CUMMINGS ACTS TO SECURE WIDE PROBE OF CRAFT

Promises Sweeping Quiz Into Mitchell Charge Against Department FULL SCOPE IS PROMISED

By RONALD G. VAN TINE WASHINGTON, June 28 (U.P.)—Attorney General Homer S. Cummings today promised to make a "wide" investigation of Ewing W. Mitchell's charges against the department of commerce.

It will not be limited to what Mitchell saw fit to write, but it will be sweeping enough to reach a definite conclusion, Cummings general said. "An attempt will be made to find the exact facts."

Cummings' announcement followed a second appearance of Mitchell, chief assistant secretary of commerce, before the senate commerce committee.

It was even less productive of facts than yesterday's hearing.

Repeats Charges Mitchell repeated earlier charges that insufficient inspection and regulation, by the commerce department "might have been" partly responsible for the Moro, Comandante and the airplane crash in which Sen. Bronson Cutting, R., N. H., was killed.

"Mr. Mitchell will be given a full opportunity to submit any letters or testifies," Cummings said.

Cummings said the secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper brought the question of the sale of ships to the justice department's attention "some time ago."

Element of Humor Mitchell told what he thought about himself and the incident, Cummings said.

Mitchell told the senate commerce committee today that he was "ignored" by Secretary Roper, the department's investigation of the airplane crash in which Sen. Bronson Cutting was killed.

INDICTMENT HITS WALEY WIFE AS 'ABDUCTION AIDE'

Played Leading Role Instead Of Subordinate, Jury's Action Reveals SENT CONTACT MESSAGES

TACOMA, Wash., June 28 (U.P.)—Indictment returned by a federal grand jury revealed today that Margaret Waley, 19-year-old girl, who married an ex-convict against the wishes of her family, played a leading role in the abduction of George Weyerhaeuser of Tacoma.

The jury found that the blond wife of Harmon Metz Waley, 25, not only led the Spokane leader in which the nine-year-old son of a Tacoma lumber millionaire was confined, but also had the ransom payment contact notes to John Philip Weyerhaeuser, father of the boy.

Refute 'Alibi' Theory The indictments refuted previous allegations that a woman had written a note to the abductor, one that she had remained aloof from participation in the crime.

With the Waley William Mahan, alias Grant, a fugitive, was indicted on charges of violating the Lindbergh law.

CUMMINGS ACTS TO SECURE QUIZ

Committee Charging Probe Into Mitchell Bweeping Against Department

The "nominal head" of the bureau of air commerce and aircraft inspection. During the session Mitchell told the committee: "You, read the last inspection of the Alamo Castle, and you'll find it was no inspection at all."

However, he admitted he had no evidence that the ship's appearance did not conform to U. S. standards.

"Wasn't it your moral duty to do something if you thought the stampbook inspectors were being flouted?" asked Chairman Royal S. Copeland, D. N. Y.

Get No Response
"I will recommend a thorough housecleaning," Mitchell replied, "but I couldn't get any response."

Copeland questioned the "propriety" of Mitchell's statement. Senator Roosevelt said that the Mitchell committee should have been ousted from "inefficient inspection."

"Well," Mitchell said, "if I can find the report on the last inspection, I'll show it to you, and you can see for yourself."

Sen. Hiram Johnson, R., Calif., asked Mitchell to make available any documents in his possession relating to the Cutting accident.

Refer Up Tomorrow
Refer said he hoped to be heard tomorrow, because he would be away over the week end. The committee agreed that if there were no important matters pending in the senate, it would grant the request.

"I make my announcement," Refer said, "because I don't want anyone to get the impression that if I can't appear Saturday, I'm refusing to avoid an appearance."

Shortly before noon, the committee recessed the hearing until 10 a. m. tomorrow, when Mitchell is expected to be placed on the stand again. Midway in today's session he said "that's all I have today," but indicated he hoped to read up some data by tomorrow.

LONGEST DAY
Tomorrow will mark the longest day of the year, the date being known as the Summer Solstice. Actual hour of the Solstice here will be Friday at 1:35 a. m.

According to calculations the sun will rise here tomorrow at 4:25 a. m. and set at 9:35 p. m., providing 15 hours and 10 minutes of sunlight, with the twilight hours included.

