Germany's Controlled Press Criticizes President on Foreign Policy

BETHLEHEM, Feb. 4.—The control German press tonight kept up its campaign against President Roosevelt.

It said that despite his statements attributed to him on foreign policy, what he said about America's readiness to throw his instruments of torture into the scales in favor of

Totalitarian states in event of war, "President Roosevelt yesterday again demonstrated his anti-Americanism," commented that his denial of statements attributed to him on foreign policy, "is anti-German, anti-Italian and anti-Croatian."

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' newspaper, Der Angriff, also "recommends" that what he said about America's readiness to throw his instruments of torture into the scales in favor of Totalitarian states in event of war,"

(President Roosevelt yesterday denied that he had made any statement attributing to him the idea that America's frontiers are in France.)

Thus, now—Neuehaage, bestowing his judgment on the president's denial, "foreign policy proves his action of incitement."

BANDIT SUSPECTS HELD TO ANSWER

Two Twin Falls Men Face Prosecution for Robbery of Visitor

Accused of robbery in connection with the theft of $10 from James Victor Marshall of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho Falls Police Department last July 12, two men who were held to answer to the charge in the district court following preliminary examination by Justice of the Peace Harry Bailey in the probate court here yesterday.

The accused men, Louis Hendrikus and Claude Williams, were admitted to $500 bond each. Defendants of Hendrikus stated a personal check was cashed at the First National Bank and he was unable to furnish bond yesterday and was held in the county jail.

Both men, who admitted traffic in support of the robbery charge, Marshall told of meeting the two accused men at the Gem Inn, Main Street, and going with them to the Argonne on Second Avenue south before the alleged robbery was committed on the highway near the bridge over Rock Creek at the end of Main Avenue south.

Victim of the robbery was Guy Nelson of the Argonne.

W. L. Dunn of Twin Falls appeared as attorney for the accused men.

Pilots' Association Lays Plans for Annual Event

An all-Idaho airmeet will be staged at the Twin Falls airport during the latter part of the next month, members of the Idaho Pilots' Association voted at a meeting in the Hotel Gem Inn here last night. President of the association, selected as chairman of arrangements for the meet, is Leon C. Jenkins, Jr., Hazelton; vice-president, Victor Kelley, Hazelton; secretary-treasurer, Leon C. Martin, Twin Falls; and Fred Dorn, director for a one year term. Glenn Jenkins, Jr., was accepted as a new member.

Campaign Waged In Wood River

One of the most successful of recent anti-syphilis campaigns was completed yesterday in the Wood River Valley, where 1,000 persons plus being taken to the state hospital being treated. Dr. G. E. Ketchum, director of the Twin Falls district health unit, announced.

Dr. Ketchum, a public health officer who conducts a program under the jurisdiction of the district health unit, organized the anti-syphilis campaign in cooperation with the Wood River Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Ketchum and Miss Anna Beaman, public health nurse, conducted the tests. Samples were taken in Ketchum on Thursday, Carey on Friday, and Hailey yesterday.

Results of the examinations

"we received exceptionally fine cooperation in all three communities."

YOUTHS HELD IN CCC CAMP RAID

Three Face Possible Burglary Charges After Arrest at Rock Creek

Three residents of Twin Falls, south of the city, former CCC enrollees, made a serious mistake when they carelessly took to "repentant" status the Rock Creek CCC camp late this afternoon.

The three young men—George Raymond Greenman, 21; Douglas Raymond Greenman, 21; and Ward Smith, 19, were held in Twin Falls County Jail last evening in anticipation of trial on charges by the CCC camp of possible burglary charges.

Surprise youths

Investigating officers, Sheriff A. J. Moore and Deputy Sheriff W. W. Lewis, and their deputies, when questioned, told them they had arrested the three accused youths and taken them into a warehouse and taken out three trucks containing clothing.

Taking flight in a car, the watchmen had been driving west on the recently built road leading to the camp until they came to the end of the road, some two miles this side of Shoshone, being Oakley.

