BEARS FAVORED IN POUGHKEEPSIE RACE TOMORROW

HUSKIES RANKED AS NEXT CHOICE

Seven Crook Craws Will Beek National Honors Tuesday On Hudson River

By STUART CAMERON
United Press Sports Editor
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—One of the most grueling of collegiate athletic tests will take place on the Hudson river tomorrow when seven of the nation's crook crews compete in the four-mile Poughkeepsie regatta.

California, whose time trials this week have been impressive, was installed favorite by bookmakers. The Golden Bears were quoted at 2-1 in Washington, in which they defeated California in an early spring race, was second choice at 3-2.

Odds May Change
Odds on the other crews were: Navy, 2-1; Pennsylvania, 3-1; and Syracuse, 3-1; Columbia, 6-1. Many veteran river men do not believe these odds reflect the true strength of the crews, and expect them to change before the race.

Washington is an even money favorite to win the three-mile junior varsity race, and California and Washington are co-favorites at even money in the two-mile freshman event.

At a preliminary to the big event tomorrow, the four-oared crews of Navy and Washington will officially open the regatta today when they meet over an eight-mile course.

Coach Jim Wray, Cornell, will receive $8,000 expected.

A crowd of more than 80,000 is expected to see the variety race, scheduled to start at 8 p. m. (EST). The race starts with three craft of all descriptions, anchored at vantage points near the finish line. As usual, an observation train will shuttle back and forth along the west shore bank carrying a capacity crowd.

Coach Jay Ehrlich, of California, who learned his rowing holding a job of other types during his undergraduate days at Washington, believes his present crew is the best of one that has ever raced.

Midwest Hope for Three
Washington has hopes of winning all three races. Coach Al Uhlir, who has coached the team around considerably but has finally settled on his veteran crew to represent the Huskies in the regatta race. The all-shipper combination which defeated California in the variety race early in the spring will row in the junior varsity event.

Syracuse has had only one race, and Cornell has been beaten. Columbia is considered the weakest crew entered.

HAND OF NEW CHAMP GOES ALOFT

Here's the scene that made pugilistic history. Jimmy Braddock's joyful hand held his hand aloft while 30,000 roaring spectators watched the passing of the heavyweight championship from the fists of the Jersey Irishman. A slight grin adorns Braddock's face as he enjoys the miracle moment that experts had proclaimed he couldn't achieve.

The dance for the variety race follows: No. 1, California; No. 2, Washington; No. 3, Navy; No. 4, Syracuse; No. 5, Cornell; No. 6, Columbia; No. 7, Pennsylvania.

Germany defeated Australia, four matches to one, in the major event of the Davis Cup. The Aussies were favored to eliminate Germany but came out of the match with only a victory in the double. Crawford, considered one of the world's greatest singles players, lost both his matches to Barton Gottfried, who defeated Helner Henkel. Henkel beat Crawford in yesterday's play, 2-6, 6-3, 6-7, 4-6, 6-4. In the final, Crawford defeated Vivian McGrath, 6-5, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2. Tim McGrath had previously beaten McGrath.

THIRDS SOUTH AFRICA
PRAGUE, June 17 (AP)—Czechoslovakia clinched victory over South Africa in the semifinals of the European zone Davis Cup competition yesterday by winning the doubles. Roderic Menzel and Josef Malesky won over Vernon Rensel and Norman Patterson, 5-1, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1. Menzel and Josef Caska won the opening singles matches previously.

TIGERS UNLEASH DRIVE FOR LEAD

Rowe Hurls Detroit to Easy Win Over A's; Giants Trim Cards

By GEORGE HATHENY
NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers are getting ready to make their challenge in the American league.

The return to form of schoolboy Rowe has solidified the Tigers' championship effort, and the entire team has revived the form which gave Detroit the pennant a year ago. Rowe pitched the Tigers to a 13-2 triumph over the Athletics yesterday, allowing only six hits. It was his second straight win. He let the Boston Red Sox down with three hits last Wednesday.

The Yankees had the Chicago White Sox on the verge of a crowd of 20,000, one of the largest ever to attend a ball game in Chicago when rain washed out the game in the fourth inning.

100 NEW HOMES

There is no stopping this national housing act drive for more and better homes. And Twin Falls enters into the program with a refreshing enthusiasm.