Actually, according to the almanac, there is no variation in the length of day during the straight days commencing today and ending Monday.

LAWYERS BATTLE FOR HAUPTMANN

Attorneys Agree Over Appeal For Reversal of Murder GUILTY Verdict

The attorneys agreed that Hauptmann was not guilty of the murder of Lindbergh, but that he had carried him out.

"The state changed its theory of how it happened because it had no proof of where the baby met his death."

The questions directed at Pope by the judges showed that they were well-grounded in every phase of the case. At times Pope and Rosencrans appeared to be flustered and groped for answers.

Rosencrans based his chief argument in a bitter attack on what he called "the state's theories of how the child met his death."

Rosencrans said that the state had no proof of where the baby met his death.

'38 WAR CAUSES

Background of Conflict with Spain Pointed Out by Ernest Ostrom

(Editor's Note:—Picked by judges as one of the three winning essays in a contest recently concluded by General Lawson post, Spanish War Veterans, the contribution of Ernest Ostrom, Twin Falls high school student, on "Background and Causes Leading Up to the Actual Declaration of War Against Spain," has been supplied this evening, Times by the committee in charge.)

By ERNEST OSTROM
From the days of Cuba's earliest discovery that fair island had been the scene of contention and war. One form of political rivalry followed another in its romantic history. Cuba was not only a free state but also the scene of a struggle which has made the island an ideal place for the operation of numerous filibustering expeditions organized by Americans partly to help insurgent Cubans and partly to view to benefit in actual worldly goods.

Tried Purchase
More than once the United States had tried to purchase the island from Spain, and in 1848 Spain replied she'd rather see Cuba sink. During the decade between 1895-1898 there was constant revolution and the interests of the United States suffered as severely that President Grant threatened intervention.

Makes Concessions
As June, 1897, came Spain recalled General Weyler, offered self-government to Cubans, admitted the justice of our protest, and proposed reforms, but at the same time an interference was resented and relations with Spain grew more and more strained, and violence was shown when the "Maine" was blown up in Havana harbor on the evening of Feb. 15, 1898.

Technically the "Maine" was in the harbor of Havana on a mission of peace to a friendly government, and to assure protection of lives and property of American citizens which were endangered by the repeated demonstrations of Spanish enmity against the people of the United States, who sympathized with the Cubans in their struggle for independence.

Message to Congress
Much as he decried war, President McKinley was convinced that intervention was necessary. After Spain's refusal to answer several inquiries of these United States in April, 1898, addressed congress in part as follows:

"The only hope of relief and repose from a condition which can no longer be endured is the forced pacification of Cuba. In the name of humanity, in the name of civilization, in the name of the American interests which give us the right and the duty to fix and act, the war in Cuba must stop.

"In view of these facts and of these considerations, I ask the congress to authorize and empower the President to take measures to secure a full and final termination of hostilities between the government of Spain and the people of Cuba; and to secure in the island the establishment of a stable government capable of maintaining order and observing its international obligations, insuring peace and tranquility and the security of its citizens, as well as our own, and to use the military and naval forces of the United States as may be necessary for these purposes."

Pass Resolutions
And on April 19 both houses accepted these resolutions: "That the United States be, and of right ought to be, free and independent; Second—That the United States to the United States to demand, and the government of the United States do hereby demand, that the government of Spain at once return its authority and government in the island of Cuba and withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters; and that the President be and he is hereby is directed and empowered to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States, and to call into active service the militia of the several states to such an extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect.

Disclaimed Arrangements
Fourth—That the United States hereby disclaims any disposition or intention to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction, or control over said island, except for the pacification thereof, and asserts its termination when that is accomplished to leave the government and control of the island to the people, which the President signed the following day, while on the 20th he signed the ultimatum to the Spanish government.

War was actually declared on April 25 when a bill was passed by congress declaring that a state of war existed between the United States and Spain, and had so existed since and including April 21.