A number of CCC enrollees with the watchmen awaited the suspects when they drove into the camp about 8 o'clock in the morning, two hours after the asserted burglary. They had "splittered" while in the camp and Twin Falls officers arrived to take them in custody.

Interview Broke

Members of the CCC force, including Captain Alvin Albert W. Ketchum, Raymond Dimek, Turmo, and Ralph Hunter, route 1, early in 1938, the 75th U. S. congress enacted into law the re-establishment of the regular army.

One of the first acts of the new elements of the national defense structure and filling a vital need in preparing a trained reserve upon which to draw in case of national emergency, Sergeant K. H. Morris explained.

The regular army will consist of all former regular army enlisted men who have been separated from the service, who is a member of the association.

As a result of the same period, regardless of how long he has been separated from the service, who is a member of the association, may enlist in the reserve," Morris said.

The applicant may be married or single, providing he has served at least one year in the United States Army.

Any man who has been separated from those who are accepted but would be subject to call to active duty in time of emergency, declared the president.

"While on inactive status, a reservist will be paid at the rate of pay he was receiving at the time he was separated from the service.

perhaps the automobile bodies that Henry Ford has been forecasting.

"Household equipment," says Mr. Love, "contains several of our important, rapidly-developing industries. Ask a steel man where he and his followers are going to sell the product of $200,000,000 worth of new continuous steel mills, and he will tell you about your basement."

Armament is sure to expand rapidly, while the present international unrest and warlike atmosphere. Airplane expansion is a part of it. With the and other possibilities, the expert thinks we may soon see "islands of labor shortage in the sea of unemployment." Those would be fortunate ages.

FAVORITE FANATICISMS

"Few nations, indeed," writes an American newspaper man, speaking of our athletic fervor, "have our talent for doing the unimportant with fanatic devotion and ferocious energy."

Maybe so—but how about Hitler? In Germany, Hitler's tea in England and debating politics in the French Chamber of Deputies? They are not done, from the American viewpoint, with devotion and ferocity disproportionate to their usefulness.

Other Points of View

THE WORLD OVER

Once in the memory of those few items, the primary concern of a nation's leaders is—history if not the past, then the future. The people. There was a time, too, when, if the leaders, presidents and senators, down, were servants of the people. At any rate, that was the phantom on which many a leader and individual were elected to government office.

But now the men who form the government are, apparently, identified with the well-being of people as a whole. In contrast with the political ideologues—that may or may not prove workable in some later future—the people is ignored, yet they are the ones who must pay the bill for Hitler's war.

National Bean Week—Now, however, comes to remind us of the importance of beans as a food commodity. It requires us with the many ways in which beans may be served successfully. It emphasizes their food value and reminds us that many respects beans are nothing short of a delicacy.

Stores throughout the United States are co-operating in an intensive campaign this week to encourage their patrons to eat more beans. The campaign, one of numerous produced, aims to bring back the days of eating beans, a campaign conducted entirely through means of hiding the stabilization of agriculture.

To south central Idaho such a campaign as National Bean Week means much, for this section of the state is one of the principal bean-producing centers. It is important not only from the standpoint of the producers because in a district such as ours everyone is dependent more or less upon the success of agriculture.

The merchants of this territory are doing their part in observing Bean Week. Everyone in Magic Valley can lend a helping hand by giving us an important place of his daily menu, not only during Bean Week, but throughout every week in the year.

THE FALL OF BOSS HAGUE

The public court of appeals and the court of rights caught up with another small-time Hitler, political and financial tycoon, the court held him to continue to beat up and deport visiting speakers whose ideals theories are at variance with his, not does he himself care a whit whether his audience or dress merely because he doesn't like the people who are conducting them.

Mr. Hargan's friends, "sister" and "brother," as he is fondly known, are, however, probably as distinguished and able as any of his political predecessors. Hardship, coincidence, or bad luck, or a combination of both, have caused his fall.

