THE NEUTRALITY ISSUE

The things that are getting most of Congress' attention these days are such up-to-the-minute measures as the holding company bill, the Wagner bill, the bonus, and the banking bill.

Buried 'way down underneath, however, is a proposal which might ultimately be of greater importance to the country than any of these.

This is the movement—led chiefly by Senators Gerald Nye and Bennett Clark—to recast American neutrality policies in such a way as to keep us from being drawn into the whirlpool of another European war.

These senators have introduced three resolutions to attain that end. Their resolutions would bar any kind of loans, public or private, to any foreign nation at war or any firm within that nation; would prohibit granting of passports to American citizens wishing to travel in war zones; and would provide that any shipment of munitions or contraband from these shores, would be made strictly at the buyer's risk.

The idea back of all this, of course, is the eminently sensible one that the way to stay out of a fight is to stay entirely away from it. The innocent bystander might not get benched with a brick so often, if he had the sense to refrain from standing on the sidelines and yelling encouragement to one of the combatants.

So far, this program has remained buried beneath the press of measures of more immediate concern. But European peace today is in a precarious state, and no one knows just when it may dissolve.

Once a European war breaks out, it would be infinitely more difficult to put such a program through than it is now. We ought to have action on the matter before this session of congress ends.

To get such action, it may be necessary to squelch some of our high naval officials. Rodney Datcher reported recently that the navy bigwigs are heartily against these proposals.

It is their notion that the navy can protest American commerce under any and all conditions, and they are lobbying earnestly to preserve the status quo—under which, in 1917, we got into war.

Someone should remind these gold-braided gentlemen that the function of military men in a republic is to obey orders and not to make policy. It is up to congress and the President to decide what is to be done; for the army or navy to try to interfere with such decisions is militarism of the worst kind.

That aside, there seems to be no very good reason why this program should not be adopted. There is no question that the American people want to stay out of war. The Nye-Clark resolutions ought to do much to help them attain their wish.

WAY TO SETTLEMENT

Senator Millard E. Tydings has proposed an international conference at Washington to deal with all the post-war international problems, ranging from the war debts down to armament reduction and currency stabilization.

While the present state of public opinion in the nations of the world—including our own—may make such proposal premature, it at least indicates the real nature of the problem that confronts us.

Until there is some sensible settlement of these pressing issues, there can be no real return to world prosperity. There may be a whole host of difficulties in the way of such settlement; there are enough headaches-in-the-currency-question alone, for instance, to keep statesmen busy for months.

But sooner or later these things must be settled, and settled intelligently. It is encouraging, at least, to see a far-sighted realization of the fact in the United States Senate.

SCHOOLS ON DEFENSIVE

Dr. Edwin C. Broome, superintendent of schools in Philadelphia, tells the National Society of New England that "there seems to be a country-wide movement" to discredit the school system, on the ground that it is largely responsible for the high cost of government.

The warning is well-timed. Our school system is expensive; granted, it may be that a judicious pruning of the budget here and there would be a good thing. But in the main, the taxpayer gets more for his money in the education system that he supports than he does in any other single tax-supported venture.

To reduce the cost of government, attack first wasteful and inefficient political control. See that the so-called "honest graft"—as well as the other kind—is eliminated, and that men are elected who will make some effort to do away with favoritism in government.

Strictly adhered to, such program would sharply reduce taxes and still leave us able to support the schools in the style our children deserve.

"All right back here," she called. He waited at the turn of the path, glancing at the watch strap in his wrist. "You'd better turn back. I have an appointment at nine."

Presently Dr. Cutwright came and examined her. "You've had a nasty shock," he said. "It's all right, you've a very thick young lady," he told Katharine. "You must stay in bed all night, and tomorrow I'll run in and see you again."

"Good morning, Michael!" she smiled at him. "You're early, one hand braced against the rail fence which bordered the meadow of the woods." "Why, I'm early, you know."

"Of course she shall," Michael cried her hostess delightedly. "I should be terrified to turn her out now, without being certain she was all right."

"Oh, she's all right, really," Katharine protested. "Oh, she's all right, really," Katharine protested. "Oh, she's all right, really," Katharine protested.

WASHINGTON — A lobbyist wired his manufacturing client after the N.R.A. decision: "New Deal? Go ahead."

WASHINGTON — On only one point were the New Dealers in agreement after the decision—W. E. H. personal bitterness against the court. His opinion had been expressed in public; a few of them might have gone to jail for contempt, but they would have gone gladly.

WASHINGTON — The real core of their four couple was the fact that the court decided the national emergency act over, its decision did not say this specifically, but everyone knew it. The fact was particularly well known by the business lawyers of New Deal.

CIRCUS ATTRACTS DOUBLE THROGHS

Afternoon and Evening Shows Draw Heavy Attendance Despite Weather

South central Idaho turned out in mass here yesterday afternoon and evening to witness the presentation of two performances of the A. C. Barnes circus, here for the first time in two years.

A capacity audience attended the show yesterday afternoon, despite the inclemency of the weather, which drenched thousands of persons who waited patiently in the rain to gain admittance to the big top at 3:30 p. m. Arrival of the circus had been delayed.

More favorable weather accompanied the night show, which drew a large throng. The special train pulled out of here shortly after midnight and the suggestion is showing in Pocatello today, having come here from Boise.

Shows Proceed

The storm yesterday threatened for a time to interfere seriously with the program. The circus studios at 4 p. m. permitted the show to proceed, the performance closed until about 10 p. m. High prices for the many entertainments and wild animal acts were fortunately maintained.

