House Vote Invokes Conference Decision Upon Monetary Bill

Administration Leaders Battle Against Friday Midnight Deadline to Save Fiscal Powers

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Administration leaders in congress watched their big monetary bill go bouncing from one sad predicament to another today. They gloomily conceded that there was only a dim chance, growing dimmer hourly, that the confused and angry situation could be straightened out, soon. And, unless the bill is passed by Friday midnight, the administration will lose important powers over foreign exchange and the currency. They apparently received little consolation from the fact that the $1,755,000,000 farm appropriation bill was passed by the House today. The bill was making good progress through the Senate. It also has a Friday midnight deadline. The bill is the most serious controversy to get into trouble here, the leaders are ready with a simple resolution, possible of speedy passage, which will prevent any interruption of the dispensing of relief.

SILVER STATES' NOTES AT STAKE

Both Parties Bid for Favor in Senate Revolt on Money Bill

By KIRK L. SHIPSON
WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—That both major parties are bidding for 1940 election favor in the silver states of the far west is apparent from the senate revolt against administration monetary proposals.

It is reflected in the geographical distribution of the coalitions which group together some of the strongest political big-fellows Washington has seen in a long time. Only two senators from the silver states—Dorah (Idaho) and Thomas (Idaho)—stood out against the administration designed to force the treasury to increase to 77.5 cents an ounce of silver in favor for newly mined domestic silver.

The coalition also voted to strip President Roosevelt's authority further to devalue the dollar, and approved an amendment ending the treasury buying of foreign silver.

Mr. Roosevelt's reaction at his 1100 Park avenue conference indicated that the devaluation action gave him greater concern than the other proposals. Although he gave the bulk of the strategy being mapped by congressional leaders to reverse economic deficits, his strong arraignment of the senate points toward a de-hard fight for restoration of presidential authority. There is at least a hint that the Democratic silver bloc is prepared to abandon its traditional "hard money" Democratic and Republican on both the anti-devaluation and forced purchase phases of the clash if the administration will yield on the price of domestic silver.

From the standpoint of 1940 politics, ultimate compromise between the administration and the silver bloc in the senate also seems indicated. There are 18 states, including the five Dakotas, where the silver question has a direct or indirect economic—rather than political—effect. Except for Senator Borah's vote against elimination of the remaining presidential devaluation authority and the pair of Senator Thomas of Utah with Senator Clegg of Ohio, no Republican or Democrat failed to join the silver boost-devaluation coalition.

UGLY DUCKLING MIGHT CONSIDER ANN SHERIDAN

By The Associated Press Features Service
If your young daughter doesn't show signs of having "oomph," don't worry, says Perc Westmore, one of the acees of Hollywood make-up.

ANN SHERIDAN (her name used to be Clara Lou) at 7 years old was just a "typical" youngster, with plain hair, a few freckles and a self-conscious smile.

BY THE TIME she was 11 and "make-up-able," as Perc Westmore would say, there were just hints of the "young-lady-in-hair" in the eyes, the smile, and the luxurious hair.

"Blyes in glamour change. Take Ann Sheridan. As young a star as she is, she undoubtedly can remember when the glamour life was a short-lived, artificial, superficial flapper.

"Perhaps her parents even looked at her at that age and shook their heads and said: 'Oh, baby, will you ever amount to anything, looking like you do?'

"But look at Ann then and look for her today, and you'll understand what I mean."

"I'm definitely in favor, however, of early make-up. The adolescent young lady decides she's interested in make-up, let her start. There's nothing worse than a child that's over-made-up, but they have a right to simple cosmetic foundations of their own. It's the kind of education and culture that will build an outstanding personality when they are nearing maturity."

TO-day, in her twenties Ann Sheridan is Hollywood's only "oomph" girl in a little she's living off, by the way, and getting her first big starring chance in "Winter Carnival."

LIBBY HOLMAN'S ACTING PRAISED

Singer and Dancer Clifton Webb Score in Dramatic Performance

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—Tonight Libby Holman and Clifton Webb and several hundred other players wailed themselves, across the country, suffering like President Roosevelt, that they have made history or that they hope will make history next season in the Broadway theater.

Darza are bursting into theaters and the straw hat season again is a season which will include a hopeful push through the hay to get behind the footlights.

The main launching came when Miss Holman, the sultry eye girl from Cincinnati who won Broadway with her singing of "Merrill's Love" and Webb, who is best known as a sophisticated singer and dancer, continued their missions to be technical dramatic performers with a revival of the hit of the 1920s season, "Burlesque." That happened, amid cheers, at Grand Street, N. Y., this week.

