Visitor Claims He is Old Time Fight Champion

Twin Falls had a visitor today who claimed to be Ted Lewis, old-time British fighter who held the world welterweight championship back in 1910.

Lewis, whose real name is Theodore Stray, is 64 years old now but is willing to get American Legion officials to put him into a supporting bout on the United States, however, wasn't responsive.

He said he in the United States on a six months permit from the Immigration department, and intends to go to Portland and Seattle, then back to New York and thence home to London.

Drink His Undring
Not too steady on his feet when he came into offices of the Evening Times, Lewis admitted that drink has been his undoing.

According to the record books, Lewis and Jack Britton, leading U. S. welter, alternated at holding the championship until Britton finally knocked Lewis, March 17, 1910, at Canton, O., definitely taking the title.

Lewis said he was deported to England after that fight. He was in the British navy during the war, then ran physical culture schools in England and the United States and lately has been boxing in night clubs or wherever he got in. He said he had run a physical culture establishment for a time at Ogden, 12 years ago.

During the war, he said, he jumped overboard from the British warship Victoria with a depth bomb (he pronounced it "boom") and played it off the ship Coast as part of the submarine defense following the sinking of the Lusitania.

THE GOVERNOR'S HEALTH

Sincere concern from all quarters is expressed over the recent condition of Gov. C. Ben Ross, stricken in a Boise hospital with a severe attack of neuritis.

Since the fall campaign is already under way and he has the responsibility of being the Democratic nominee against no less an opponent than Senator Horah, it is manifest that the handicap of illness can play an important part in the situation.

But regardless of politics, and notwithstanding candidates and candidacies, the constituents of Governor Ross will wish for his speedy recovery for health's sake and trust that his condition is no more serious than the meager word from the hospital indicates.

It is more than likely that the last-minute retard circulated in connection with the school election has had no effect whatever on the results, leaving the unknown authors of the anonymous, and to date unknown authors of the piece of scurrilous literature sadder but wiser for their brief light into anonymous notoriety. And the incident should be a lesson to all such.

COUNTY FAIRS

Underway this week at Burley and at Gooding are the annual fall exposition events, with which are combined races of high quality.

All persons who can possibly do so should attend, seeing for themselves the exhibits and enjoying the unusual entertainment offered.

These are but forerunners of a series of such celebrations throughout the south central Idaho territory, including such scheduled events as the Wendell Clark Show, Sept. 18 and 19, the Twin Falls County fair and rodeo at Filer commencing Tuesday of next week, and other fairs and festivals.

For the wonderful results accomplished by the efforts of those responsible for such attractions as those at Gooding and Burley, full credit is due.

If Mr. Horah has ideas about the Republican state platform "not fit for print," it would be interesting to know just what his real reaction is to the Republican national platform.

MISSOLINI OVER AMERICA

Word from Rome is that Mussolini is preparing to spend 50,000,000 lire to convert 6,500,000 people to Fascism. They are people of Italian antecedents who live in North and South America.

He plans, according to the Rome dispatch, to buy Italian-American newspapers, send them editors from Rome, dictate their policies as he does those of Italian papers, and send Roman officers to head Italian societies in every large Italian community in America.

Thus he hopes to develop unanimous Fascist sentiment among Americans of Italian descent, and to teach them to "put the fatherland first."

The spectacle of a foreign dictator making such a barefaced attempt to win the allegiance of millions of Americans, many of whom no doubt are being supported on relief by the American taxpayer, is disheartening.

Mussolini thus dries to take advantage of that American freedom of the press and of expression which he does not grant his own people at home.

Americans will not attempt to deny him that freedom, for we believe in it so strongly; we do not fear even his abuse.

But every person who reads such Roman controlled propaganda should remember with every line he reads that if conditions were reversed and Americans were running a number of papers in Italy booming democracy, they would get short shift from the black-shirted men, who would smash their presses and imprison their editors.

Nothing like that will happen here, because we believe American citizens have the right to say and think what they like. The rights of imported and trained agitators who are not citizens, who have no intention of becoming citizens, or even of remaining and casting their lot with this country, are less well defined.

A country such as the United States, built of immigrants who naturally retain an affectionate interest in "the old country," has always had this problem of foreign influence on domestic problems. The wave of French sympathy which swept the United States in 1913, and of British-French sympathy in 1917, are examples of times when foreign tides of sympathies of Americans profoundly affected our policies.

