KING AND QUEEN LEAVE PACIFIC

British Sovereigns Say Farewell to Vancouver and Victoria

CHILLIWACK, B. C., May 31 (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth left farewells to British Columbia on the Pacific today, leaving behind the royalists of British Columbia and Steep Victoria to live with the king's royal demagogue.

If there is any truth in the reports that the royal couple will be in their baths when the national anthem is played the patriots of the Pacific today, leaving behind the royalists of British Columbia and Steep Victoria to live with the king's royal demagogue.

The strains of "God Save the King" ran like a theme song through the town while the royal couple was there.

At Vancouver the British sovereigns were publicly proclaimed since all water leakage, under 100 pounds of pressure to insure neutral further leakage, had been stopped.

Only an occasional "hot" (ice) stand or freshly painted crate of "Bar-B-Q" sign for the afternoon of the royal couple.

So far as was known, Queen Elizabeth, who took the royal suite through the town, was not in the crowd, didn't stop at a hot dog stand for a practice bout with the fore they may get at the Hyde park picnic in their honor on June 11.

The King and queen left Victoria on 1:30 p. m. (PST) and left on a half hour water trip to the mainland, their boat being accompanied by four Canadian air force planes. They arrived at Vancouver on 1:30 p. m. (PST) and left on a half hour for New Westminster.

Ten thousand persons were at the dock when the royal party sailed for Victoria, following a preliminary hearing in the probate court. He was accused of embezzlement of $50 from Twin Falls Cooperative Marketing association of which he was secretary and treasurer.

In his petition for the habeas corpus writ Hild asserted the embezzlement was an "attempt" by criminal prosecution at the expense of the public to procure an acquittal between the association and himself.

H. E. Ryan, who sued for $123 from T. O. Neely, applied yesterday to the probate court judgment of $11, desisting his claim.

Idaho Power company, from which H. E. Ryan had received a judgment May 24, also perfected its appeal to the district court yesterday. Drake had sued for $14,900.

OFFICERS TELL OF SEA RESCUE

Divers Complete Dangerous Task of Descending to Submarine

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 31 (AP)—From the great cluttered deck of the rescue ship Falcon there came tonight a thrill-packed tale of the daring and almost unbelievable feat of the sea divers who descended to the bottom of the sea to rescue the crew of the sunken submarine Squibb.

The story centered upon the fifth trip of the rescue boat to the ocean floor last Thursday—the trip which blasted any hope that 25 men trapped in the flooded and airtight compartments of the submarine a week ago today might still live.

It was the story of John Milhowski, 28, of Worcester, and of William Dudders, 30, of Annapolis, Navy officers who, by their valorous descent in the big nine-ton chamber one of the most dangerous ever accomplished on the Squibb log, despite that every diver in a six foot hole has to breathe compressed air to the 100-pound pressure at forty fathoms.

The story might have been the story of Martin C. Stitzky, the man who attached the rescue chamber's first downhaul and prepared for his first descent; or the tale of W. H. Spitzer, who went down to unlatch the downhaul line which the survivor-crowded chamber became stuck on its fourth ascent with Wednesday night.

The rescue bell damaged—the crew was not known—during that fourth ascent, and after Milhowski and Dudders completed their Thursday morning trip it was sent to Portsmouth navy yard for repairs.

A department-clad officer told the story that rubber-suited divers were lowered to the sunken submarine.

Milhowski and Dudders were in the chamber four hours and two minutes last Thursday night, and "cracked" a hatch to the flooded torpedo room to ascertain if there were any aboard.

"Their lives were in their own hands when they went down," an officer said. "We could do nothing to help them if anything went wrong. One mistake, and we never could have taken them up."

"After performing the delicate feat of striking just the right pressure balance, they opened the hatch to their rescue bell—the hatch manipulated from inside the bell—and as they cracked open the torpedo room hatch of the submarine water started oozing out around the hatch-screw at the bottom of the chamber. They acted quickly, they had to save their lives—and slimmest about the submarine escape hatch as soon as they realized the torpedo room was flooded and there was danger of water coming into the bell.