Nagard of tears into her voice with the slightest urging, and Webb were moving in their performances of the dramatic roles and it was an appropriately sentimental way to start the summer theatrical season, a season which will include many extra-ordinary events. For instance:

Elizabeth Arden is ending her transcontinental tour by playing "White Lies" through a dozen of the warm weather theaters.

Tomorrow night Paul Robeson, the famous Negro singer, who has been missing from the American dramatic stage for seven years, will do a revival in West End, N. Y. of the leading role in either Brook Bradford's drama, "John Henry," or in Dorothy Heyworth's "Set My People Free."

Glenda Farrell, the lusty and blonde actress of cinema comic parts, will open the Westport, Conn. theater in "Anna Christie" on July 3.

Miss Farrell is leading a long line of movie picture stars who annually come back from Hollywood for summer stage jobs. Their salaries in a huge amount of frame, it was sent to film by Mrs. Jack Carter of Mackay, whose grandfather, R. Swauger, was a member of the law-making body that set nearly 50 years ago.

"I plan to turn it over to the state historical society for preservation," the governor said.

BURLEY

In Collierville—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Powell and children escaped without injury when their automobile struck a CCC truck which drove directly in front of them at West Yellowstone as they were enroute from Missoula last week. The car was badly damaged and they were delayed four days for car repairs, arriving here last Thursday for a visit with Mr. Powell's mother, Mrs. Hester Powell.

In Coeur d'Alene—Mrs. Jack Henderson and Miss Mildred Robertson accompanied Miss Grace Shockey to Coeur d'Alene where Miss Shockey will represent the Burley at the Elks state oratorical contest. Miss Shockey, a graduate of the Burley high school, was the winner in a contest, sponsored here recently by the Elks and was chosen to compete in the state contest.

Speaker—Miss Madeline McCreary of St. Louis, addressed officers and teachers of the Christian Sunday school here Friday evening when the seven aims of Religious Education, a pot-luck supper was held at 6:30 o'clock in the basement of the church for the children's workers, officers and teachers from the Baptist church attended the meeting here.

Fillis Pullis—The Rev. H. N. Wagner of Twin Falls held the pulpit here last Sunday.

at the Presbyterian church Sunday. Due to the ill health of the Rev. C. G. Arna, local pastor.

At Hospital—William Owens was taken to Salt Lake City for medical attention at the L. D. S. hospital.

On Visit—Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Williams and children, Jay and Joyce, left Friday for a few days' visit with relatives in Salt Lake City.

At Convention—Burr H. Tucker of the probate court attended the convention of the Idaho State Bar Association at St. Anthony.

Students Return—Charles and Robert Coleman have returned to the University of Utah at Salt Lake City to Rochester—H. E. Canine was called to Rochester, Minn., and called to Westport, Idaho, on serious illness of his son, Henry Canine, who underwent an operation at the Mayo Bros. hospital recently.

WOMAN REBELS AT QUESTIONING

Evangelist's Wife Cries Morals Charge Trial Unfair

LOS ANGELES, June 28 (AP)—Zella Joy Jeffers rebelled under cross-examination today and disrupted the trial of herself and her husband, Rev. Joe Jeffers, on morals charges.

"Oh, it's unfair! I'm not getting a fair trial," she screamed as she arose to her feet and tore the loud-speaker microphones from her Superior Judge Charles W. Frick called a recess and informed the jury that questioning of the witness by Deputy District Attorney E. Ernest Toll was entirely proper.

Previously she had admitted she had three or four drinks of whiskey and water prior to a raid on her apartment by district attorney's investigators.

"Mr. Casey, whom I learned later was Vincent Higgins, called in with a bottle under each arm," she said. "I opened one of them for him. One was a rum bottle and the other a dark, squishy liquid. I would like neither my husband nor I drank and he said he had something that would like the alcohol out and make the drinks just like ginger ale. He poured my drink from the rum bottle and put some kind of powder in it from a small square paper he pulled out of his pocket.

"The drink was in a regular water glass. I had three or four I don't remember exactly. It had very disagreeable taste at first."

The defense contends she substantially faced in the liquor the Jeffers drank was marijuana and that it rendered them incoherent of what they were doing.

Mrs. Jeffers denied categorically that she had ever consumed alcohol in connection with her husband or had participated in intimate scenes in the presence of guests in her home, as the state charges.

Idaho Artists Design Souvenir

Latest characters to join in the parade of advertisements of Idaho's wonder spot, Sun Valley, are "U. P. P." and "U. S. P." The two characters, this combined efforts of Victor O. Goertzen of Twin Falls and Gene Albert of Boise.