That is dying slowly. There is every reason, based on the known record of millions of loyal, patriotic, truly Americanized, Anglo-American, to believe that Mussolini's 50,000,000 lire will fall on sterile soil. Americans of Italian descent know too well what America and democracy have done for them.

To have sympathy, and love for the fatherland and its people is admirable and splendid. But to work actively for retransferring the monetary political ideas in America, or to divide loyalty, with "fatherland first" is un-American.

YOU MAY BE RIGHT, AT THAT

Estimated Pot Shooter: Of course, this "knock-knock" riff has "kelly" store for enough, but as long as there's 50 cents in it, it'll come in with a vengeance. It is especially appropriate because of the impetus you gave knockies in this here territory.

"Knock, knock, who's there?"
"Deciduous who?"
"Deciduous goody, and now I believe 'em." —Roberto

AND THEY'RE USUALLY NOT REAL-ANTIQUES

Pot Shooter: I've just come back from our family vacation, and I've got one observation for your Pot Shots family circle, considered, monitoring has been made pretty safe for the average male—except for the antique shops his woman folk see along the road.

SO CLEVER HE FOOLS HIMSELF!

Dear Pot Shots: Hearken to the tale of Jack Flock, who, like all the rest, is a little bit of a nut to startle his friends.

WE TRUST CINCINNATICID IS PROPERLY REBUKED!

Pot Shots: I thought this "knock-knock" contest was "kelly" knockies; however, notice the "kelly" contest, which is in it on Monday as "Antar," as it was in the "kelly" contest. Of course, it is the same thing, and Cincinnati is one of the great minds, that possibly okay in such a game as "knock-knock."

HE WHO HESITATES!

Knock-knock.
"Amsterdam."
"Amsterdam?"
"Amsterdam tried of this knock-knock business. I'm about ready to about somebody." —Passem Along

WE'D SAY THE SCORE IS ABOUT ZERO TO ZERO!

Dear Pot Shots: I'm watching the race on this dam who calls Twin Falls 1936, over the Twin Falls and the Twin Falls, by the way.

VERY MUCH "PERHAPS."

Pot Shots: I've been watching the career of the "kelly" in a long time. It was certainly trained in the pot-shooting, and has been brought up for the pot of an American.

HISTORY OF Twin Falls City & County

As Cleared from Files of The Times

15 YEARS AGO—
SEPT. 2, 1921
In speaking of the official returns based on the census taken as to the population of Twin Falls, Sec. Neville S. Wright of the Chamber of Commerce stated that in his opinion that it was too low, that Twin Falls certainly had more people than the bureau said it had. It was a pretty fair average considering the fact that the census was taken in 1910. Both Idaho and Idaho Falls were disaffected with the results of the census.

27 YEARS AGO—

Attorney J. W. White, formerly of Carrington, N. D., is one of the latest arrivals in the territory of this city, having occupied rooms in the McCornick building. Mr. White is an excellent lawyer, and has spent several years of practice in Carrington and comes to this city with an excellent reputation. He is selected for the second term. # ARTISTS VARY IN JUDGING BEAUTY

Eyon Experts Can't Agree On Standards for Feminine Fairchild

ATLANTIC CITY, (AP)—Maybe that girl you saw on the beach this summer was the most beautiful one in America even though your friend disagreed and pointed out some one else.

Results of a poll conducted by the Showmen's Variety Jubilee, to be held here the week after Labor Day to select Miss America and 1936 disclosed that some of the nation's leading illustrators and artists are at odds when it comes to judging the most beautiful American girl.

Feature is the most important, according to P. J. Petty, noted illustrator, who says he puts more on the average of looking girls in favor of one who has no position alone. He usually broadens his shoulders with no accent on the collar bone, a high but not well-rounded, dimpled forehead and lines are a few of the Petty beauty requirements.

Heavy Ankles

"A well-proportioned body as topped by a full, flowing hair is Public Enemy No. 1 in the masculine eye strain," he says. His eyes are on the average meet these requirements: height 5 ft. 5 in.; bust 34; hips 34; ankles 9 1/2; thigh 18 1/2; arm 9; waist 24 1/2; honey-colored blood hair.

"These are only surface qualities but I think personality is the most important human quality," Starchall emphasizes. "A woman's charm must exceed her beauty, or she will become very tiresome. She must be well-educated, but not to the point where she makes her male associates feel inferior. The knowledge of one of the arts is desirable."