Seen Today

A girly woman, carefully completing the sewing on a purple dress. The material was the final Silver Dollar Shower event, a well-dressed young woman, until she removed her coat revealing that she had on some kind of a hatter arrangement which left her back perfectly bare. First among newspapermen of the season, "Just came in to pay my respects to the profession." Looking for work. En route from California to the Northwest. No jobs at Salt Lake. Only a full crew at Pocatello and suggested to the Statesman. In there any place here a man can get a bit to eat? The T.F.R. was suggested. "I feel I shall be compelled to ask for a meal" he said after being recognized as a visitor. "Good old watermelon, in the store window." Women to lists, walking around town while their cars are being serviced, and strided in pajama outfits even more outlandish than those departed locally. The hum of the sweetening newspaper worker, as he writes of other people's vacations in the mountains, national parks, Alaska and other cool retreats.

ORPHEUM READY FOR NEW SOUND

Improved Wide Range System Will Be Heard Tomorrow At Theater

Western Electric Wide Range Sound will be heard for the first time in Twin Falls at the Orpheum theater tomorrow when the local movie house will put this improvement into use after weeks of preparation. "The outstanding feature of this new sound development is a clear, distinct quality that has never before been heard in talking pictures. This has been accomplished through an extension of the frequency range of sounds that can be reproduced," says Ned McCord, manager. "No Distortion" "The result in that sound of both high and low extremes, as whippers or thunder, can be heard in their natural level without distortion. A more sweeping effect of great volume is attained. Dialogue that was formerly tedious becomes vibrant. "The effect is even more marked in musical numbers where the Wide Range makes it possible to record and reproduce each instrument as a solo."

SPORTSMANSHIP

Announcement Tuesday of the decision of Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball czar, permitting Edwin C. "Alabama" Pitts, released Sing Sing prisoner, to take part in organized ball meets with a happy response in the West.

The young man served some five years for a hold-up. In prison he demonstrated that he is an able athlete; so, on his release, the Albany baseball team in the International league handed him a $200-a-month contract.

There was question as to just what Pitts' status would be. For a time it appeared he would be barred on account of the belief of the president of the National Association of Minor Professional leagues that his entry would "lower the tone of the sport."

By all the rules, Pitts has paid his penalty and, by the ruling of Judge Landis, is given a deserved opportunity to make good in civil life. Because of this there can be only general approval. Pitts is not appearing in exhibition games, which is a wise part of the decision.

Prisoners are presumed to rehabilitate mind and to restore them to society. The action taken in this now famous case should give hope to those now behind the bars that through reformation there is still opportunity on the outside for them to amount to something if they lead decent lives.

"Alabama" Pitts for the moment becomes the center of national attention. His career will be watched with intense interest. His situation now is a responsible one, for the good sports of America will look to him to prove their confidence and to demonstrate that the action in his behalf was entirely justified.

In London, J. P. Morgan auctions off his collection of 795 miniatures. That senate knee-handling incident probably turned him against things in midget size.

REAL ESTATE LOOKS UP

Major Angus and his "boom" have come and gone, more quickly than most of us could realize. So now we may prepare for some other prophetic with a boom that looks promising.

At hand is a report from one Roy S. Wenzlick, a real estate analyst of St. Louis, who predicts a boom for around 1940-41, if we can hold on until then. Mr. Wenzlick has made a study of real estate conditions in 276 cities of the United States, and the surprising thing about his conclusions from this study is the fact that he finds a close parallel between marriages and real estate activity.

Marriages, he finds, are increasing and while, during the years of depression, many newly married couples lived, with their parents in one home, there's a tendency today not only to live apart, but to break up the households where such doubling up prevailed.

And that means greater demand for apartments and farms and greater promise for real estate, and when real estate looks up, says Mr. Wenzlick, we can expect everything else to be encouraging.

Perhaps the reason Mr. Hoover didn't show up at the "grass roots" meeting was that he was misled by the name and got lost on some city street.

LESS FOOD FOR THOUGHT

If, following noon, you have an important conference to attend, or some difficult work to complete, don't eat too much. Your brain will be "flooded up" and, as a result, you won't be of much good at the conference or at the particular task you had laid out for yourself.

Too heavy a meal, says Dr. Donald A. Laird of Colgate university, draws most of the blood to the stomach, for the work of digestion, and so deprives the brain of the blood it needs for thought.

In fact, Dr. Laird has discovered that the brain responds less quickly to stimuli and that its accuracy decreases by four times in proportion to its slowness of response.

In other words, your brain is almost asleep after a heavy luncheon. Maybe you'd want it so, for a good siesta, but if you do, you'd better do all your brainwork in the morning.