The characters of U. P. Joe, a provincial westerner, and U. S. P. Joe, a trusty steed, were created by two southern Idaho artists. The artist drawing for the souveniers, both set trays and plaques, was designed by Goertzen.

U. P. Joe is pictured wearing a wide 10-gallon Stetson; flame-red shirt and chaps; and his horse, P. P., is busy engaged in the contents of the peach can strapped about his neck.

A brief description of some of the many scenic spots around Sun Valley is on the back of each novelty.

PRODUCER TELLS U. S. MOVIE FAULT

Erich Pommer. Declares Big Corporation System Harms Films

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—Erich Pommer, the European producer who discovered Marlene Dietrich singing throaty songs in a Berlin night club and pointed her to stardom, doesn't like the way they do things in Hollywood.

"It doesn't even like the way they do Dietrich," he said.

"Dietrich is a fine actress, but she needs some one who understands her talents and limitations. It was the same with Emil Jennings—with Anna Sten, with Danielle Darrieux, with Louise Rainer. Great talents all, but Hollywood can't handle them.

"The system, in Hollywood, it is all the corporations. They can't do anything. They can't help the artist. But it is unfortunate, I know. I worked in Hollywood for years.

"In England, we can't compete with Hollywood. That is our blessing. Since we can't make pictures like Hollywood, we make them different. That is good. That is the way you get your 'Pygmalion,' '99 Songs,' your 'Henry the Eighth,' your 'Beachcombers.'

"With Charles Laughton, I have just finished Jamaica Jim—excuse me, please, but I think it is a good picture. It is that which brought me to New York. I could not have made it in Hollywood. It is a costume melodrama—but it is also a character study of a man deprived. In Hollywood, they would have said, 'Pommer, you can have either your character study or your melodrama, but you can't have both. Besides, they would have said, Laughton is a good actor, but if you want anybody to come see your picture, you can't have Gable and Shirley Temple, and if you can't have Gable and Temple, you can't see a story about the guy who played by Laughton.'

"You see what I mean? It's the system. In Hollywood, once they had a great actress, but her husband fancied he was a director although he knew nothing about pictures. So in her contract, they hired him as an associate director and made a mess of everything else, and his wife's great acting and Hollywood let her contract lapse."

Former Twin Falls Boy Lauded for Songwriting

When Phil McElwain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McElwain of Tacoma, Wash., wrote a song upon his graduation from the ninth grade in Twin Falls he started something, according to the Tacoma News Tribune, for the songwriting fever has gripped him ever since.

Today, says the Tacoma paper, Phil has to his credit 30 or 40 popular songs, all in the popular vein, a number of which have been well liked by College of Puget Sound students.

Since his high school days, when he played in a small orchestra such as many high school students are, he had written steadily. His latest piece is "Partner," a cowboy song.

"I think 'Partner' is the best song I've written so far," said Phil in his interview with Paul Anderson of the Tacoma paper. "The more I write, the better the songs become, and the easier it is. I guess it's just another case of 'practice makes perfect.'"

In Mr. Anderson's story he states, "While Phil has developed a style of writing that he feels is distinctly his own, he is no flitting and has no use for 'bogie wogie stuff' (writing without melody, to give you Phil's own translation)."

"Some of his swifter tunes include 'My Heart Is Always Right,' 'A Night Long Ago' and 'Always Get Out on the Right Side of the Bed,' which, incidentally, has been popular this winter with C. P. B. students.

"Generally, however, Phil sticks to the ballad style for several reasons.

"Says Phil, 'I like the ballad, and then, it's better for a new song writer to stick to simple melodies that will be easily remembered by the crowd.'

"Concluding his story of Phil's achievements, Mr. Anderson said, 'Many who have heard and liked Phil's songs ask if he has had any thing published, but up to now he says no. It's more difficult to get

Chapter 25
Paying Guests

"Why don't you stay with the Mack's?" Jocelyn asked Nola bluntnly.

Nola carefully removed her suede gloves before answering. Her eyes were sparkling delightfully when she spoke.

"I only wish to help you out, Lynn. For the sake of long friendship. I can't go on being a guest on the Mack's. My money, so far as I know, is just as good as anyone else's. How many rooms have you rented so far?"

"None," Lynn gradually admitted. "But it takes time and the ads have only been running three days."

"I know," Lynn desired, "I want me here. Nola shrugged. "But aren't you being rather narrow to resent me because of my personal affairs?"

"I do. And now may I have that perfectly divine slinking room on the second floor? I want you to rent Lynn over fifteen dollars a day!"