Beauty May Be Dumb

Charles E. Coker, advertising agency director, considers the following figures a perfect type: height 5 ft. 6 in.; weight 125 pounds; bust 34; hips 38; waist 25; thigh 20; ankle 9 1/2; arm 9. He vital; curly hair; she discredits the advantages of social or educational background as necessary to beauty.

No vital opinion on the actual measurements for Miss America of 1936 is expressed by Frances McFadden, managing editor of a prominent New York magazine.

'Any Walk of Life'

"She could come from any walk in life, but she should be at least second generation American," says McFadden says. "She should be slim, but not a bit boyish in figure. She would have more curly hair. She would wear a lipstick boldly, but the color her makeup would be natural in effect. She would wear her clothes with freedom and style. She would radiate

After their arrival at the Dionne nursery to begin work on the babies' new picture, Jean Hornholt and Dorothy Peterson each seemed to be an object of the quain's affection. While Miss Peterson has her hands (or rather arms) full of greeting two of her little ones, the baby at right, seems to have a picture all of her own.

HONOLULU LOOKS TO FAST GROWTH

20 Year Boom Foreseen By Publisher; Land Sales Soar in Capital

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—That no continental American city today faces the expansion that is bound to take place in Honolulu in the next 20 years is the prediction of Louis Thurston, president of the Honolulu Advertiser.

More land, he declares has been sold to tourists who want to make either summer or permanent homes in Honolulu during the first six months of this year than during the past five years.

Thurston is the fourth generation of his family that has resided on the islands. His grandfather went there first as a missionary. At that time there were few people on the islands except his father was one of the negotiators of the treaty annexing the Territory of Hawaii to the United States, and was founder of the Honolulu Advertiser.

"Many families," says Thurston,

"Formerly partial to Florida and California, now are coming to Honolulu. Nearly all of the hotels are expanding. There is a shortage of apartment houses, and a great building boom is on."

The building boom is due to the increased buying power on the islands, made possible by the good sugar price and improved pineapple business that has come about under controlled production.

In addition to these factors, Thurston points out that the development of Pearl Harbor by the navy department into a major naval repair base and the building of an additional 1,500 beds big enough to handle the largest battleships, also is increasing the property and population of the city.

AUSTRALIA WILL IMPROVE RANGES

Plans to Search World for Plants to Help Regions Now Semi-Arid

SYDNEY, N. S. W. (AP)—Australian scientists are planning to search the world for new plant life to increase the pastoral value of the semi-arid regions of Australia. Approved by all Australian governments, an ambitious scheme to conduct research on every continent is now being formulated by the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research.

Scientists say that unless natural pastures in Australia with few plants especially suited for semi-arid conditions, the stock-carrying capacities of vast areas will be reduced to a minimum.

The first area to which the scientists will be sent probably will be that part which includes Ceylon, Abyssinia, North Persia, and the Caucasus. The second area to search will be Spain, Morocco, and Algeria. Kenya, Tanganyika, Madagascar, and central and southern India.

New Industries Called Answer to Problem of Completing Recovery

BY MEADE C. MONROE
WASHINGTON. — American hopes to provide the stimulation needed to push us along the last few miles of the recovery road. Eraper is convinced, moreover, that the needed stimulation is at hand, in the form of youthful industries such as air conditioning, low-cost housing, rayon, silver airplanes, chemicals, plastics, radio and television, improved railroad and transportation equipment, and new uses for cotton, glass and steel.

Unemployment lessened "At the depth of depression," he said, "we had more than 15,000,000 unemployed. Between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 of these have been put back to work, mainly through resumption of normal operations by the established industries."

"I am convinced that the housing industry alone is capable of putting another 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 persons to work in the building trades and allied industries. It can keep them at work for ten years before our elementary housing program will be filled.

— Gen-Senator Prohibition

"If the newer industries can absorb 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 of the remaining unemployed—and I am firmly convinced that they can—then our employment problem will be solved. When that problem is out of the way, recovery will be here. The remaining 2,000,000 or so unemployed are those who will never go to work. These were laid many out of jobs in 1929. Many of them are unemployable, some don't want to work, others have private incomes and don't need jobs."

Regain Losses

Stimulation provided by new industries will extend, moreover, even beyond the point where depression losses have been regained. As they expand, they will continue to reflect their economic influence back of the other industries which have been forced to level off as their markets approached the saturation point.

