News Behind The News

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration has founded its 1939-1940 spending program with the precision of a military timetable, although it is only now beginning to disclose the details of its program.

For seven years Mr. Roosevelt presided over a political system in which the executive branch was the dominant force. He has a long record of administrative success.

The June government expenditures will reach a 1939 peak—a net total of $3,000,000,000 monthly. They consist mostly of PWA outlays contracted months ago but pouring into construction channels only now.

When they slump off with the coming of cold weather, national defense money—any, not aviation—will stimulate industrial production. It's mostly inside work that can be performed in winter.

By next spring—primary and convention season—the scheme for self-liquidating projects, roads, railroad equipment, etc.) will be in full operation. In all an estimated three billion dollars will be expended, not including WPA and AAA funds.

That amount should produce economic and political prosperity. It explains why so many national politicians are beginning to feel that the president can be reelected if he grants the public what it wants in a campaign fund.

HURDLES: The president's desperate attempt to transform the department of commerce into a public utility has met with many obstacles.

DECISION: James A. Farley has told friends that he is violently opposed to a third term for any president.

New Yorkers Question Poll's Figures on Roosevelt Plans

NEW YORK (AP)—A survey published last week by the American Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup poll) indicates that 48 percent of the American people now believe that President Roosevelt's plan to build a third term, as against only 28 percent who thought so in April, will be a success.

They frankly figure that these mirror the current reaction to difficult measures which cannot take more than the judgment of average citizens. These results are all consistent that P. D. R. will not make the next April election less (a) he is sure he will win and (b) he is convinced that nobody else will.

Therefore our state department cannot afford to risk offending Brazil by cracking down for a serious payment on defaulted bonds and is anxious to promote the expansion of commercial relations between this country and Brazil.

Honor guest at several delightful courtesies this week has been Mrs. A. E. Hartley of Denver, Colorado, who is visiting this week at the home of her brother, Ted Davis and Mrs. Davis. En route to her home in Denver from Boise, she arrived here last week and will remain until this week-end.

This evening, Mrs. R. F. Robinson will entertain in her home at a dinner party and yesterday evening she shared honors with Mrs. Lamonde Shurtlett of Huntington Park, Calif., at a smart bridge luncheon. Mrs. Shurtlett is visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Patrick. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. C. M. Roberts presided at a desert bridge luncheon at her home at 228 Third street north arranged in honor of Mrs. Harley, Rosen in crystal baskets formed the centerpiece. In the guest tables a witch guests were seated.

High honors for the afternoon went to Mrs. Harley, and low to Mrs. Ted Davis. Mrs. Shurtlett was an out-of-town guest at the afternoon event. Besides the honoree, other guests were Mrs. John Jack Gordon, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. George DeWetter, Mrs. M. J. Doerr. At the evening party at which Mrs. Harley and Mrs. Shurtlett shared honors, Mrs. M. J. Doerr presided at a hostess at her home at 234 Walnut street. Garden flowers were used in profusion throughout the home of the hostess, and contrast was the diversification of the evening. Arrangements were served at the close of the evening.

Monday afternoon, Mrs. Davis presided at a smartly arranged luncheon at the Park hotel honoring the two out-of-town guests. Following the luncheon, the afternoon contract formed the diversification for the afternoon. Mrs. C. M. Roberts presided at the afternoon event. Mrs. Doerr won second high. Guest prizes were awarded to Mrs. Shurtlett and Mrs. Harley.

Luncheon Fetes Helen Parrott

Honor guest at a cleverly arranged desert bridge luncheon yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. M. Sweeney was Miss Helen Parrott, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Parrott, who is spending the summer visiting here with her parents. She is an instructor in the schools at Juneau, Alaska.

Co-hosts with Mrs. Sweeney was her daughter, Miss Anne Sweeney. Guests were seated at six quarter tables. The luncheon in a large basket was featured by the room decorations and pink and white roses in low bowls were arranged at each table. At one larger table, popovers were used for the table centerpiece.

High honors at contract went to Mrs. Robert Werner, and traveling prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. H. Proctor. Miss Parrott was presented with a guest prize. Out-of-town guests at the affair were Mrs. Richard Holt of San Francisco, who is visiting at the L. Breckenridge home; Mrs. Marion Booth of Old Bennington, Vermont, also a visitor at the Breckenridge home.

Mrs. Leal Klamm Glauser of Chester, Pa., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. Klamm, and Mrs. H. Proctor and Mrs. Miller Proctor of Kimberly.

Poetry Featured At Meeting of Writers' League

Contrasting the poetry of foreign countries, the popular American style and the rhythmic verse of the American Indian, members of the League of Western writers observed poetry evening Monday at their regular monthly meeting in front of a large white bank backed with greenery and red roses. Carolyn Sue Bradb, small cousin of the bride, was guest and Joan Logan was timekeeper. Clarence Bradb sang "O Promise Me" accompanied at the piano by his wife.

The bride wore a dress of pink and white, carried a bouquet of white and pink flowers. The groom wore a suit of dark green with blue accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses. The wedding was held in the bride's home. The bride and groom, after the ceremony, acted as best man.

Ladies Aid Group Plans For Picnic

Discussion of plans for the annual picnic of the Ladies Aid of the Methodist church was featured yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the group at the home of Mrs. Joe Corder.

The picnic will be held July 6 at the country home of Mrs. Alva Corder. It was also voted to contribute $10 to the church debt fund. The picnic will be held every fourth Thursday, the group will now meet every fourth Tuesday.

Farewell Party For Mrs. Boyd

Mrs. C. C. Boyd, who plans to leave about July 1 for Raleigh, North Carolina, to make her home, was the guest of honor at a cleverly arranged farewell party last evening at the Baptist bungalow with members of the Mary Martha Sunday school class as hostesses.

