Legislature Outlaws Slugs in Telephones Or Vending Machines

Proposed Ban on Fireworks Goes Down to Defeat in Senate as Lawmakers Recall Boyhood Days

(By The Associated Press) BOISE, Feb. 15.—The Idaho legislature approved today on a bill to outlaw use of tokens or slugs in coin-box telephones or in legitimate vending machines.

The vote on the house-approved bill was 41 to 2.

The bill—provided penalties of $200 or 60 days imprisonment or both for "using, manufacturing, selling or giving away tokens, slugs or spurious coins for the fraudulent operation of vending machines or coin-box telephones designed to receive lawful coins."

The measure was sponsored by Representative J. P. Hallwell (R-Bonner), Focatello, dragon.

Phone Company Loses After Its Passage. Herman P. Stommel, Boise, Idaho manager of the Western Union and Telegraph company, said in an interview:

"The losses of the telephone company from the use of tokens or slugs runs between $200 and $500 a month—principally in quarters and pieces used in making change."

There was little comment on the Senate floor.

Senators M. D. Derr (D-Bonneville), Major Leader, W. Scott Hall (D-Owyhee).

"Would this also outlaw use of various coins in gambling machines?"

Hall replied:

"Outside the law, I can't imagine a sport who would use slugs in any machine."

Senator George Donat (D-Washington-Weyerhaeuser-lawyer), replied to Derr:

"Gambling machines are operated outside the law." Derr, this bill would not affect the use of slugs or tokens in such machines.

Senators F. O. Cannon (D-Emerick) and J. C. Olds (R-Pocatello) voted for it.

Power Company Employees Repair Broken Lines in Twin Falls

Two broken plate glass windows and several "hot wire" were blazed yesterday on High Street just west of the power plant. The wind whipped a storm door against a plate glass window of Intermountain Seed and Fuel Company, breaking the expensive case meat.

Fron plate glass window on Main Avenue of the Schreiber-Brownman building was shattered at 10:15 a.m. last night. The window was immediately boarded over.

Workers in two sections of the city reported to police that electric power lines were down, exploding in many places. They were restored by power employees.

Broken glass on trees were visible in the dark. The heat and the winter's distinctive layering night, no serious damage had been reported.

Association Head Questions Desirability of Present Values

What, Indeed? WALTER FRANCIS, Feb. 15 (UPI)—What's that?—Health officials have their signs on the door of a Willamport home. The announcement brought a shout of "Metallic stamps!"

Beneath the blues, the owner hung a fourth, "It adds—just like without them!"

No Go INDIANAPOLIS—Wondering why his business was being harassed, clicking on and off, police investigated and found a man standing in front of an office door flipping a coin. He was a "speculator," operator of a "piggy bank" tax on meat and to the reciprocal program. He also explained his sympathies with the Communists, but not to the extent of offering to pay higher taxes.

"The national association's annual session will continue through Friday," Secretary of the Interior said, "and will address the convention tomorrow."

Discussing prices, Russell said: "I question the stability and also the desirability of present values."

He explained there was no real value in the building and books him for taxation.

HOUSE SHELVES CO-OPS' MEASURE

Bill for Widening Powers of Idaho Organizations Tabled.

BOISE: Feb. 15 (ID)—Legislation which would have permitted Idaho cooperatives to widen their functions was tabled by the house today on a voice vote.

Rep. Allen D. Newman (D-Nev.) proposed the bill, which he termed a "more discriminating piece of legislation."

The bill would have given the state the power of organization of cooperatives originally passed in 1923 and amended in 1927. It dealt primarily with the sale of grain.

The new measure would have permitted cooperatives to generate and distribute electrical energy and agricultural products, and to add members to members among other things.

Rep. J. A. Hande (D-Minnesota) moved to amend the bill so as to make individual and purchase committee that introduced the measure, and efforts would be made to get the bill tabled while the tactics used in defeating the bill were unfolded, he said.

The only thing the opponents seem to be opposing is adding conditions to prevent statistics.