Whether it be air conditioning, airplanes, new railroad coaches, or housing, the new industry increases demand for products manufactured by the old-line concerns. They need steel, machine tools, lumber, agricultural products, textiles, electrical equipment.

"The new industries buy materials from the old," Draper said. "They, in turn, hire more workers to handle the increased production. Re-employed workers have more money to buy the products of the new industries. It's a round-robin process. It's the way recoveries are made."

SCRIBE DECIDES HE HAS NO MOUNTAIN CLIMBING DESIRE

By HENRY McLEMORE SPOKANE, Sept. 2 (AP)—When Mount Everest finally is scaled and a large plume in its eternal snows, I promise I won't be the man to do it. I found this out yesterday when, writing on the commendable but foolish theory that a sport writer should try his hand at all sports, I tackled myself an Alp.

The Alp I chose to cut my mountain climbing teeth on was a mere 10,000 feet high. I was a member of a party of mountaineers who were climbing a peak in the Sierra Nevada mountains. The manager of my hotel, an excellent skier, was being shy about the idea of my going to what I regarded as a glacier.

All about us and almost on top of us were Alps—little Alps, big Alps, solitary Alps and fat Alps. My friend asked which one I would like to try and, after studying them all carefully, I said: "That one certainly is the best. It is a very good all around peak, but I would like to try and climb one that is not a mountain but a knif that sits atop a mountain."

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

It is fast becoming a world of noise and yet I believe that I know of no other method of teaching the art of quiet thinking is the weakest part of our whole educational system. We have concentrated on memory, on application, mechanical and computational. But how often do teachers give exercises in instantaneous thought? Not often. They are not, not to blame of course, because our piousness school programs permit of no time for such things. Time enters into the teacher's day more than most people dream, and if she does any thing but teach she is not doing it. These minutes must be taken from some other work which will suffer.

Parents Can Aid

However, we can't expect the school to do everything, and at their turn, parents are busy at home, and feel that they cannot contribute outside help toward those matters for which there is no time in school. But there is one place, and one time, when it is possible to introduce lessons unsuspected by the child, and set in motion the mind. It is also the interlude when families go together.

Children are always fun, but there are more than that. They are serious, they are thoughtful, they are full of ideas. But this is not all. Father can help by starting off right places that certain individuals have been to. And after telling his tale, saving the answer, he can say:

Parents Can Aid

Parents can't expect the school to do everything, and at their turn, parents are busy at home, and feel that they cannot contribute outside help toward those matters for which there is no time in school. But there is one place, and one time, when it is possible to introduce lessons unsuspected by the child, and set in motion the mind. It is also the interlude when families go together.

STUDIOS STRESS REAL-LIFE FOODS

Take Victrolas Aren't Allowed in Movie Making Any More Director Explains

HOLLYWOOD SEP. 2.—Verbal studios has become such a fetish among present-day movie-makers that even "fake food" has been outlawed out of the making of films.

There are many reasons for this, says Alfred Hitchcock, director of "Secret Agent," the CBS spy thriller which is a quartette of stars—Peter Lorre, Madeleine Carroll, John Gielgud and Robert Young—beginning.

Walters Fred Dettler "Furthermore, screen directors do with more exacting dignity when called upon to serve real copies instead of the cheap, gaudy, gaudy, and other property foods which, in the case of a Swiss canteen in "Secret Agent," even a headwaiter would not have imported from a fashionable Vienna hotel.

It is a matter of fact that the director of a picture is not allowed to use any food which is not photographed, and it is generally more expensive than the real thing.

Housing Industry Termed Means For Opening Up Millions of Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The housing industry means the greatest potential market in history to a potential beating its way out of depression, government experts believe.

The need for more and better housing facilities, and improvement in a modernization of existing dwellings, is so vast that economic leaders believe 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 men could be taken from employment rolls and kept at work for 10 years in this industry alone.

Government statistics indicate that housing construction offers the nation now the same ability to lead the way to recovery during the 1920-30 decade.

Department of commerce officials estimate conservatively that America needs at least 3,000,000 new dwelling units. Without regard to the need for modernization, the United States has a potential market of between $12,000,000,000 and $15,000,000,000.

Penalty of Repairs In 1934, there were 13,000,000 houses requiring repairs or modernization. The Federal Housing Administration has secured modernization credits for approximately 2,000,000 houses. An average cost per job of $500. Another 2,000,000 houses will need repairs.