"They prepared for the trip up by telephoning to the surface for their decompression table, which was read back to them."

Return Under Pressure

Technicians told how step by step they brought themselves up from the bell's windows. They had to return under pressure as divers without the aid of a rescue chamber must ascend.

They stopped 80 feet from the surface, waited two minutes, stopped at 80. Another two-minute wait there in successive steps until they moved to 70, 60, 50 and 40-foot levels—and there they halted—for 10 minutes.

Then to the Falcon again, they were rushed into a recompression tank to be recompressed at the pressure of the 50-foot level.

"That was their most dangerous moment, but they had been in the hull before, when it descended to 100 feet and the Squibb crew who lived in the spinnaker's water-terrace forward compartments.

"It was a day's work in the lives of Badders and Milhowski. The latter holds the navy cross for his diving work in the 1914-15 campaign—and all that was entered on the Falcon's log was:

"Squadron Chief, Torpedo room flooded. Closed hatch."

Captain Explains Warfare Theories

Infantry forces are the basis for all army maneuvers, all other military action being designed to help the infantry in major combat, said Captain J. H. Seaver, Jr., commander of Company E, 11th Cavalry, Twin Falls National Guard unit, at the Rotary club luncheon yesterday.

Seaver explained that the chief aim in future warfare was to get more supplies and troops as rapidly as possible, and to do so as important in the Spanish civil war, he declared.

He outlined work of artillery, infantry, chemical and air warfare units one point in his talk. Captain Seaver said that "tanks are a questionable item of war equipment. They are unworkable, easy targets, ineffective at night and only in a comparatively few instances can they be used to any advantage."

SUES TO QUIET TITLES

W. H. Gilman started suit in district court in Twin Falls yesterday to clear title to Twin Falls property described as lot 10 of block 83. Named as defendants were the unknown heirs of James M. Jones, who died in June, 1933, in Okanogan county, Wash. Parry and Thomas of Twin Falls are the claimant's attorneys.

He was rushed to a hospital, where physicians said he was suffering slightly from shock. Two companions escaped.

Executive Sees Increasing Opportunity in Industry

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, May 31 (AP)—Near the top of the executive staff of the General Motors corporation is a youthful-looking, 40-year-old electrical engineer who asserts there is no place in any sound social, industrial or political philosophy for the man who believes that technological advancements of the past create more jobs than they permanently unemployed ones.

He is a tall, broad-shouldered Charles Edwin Wilson of Detroit, whose heavy clutch of white hair contrasts sharply with a somewhat boyish face. He recently was named executive vice-president of General Motors.

Wilson said that he was made president of the corporation in addition to filling this important position. Wilson is a member of the engineering, policy and administrative committees.

Wilson, who was graduated from high school at 15 and from Carnegie Tech when he was 18, attributes his own rapid rise in the automotive industry to three major factors.

"I believed in education; I believed in work and production; and I believed in something which incited me to do it," he said. "I was willing to get along with people." Then he said:

"I lived at a very favorable time. I saw the country develop in an industrial and productive way."

Asserting that "there have been no fundamental changes in industry or business that make it more difficult for a man to advance as a young man to get started," Wilson said:

GOVERNOR LAUDS IDAHO HIGHWAY

Stale's Executive Urges Travel on North and South Route

BOISE, May 31 (AP)—Owhever-Corbett, Idaho's governor, today urged "time and money can be saved" by traveling the North and South routes.

"I have made his observations because it had been brought to my attention that many Idaho people, when traveling between northern and southern parts of the state, are more to take the long way around through Washington and Oregon."

"This is the result of a habit formed before our own North and South highway was improved," he said.

Oregon and Washington are the hospitable states, but I would like to call to the attention of the Idaho motorists public that there is no longer any necessity to take the long way around.

The North and South highway is now in good shape. Its scenery will compare favorably with that of our neighbors, and the business establishments along it are competent and courteous.

The chief executive outlined routes to take the scenic route along the way, and noted:

"If you have never been this way, you will miss something and you have been over it a dozen times, you'll see something new the next time. Take the North-and-South next time and you won't regret it."