"Nola," she interrupted the other girl's flow of small talk with almost rude abruptness. "An American girl's excuse me me. Starting toward the door she hoped her control would not slip until she got away from Nola's far too keen eyes."

"Why did you break off with Geoffrey?" Nola demanded. "I thought you'd be married by now."

"Ask Lynn," Lynn flung over her shoulder and fled precipitately. Nola, dining with Lynn and Thora, looked at the picture of Lynn and Thora's frenzied desire to interest and please her, while Jocelyn tried to see him being meek and anxious and subservient.

"After dinner Nola changed into a more suitable dress for the evening, brushed out her silver-gold hair until it made a silky halo about her face, then proceeded around the house to the Mack's abode."

"Jocelyn, watching her go, felt a sick consciousness inside her breast. Lovely Nola, exquisite Nola, Tally was not to be blamed for admiring her."

"I love him," she said, "don't make a complete idiot of yourself. Can't you see any good to prostitute yourself to a man like that? She wants Tally, you see?"

"All right, I am Lynn, I said, but I love her. Lynn, I never wanted anyone but her. I'd still want her if she didn't have a penny to her name."

vegetables, and your credit is good. I don't need credit," she informed him, still clinging to the placid yet astonished horror. "Let it be wiped away. I shall be glad to give you my business."

"Dear Nola!" she looked up and said his eyes crinkling with laughter. "What's so funny? She demanded abruptly. "Oh, the idea of you, trying to run a hotel, I guess. You're such a young and inexperienced... and so darned determined. Honestly, Jocelyn, I take back what I said about your being legitimate. I think you're awfully losing all of your money and coming through like this with your chin up. Let me help you, will you?"

"Although I don't see what you can do. Please wait a bit, down your opening expense," he offered. "You could let your minks and your cook go to the moon, too. Minkler, with Quaker's help, could do the cooking for you, and Gretchen could help you with the cleaning. You wouldn't have to pay them too much and they would be pleased to earn some money for their clothes. Nola's could supply you with practically everything but meat. Isn't it a good thing you're in Idaho? You really picked it last night."

"Now, isn't that nice?" she exclaimed. "You're so much more thoughtful and trouble just to help me! Well, I don't need her help, or Quaker's either, you must hire your family to do such better, in the doubt, they could earn more money. He'd be jumped backward as if she had slapped him. His face became livid. "I was wrong. I was wrong. I see. You haven't changed, it's too true."

had you can't learn a few things about economy and courtesy from Nola!" Shoving his hands deep into his pockets he turned and stamped out of the stable.

"Tally," Jocelyn whispered, "Nepitilo," she whistled softly and nudged her shoulder. "What makes me say such things, 'Pistol' she chuckled. "He was really being kind and I thought it was swell until he said it was Nola's idea. Am I really a horrible spoiled brat?"

"He moved closer to her, unhappy over her trembling, trying dumbly to comfort her and tell her he loved her. Jocelyn, walking toward the front of the house, hating herself and wondering if anything would do any good, saw a yellow taxi cab pull up in the driveway."

"This little man wearing brand-new clothes," she observed as he pulled the door of a checked car under which she found a newspaper from his overcoat pocket and tapped it with a nicotine-stained finger.

"This place where you got rooms to rent, Miss?" His wince-like eyes darted appreciatively over the landscape. "A guess so. Sure this place is secluded."

"Certainly," she assured him. "We are three miles from Santa Barbara and more than a mile from the nearest house. Do you still hold this with bills and paid the taxi driver. "Tell him where to find my baggage." Continued tomorrow (Copyright, 1939)

Parole Officer Asks Fair Treatment for Ex-Convicts

THE SURVIVES POUNDING, WINS IN FOURTH

Champ Conquers Tony Galento in Slugging Match

Tony Dazes Bomber Before Losing on Technical Kayo

By SID FEDER
YANKEN STADIUM, New York, June 28 (AP)—A wild assortment of facts bomb burst in this ball park tonight, but as usual Joe Louis' were the more explosive and the Brown Bomber defended his world heavyweight championship with a smashing pugny Tony Galento into bloody helplessness in four rounds.

JOE LOUIS

Although floored himself in the first round of this scheduled 15 rounder after having put the roly-poly pouter down in the second, Louis came up with an amazing assault of punching fury in the fourth. Referee Donovan acted to stop the proceedings at 2:29 of that time.

Tony Sure Hits Hard, Says Joe

Heavyweight Champion Pays Compliment to Tough Opponent

By BILL WHITE
YANKEN STADIUM, New York, June 28 (AP)—They called Joe Louis a dead paned sphinx, but in his dressing room tonight just after he had defended his title for the seventh time, he looked a lot more like a tired kid who had just been in a tiff with a truck.