Revision Shows Business Going Upward; Forecasts Need For Relief Cash

cluding the drought and unemployment relief burden.

Further improving the prospective year-end picture of federal finances is the President's intention to dip into the general fund or working balance of the treasury for approximately $1,000,000,000 to spend against current expenses.

Revenue Increases

The President's summary of revenue and treasury income has been expected when the 1937 budget was presented to congress last January despite supreme court invalidation of special taxes on the agricultural adjustment act and the minimum wage and conservation act. The method of collecting social security taxes also has been deferred until 1938 certain revenue originally estimated for 1937.

But the president reported that these losses, aggregating $688,000,000, have been more than offset by increases in other revenues over estimates. These increases were set down as follows:

Revenue act of 1932, $410,000,000.

Increased collection of taxes from carriers and their employees, $33,000,000.

Increased revenue from chiefly improved business conditions, $28,000,000.

Bonus Cost

The President said estimated expenditures include $500,000,000 for completing payments of the veterans' adjusted compensation, $400,000,000 for statutory debt requirements, which were not contained in his original estimates last January.

On the basis of the figures, the deficit in 1937 is estimated to be $2,007,000,000 or the lowest since Roosevelt's administration began. The deficit in 1935 was $4,161,000,000, in 1934, $3,929,000,000.

Shows Business Gaining

The President's optimistic statement of financial conditions tends to be in line with his assertion that business is on the upgrade. He predicted that no new taxes would be necessary at the next session of congress.

The joint congressional committee on taxation and internal revenue, at the suggestion of Secretary Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., is studying tax revisions involving such items as "in-equities" in present statutes and determining which alleged "tax-shelter" laws should be repealed because of their high cost of collection.

The President's summary reported that the public debt will increase from around $16,000,000,000 in 1935 to $18,585,000,000 in 1937 and that about $150,000,000,000 is required in new money for the remainder of the fiscal year to finance federal undertakings, including relief.

Army Payments

The President asserted that requirements for the substitute AAA bill are greater in 1937 than in 1936 because of the "interruption" of that program by the supreme court. The needs in 1937 will be around $585,000,000, he said.

At the same time, he added that needs for the civilian conservation corps will be less because of curtailing enrollees.

He estimated that $275,000,000 will be required for interest on the public debt.

In view of the general improvement in business conditions, it is estimated that there will be required a net amount of $1,535,000,000 for recovery and relief, an amount materially less than that for the fiscal year 1936, the President said.

Roxy's Film Today Has Vivid Warning

A feature picture that is intended to be a vivid warning to young people old enough to understand to parents and all other interested in the welfare of our young ones and daughters, is "Marijuana," being shown at Uncle Joe's Roxy theater for today only, starting at 1 p. m., and running continuously until midnight. This picture is not for children; it shows the terrible results of the use of the drug marijuana and other "dope," leading to drinking parties, getting, crime and the ultimate breakdown of all character and restraint.

Many commentators think this menace is something in the distance that does not concern them... that it cannot touch their innocent young son or daughter and that it is nothing to worry about. This picture is intended to prove that this danger is hurrying near.

Showing tomorrow only at the Roxy is "The Snakewoman" with new Ayres and Joan Perry.

'Colleen' Shows As Idaho's Return Hit

Beginning today at the Idaho theater is the fast moving musical film "Colleen," in which Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell are again teamed together with a marvelous supporting cast including Jack Oakie, Joan Blondell, Hugh Herbert and Louisa Fazenda.

In this picture there is a new, different and novel plot, packed with delightful and hilarious fun as well as romance.

The program is completed with a Pop Eye cartoon, novelty and latest news event.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 2 (AP)—Ada county coroner J. C. McCann, today was investigating the death of Ezra E. Hopker, 24, a construction worker who was fatally injured last night while working on a bridge under construction near Moore's residence.

Hopker, a resident of Milwaukie, Ore., had just finished work when he slipped onto the conveyor belt of the crusher and his body was mangled.

McCann would not say whether the body would be held until the completed his investigation. The body was being held at the county morgue. Funeral arrangements had not been made.

"This does not correspond with the truth and Bishop Gallagher knows only too well what the Holy See told him in this regard," observers said.

Impressive Services Pay Honor To Dern

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 2 (UPI)—A fresh grave in a family plot in Mount Olivet cemetery today marked the end of another chapter of the life story of George Henry Dern, Utah secretary of state who rose from Utah's mines to the highest post ever held by a resident of the state.