Hearings Set on Murder Charge Guilty Pleas Close Most of Idaho Criminal Cases

PROBATE Judge M. L. Gnebler set June 13 today as the date for the preliminary hearing for Robert O'Neil, 63-year-old Bannock farmer, who was charged in a complaint filed Monday with the murder of R. E. Allen, 23, son of a once prominent south-western Idaho businessman.

O'Neil, who fired a bullet into his own chest when officers came to his shack five miles from here to arrest him, was brought here from Boise where he was taken after being removed from a hospital, and was returned to the Ada county jail at Boise after the arraignment.

He was represented by C. Stanley Ballew of Boise, former Ada county assistant prosecutor. O'Neil is being held without bond.

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Idaho district courts obtained convictions in 424 of the 510 major criminal charges brought in 1938 but in only five of the 10 murder charges filed against the census population.

Burglary and forgery cases led the list of most numerous of the total cases filed, the bureau said.

Pleas of guilty resulted in disposal of a great majority of the total cases filed, the bureau said.

Of the 124 convictions, defendants entered guilty pleas in 372, 18 were found guilty by the court and 23 were convicted by jury decisions.

The court dismissed 63 complaints, six persons were acquitted by the court after waiting jury trials; 12 were acquitted by juries, and two received other non-penalty dispositions.

The total of 310 cases filed compared with 422 in 1937 and 440 in 1938, the bureau said.

BETTER HOUSING PROGRAM

Under This Plan Your Home Is a BETTER Investment Because:

- The materials that go into FHA approved homes must meet a standard of quality that produces sound structures for the owners. Hence, you need not be an expert on building materials.
- To meet FHA requirements, the home must be built by competent and experienced workmen. FHA agents make regular inspections during progress of construction to assure this.
- A poor neighborhood may depress a home as fast or faster than poor materials and workmanship. So a part of FHA interest in your home is to see that it does not take an abnormal depreciation because of poor location.

Under the FHA plan, if you own a lot or can buy one, you may finance up to 90% of the total value of the lot and the house you intend to build. (The amount of the loan may vary under certain circumstances.) Monthly payments, spread over a period up to twenty years, include interest, taxes, insurance and regular reduction of the principal.

FHA carefully examines all plans for proper arrangement for comfort, convenience, light, ventilation and economy of construction. Defects are eliminated before receiving FHA okay.

When a mortgage loan is approved by FHA, the home owner has the assurance of experts that they believe he has the capacity to fulfill the obligation, and that the investment will be satisfactory to him.

EXCLUSIVE! Only Boise Payette's Budget Building plan offers the home builder the optional feature of...

'PROTECTED PAYMENTS' In addition to regular FHA terms, no home builder should be without this protection that guarantees to cancel all further payments in the event of death or permanent disability. It assures your family of a home free and clear under these conditions.

Remember, only at Boise Payette can you get "Protected Payments." Let us explain this feature to you.

Elsie Mitchell, M. Maynard Wed At Home Rites

RUPERT, May 31—The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Mitchell was the scene of a charming wedding Monday morning when their daughter, Elsie Jean Mitchell, became the bride of M. Maynard, a teacher in the Kollage schools. Rev. W. F. Hartley officiated at the ceremony.

Attending the bridal couple were Miss Gladys McCauley of Great Bend, Kansas, and Earl Eggers of Caldwell.

Miss Mitchell wore for a wedding gown a floor length dress of white tulle with a shouider length veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her attendant wore a floor length gown of green silk with white tulle and pink sweet peas.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon plans of Mrs. Stella Lutz were presented in a 2nd day recital at the studio of Mrs. Wood, 215 Fillmore. Refreshments will be served following the piano numbers.

The following students will appear on the program: Florence Bowman, playing "Nocturne in E-flat"; Clotilde Juv Hoop, "Chopin"; Rogers, "Joyce"; Flary, "Wooden Shoe Dance"; Wright, "Maxim"; Knieker, "Mime"; D-Maxim; Jack; Loh; Lutz; "The Blue Danube"; Shirley Fancher, "The Rose, Black, and Bonaparte"; Kerr.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mrs. Wood. The bride chose for her gown away from a pink crepe sport dress with which she wore black accessories.