"There are very few things in the bill that would not be good measures, but it would make them uniform with those of other states," he said.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment Would Permit State to Settle State

BOISE: Feb. 15 (ID)—Amendment of Idaho's constitution to permit legislature to legal settle the state would be one of two measures introduced in the legislature today.

House revenue and taxation committee proposed the resolution.

The amendment would be submitted to voters at the 1940 election.

HELP FOR FORGOTTENERS

Drake University in Des Moines, Ia., probably has more than 150 shares of absent-minded professors, but students there seem to be the first who have decided to do something about it. Something helpful, that is.

The editors of the Drake Times-Dolphin, student newspaper, have organized a faculty foundation for absent-minded faculty members.

The foundation will present each of these amiable creatures with a certificate and a piece of string. No doubt the certificate will make its bearer eligible for help in any embarrassing situations of forgetfulness he may bring about—if he remembers to present it. The string's purpose is well known.

Eventually, perhaps, the foundation may be strong enough to carry on important research into the causes of professional absent-mindedness and even discover cures and preventives. These discoveries would be used outside of the academic world, too, and absent-minded husbands and other humans suffering from the same ailment. There's something to look forward to.

MOTORIZED KAYAKS

The Eskimos are letting us down: They are cheerfully putting outboard motors on their kayaks. They like phonographic radios, flashlights and canned goods instead of the simple pleasures and foods that satisfied them formerly. They have even taken up the use of spectacles, although we are not sure they have ever properly tested any of the glasses fitted thus far.

Traders no longer purchase pelts from the Eskimos with bright beads and ear-rings, but must offer the products of industry listed above.

Perhaps we could swap with the Eskimos and go primitive ourselves as a rest from noise, swift-changing styles and so on. We wouldn't want to do this on a year-round basis; but more and more Americans are taking to the few remaining quiet spots of the world for vacations, and leaving the gaudets of civilization behind them for a few weeks.

FOOD THAT KILLS RATS

Rats are more particular about their food, and more sensitive to defective food, than you might think. Especially white rats, which are used in scientific experiments because they are said to be, in their food requirements, as much like people.

A group of school children in Utah have been learning some important things along the line. The children were told to feed some white rats from their lunch boxes and see how well it worked. The results were striking.

In a few days four rats died from eating the food that those children's parents had given them to eat. The rat that got coffee, meat and vegetables, but no milk, was the first to turn up its toes. Then two others died because there was not enough energy in their food to keep them going. The fourth rat, living mostly on sweets, lasted one week.

The other rats, receiving a more varied and nutritious diet, had been driving around the city, getting into mischief, and they have certainly had a great influence upon making a greater America.

The State motto believes that the Idaho house of representatives will be the first to pass a measure a measure permitting counties to apply for political permits to help the procedure is a dangerous one for it would give the power of appointment to the county commissioners.

Passing the children who died did not begin getting enough calories, vitamins and mineral salts in their breakfasts and suppers to keep them going. But certainly the children who saw these rats die from what looked to them like good food have learned something they will never forget about food values.

Things like sweets and starches may seem adequate at the time, because they are "filling," but health and growth require some thing more.

CHANGES IN RUSSIA

After the period of silence and mystery in Russia, notable changes are forthcoming.

Elimination of party purges, which have involved the execution of Soviet officials en masse for alleged disloyalty, is now talked of in Moscow, and may be proposed at the approaching congress of the Communist Party.

That would reassure the Russian people, who are said to have been demoralized by the legal killings and the continual fear as to where their relatives would strike next.

The other purge, that of the kulaks, or富农, the more important and more difficult to carry out, may be killed. A police circular threatened to seize cattle and property and keep Russia from going to pieces.

Another indication, and a startling one, hints at better relations between Russia and Germany. Vestnitsa says that "Germany extends its hand—the Soviet government will quickly grasp it."

It is pretty hard to imagine Hitler angling up Russia after all his denunciations of Bolshevikism.

Two such egotistic and violent autocrats as Hitler and Stalin might be expected to eat each other up.

But as far as practice is concerned, there is less difference between the Communist and Nazi systems than their prophets pretend. Both are forms of State Socialism; Stalin has merely gone further than Hitler in restricting private enterprise. Both while pretending to hold occasional elections, have practically disfranchised the people and ruled by terror.