He is a man of considerable influence, perhaps, but he is not a statesman. He is a man of the old "Dear Impeachment" school.

Now, you just thought you were, after all, a leader with a leader's foot; according to protocol, but self-anointed must always remember that this same self-anointed can come down with a difference weight.

THE GROWTH OF BUREAUCRACY

When a proposal was submitted to Congress the past week to appropriate $25,000,000 with which to construct a building to house the civil workers for the 1940 census, it is reported that the proposal which included the extent of federal expansion in the national capital.

There are many insignificant and costly buildings have been completed and cost far less than what it is necessary to lease private offices for 22,711 employees at an annual rental of $3,427,111. These are, therefore, glorified the city and municipal office buildings, perhaps, but not the real gem of the old Dear Impeachment.

Now, you just thought you were, after all, a leader with a leader's foot; according to protocol, but self-anointed must always remember that this same self-anointed can come down with a difference weight.

Billiard Expert Gives Exhibition

Irving Crane, Youthful Title Contender, Shows Skill

In Twin Falls

Delegates of athletic associations of Twin Falls and vicinity will have an opportunity to witness one of the leading exponents of the world in action Wednesday, Feb. 8, at the Elks Club. Irving Crane, youthful title-contender, will appear at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. in an exhibition.

Young Crane is most prominent of the new crop of youngsters in the pocket-billiard world, rising to distinction in a short time. He himself, though extremely young, enjoys the distinction of being for one place in his first two tournaments. He has been a favorite with the best array of talent procurable. Records of the last three amateur tournaments he has won, and stars and champions former champions as Jimmy Dunn, Artie Wong, and Harry Greenleaf, and others, have been present at his games. He is now in his home, but was in Rochester, N.Y., during the year.

But that young Irving learned the game from the best, and under the watchful eye of Jimmy Keoch, J.C. and a veteran of forty years in billiards, and a former champion, is well up to the mark.

He battles with the newest All-American.

When Crane defeated Ralph Gruenwald in the final round of the championship tournament at Philadelphia last November, to bring about the title, it was the first time in history that a player from the state of Idaho had ever changed the name of the town to Craneville. Unbeatable pocket billiards, resulting in the title, however, did not satisfy him, and he is determined to annex the crown at some early date. Following the exhibition, matches will be held with him, with numerous fancy shots, and instructive pointers.

Chapter 28

SCREEN TEST

As Noel was flying in the clouds over California, she had let Mike Hove invite her into this ridiculous trip. She was on her way to Hollywood for the annual screen test. She had been to Criterion.

Noel was tested by two, but beat a high passage, also getting what he wanted. Richard, however, was not so lucky. The transatlantic plane, before she had time to say she was particularly interested in Hollywood.

Noel met her at the airport. That, too, was in accordance with her unannounced calculations. She had a last minute change of heart, however, and got into bed. The hour was one a.m., just as the New Year's Eve.

In Noel's mind, Mr. Hove arranged a seven test for me," the explained patient to Mr. Fletcher, secretary of the screen test committee. Mr. Fletcher was in charge of products. "How did you tell her all about him?"

"I told her the name. Her eyes seemed answered, impishly.

Noel snorted. "That's the best I can do for you," she said, getting up to go to bed. The hour was two days to Noël in Hollywood.

In Tuesday she was desperate after a long night of coffee and cigarettes. Then the hotel manager asked the hotel clerk:

"Is Mrs. Douglas-Swanstrum registered here?"

"Yes, sir. I'll see if she's in the uppermost floor." She was in.

"Hi, Antia! Antia!" her name darling—how wonderful! Of course, we'll have lunch. I'm sorry I forgot—my first engagement. Well, we'll make it up next week. We don't make any engagement. Well, no places. I'll show you Hollywood. You're a good girl."

"I'm glad to have the white shirt," Antia said.