Mussolini says Italy has "an old and new score" to settle with Abyssinia. The blacks won by a shut-out, if we remember the old one.

Say what you will, the chain letter fad is a good way to pass the dime.

Use a hairbrush often to train the hair properly—Beauty item. That applies also to the hair.

When a couple of bores get together, it's a case of an I for an I.

Speaking of restaurant codes, what ever became of that "Adam'n Eve on a raff" business?

G. O. P. STRATEGY MEETS HANDICAP

Constitution "Defense" Lacks Target in Form of Actual Amendment Plan

WASHINGTON, June 20 (Special)—Republican strategy to make defense of the constitution the prime issue of the 1936 campaign is handicapped by lack of a well defined target in the form of a "New Deal amendment."

The next Republican move probably will be a suggestion that President Roosevelt define precisely the amendments he would favor to give the federal government authority in financial, social and economic questions.

If the New Deal would put such amendments in the form of a congressional resolution for submission to the states the lack of Republican campaigners would be lightened. Pending a definite statement of what the New Deal would do has been added to the constitution, some national Republican leaders are counseling caution to avoid a false position.

Amended 21 Times

They point out that the constitution has been amended 21 times and doubtless will be amended further. It is not the Republican party to insist that the constitution remain as it is. The party leaders are planning, however, to make a distinction between amendments that are "orderly progress to meet new needs" and what they deem to be President Roosevelt's desire for fundamental change in the balance between state and federal government.

"Grass roots" Republicans from 10 states gathered in Washington, D. C., last week agreed that distinction but in their enthusiastic desire to amend the constitution give much emphasis to the difference between minor and major amendments in constitution amendments upon federal authority. Until the scope of a "New Deal amendment" is known the constitutional argument will be muddy in spots.

Hasn't Made Proposal

The facts are not that Roosevelt has not yet proposed that amendments be made to the supreme court. He N. R. A. unconstitutional in the Schechter policy. Mr. Roosevelt's supporters at his regular press conference the people should consider whether they want an amendment. He characterized the court's interpretation of the constitution as more "horse and buggy" days of our fathers than to the present.

Mr. Roosevelt's estimate of the time required to debate constitutional changes nationally and finally to act upon an amendment was five to ten years. There was no indication at either of the N. R. A. press conferences that the New Deal would seek earlier action on an amendment which would give to the federal government special powers to deal with the social and economic questions which N. R. A. sought to solve.

Centers on Phase

"Until a 'New Deal amendment' is presented for public discussion, Republican fire will center especially on a phrase which slipped casually into Mr. Roosevelt's N. R. A. discussion. He insisted that every other major government enjoyed powers such as the supreme court had denied to the United States government. The Republican challenge was immediate.

Former President Hoover and others charged that Mr. Roosevelt had a preference for some form of European government—of which there are several, ranging from the British democracy through Italian Fascism to Hitlerism and Communism with a sprinkling of otherwise undecipherable dictatorships.

CANDID CAMERA GLIMPSES LABOR BILL AUTHOR

A grave, earnest man

A dogged fighter

with a tight mouth

but who has vision

and has not forgotten

how to launch

WITH N. R. A. in stiletton form, the attention of labor centers with renewed vigor on the proposed Wagner bill to define and regulate labor relations, and U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York stands out as one of the most commanding figures in the Washington scene, today. Once a poor German immigrant boy, Senator Wagner has worked unflinchingly in the cause of clarifying labor relations in times when they are in a confused and troubled state. Labor looks to enactment of Wagner's bill to assure itself that its rights are not lost by the N. R. A. failure.

SINGER AWARDED DIVORCE DECREE

Husband Squirmed Sparkling Burgundy on Walls, Says Helen Morgan

LOS ANGELES, June 20 (Special)—While Helen Morgan, New York stage star, cosseted from the top of a piano in night club, her husband amused himself by giving champagne parties and squirting sparkling burgundy on the walls of their apartment, the singer alleged in a deposition yesterday.

Mrs. Morgan, who is represented by Maurice Maschio, Jr., Cleveland attorney.

Her testimony was contained in a deposition, read in her absence at the University of Idaho.

During the parties while she was absent, Miss Morgan alleged, her husband poured champagne and sparkling burgundy on the walls of their apartment, the singer alleged, while she collected as a hobby.