While the highest officials of state and nation and thousands of reverent citizens paid final respects at his bier, Dern was buried late yesterday afternoon. A battalion of soldiers from Fort Douglas army post fired three volleys over Dern's grave. An army bugler sounded taps. A huge crowd including President Roosevelt and three of Dern's fellow members in the President's cabinet, dispersed and the ceremonies were ended.

Impressive Spectacle

It was the most impressive spectacle Utah had witnessed in years. Carried in Salt Lake City to pay homage to the memory of the man who carried simplicity and sincerity to the third ranking cabinet office was the largest group of high government officials to converge outside of Washington since President Roosevelt took office.

Army units and officials gathered in Salt Lake City to represent the greatest troop mobilization since war days.

Bereaved Friend

President Roosevelt's participation in the solemn ceremony was that of a private citizen and a bereaved friend. He made no addresses and appeared publicly only during the course of the funeral.

Dern's body was brought home from Washington, D. C., where he died at Walter Reed hospital Thursday, aboard a mourning draped funeral train at 8 a. m. yesterday. Ten minutes later, the President entered the cathedral to attend the cremation.

Normal Has Big Summer Session

R. M. Snyder, president of Albion state normal school, said here on a brief business visit that the summer session just closed at the state school exceeded in attendance any similar session since 1928, with three scores and 228. He predicted that the fall session will also have an increased enrollment.

Mr. Snyder has announced the resignation of Miss Elizabeth Williams as a member of the faculty, having reached the age of three score years and ten. Snyder paid high tribute to her conscientious service. He stated that Miss Ware's successor had not yet been chosen.

Trustees Named By Shoshone Electors

SHOSHONE, Sept. 2 (Special)—At the school trustee election yesterday Mrs. Hazel Hadlock received 14 votes and Dr. F. B. Barrett received 14 votes, they being the only candidates offered.

Mrs. Hadlock has served on the board for the past 12 years and has acted as clerk for 10 years. Barrett has been a member of the board for the past three years.

Trustees of our can adequately express our sense of loss. Jacob Trapp said, "I have spoken in the councils of our nation has been filled. A beloved servant of the people has laid down the instruments of his service and the mantle of his leadership."

Much of the tabernacle's mighty organs and its renewed choir touched the emotions of the crowd which jammed the arch-dormed, circular building.

In the front of the church, kneeling with relatives and other distinguished guests was President Roosevelt. He listened attentively. The President entered the tabernacle with his son, John, and Heber J. Grant, president of the Church of Latter Day Saints, assisting him.

Present at Cemetery

With tabernacle services completed the President joined the procession to Mt. Olivet cemetery, where he was seated close by the grave as the body was committal.

He returned directly to his train. Station crowds sent up a scattering of cheering and applause, which the President acknowledged solemnly.

Shortly before scheduled train time, 6 p. m., Gov. Henry Blood and U. S. Senator Edward B. Thomas, D. Utah, called on the President.

The train departed at 6:30 p. m., to resume the drought area tour the President was making when Dern's death intervened.

NORGE sets the Pace

Ten years ago Norge introduced the Rollator that converts hand-crank into a motor. And Norge is still the only refrigerator to give you dependable hot weather performance with the Rollator—the world's supreme food-making mechanism that doesn't spoil the food to spare the motor, but gives you a remarkable overall economy that saves money on both. With but three slowly moving parts, the Rollator is powered to make more cold than you'll ever need—to keep on giving you unflinching cold through the years to come. Before you buy any refrigerator—see the Norge.

MATCHED UNIT KITCHENS AND LAUNDRIES, TOO!

Concentration Ranges are designed to match Rollator Refrigerators in style—in convenience—in lasting, trouble-free service. A Norge Matched Unit Kitchen will quickly pay for itself in savings in food, in fuel and in refrigeration costs.

The Norge Automatic Washer and Detergent Dispenser combine to make a really modern home laundry—one that will be a real convenience as well as a means of saving money.

Whatever appliances you are considering next—see the Norge before you buy. Come in today, or tomorrow morning.

10-YEAR WARRANTY

THE ROLLATOR COMPRESSOR... smooth, easy, rolling power instead of the horrid back-and-forth motion of the ordinary refrigerating mechanism. Result—more cold for less current used and a mechanism that is almost everlasting. www.norge.com