FINAL WORDS

"Peace," whispered the Pope with his dying breath, with that prayer on his lips—he was freed. For though he will be remembered, and among all the useful and decent acts of life, devotion to the service of mankind, let me more briefly choose to stand as the expression of the character of Achille Ratti, keeper of the keys of St. Peter for seventeen years.

"The Pope must not stay in bed," he said with a gentle smile, trying to arise and go to work when he was almost unable to move without help."

Peace and Work—these are what the world needs today.

Other Points of View

HIDDEN INSURANCE TAXES

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has issued a new edition on "Hidden Taxes." Your insurance company taxes you. Insurance companies paid the largest amount in this hidden tax in 1937, in history.

The proposal—based on the 1937 figures—has a sum of $167,291,162 with only $4,225,622 going towards insurance acquisition, which was the objective of insurance company taxation in the beginning. The amount of insurance companies' taxes dedicated to the true purpose of insurance taxation, leaving 94.80 per cent for the general fund.

The injustice of this hidden tax—which must reflect the burden of insurance taxation on the policyholder, has been pointed out line and again. The Chamber of Commerce is urging the changes to be made for many years, and patient agents are working to get the changes through. The warning off the increasing tendency of the lawmakers to add to the burden.

The present system of insurance taxation is unfair to the insurance method employed by laborers, because the insuring, for the most part, is unaware that it is carrying the load, and instead of being protected, it is more inclined to complain that rates are too high.

This sum of more than a hundred million dollars does not represent all of the tax paid. As the chamber points out, there are other taxes that property taxes, are levied by municipalities and counties in at least sixteen states, and while specific amounts collected in these taxing districts are not available, the amounts are proposed as occupational taxes on agents and companies.

And that is by no means the whole of it, just state income taxes, capital stock taxes, taxes on the Federal Social Security act and related state laws, taxes on real estate and personal property, and other taxes that are applied as an attempt to avoid the insurance tax.

Recognizing that the present taxes spread among insurance companies is considered fair because of the great pressure for revenue, the Chamber takes this stand:

The present system, if continued, should at least be uniform. The proposal of insurance taxation should be made uniform throughout the country. Furthermore, inasmuch as the power to tax is given to the states, it is reasonable to expect that the federal government should be permitted to impose license or privilege taxes on free insurance companies.

It is the chamber's opinion that the committee on insurance taxation should propose a bill to the Senate, which O'Malley had a speaking engagement in New York. Mr. O'Malley, who has been a champion of insurance taxation since he became a member of Congress, has been instrumental in securing defeat of legislative proposals for more strict taxation than, perhaps, are the present.

It would, indeed, be better if taxation on insurance companies and insurance companies could be limited to that, like stock insurance itself.

But it is only a question of time before the insurance companies will be compelled to come up with a sum just so that like stock insurance itself.

It is the chamber's opinion that the insurance companies should be compelled to come up with a sum just so that like stock insurance itself.

BOYS, GIRLS ENROLL IN BICYCLE SAFETY CLUB

Nine Twin Falls boys and girls, 17 years of age and less, have already signed up for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Bicycle Safety Club and received reflector buttons for their bicycles. The club, organized by Dick Knell, VFW safety club chairman, said yesterday.

Blame in the safety club are Kyle Kreuzel, John Paul, Don Lester, Betty Bleckel, Arriel Green, Charles Frazer, Bill Fugger and John Praeger. The club has a VFW safety committee and membership cards have arrived. All children interested in joining the safety club and receiving reflector buttons should call the VFW committee handling the safety club.

Booster buttons will be sold among the members of the club at $1.50 for 50¢. For each booster button sold, four free emblems will be made available for club members.

Each member pledges himself to the "ten commandments" for safe riding, which include:

Observe all stop signs.

Keep on the right side of streets.

Observe traffic signals and traffic control devices.

Do not ride abreast of another bicyclist.

Do not hold to other vehicles. Have front lamp and rear reflector at night.