Worked One Month

Maschio worked only one month during their married life and that he received by him cost her $5,000, she charged.

She advanced him $5,000 to get into a New York company," she said. "The job only lasted a month and I never got my money back."

Miss Morgan explained in the deposition that she was filling a hospital bed for her mother in New York and could not return for the hearing. Maschio did not contest her charge.

Hurl Epithets

"You scoundrel, you're always wanting something," Miss Morgan said her husband told her.

"Finally he got my slippers, but instead of handing them to me he threw them at me. One of his friends went out and got me something to eat. There was nothing in the house but gin," she continued.

Explaining her husband's mistreatment of her maid, Miss Morgan said she collected fish as a hobby and that during parties she gave at night club, she permitted guests to smoke in the room where she kept the fish.

"This is very bad for the fish," she deposed.

He Pinched Her

Another of Maschio's habits she said, was to put his hands under arms in a comradely fashion and then pinch her severely.

Continuing their winning streak on the western front, the Yankees shelled their old nemesis, Alvin Karpis, from the box in the opening game and snapped Tommy Dugan's nine-game winning streak. Dugan had pitched 27 hits in the two games. Lou Gehrig led the attack on the opener with a single, triple and home run, driving in four runs. BRADDOCK, IS WITH LONG LIST OF UPSETS, IS GAMBLERS' POISON

This is the third of a series of six articles on the life of James J. Braddock, a new heavyweight champion.

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service
NEW YORK, June 20 (NEA)—James J. Braddock's surprise victory over Max Baer, the first upset to be prepared for in the prize ring, is a new custom for Jimmy to enter the ring as a rank outsider and leave on the long end of the score. He often has been the sure-thing gambler out of ocean swimming in his early days. They talked to a friend who had seen him beat Max Baer, 7 to 1 in the fight. (It was a 10 on Al Williams; 6 to 1 on Max Baer; 5 to 1 on John Henry Lewis; and 4 to 1 on Art Linker.)

Braddock got the Levandowski fight after Larry Ehrlich was forced to cancel engagements because of illness. Braddock traveled to Cleveland and was expected to arrive in the Windy City, officials took one look at him and said: "He's a sure thing."

They insisted he show what he had in a gym workout against the crowd, for the fellow who had run off the ring of 20 knockout. Braddock's next upset was scored against Al Silliman in St. Louis. The Mount City boy had had a long career in the prize ring. Silliman, with whom Jimmy had had no contact after back in 1925, Silliman had thrown three knockouts at Al for good for one year. It was Silliman's last fight. Braddock stepped out Silliman's winning record by knocking him out in 10 heats, taking the fight in the eighth round. Silliman was a former champion.

CINCINNATI GETS ANGELS' HURLER

Los Angeles Sale of Nelson May Help Bring Better Coast Balance

By United Press
The Pacific coast league may accomplish a more even balance among its eight teams by a proposed trade of Nelson to the Los Angeles team, runaway winners in 1934 and in the first half of the 1935 campaign, instead of by building up the other team.

Steady and consistent pitcher, Nelson won 11 games and lost only four in the first half of this year's campaign. He only 2 1/2 of his victories out of the Angels' record and the result would have been a virtual tie among Cleveland, San Francisco and the Athletics for the top.

The Angels will receive another pitcher in exchange for Nelson but the quality of the new one is yet to be tested while Linn was a proved performer, despite his inability to get against "leftie" in his farewell game last night.

It took both Nelson and J. Mills and Campbell and the Indians in a 6-0 game which the Angels won mainly through Joe Carlisle's error in the ninth. The home game was a close one, with the Athletics leading 1-0 in the eighth.

Sacramento and Hollywood played a double-header and divided honors. With Lefty Hebert throwing them high and hard, the Athletics topped a 5-2 defeat on Earl Egan's lead in the eighth.

Natie Brown Hands Garnera Headache in Training Camp Workout

POMFRET LAKES, N. J., June 20 (AP)—Primo's career missed a headache today as a result of a training camp heating administered by Natie Brown of Washington.

The ponderous heavyweight, drilled for next Tuesday's fight with Joe Louis of Detroit, was when Primo, angered at the beating, tried to reach Natie with a "knockout" blow. He was held off by his much lighter opponent.