Building definitely is on the up-trend here, many houses are under construction, homes are being furnished with all sorts of modern equipment, electrical refrigerator sales are breaking records locally, and already approximately $100,000 in National Housing Act loans have been applied for in Twin Falls.

When it is stated that the goal here is for 100 new homes, the idea may sound rather ambitious, but in reality the figure appears extremely modest. If there is any thing this city needs it is more housing. There is plenty of space, and now with federal assistance there is new encouragement for those needing homes to take advantage of the opportunity for financing.

A score of houses already are under way. It is predicted that before fall is over there will be 100 new homes in this city, thanks to the facilities which have been provided.

GRASS ROOTS

Bearing out the contentions in this column last week concerning the general aspect of the so-called "grass roots" convention of minority party politicians at Springfield, is this summary from an authoritative but confidential Washington source:

"The congressional Republicans were more or less sour on the grass roots convention idea from the start, as you must have gathered. However, they were pleasantly surprised to find that open trouble over issues (such as Hoover and AAA) was avoided.

"Of course, what happened is that a more or less innocuous set of principles had to be adopted in order to avoid trouble. This prevented the convention from assuming a stronger stand, made it look weak, ineffective.

"The resolutions will make very poor reading for the average voter, but the convention will start party workers to thinking, and perhaps working, along Republican lines again. This was the main purpose. Any attempt to get together on affirmative principles would have been fatal."

"Like too many 'meetings' and 'conventions' that this Springfield affair was more for public effect than spontaneous action, and, unfortunately, lacked fire, enthusiasm and conviction.

CLOSER TO MILLENNIUM

It seems that every time the doctors of the country meet they produce so much encouragement in the battle against disease that surely the millennium, at least in health, should arrive sooner than one might expect.

At the very beginning of their session in Atlantic City, for example, the doctors announced such marvels as a "brain wash" that has cured paralysis and other human deformities, and an antiseptic solution 10 times as strong as the strongest in use today.

Of course, it may take some time before either of these innovations can be included in the regular physician's routine. Such an important matter as technique must be worked out first.

But it does give a feeling of considerable satisfaction that the promise of relief, at least for some of the most tragic diseases and deformities may soon be fulfilled.

CHOICE OF INTEREST

The uncut diamond as large as a ostrich egg that arrived in the United States the other day probably will be admired and safeguarded for generations to come. Yet the story of the inconsequential prospector whose Kaffir slave stumbled upon it and brought it to him seems to be more of a marvel than the diamond itself.

For here was poverty and destitution suddenly become rich, a man in his sixties, resigned to a pauper's end after a long life of failure and despair, all at once handling more than $300,000 all his own.

The world has been following the adventures of that pauper's unusual discovery much more closely than the story of the finder himself. But wouldn't you like to know what has happened to Jacobus Jonker, the struggling prospector suddenly become wealthy, even more than you would what happens to that piece of hard, lifeless stone?

Greta Carbo says "Ay tank ay go home," and does so. It might pay congressmen to practice the Swedish dialect.

Judging from the number of men wearing them, cloisters welcome the summer slack season.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
KATHARINE WITHHELD her broken hearts about with them. For—very low. A broken heart was hopelessly out of date. Like the heart of a broken clock, it only she wished she might not over catch a glimpse of either one of them—Michael or Sally. Only she wished she might not over catch a glimpse of either one of them—Michael or Sally. Only she wished she might not over catch a glimpse of either one of them—Michael or Sally.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXII
KATHARINE brought her car to a stop before the drug store, the windows of which were emblazoned and placarded with picturesque endorsements. A life-sized cardboard figure of a blond girl ornamented the left-hand corner. She had hoped she might go to California or Hawaii—anywhere that was definitely far and away from the city. She would take up her sketching, her delicate, delicate water colors that Emily, Vincent and her were actually stable; she could make something of her life.

Some day, perhaps years and years in the future, some shadowy, dark, tall man would come along. He would tell him it wasn't in her to care, really, any more; but he would persuade her, against her will and her better judgment, to marry him.

"Black ink, did you say, miss?" The laughing clerk was staring at her. "Yes," she came out of her day dream to look at him absently.

She bought her purchases now, in a neat package wrapped in white paper and tied round with green cord. She slipped it into her bag and said, "Yes, thank you, Miss Strawberries." What a delightful little girl she was, really, and as they went out she slipped it into her bag and said, "Yes, thank you, Miss Strawberries."

