WORKERS GET FIREARMS

Lewis, Head of Attempts to Unite Big Industry
Speaks Tonight

By C. L. SULLIVAN
WASHINGTON, July 6 (UP)— Labor organizers expect through the union's steel mills and automobile plants to start today to enroll 62,000 workers in the face of a threat of resistance.

Union reports that employers were and intend to be confronted by a long and possibly bloody conflict in one of the organization in the history of American labor.

Military Campaign
Organizers "infiltrate" in mill and factory towns, reports the committee for industrial organization in the campaign. "Military" resistance to unionization efforts Labor leaders want "arms"
to be met with force.

Confidential sources of the department of labor, which is keeping a close tab on developments, indicated approximately 2,000 men are armed in the vicinity of Albuquerque, N. M., a local center in the other industry.

John L. Lewis, chairman of the U. O. and president of the United Mine Workers, breaks his silence to say he will be expected to reply to critics' charges.

The nation today counted its toll of 414 mishaps during the independence day celebration at more than 400.
A United Press survey by states showed at least 400 had died by accident. The number of fatalities resulting from fire was abnormally small, only eight, and in view of the record breaking movement of the population to resorts, parks, lakes and beaches the toll from other accidents was considerably smaller than predicted by insurance company statisticians.

CONGRATULATIONS

For the successful manner in which the public Fourth of July celebrations were carried on in this county and in adjoining counties congratulations are to be extended to the committees in charge.

There is a lot of effort involved in arranging entertainment and in seeing that it is presented. When most of all of this work is done by volunteers, most of whom were without any thought of financial reward, it is seen that the responsibilities are doubly great.

On behalf of the public at large, the Evening Times extends appreciation and congratulations to those public-spirited and conscientious citizens who bore the brunt of the holiday-entertainment responsibilities over the week-end and in the entire south central Idaho territory and assures them their efforts were of widespread value and contributed greatly to the happiness and benefit of all the people.

DEATH STRIKES McDONALD

Tragic ending of the life of Jimmy McDonald at Boise is deplored by all the many friends who had come to know this interesting character.

He numbered his intimate acquaintances in all strata of society, and though his wealth, perhaps surpassed that of any other citizen of the Gen. state, his democratic character will be remembered long after the monetary aspects of his unusual career.

McDonald did much to popularize the pleasure spots of the Idaho regions he loved. His lodge at Pettit lake was a rendezvous for many persons who he numbered among his friends, and his former home at Hailey, as well as his home at Boise, were marked for their rare hospitality.

But all his riches apparently did not bring happiness to this scion of the wealthy English family. The estate has been in litigation, McDonald's domestic career has been notorious with three marriages and two divorces, and with a fortune estimated at several millions the man is reliably reported to have been in "financial difficulties."

One wonders just what benefit the legacies were to this Idaho playboy; how he might have emulated his wealthy father as a financial wizard; or how the millions might have been wanted had they been placed in the hands of an other citizen to profuse.

McDonald's untimely end but illustrates the fact that money cannot buy all, cannot provide real happiness, cannot assure long life or freedom from accident and tragedy.

His dashing career, eventful though it was, ended most unfortunately. There is a lesson to be gained from it—a lesson of reality which all must face whether our fortunes are large or small—teaching that money and wealth do not necessarily span men, or help them. The test is the man himself whose qualities overcome either his wealth or his poverty.

And it can be said of McDonald that though he might have been poor he no doubt would have made a name for himself and had fully as many friends as he numbered at the time of his unhappy death.

BACK TO THE FARM

We have heard a good deal in recent years about the migration from the farm to the city. But the Census Bureau has just revealed that in 1935 the farm population of the United States stood at the highest figure in the nation's history.

To be exact, there, in that year, 21,900,000 Americans living off farms—a 10 percent increase from one and one quarter million in the last five years. And this increase took place despite substantial reductions in farm population in the drought and dust-bowl belts.

It is significant, perhaps, that the principal gains were made in farm areas near industrial centers and mining sections. That whatever delinquencies may be drawn, it is undoubtable that the trend is a good one.

A thriving farm population is the best insurance of industrial and commercial health.

INSULT TO A "CAZAR"

It is quite a comedown for that one-time big shot of Chicago's gangland, Al Capone, to achieve headlines because a disgruntled fellow convict gave him a superficial stab wound with a pair of scissors.

Time was when Capone had a name that meant other gangsters trembled. In his own way he had the power of life and death, and he used it as his fancy dictated.

St. Valentine's Day assassinations, machine gunnings of high and low dignitaries, bombings, and beatings—these were the things he could mete out to lesser crooks who dared cross his path.

And now... suspected of having been on the side of the law in a futile prison riot, he is splashed across the back with the point of a pair of barber scissors!

Could there be a more graphic illustration of the way the mighty have fallen?

Zippochek wants to give the people his side of the case. If it will make us act up as he did, he can keep every bottle.

Rev. Mackley J. Brown Reports On Kananist City Assembly

Four thousand delegates and delegates in attendance at the quadrennial General Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene held at Kananist City, according to Rev. Mackley J. Brown, who has returned from the assembly.

There were 12 foreign countries represented and when Dr. V. C. Santini, Nazarene superintendent of Canada, addressed the group it was necessary to use an interpreter. Large increase both in membership and devotion was reported and plans were made for an even greater advance during the next quadrennial. Few changes were made in the laws and policies of the church, it was reported.

The assembly strongly opposed Sabbath desecration, the liquor traffic and war but declared that the only hope for the world is in a God-forsaken revival of religion.

Among many interesting reports brought back by Rev. Brown was the prevalence of tuberculosis which he believed a number of ministers of their wilelets, and the warm assembly reception which the thermometer reached 103.

Others attending the assembly from Twin Falls county were Rev. and Mrs. Brooks Moore and Mrs. and Mrs. Cass Thompson, all of Tuba.

DEATH SUMMONS JAMES KNUTSON

HAILEY, July 5 (Special)—Death claimed James Knutson, 44, resident of Shoshone and Idaho pioneer, Thursday at the Hailey hospital where he was being treated for pneumonia. He was born Jan. 21, 1852, in Denmark and spent most of his life in Idaho.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

DECLINES CANDIDACY

W. L. Samuels, Buhl, has filed his declaration of candidacy for election as Democratic commissioner of Buhl precinct No. 3.

Seen Today

Book creek canyon resident, wondering just what the situation would be if a 40-foot dam were erected northwest of the hospital to divert water from a proposed power plant on the Blue lakes water for the city of Twin Falls. There would be a great lake just west of the hospital and the water would be backed up to the Shoshone dam bridge, in fact, as he indicated on mosquitoes, drowning animals, etc., etc.

Among the hapless of those who celebrated were three Kimberly youths, who took their first train ride into Twin Falls this morning, the 4th of July. Their exciting day including the purchase of cones and peanuts, visits to a picture show, and a long walk at Harmon field plunge. At the fairgrounds a mass of debris, old papers and what not, as a couple of curious persons wandered through the "deserted place," trying to find any lost money or other valuables. A reward for the capture dead or alive of the so and so who, at 4:30 a. m. Saturday morning through town, the night club, the evening of Tuesday, July 14, it is announced by Rev. Edna Sims, pastor of the First Baptist church.