Twenty elephants, 17 tigers, lions, bears, and other animals, a hippopotamus, zebras, dogs and other beasts fulfilled advance appointments at entertainment turns, while acrobatic stunts, jugglers, tight-rope walkers, band musicians and other specialties presented in three rings kept the crowds in the afternoon.

Death Ends Career of Aviatrix

Put into a tailspin from which Fritzel Braun, flying waitress, was unable to right it, her plane spun 1200 feet downward while her horrified fiancé looked on, struck the roof of a house at the edge of extensive Woodbury, L. L., and crashed on the lawn, a heap of twisted metal and fabric. The pretty aviatrix was killed instantly. The group at left is removing Ensign John Holes, her passenger, who was gravely injured, from the wreckage.

RUSSELL LANE

The Flying Flingers 4-H club met Wednesday at the home of the leader, Mrs. Charles Sumner. It was decided to send the following members to the annual 4-H short course at Pocatello, Aug. 4-10: Mrs. Sumner, Mrs. Margaret Montgomery, Irene Bremer, Agnes Butler, Della Hunt, the Jane Montgomery, Cecilia Randall, Edna Handell and Ethel Randall.

Harold Albee left the latter part of the week to attend the commencement exercises at the University of Idaho. Miss Rowena Phillips accompanied him and will attend summer school. Mrs. E. W. Albertson, primary instructor, will spend the summer in Utah.

HAND PUMP GETS FLOWAGE OF OIL

Californian Doesn't Know Just Where Petroleum Originates, But He's Overjoyed

WILMINGTON, Calif., (UP)—He doesn't know where it comes from, but Cristobal Saldedo is getting 10 barrels of oil a day from the family water pump in the back yard and selling it at $175 per barrel.

There are several theories as to the origin, the most notable being that the oil comes from a leak in one of the many nearby pipelines from the fields.

"I don't care where it comes from," said Saldedo, "just so it keeps coming"—which it probably won't. Similar behavior of oil wells near famous Signal Hill dried up when reflectors plugged the leaks.

DOG ON POLICE FORCE

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (UP)—The Wakefield police have a dog on their force. Teddy, a Belgian police dog, makes the rounds with his master, Patrolman Henry Rutland. The only dog ever allowed inside the guard room, it answers to the call with a sharp bark when his name is read. "Teddy also reports to the station house from various police boxes with a bark. One alarmy wailer's bark the dog suddenly began to nig and gate, and the master, Mrs. Jane Robinson led the unconscious man lying in the snow.

Wilkes traveled here to interview Winnipeg almanacs, some of whom will be shown in the forthcoming Wilkes Antarctic expedition, now being planned. Dr. Wilkes, an expedition to gain more scientific knowledge of the polar regions is a step on the way to gaining knowledge of the weather and thus to solving some of the world's economic difficulties.

"Until we have a knowledge of the poles as well as the latitude it will be impossible to gain a comprehensive idea of the mechanism of the weather," he said.

"When we gain that knowledge, we hope to be able to forecast meteorological conditions—inform the primary producers of the world of the ability of production and the control of production—as to be assured all our needs of food and clothing, at a reasonable price. If we know a lean period is approaching, we can increase the yield under our production. We can be planned to produce a surplus to meet fluctuations in the market," he explained.

"I look for a time when everyone may live without anxiety as to material comforts; when we will be assured of more time and time for psychological study. Then there will be a revolution in mental development because at present, anxiety as to obtaining our food and clothing occupies the greater part of our thoughts," he said.

BIRD FAR FROM HOME

ASTORIA, Ore. (UP)—A giant Frigate bird, known as a jaeger, from its native South Sea coast, was killed near Astoria, Ore., on Tuesday for a day, then landed upon the largest point and died. Lighted by a searchlight, the bird measured six feet, seven inches in wingspread.

BARRYMORE SUIT BARRIER CLEARED

Judge Grants Miss Costello Right to Serve Notice By Publication

(Copyright, 1935, United Press)

HOLLYWOOD, June 1 (UP)—Legal obstacles in the path of the John Barrymore-Dolores Costello divorce had been swept aside today, clearing the way for its trial in 90 days.

Presiding Judge Edward T. Bishop signed an order permitting Miss Costello to serve her husband with notice of the divorce by publication when informed Barrymore was in Hawaii.

The notice appears in a legal paper and a copy of the complaint was mailed to Barrymore's last known address in New York City.

Unless the actor returns to contest his wife's suit, the divorce proceedings will be set in September.

Meanwhile it was reported that the divorce action caused a reconciliation within the Costello family.

Mrs. Barrymore, and her father, Maurice Costello, first "great love" of the actress, became estranged at the time of her marriage. He later married another daughter, Helen Costello, and she was at odds with her father, and reports of the estrangement were confirmed by Costello at the time he was granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Alice Costello, 1929.

The divorce action and Costello's recent nervous collapse acted to hold the family apart, gossip said.

Greta Garbo faces suit for $11,300 of the actress, because she accepted or has refused to pay on an old debt, according to an action filed in superior court.

The complaint was signed by Sylvia Blank, assignee of the debt of David Warner, German motion picture producer, who now resides in Santa Monica.

The action charges that Warner loaned Miss Garbo $5000 Swedish krona in 1928, and she advanced her 10,000 krona and 10,000 German marks in Berlin.