Following the ceremony, the young couple left for a wedding trip through northern Idaho.

DIRT TRACK RACE DRIVERS NAMED

Nine Already Registered for Sunday's Tin Lizzie Derby

Nine entries have been received to date in the south central Idaho version of America's original "tin lizzie derby," according to members of the Filer American Legion post, sponsors of the 100-mile dirt track race.

The only, entertaining spectacle of cars roaring, exhilarating spouting steam and tires kicking up dirt clouds will be seen at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds at Filer Sunday.

Model T Fords will be the only type of automobile eligible for use, Filer Legionnaires stated.

Entered are Lee Werja, Jerome, who will drive car number one sponsored by the North Side Transfer company; car number 12, sponsored by the Black Bear service station and wrecking company of Duhl with driver unannounced; car number nine, driven by George Kay, owned by the Twin Falls Biltmore company; car number eight, driven by Bert Sorenson of the Blackfoot Motor company; car number 81 entered by Ray McCarthy of Burley; car number 77 entered by Vance Connell of Middleton; car number 67 entered by Walker Kinnick of Mountain Home; car 78 entered by M. A. West of Pocatello and car number 66 entered by Edward Williams of Dubois.

Stock model Fords of the pre-'24 variety are being attracted by stripping fenders, running boards, sedan bodies and even radiator shells in an effort to coax the greatest possible speed from the vehicles.

Walters will split $500 in cash. Reckless driving, use of unsafe vehicles or use of alcoholic liquids before or during the race will mean disqualification of entries, it was announced.

Other forbidden practices include underlining of springs, use of light special gears, carrying extra weights, doping of gasoline and installation of overvalve valves.

Drivers who intend entering "cagers" in the 100-mile tin lizzie derby are urged to contact officials at headquarters in the Perrine hotel in Twin Falls.

FISHING CONTEST CONTINUES OPEN

Deadline Advanced Until Tonight: Lone Trout Entered

Opening day fishing contest sponsored by Twin Falls merchants will be kept open until 6 p. m. tonight. It was announced yesterday by contestants who had returned late this evening from a two-day fishing trip sought permission to enter "largest trout" contest.

Fish must be taken to the Independent Meat company for weighing and display, according to rules of the contest. Fish are to be weighed "undressed" as caught. Only fish caught on Memorial day may be entered.

To date one fish has been entered—a 8 1/2 pound, 20-inch Rainbow trout caught by Bob Creed of Filer. He hooked it in Silver creek and played the fish for 15 minutes before landing it.

First prize in the contest is $5 in cash by the News and Times; second, $2.50 fish knife by Filer Hardware; third, dozen flies from Hoover's service station; fourth, one-half dozen hand tied flies from Durfee's; plus a fish line from Reed's five-weight, and fifth, a "culling hen" rooster from and troutlings offered by Bibber's Cattle camp.

Who enter the contest, fishermen must have made a purchase prior to Memorial day from Bibber's, Hoover's, Price Hardware, Sears, Roebuck and company, Van Ruzewick's, D. N. Bending Park company, Durfee's or Diamond hardware and signed a register for contest.

Fishermen on Memorial day reported surprising luck. Silver creek drew hundreds of Lone Trout, but fishing conditions were good only during a few morning hours. Durfee's trout average one to three pounds.

Wood River fished out to be rocky in the upper part but proved to be the lure. Rosworth, Maple and Salmon reservoirs were the scene of many full catches.

Summertime report by Grover C. Davis, district deputy game warden, bore out the reports from the fishermen themselves. Davis said this afternoon:

Wood river: Good fishing from Hooton to backwater above Halley. Some catches reported below "Narrows."

Silver creek: Good. Several limit catches reported.

Little Wood: Good. Fish creek reservoir: Good. East fork of Jarbridge river: High water, muddy.

Reservoir reservoir: Trolling and bank fishing good. Salmon dam: Trolling good.