"We're going places—well, till you see!" Antia prompted.

She went, blushing, to her first audition. Antia had corralled the Hollywood favorite, the man—all cars and false teeth. Noel was a little nervous, but he was smiling.

Noel was wearing the old white crepe dress again. It was still good. Her dress was a little off the white.

"We're doing places—well, till you see!" Antia prompted.

She went, blushing, to her second audition. Antia had corralled the Hollywood favorite, the man—all cars and false teeth. Noel was a little nervous, but he was smiling.

Noel was wearing the old white crepe dress again. It was still good. Her dress was a little off the white.

"Not pretty," Antia said.

Noel was often shorter and fatter than Antia. Now, though he was a clumsy little man. But she smiled sweetly at him. They'd arranged to meet again at the Criterion.

"Please be in the studio by two o'clock and bring a sports costume and an evening gown," Antia said, in her sweetest, most pleasant voice.

Noel wondered what she expected of her—of actors, of actresses, of girls. And what kind of actress?

Antia had put her hair up.

Held at the studio in a long limousine, Antia was a picture.

And a mad carriage, too.

"Not pretty," Antia said.

Noel was often shorter and fatter than Antia. Now, though he was a clumsy little man. But she smiled sweetly at him. They'd arranged to meet again at the Criterion.

"I'd much rather do the first test," she said, but she didn't mean it.

Noel was a little nervous.

"In the end that was what they did.

STOCKS RESUME RECOVERY PUSH

Virtually All Groups Participate in Drive to Higher Levels

New York STOCKS

By The Associated Press
TWIN FALLS, Idaho—The market leaders ended the week on a high note, with all major groups participating in the drive to higher levels.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK STOCKS (Continued from page 1) Stocks firm; stocks lead rally. Industrial stocks up slightly. Consumer stocks improved; power shares rose sharply. European exchanges' market leaders, led by Cotton Narrows, still losing ground. Steel stocks, trade and refinery stocks, were up. Copper, U.S. Steel, Standard Oil, and other stocks were up. Wall Street, fractionally lower. Powers, lower; the oil and chemical stocks, up. Homeowners' stocks, steel and pipeline stocks, mixed.

IN FREDERICK (Md.)

NEW YORK Feb. 4 (UPI)—A 1.4% stock market leader ended the week on a high note, with today's brief session.

Virtually all groups participated in the drive to the downward point with gains, though the last few points at the best. A little profit-taking at the close reduced the market's gains.

The average price, average of 60 stocks, was up 40¢ or a point at $54. On the week it was up 1.4%, its best performance since the week ending October 8. The comeback followed four consecutive weekly declines, the last three of which were on the forward swing, still following the two-hour trading session.

On Friday, the market leaders, led by Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, U.S. Steel, and Standard Oil, were up. Powers, copper, and steel stocks, North American Public Service of N.J., American Smelting, Westinghouse, the Penn, Baldwin Locomotive, and Santa Fe, were down.

A star performer in the curb was the steel stocks, which were up 1.4% after showing a slight decline earlier. United Can, Cities Service, and Grumman, American Gas and Electric, fell back a trifle. Volume was up 1,000,000 shares compared with the previous week.

Secondary bonds were given a lift, but commodities were accorded an indifferent reception.

Stocks were aided by forecasts mill operations next week would be at record levels, while the market week. Sturdy, sound support from unions voiced in this industry that the 1,000,000-unit output for the year previously forecasted was now assured.

"EAT MORE BEANS WEEK"

Order an EXTRA supply of BEANS TODAY!

FEB. 2 to 8 INCLUSIVE

February 2 to 8 has been set aside as a period in which the entire United States will participate in an intensive drive to encourage the consumption of beans. Stores throughout the country will join in a concerted effort to promote consumer use of this important commodity.

From such a nation-wide movement the producers of our own south central Idaho will benefit greatly! Beans are one of our principal crops, and all of us should be interested in helping create an increasing demand for a product so vital to our general welfare.

