CHOPPING WOOD

Maybe won't this country needs—or the world for that matter—is more wood-chopping. Sawing is all right, too—but less effective spiritually. You can get more action out of an ax.

It stars up the dregs in a fellow's system and an additional amount of economic interplay—spiritual, physical, from somewhere else, and recharge your battery and fill your mind with noble sentiments. There is a grand feeling in seeing the woodpile grow. And how you sleep afterwards.

We'll never cut down trees like them in the woods talk like that.

They might be just putting up a he-man bluff, of course. A normal man can't help thinking they wouldn't like it so much if there were no伐木精神。伐木精神 is all the rage now.

But when you're that way, a real timber man burns wood the year round, cuts it himself, you've got to listen respectfully. He surely wouldn't like it about it; especially when he was talking to a reporter. Well, this farmer says:

"There's not an appetizer in the drug store that can compare with swinging an ax because for your own woodpile and watching it grow."

And if it made a grand fire?

"Neighbor, do you know the flame and the odor of heat and smoke, the fragrance of burning, the pleasant smell, and a sense of helping? And what if you do get a little smoke, it's an appetizing smell."

What this country needs is more woodpiles, and more farmers chopping the trees down and chopping them up. And city folks need it more than farmers."

We haven't a doubt of it—not a doubt in the world. Just suppose now that Hitler and Stalin and Mussolini and all such strong-arm fellows were chopping trees down and chopping 'em up. Wouldn't this be a better world?

WAR DELAY

There is no immediate danger of war launched by Germany, thinks Sir Arthur Willoughby, British journalist whose talks to American audiences are regarded with much respect.

He says Germany is not ready, and it would be very inconvenient for her to fight in the spring or summer. Both Germany and Italy start their terms of compulsory military service in the fall. Their armies don't get tuned up till the crops are harvested—then they have their field maneuvers and could launch war if they wanted to.

At present, he finds, Germany is very slow of foot, and must make the most of whatever she can grow and needs all available men in the fields. Last year she drafted a quarter of a million Austrians to help with the harvest.

So the greatest threat of war would naturally come in late August or early September. But the favorable period there would be short, because there are likely to be heavy fog from mid-October till March, interfering with the operations of the air force, on which Hitler mainly depends for military effectiveness.

If this view is dependable, it gives Britain and France more than six months to catch up in their defensive preparations, and by that time they may be so much stronger that Hitler and Mussolini will not dare attack them.

WEATHER AND GOVERNMENT

No doubt weather affects people's health and activities. We have all noticed examples of it. But can rain and heat cycles create such social and political phenomena as dictatorships? Dr. Raymond H. Wheeler of the University of Kansas thinks so. He has been studying the weather and politics over a period of 5,000 years.

The greatest periods of human activity, notably war eras, he finds coincide with warm-moist periods, when storms and other natural phenomena are most violent. His finds indications that the climate of the world as a whole is now about half way down on the curve from hot to cold. So he looks for a breakdown of dictatorships during the next five or ten years, and a revival of democracy with emphasis on individualism.

The dictatorship will probably continue on the skids. Democracy is the ideology for us. But what if the dictators refuse to believe in weather signs?

BACKWARD EDUCATION

"We have hardly begun to train you for citizenship and for meeting the social problems of modern life," says a speaker addressing graduates at Hunter College, New York.

"College education to date has been largely controlled by accrediting organizations and self-supporting staffs and limited by financial conditions. It has not had the money or the power, or perhaps the energy, to overcome these handicaps and develop methods and devices not utilized for training young minds."

It sets a person to thinking. What couldn't this fine, intelligent, rising generation of boys and girls do in the next half-century if radio, movies and all the other miraculous discoveries and devices of this age were used freely from infancy for instruction and training? It might produce a generation of supermen, and change the world.

Other Points of View

FAILURE OF PUMP-PRIMING

While the President in earlier budget messages has advocated government spending as a means of promoting recovery, emphasis has heretofore been laid upon the need for economy rather than for spending. In the present message prepared by the National City Bank points out in its monthly letter, the significant feature is an apparent departure from the traditional policy of the bank, which is the doctrine of spending in order to raise the national income to some given objective. In this case at least $30,000,000,000. The bank examines this doctrine and finds it wrong.

For the first place, there is the question whether the stimulating effect of government expenditures will diminish with each dose. Like aluminum generally, the effect of pump-priming is temporary. There is evidence to support this conclusion, not only in our own depression but in recent experience in France, but also in repeated instances in the use of pump-prime money in Germany, Canada, and the United States.