DRAWN by a curiosity she could not explain or deny, Katharine looked at the weighty machine, apparently intact only on the black numerals which she might see by accident. She looked at the black numerals which she might see by accident. She looked at the black numerals which she might see by accident.

"Hello, there," she called to herself. "Hello, there," she called to herself. "Hello, there," she called to herself. "Hello, there," she called to herself.

"The house!" His cool eyes would have abandoned her if she had not been so quickly silent.

"Go to sleep," she said to herself. "Go to sleep," she said to herself. "Go to sleep," she said to herself. "Go to sleep," she said to herself.

"The first observance of Pioneer Day in Idaho was in 1910 in accordance with a proclamation issued by Gov. James H. Brady who designated the day as 'Idaho Day.' The legislation of 1911 passed a bill changing it to 'Idaho Pioneer Day,' and added it to the list of the state's legal holidays.

HISTORY OF Twin Falls City & County
As Distorted from Files of The Times
15 YEARS AGO
Although handicapped in their work by the fact that they were just getting established, a drumming band directed their own energy from their regular pupils, the local organization of the Salvation Army has made a fine record in Twin Falls. This is shown in the following report submitted through the Times.

Then she was in frame, her small brown nose protruding down hard, hard on the accelerator. The car moved forward, and the English novel and rolls for lunch completely forgotten. Bertha may be argued that she had to hurry back. But Katharine could not bother about Horton now. She was in a hurry for something that it didn't hurt.

He did not argue it out; she was aware of any problem needing to be decided. It was as simple as this. If Michael were in danger, and she knew of it, why then she must warn him. She had always known, in the days of her girlhood, that she was not to marry Michael, but whatever he was or done, he wasn't to be caught like a rat in a trap. She would do anything with the badges should have nothing to do with him.

"The house!" His cool eyes would have abandoned her if she had not been so quickly silent. "Go to sleep," she said to herself. "Go to sleep," she said to herself.

"Hello, there," she called to herself. "Hello, there," she called to herself. "Hello, there," she called to herself. "Hello, there," she called to herself.

RIGHT SAYING?
WASHINGTON—The man who has now been proposed to be President Roosevelt's main conservative underlier called in the White House before the Hyde Park trip. It is tempting to persuade the President that the election of a public utility holding company was too severe. He wanted them to be under a government reform school instead.

REFORM SCHOOL?
The minor amendments to the Wheeler-Layburn bill were discussed, but a specific substitute amendment was agreed on. However, the advertiser went away with the distinct impression that a reform school substitute would be acceptable to the President.

LEFT HOOK
The liberal advisers of the President heard nothing about such a change of heart, in fact, they went to the extent of getting a memorandum from the President, but they were not to be fooled. They kept in their pockets until the final drive began for the Dietrich amendment in the Senate.

CONTACTS
The development in only one chapter in the most sensational tale of hard legislative fighting that Washington has heard of will hear for many a year. Congressional committee reports could be strewn with cross and double-cross postscript, not meaning ideas.

HEPSCOE
A few hours before the roll call but Mrs. Cohen and Corcoran went home. He had a lobbying advantage because they were not on the Senate floor as a government expert consulting Senator Wheeler. That was excusable because Mr. Cohen and his associates, really wrote the bill. The public utility people had to work from the gallery.

ARMAMENT RAGE RAPPED BY HULL

'Suicidal' Mania by Europeans Hinders Peace, Secretary Tells Graduates

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 17 (AP)—The United States' efforts to foster world peace have been hindered by "a suicidal race in armaments" throughout the world, Secretary of State Cordell Hull today told graduates at the University of Michigan commencement.

"The United States, Hull said, will not be involved in any war 'short of having to defend itself against direct aggression.' "The increase in armaments has been met by a further increase, until today the vicious circle is virtually paralyzing all opportunity for permanent productive or creative work," Hull said. "Nations are rapidly bankrupting themselves in this race and the toll it exacts in material resources is second only to the loss sustained in war."

Must Reverse Trend

"A return to the atmosphere of peace, stability and international goodwill, Secretary of State Hull said, must be reversed. The nation that will not play its part — thus retarding progress — should be branded as the nation that strives unceasingly for reduction and limitation of armaments will be found in the vanguard of the march of civilization."

The secretary was one of 13 persons upon whom the university bestowed honorary degrees. Others included Herbert W. Clark, San Francisco, and Judge Orin L. Phillips, Denver.