Vast stocks of beans now await the American buying public, and our own territory—one of the nation's leading bean producing centers—will want to do its bit in this drive.

The 75,000 people living in Magic Valley can contribute much to the success of this campaign by buying and serving more beans during BEAN WEEK.

GROWERS ATTENTION!

New available are BEAN stickers for use on your correspondence, and as souvenirs. Your Congressman, and others, will appreciate them for you—ask him for your sample. Please help us to help him help promote the use of, and the eating about, Idaho beans. The public may also procure these stickers at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce office.

The Idaho Bean is a tasty and healthful food and easily prepared. Let Idaho housewives consider these facts and lend a helping hand to their farmer neighbors during BEAN WEEK.

BEANS

DRIED BEAN SOUP

1 c. dried beans 1 quart water
2 slices onion 1 tbs. butter
Salt Pepper
1/2 cup flour Milk or meat broth

Cook beans over low heat, adding water as needed. Mash beans; add water and milk or meat broth, enough to make a thin soup. Add the flour and pepper. Heat over hot soup, stirring continuously, until remaining water is absorbed. Heat to boiling and cook slowly for 5 minutes.

BAKED BEANS IDAHO STYLE

1 pint beans 2 onions
1/2 cup cream 1/2 cup salt
1/2 tsp. pepper 1/2 cup molasses

Sack the beans overnight. Drain and rinse. Bring to a boil in water to cover, combining 1/2 teaspoon baking soda. Drain; add with onions, chopped, the cream and seasonings in a casserole. Barely cover with water. Cover and cook over low heat until tender, about three hours. Turn uncovered to brown.

BAKED BEANS

4 c. dry beans 1/2 cup salt
1 lb. salt pork 1/2 cup sugar
4 tbs. molasses depending on saltiness
(or more)

Sack the beans overnight in cold water to cover. In the morning drain; add a quart of fresh water, simmer for 45 minutes, or until the beans begin to soften, and drain. Score the rind of the salt pork in several places. Place the beans in a shallow pan. Add the salt pork, the molasses, the sugar and the salt. Cover and cook over low heat in a slow oven (about 250 degrees F.) for 6 or 7 hours. Add a little hot water from time to time to replace that which cooks away and is absorbed by the beans. Keep the beans on the heat, not under the heat, to prevent scorching them, and allow the beans and pork on the top to brown.

"QUICK" BAKED BEANS

Stirring the beans first with a piece of salt pork, mustard, salt and other seasonings. When the beans are tender, put them in a shallow pan with enough of the liquid to moisten them. Season to taste with molasses or brown sugar. Slice the salt pork and lay it over the top. Brown in the oven.

CASSEROLE OF BEANS

1 lb. beans 1 1/2 lbs. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper 2 tbs. brown sugar
1/2 cup can tomatoes 1 medium onion
1/2 cup bacon, chopped

Soak beans overnight in cold water and cook tender. In a casserole, layer beans, bacon, onions, tomatoes and brown sugar. Repeat layers. Cook in a 350 degree oven for one hour. Then remove the cover and continue baking until the beans have absorbed most of the moisture.

BAKED BEANS AND BACON SALAD

8 c. baked beans 1/2 cup French dressing
8 slices crisp bacon 1/2 cup grated American cheese

Combine the beans, bacon, pickle and French dressing. Arrange on crisp romaine and serve with additional French dressing.

TOASTED BAKED BEAN SANDWICHES

8 c. baked beans 1 c. grated American cheese
8 slices whole-wheat bread 1 c. shredded cabbage
4 tomatoes

Allow 2 slices of toasted bread for each sandwich. On the first slice buttered, place a layer of hot beans, pickles, and sprinkle with grated cheese. On this, place another slice of bread, buttered and covered with shredded cabbage and thin slices of tomato. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with a third slice of bread, spread with mayonnaise on the side nearest the vegetables. Stack like sandwiches.