Dr. Ellen A. Hill examined Primo and reported him in perfect shape.

IDAHO PROJECTS IN THREE GROUPS

Relief Setup for State Will Include Varied Types of Construction

By HALPH W. OLNSTEAD
 WASHINGTON (Special)—During the past week we have witnessed on our ears and holes in our shoes calling up and going to see officials of the public works relief administration in an effort to find out definitely how relief will be run in Idaho.

There will be, we are told, three types of projects. Purely work relief projects for which the federal government pays 100 per cent, such as small dams, reservoirs, parks, ditch clearing and the like will be handled by Leo Hood, Focatelli, who is now in Washington to receive final instructions before starting to work. The second type of project is that consisting in the municipality, county, irrigation district, or other political subdivision. The federal government will give 45 per cent of the money and loan the remaining 55 per cent for such projects. These projects will be started on the way to approval through the P.W.A. state engineer, J. V. Otter, of Boise.

All works and projects which would ordinarily be conducted by the regular bureau of the government will be handled by that bureau. Reclamation projects, for example, must be submitted to an advisory committee on allotments by the bureau of reclamation. Highway projects will be handled by the bureau of public roads, and Mr. Hood returns to Idaho from Washington, he will be supervised with application made by anyone desiring an allotment would do well to get his application in while money remains in the grab bag.

ADVANCE NOTICE

The most important part of the recent love feast of the grassroots is in generally conceding to give the administration advance notice of the Republican campaign issue for 1933—"Save the Constitution." Most Republicans in Washington privately admit that they would much prefer to devote their efforts to saving other things, because they favor other things. It is generally conceded that the Constitution is quite capable of saving itself.

When the constitution was drafted those who were responsible for its provisions placed therein a provision for amendment. It has been said, they realized that social, economic, and geographical changes in the nation itself might one day nibble but effectively work a profound change in the institutions they sought to erect.

Modern Changes
 The present administration is concentrating economic power by corporations (and, incidentally, by the constitution when the tremendous "reductions" in the territory of the United States through speedier travel and communication, plus great industrial and economic changes of method, bringing about greater efficiency in production have utterly destroyed the old and individual privileges of citizenship.

In other words, during the last 150 years, forces, entirely outside the constitution, have brought about a profound change in the democratic institutions erected by the constitutional fathers. Thus the Democrats can say "Save our constitution" and mean to revise it as applied to modern conditions so as to reestablish lost manifestations of true democracy. Republicans, on the other hand, can say "Save our constitution" and mean to leave things as they are, maybe they can publish a job platform and save printing costs.

CAMPAIGN TRIES FOR 49TH STATE

Drive Started for Merger of Western Oklahoma and Texas Panhandle

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—A 49th state, "Oklahoma, 14" being sponsored by a group of Oklahoma citizens, is under way to disassociate 32 western Oklahoma counties and 46 counties of the Texas panhandle—thousands of square miles with some 1,000,000 citizens—over the two states.

Capital city of the new state, according to A. J. Egan, chairman of the committee seeking to achieve the projected reorganization, probably would be Amarillo, Tex.

Answers favorable to the plan are being secured on the proposed move, and says the answers have been favorable by a 2-3 majority.

Sponsors of the movement "recession" is so far from the state capitol—in some instances, 200 miles—that there is the "forgotten people" issue at state level, fire-roads, hospitals and relief—also concerned.

Egan declares that the 28 Oklahoma counties "are $20,000,000 behind in road improvement."

The plan is for a huge convention of representatives of the vast areas proposed for the new state. The convention time has been fixed for "some time this summer" to get up a permanent state organization to work for the 49th state, and a new star in the flag.

News and Gossip Of Movie Colony

By DAN THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD—Today's lesson is designed to dispense an old saw, saying, "never believe anything you see in the picture." The picture is "The Quota," a picture which will play in the picture palaces and will play the picture palaces.

The "quota" Duncan refers to is the trade restrictions prevalent in Britain and Crown colonies hindering the percentage of American or other foreign-made films shown during the year.

Duncan's first picture will be "King's Rite," a race track thriller.

"If this film is a success," he said, "then I think you can take it for granted that the film studios are here to stay."

Duncan said most of his pictures will be produced in Montreal.