A profusion of garden flowers was arranged about the rooms to make the party lovely for Mrs. Boyd. An informal program was presented, and refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Members of the class presented an honor with an attractive gift, and her "secret sister," revealed last night, Mrs. Pearl Riley, presented her with a gift.

Piano numbers were presented by Mrs. Carl Boyd followed by readings by Mrs. Mary Strain, Mrs. Eugene Strain and her sister, and Miss Lavonne Barnett.

Contract was played during the afternoon with Mrs. Henry Mahoning winning high and Mrs. E. J. Spelberg second high. Guests were Mrs. Deah Millon and Mrs. Ella Lons.

Chapter 28
Gramp's Trickery

Jocelyn jumped up and caught his arm. "When you are reading about us we are not having about it? How do you control yourself? Let's see how you control yourself when I tell you every cent of our inheritance has been lost. You've penniless papers! That old fool there talked me into putting out all of our inheritance into Texas oil land. . . . Only there's no oil on it. There never has been and there never will be. There's oil within miles and miles of it. It's barren, dirt-covered ground not even fit for grazing! It happens to be the identical thousand acres that the Mackas abandoned. . . . and we own it!"

Gramp fumbled surreptitiously for his glasses, but his eyes on the door he defended weakly: "Now, Thom, that ain't no way to talk. I never said there was no oil. I never told you to buy it. I ain't left to blame me."

Thorn dropped into a chair and covered his face with his hands. He groaned: "Come—every cent gone! I've got to kill that old fool. What can we do?"

Some words trembled on Jocelyn's tongue, but she restrained her accusations: "You're angry with me—how could you do this to me?"

Thorn's voice, muffled by his hands, spoke from the doorway: "You say it, Lynn? Why don't you remind me I had no business judging?"

Thorn's head was bowed and his arms as well as mine. I'm practically an embezzler. I'm a stupid fool. Why do you put me through this? Lynn? You're thinking that I won't blame you if you hate me."

Lynn, fighting her battle for composure, she said: "I don't hate you, Thom. Although you were so suddenly and unceremoniously fired—forty thousand dollars' worth."

"I'm grumpy," he groaned. "You're no money at all. Not even enough to pay the servants' wages of the crozier, or any of the things."

Jocelyn walked over to the window, frantically trying to get the men watched her in silence as one of her slender hands gathered the contents of a deep-sea tin. Her fingers trembled, she then crushed it again. It was her only sign of agitation. Without turning her face to them she said at last in a steady voice:

"Her hands black as no fool, Thorn. He said you were back on the interest, every insult and injustice you perpetrated on his family. He has made both you and me as good as dead. I know I can't seem to blame him much. He was pretty angry. Anyhow, that's that. You'll have to sell both of our cars. Thorn. The money will be used for the next round of punches that looked more like slaps than blows. In the second round, Inspector Willie Ritchie of the state boxing commission awarded Elmore a pug-up a better exhibition."

Jack Roper and Rosenbloom Win

LOS ANGELES, June 27 (AP)—Jack Roper of Santa Barbara was awarded a technical knockout victory over Danny Barlund, 1933, boxing champion of the world, in a scheduled 10-rounder of an all-star boxing card last night.

Both fighters were given left and right to Roper's head, but he won six rounds. Roper took the fifth round, but he was knocked out by the referee. He was booted loudly for stopping the fight and Barlund's corner protested.

Roper's feared left hook ripped open Barlund's right eye in the third round and he was out of the ring in the seventh. There were no knockdowns. A crowd of 10,000 turned out for the card.

As the crowd looked in derision, Maxie Rosenbloom, 193, Los Angeles, boxing champion since the turn of the century, died yesterday.

He was one of the most prolific authors of his generation with a record of more than 1,000 newspaper and magazine articles to his credit.

A British-born writer arrived in France from the United States three weeks ago and went to his home at Fontaine on the bank of northern France.

He had been in ill health for several years, but he was taken down with a severe heart attack and was rushed to a Deauville clinic where he died.

Writer Answers Final Summons

DEAUVILLE, France, June 27 (AP)—Ford Maxford Ford, 69, an outstanding figure of British, French and American literature since the turn of the century, died yesterday.

He was one of the most prolific authors of his generation with a record of more than 1,000 newspaper and magazine articles to his credit.

A British-born writer arrived in France from the United States three weeks ago and went to his home at Fontaine on the bank of northern France.

Gangsters' Bullet

Misses Navy Man

MANILA, June 27 (AP)—Lieutenant R. R. Ransom, senior naval officer of the shore patrol and mentor of Manila gangsters, escaped unharmed last night when a gunman fired into his cab in an apparent assassination attempt.

The officer was riding in an isolated suburban district, following an inspection trip of cabarea, when a bullet shattered the window of his taxicab.

Lieutenant Ransom reported the incident to local police. He was instrumental in sending a number of known Filipino gangsters to prison for life after W. R. C. Gibson, navy yardman, was slain in a hold-up last night.

Holiday Brings New Warning Of Death Lurking on Highway

POCATELLO, June 27 (AP)—Idaho motorists were told today "death never takes a holiday on Idaho highways."

The usual toll is exacted in holidays as well as in safety states," said E. T. Spencer, state leader of the motorist's union. "It will be several days before the holiday comes. This still gives the motorists time to have their automobiles looked over for defects—tires, lights, brakes, steering gear and other little parts of the equipment that should be examined.

"To this a little reminder of the celebration—(You drink, don't drive; if you drive, don't drink."

When, late in the afternoon, she got on Thorn, packed up and down the terrace, she was no longer an irresponsible girl. These few hours had placed the burden of responsibility on her young shoulders, and with it a new maturity.

"Thorn," she announced, "I've figured out exactly what we are going to do."