For the second place, there is the question whether the stimulus of increased government spending will be balanced by the reduction of private enterprise.

An increase of consumption goods spending does not necessarily lead to a revival of capital-spending. In the five years from 1925 to 1927, inclusive, according to figures of the National Bureau of Economic Research, the average annual production of durable goods and for private business and residential construction the average amount of $14,600,000,000 a year. In the three years 1933 to 1935, inclusive, the average annual production of consumer goods was $14,400,000,000. Notwithstanding the enormous sums spent by the government, this private spending has begun to return to its former level.

Another factor in the failure of pump-primer is the fact that the public is not buying the sort of capital goods buying necessary to balance an expansionary program.

And finally, the theory that government deficits are essential to restore the national income is the record of the years following the war when we cut federal expenditures from $30,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 and reduced the federal debt from $26,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000. This was done in 1920. Notwithstanding the enormous sums spent by the government, this private spending has begun to return to its former level.

WALTHER LEAGUE FORMS ZONE UNIT

Delegates From Twin Falls,
Clover and Eden Launch Organization

Formation of the adult central zone of the United Lutheran Worship League, which took place Sunday at Eden, approximately 200 Lutherans young people from Twin Falls, Clover, Eden and Burley, gathered together in the high school auditorium.

The group, which will serve all the leaguers, having marched in together, remained standing to sing
the "Worship League song." Rev. H. C.
Schulze, pastor of the First Lutheran church, Eden, addressed the group, subject being "My Life." Blitz

I Store It or Shall I Sow It? Two

tional, directed by Mrs. H. C. Schulze.
Al noon luncheon was served to the Rev. Schulze opened the meeting with prayer, and Herman Huelin

Minutes were made by Herbert Bamberg, Jr., Twin Falls; and was absent prior to the meeting until the election of a zone chairman.

Leaders Named

Herman Huelin was chosen to head the zone, serving for the coming year, and Mrs. Helen Enters,

Mr. Huelin called for reports of activities of the various districts which were made by Louis Helmke, Twin Falls; Melvin Jorgenson, Clover;
and Edmund Schmitz, Eden.

A conference of district presidents in Chicago, Ill., presented an interesting account of his trip and concerned a number of points which led to discussion by the group. A discussion of the latent zone program disclosed the fact that local units in the zone had held preliminary contests. A committee was appointed to promote continuation of the program and to plan for the next district event. A committee was also named to investigate possibilities of inter-district participation in the region-wide basketball tournament.

After the business meeting, the group participated in the deligh-

At 7 p.m. a banquet was served to the leaguers by members of Trinity Lutheran Aid. In the high school cafeteria, the group enjoyed a meal culminating in a patriotic theme. Rev. H. C.
Schulze, Twin Falls, hostmaster, addressed the group and called attention to the work of the Rev.
Herman Huelin, Rev. George Burley, and Rev. Schulze, who gave

RAILROAD CHIEFS
STUDY CRITICISM

Employees of Union Pacific
Tell Complaints, Offer
Suggestions

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 13 (AP)—Union Pacific railroad employees told their members they wanted to know what they considered was wrong with rail operations in general and those of the Union Pacific in par-icular.

Three hundred and fifty train conductors, engineers, depot agents, switchmen, yardmen, head-men, maintenance-of-way men and every division of the railroad reported on a newly-completed survey of every city and community served by the Union Pacific.

William M. Jeffers, Union
Pacific's general manager, said all "grass roots" comment had been check-ed at the door, employee representatives and complaints of supposed abuses were referred to the railroad's executive department.

Suggestions relative to tariffs, bus-and truck competition and confusions were offered.

"We realize that there is room for improvement in the general rail industry," Jeffers said. "We are taking this means of getting the reaction of the user-public before us."

We want to contribute in solving mutual problems, which after all are the result of unsatisfactory carrying conditions. Obviously we are not perfect, but we are trying materially. But in the meantime we are endeavoring to aid recovery in every way possible."

POPE'S BURIAL BROADCAST—
NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Burial services for Pope John XXIII were televised in this country by all networks Tuesday morning. The transmission, originating by short wave from Rome, was to be carried by NBC, CBS and ABC-TV. NBC-TV was scheduled to start its "WEAR-WIRE"
NBO WABC-CBS and WOR-MBS WAMC-TV-TV. At 7:15 NBC central standard time. Time is mountain standard.
