Roy Painter Enters Mayor Race; Ritchey And Dean for Council

Banker Announces Candidacy for Post of City Executive; Police Commissioner Seeks Re-election

First group of candidates for Twin Falls city offices entered the 1939 political campaign yesterday when Roy Painter, banker, announced he would seek the mayoralty now held by Lem A. Chapman.

Co-incident with Painter's announcement, Lionel A. Dean, garage owner and local banker, said he would seek the office of parks director. His campaign post is now held by William E. Tamm, whose term of office expires in April.

Carl E. Ritchey, police commissioner, also entered the race, his son, Charles, announcing he would seek re-election to his position.

Approve present policies.

Introducing the three men, Ritchey declared that there appears to be no reason for expecting any considerable deviation from the policies of the present administration.

Painted should Lionel A. Dean and Carl E. Ritchey be named as commissioners and Roy Painter as city executive.

The banker, however, privately agreed that veteran members of the city council would probably wish to remain in government and that he would not run again.

"Such a policy is acceptable to Painter," he said.

"My platform is based on one point—that of conducting the administration as nearly the same as the last," he said.

Painter said he would support the policies of the present administration, Painter said, announcing his candidacy.

He was appointed for a two-year term by Mayor Chapman.

Police Commissioner Ritchey said he would support the city electorates in advancing the same policies.

"I will conduct the office to the best of my ability."

Lionel A. Dean, third candidate for mayor, said he would support Mr. and Mrs. Ritchey who will seek city office. Both are well qualified, Dean said, and he will follow the lead of the present administration for the continuation of the "good work."

As City Affairs.

Painter is the third candidate for mayor. He served as a director of the Chamber of Commerce for three years—was 1938 drive chairman of the Community Chest and is chairman of the Twin Falls district committee, Boy Scouts of America.

A native of western Kansas, he is a graduate of the University of Washington. Now ashed at Topica, Kansas, he entered banking in 1929, Rawlins, Wyoming, coming to Twin Falls in 1932 and became a Methodist church member.

He was master of the Class of 1932 at the University of Idaho before becoming a teller with the Fidelity National bank.

ICKES CRITICIZES GRAZING MEASURE

Secretary Opposes Bill to Increase Powers of Advisory Boards

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Interior Secretary Harold Ickes told the Senate Agriculture Committee yesterday to postpone a Senate bill giving additional powers to the advisory boards which he helped enact in the grazing act.

"On its face," Ickes said in a prepared speech, "the bill is designed to afford the secretary of agriculture the same functions of the inter-state advisory boards by placing upon him the onus of ascertaining reasons for his approval of grazing areas which the boards may see fit to make."

Ickes' authority would be recognized by the bill, he said, but action taken by him is unlinkable merely as a matter of good government.

"I do not think that any of you stockmen or public officials yourselves subject to regulation by your rivals. The advisory boards are made up of stockmen using the public lands."

Should Be Subordinate

"For the greatest good of all the citizens, however, the functions of advisory boards remain at all times subordinate to officials of the department who are required to exercise impartial judgment in independent judgment in all cases," Ickes said.

Ickes' reading had laid down at first, plain and simple, that the stockmen were becoming dominant in enforcement of the grazing act and that all questions of doubt should be resolved in favor of the stockmen.

"I did not have a particle of sympathy in added stockmen's interests coming into the picture," he said, "but the men with whom I heard most for the small operator who assumed he was the owner, in sum, of land that was public property."

Ickes' reading had laid down at first, plain and simple, that the stockmen were becoming dominant in enforcement of the grazing act and that all questions of doubt should be resolved in favor of the stockmen.

The group which Ickes' reading eventually won over, realizing that the administration of the grazing act was primarily one of conservation.

"As soon as we began to eliminate overgrazing," he said, "there will be a slow, but steady, improvement in the quality of the stockmen's lives. Improvement of their stock, as we re-think the productive range, the opposition to continued grazing will diminish in intensity."

He said nearly every attempt to enlarge the national park system which Ickes' reading had laid down at first, plain and simple, had caused grazing in national parks is not permitted.

Ickes' reading, he added, was that "the country soon will be all parks." All the national parks in the country to date, make up an area of 18,000 square miles, he said. The country's largest park, the Great Smoky Mountains, is 520,000 acres.

Ickes said the creation of a national park Kings Canyon, Calif., proposed by various California stockmen, would improve improving grazing and hunting conditions in the adjacent areas and thus meet some of the objections.

Assuming the proposal is adopted, the stockmen's opposition to continued grazing of the range, Ickes said:

"If you know of any discrimination, if you know of any injustice, if you know of any unfairness, please let me know. Please do me a great favor, however, by reporting it to me personally. Just write me when on the outside of my envelope and my letter will come straight to my desk."

Ketchum Carnival Offers Unparalleled Program of Winter Sports

Gala Events for Holiday Visitors

Lumberjacks, Skiers, Dog Racers Play Part in Entertainment

KETCHUM, Feb. 16.—The ring of double-bladed axes, the racing of dogs on sled teams and the activity of committee members signalized today that Ketchum's one-time ghost town has come to life again. Sunday, February 19, to greet huge crowds at the annual winter carnival, featuring shopping and skating contests, dog sled races during the afternoon program, Will highlight activities. J. A. "Cap" Ricks, publicity chairman, said:

"Ketchum and the Wood River country invites the public to attend the Ketchum carnival, Feb. 19-21, a semi-annual affair which will be the 'event from the grand parade' to the barbecue is free."

The grand march of decorated floats, skiers and gala-clad residents will wend down the main thoroughfare of the town.

Decorated races are now on the program with crack racing outfits from winter sports sections throughout the country in attendance.

Mike O'Farrell, chairman of the races, said:

"Finishing in the dog-sled events will be the first race, followed by the 'Skis' opened last night to a well-filled house when the juniors of Twin Falls high school put on their annual skating and dancing carnival.

Jack Bowden, parade marshal, and his racing chairman, racism, a wide variety of entertainment.

Todd Pica, bobbed-rod race chairman, said a limited number of equally decorated entries were available for the event.

But officials and new residents will catch with interest the double-bladed axes into log runs from the upper Sawtooths in the competition events.

Decorating and saving events are to be held in the same as the day of judging winners.

Special events for the day include a dog race for young mushers between old fashioned sleds, and pulling long wood bobsleds and pulling hard wood heavy loads from the mountains when this section is in the snowy clutches of an Idaho winter.

P. J. Reeve is in charge of the special events, while Harry Hayes handles the log-splitting and sawing.

At 8 p.m., Herib Rocell will be the most popular man in town. He is in charge of the beer barbecue and close of the winter carnival.

Only the carnival, in charge of McGill, then remains the program.

"This—the only way out."

Rev. William B. Gallagher, Episcopal priest, said:

"I'm sorry Jender didn't take communion. They would have found another.

Mrs. Jender was slain in the home of a couple with whom she and her daughter had lived since November.

Police traced Jender, a WPA worker who they said had been gambling recently, to several bars on the street during the early morning before going to the 60-year-old red-headed man. He sealed himself in the front room of the bar, shouting:
