is held around here.

Complete Update Eight days ago you wouldn't have bet a nickel against the $20,000 prize for first prize, $1,000 for lap prizes and $100 for accessory prizes, because Kelly's automobile was spread all over one of the turns that Kelly Weatherly, the 24-year-old Illinois driver, was in control of the wheel.

Three world records fell, and another was tied, before the annual of Jesse Owens, Ohio State Negro, in the Big Ten track meet at Ann Arbor, Mich. Owens set new marks in the broad jump, 230-yard dash, and 220-yard low hurdles, and equaled the 22-second standard in the 100-yard sprint. Here he is shown in his record-breaking broad jump leap of 26 feet 8 1/2 inches.

It is Thursday noon, and down below roaring like all the horns of hell and traveling like bats out of the main place, are the madmen of the roaring road, fighting their lives for victory in America's grand prix.

OAKS MOVE INTO LAIR OF ANGELS

First-Place Hinges on Four Game Series; Both Win Holiday Fair

By United Press Somewhat revived by a double victory over the San Francisco Seals, Oakland took its pennant hopes southward today to do battle with Los Angeles, the team which has two straight pennants and which trails in second place by a margin, as they are a nip-pint.

The teams clashed with the Angels on the top of their game and the Oaks showed signs of snapping out of a slump, during which they won only five of 13 games, heavily the loser of the pennant to the Seals.

The team slipped to the Oaks in a game which was a hot and pitching duel, Oakland being defeated by a score of 5-3 and 18-3. The opener was scoreless until the sixth when the Seals scored three runs and slammed back to the Seals tied it, and it was that way into the ninth.

Los Angeles took its 25th straight win on the whippers today, by scores of 10-1 and 11-0. The victory was capped by a shutout by Herb Reiser, who pitched a no-hit game.

CHECK ON WATER, FARMER ADVISED

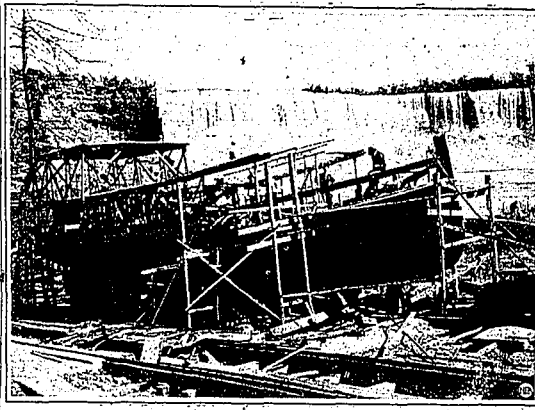

Too Much Irrigation Expensive In Future Woes, Moscow Expert Says

MOSCOW (Special)—Layish use of irrigation water as an expensive substitute for intelligent farming, says M. H. Kulp, irrigationist with the Idaho agriculture experiment station.

Irrigation merely supplements natural rainfall. To a certain point, an increase in irrigation water increases crop yields. Beyond that point, however, more water brings diminishing returns, often in reduced yields, and always in lowered soil fertility and future drainage troubles.

Means future Woes
Water can be used to compact the seed bed, at some savings in labor and power. Cultivation is much better, Mr. Kulp insists. Water thus applied in excess of crop needs wastes money. It is watered as far as crop use is concerned. A slight excess over crop needs does not harm, but it wastes money. Excess water at any time means future drainage. Beyond that point, however, more water brings diminishing returns, often in reduced yields, and always in lowered soil fertility and future drainage troubles.

"MAID OF MIST" PREPARES FOR HONEYMOONERS

The Honeymoon Special, the famed Maid of the Mist, again will ply the waters at the base of Niagara falls this summer, victor over the fire that badly damaged the craft in February. Repair work is being rushed, as shown in this picture, new boilers and engines being installed, new heating plant, and a larger and more modern craft being built while Niagara roars an accompaniment to the hammer.

D. Neyman and Mr. Harder were guests from Deep Creek. Lucerne invited to join Deep Creek in a fall exhibit at Filer.

GRANGE NEWS

By A. Harvester

Build Grange met Tuesday night, looking for something new in production with a good attendance. Commencement from Rep. D. Worth Clark stating that he was working on a grange proposal that government assist in weed control program, called forth some lively discussion. Observation of rural church, also was discussed and it was decided to join other West End Granges the fourth Sunday in June. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey were given the first and second degree. Quite an unusual program was given under direction of Lecturer Elmer Phillips who seems to have an unusual but from which he is equally unusual program. Wanda Meyers gave a planologue, accompanied by her sister, Wilda Meyers at the piano. Virgil Gaines, assisted by the lecturer, "The Oklahoma Mocking Bird," who boasts the more most title of a Sunday school missionary, gave some clever bird imitations and sang two numbers. "Lilo the Birdie Sing," accompanied by Miss Meyers at the piano. This program was much appreciated and the writer would advise work-harvested lecturers to borrow Brother Phillips' hat when they speak.

Deep Creek grange held their annual memorial service at the office home last Friday night. Only routine business was transacted after which Mrs. Ray Green gave a memorial talk and sang "The Old Rugged Cross." This grange will join Lucerne grange in putting on a fair exhibit at Filer this fall.

False Teeth
TACOMA, Wash. (U.S. —) Alice Tico had her fiance, Harold Dahl, arrested on an assault charge because he allegedly took her false teeth as she couldn't "step-out" on the grange.

Robbins Ending 55-Year Career As Rail Worker

J. W. Robbins, 70, will close 55 years of active train service this afternoon when train No. 340 comes to Twin Falls from Wells and will join the other retired "old timers" on the Union Pacific home roll of pensioned employes.

Mr. Robbins' first railroad service was on the Minneapolis and Manitoba line out of Minneapolis, Minn., in 1880 as a fireman on a wood burning locomotive. From 1882 to 1885 he served as an engineer. After a wreck in a severe winter storm Mr. Robbins transferred to train service.

Until 1926 he worked in Minnesota and then for what is now the Colorado Southern out of Trinidad, Colo. In 1903 he decided to come further west and became a conductor for freight and passenger service for the Oregon Short Line, a position which he has held ever since.

At one time he was conductor for the north side branch and later handled cars of sheep on Shoshone-Idaho run. Since 1920 Mr. Robbins has been on the Twin Falls line. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins plan to leave immediately for their tented vacation trip in Minneapolis and other points. They will return to Idaho to make their home.

IRA WORKER'S QUILT RESULTS IN N. Y. ORDER

A small orange and black quilt, just large enough for a doll's bed was submitted some months ago to Ellen S. Wood, welfare director, women's federal emergency relief administration, as a "Sample of Quilt made in Sewing Rooms of IERA."

The quilt had been made by hand, in Twin Falls, a relief worker putting all the skill of her able fingers into the task. One day the IERA director of women's work showed the quilt to Mrs. Madeline Snyder, mayor for the by department of Saks department store, New York City. Mrs. Snyder was so impressed with the quality of the workmanship that she expressed her willingness to help the maker of the beautiful little quilt find a market for her handiwork.

Negotiations Succeeded
There followed an exchange of correspondence between the IERA director and Idaho. At first, owing to the fact that the little quilt had been submitted some months ago it was confused with a later shipment and some difficulty was encountered in tracing the maker. With a better description of the quilt it was soon ascertained through a county supervisor of women's relief work in Idaho, just where it had been made. In a recent letter from the Saks representative, Mrs. Ely of the IERA was asked to urge the relief worker to proceed with an initial order for the quilts, to be delivered Aug. 1, 1935.