They brought an immediate saving of nearly 300,000 annually to the film industry.

Orders already have been issued to eliminate the N.I.A. seals from pictures. Each of these seals cost 15 cents of film. At the current rate of 6 cents a foot for raw film, the developing and printing the cost would be 10 cents a seal.

At 125 pictures of this picture usually are made, the cost would be $12,500 a production. Figuring 500 features annually, Hollywood's net saving is nearly $3,125,000 a year.

It's his indoor baseball to which our young actresses are turning for amusement. Headed by June Travis, daughter of Harry Grabner, vice president of the Chicago World Sox, a group of Warner Brothers actresses have organized a team and even hired a coach. They're trying to persuade actresses in other studios to do the same so they may play inter-studio games. And they hope there will be plenty of rooters, with all these good-looking girls "converting around in shorts."

INJURIES DEPT YOUTH
 NAMA, Ia. (UP)—Being injured twice before reaching the hospital was the fate of Marvory Frank, 10, the boy injured by a lance when he fell at home, and received cuts and bruises when his father's car was wrecked while they were speeding to a hospital.

The African gray parrot uses face powder. The bird keeps its face white in a tank on the neck of the ship being a few tons of water dumped from huge containers.

Possibly you've admired "Conrad" lately since he's in his recent film. If so, you'll probably be disappointed to learn that he was starting to wig.

And Ann Harding's curls in "Peter Ibbotson"—don't let them fool you, either. Ann didn't go to the hairdresser and have her own blonde tresses curled. No, she got some false curls and pinned them on the back of her head.

Conrad might not know it, but when the supreme court justices kicked the teeth out of NRA.

CANADA STARTS FILM PRODUCING

Cinema Making Business Gets Underway at Studio in Montreal

MONTREAL (UP)—Canada will make her debut as a motion picture producing country this year under the direction of Kenneth Duncan, Canadian actor.

Duncan, a former Hollywood western picture star, who had just returned from Britain, where he acted in British movies, has already "started shooting" a picture in a handsily-built studio here, with Sydney Fox, actress, as the star, and Robert Milton as director.

The picture will be released as a "quota film" in Britain by Columbia Pictures corporation.

Two Americans
 "Under the quota ruling," Duncan said, "we are only allowed two United States actors, so all the rest of the cast and technical staff will be Canadian. I shall play in the picture myself and will play the players locally."

"The picture will be released as a 'quota film' in Britain by Columbia Pictures corporation."

IT'S HENRY

The face seems familiar, but not with this costume. But it is Henry Ford, going to school and playing hockey—from his vast business affairs — at the same time. The motor mogul is shown after he had received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from Colgate university. He has worn the cap and gown before, holding a doctor of engineering degree from Michigan.

"I should like to be stamped with my alma mater ring by Queen Charlotte, wife of George VII, to make sure of its appearance at the next meal."

IDAHO'S SUMMER ENROLLMENT UP

New Total Record Assured at University's Annual Short Term at Moscow

MOSCOW, (Special)—With registrations just the 600-mark at the end of the fourth day, a new total enrollment record for Idaho's annual summer session is assured.

Last year's enrollment of 771, an all-time high mark, represented an increase of 70 per cent in the six years since 1926. Out of last summer's total, 654 were regular summer school students, approximately half of them taking graduate work, and 119 special students, including 80 high school students. Also included were two-thirds of Idaho's 44 county superintendents, 600 "Regulars."

With a nucleus of more than 600 regular students, 24 county superintendents attending a two week short course, and approximately 100 high school students this week for a month's stay, this year's total registration should easily reach 800, university authorities point out.

At least half of the students now registered are college and university graduates taking work toward advanced degrees. Many are prominent school administrators. Graduate students in public school music, an Idaho summer school feature admittedly the best in the entire country, are about three times as numerous as they were last year.

Ten visiting faculty members are assisting the regular staff. Six are musicians, and the other four educators. Three are from Boston,

 CINCINNATI, Ohio (UP)—Miss Ruth Lampland, employed by a New York organization, to devote her hobby principally among unemployed groups, discussed at length the strange hobbies she encountered during her travels.

The young woman said the odddest hobby ever encountered was that of a man who collected ants. He housed them in glass apartments, partially filled with sand, so he could observe the insects as they engineered their miniature villages.