Sweat pouring off his kinky head, Joe regarded his opponent rudely shattered some of his minutes earlier when he had to pick himself up off the floor to pay a nice compliment to the "logistics" Joe has been fought—tough rugged Tony Galento.

"Boy, he sure hits hard," the champion breathed as a sweating crowd of newspapermen put on a fusillade of their own, edge close enough to touch the champion's words.

Joe averred, with some prompting, that this was probably the hardest fight of his career and that "it was just the kind of a fight I knowed it would be."

Louis had some graced places on his cheeks—and a slight beard which he had more concerned about than a drop of a mustache.

Never could the bomber remember when he had been more concerned about bombing to drop a foe.

It musta hit him a hundred times, he guessed. Referee Arthur Donovan "knew his business" when he stopped the fight.

The Fight By Rounds

Round One—Galento came in a crouch and both hands were held in a crouch. He was hit by a right hand to the chest and a left hand to the head. Galento backed up and Tony's face seemed to open a new stream of sweat from Tony's face.

Momentarily Referee Donovan separated them, but forward again charged the champion. Galento hit the challenger against the ropes on another side of the ring, but still under the Galento's eye.

Joe pumped both death-dealing fists into Tony's face more times than a sliding mallet hammer. This blood-and-hunger assault proved too much for the game Galento who yielded 2:35 to a 100% KO.

He staggered out of the mill—feeling about five steps, half-blinded and bleeding, and finally slumped to his knees, making a vain effort to keep himself upright by wrapping his short fat arms around Donovan's legs. He was completely helpless and done in.

But, despite the beating he took, Tony only took time to get back to his training corner after a return for a return.

Louis, on the contrary, hardly had been hammed, but he was plenty respectful of Tony's hammer-punching.

SCOUT PRAISES PIONEER LEAGUE

Major League Ivory Hunter Interested In Burley Lad

Earl Sheeley, here to attend the Ogdén-Twin Falls series as a scout for the Boston Red Sox, said yesterday that "the Pioneer league is a great and valuable training ground for young players from the Pacific coast and the intermountain country."

The former major league star attended a majority of the meetings in 1938 when plans were drafted to form the Pioneer league.

Idahoans and Utahns who struggled for a year to establish the circuit have the Pacific Coast and central of immense value in the preliminary seasons.

Earl took his first trip to Twin Falls since the loop started the championship schedule.

"The league is interesting," Sheeley said. "The Pioneer league plays with midwestern baseball on the circuit and the Pacific Coast league on the west and it is a good thing for organization."

Major League Start
"The league is so to a marvelous start. Between Seattle—in first place in the league," Sheeley declared.

"The veteran scout will watch the area here to look at candidates, high school English teacher who came over here to look at candidates, blasted Germany's sign-the-Robertson Menzel, the seventh-round pitcher in the 1938 season, who of Wimbledon's slippery turf today in one of the biggest upsets of this season's season."

Entered somewhat obscurely as E. Smith, U. S. A., the Californian produced a magnificent kicking attack which had the German jumping him during the air afternoon.

Recent winner of the French championship and second runner-up in the 1938 season, he largely on the strength of that, McNeill skidded all over the rain-soaked turf in the 1938 season.

Another Californian, Wilroy Gaters, finished second in the 1938 season, scored an ace by defeating Mrs. Ronald Ellis, 6-3, 7-8. Gaters had been runner-up in the 1938 season.

Two other Americans went through, however, a 1938 season, by squalling wild and sudden assaults, Henry Wilfred (Alamy) Austin, British, 1938-1939, and the back court in almost every rally.

Which probably prompted Sheeley's remark.

NATTIE MANN VINS

centerfielder, climbed into the batting line-up, dispatching Eddie Averette, Salt Lake Bee catcher, who dropped entirely out of the list of the first 10 hitters.

Roser, second in the June 10 batting averages, hitting .418, with Botelho, who was hitting .433, added to 261, although the latter has been dividing the catching reign with Ken Myers.

Boise was the only team not represented by the 1938 batting averages. Wait Lou, the league's leading home run hitter with 22 up to June 28, was hitting at .246.

Ernie Blahop, Cowboy second baseman, was in third place with .318. 260 Major League Salts Lake catcher, topped pitchers, with an .875 average in winning 4 out of 5 losses.

Gene Smith, Teacher, Trims Big German Star at Wimbledon

By SCOTTY RESTON
WIMBLEDON, June 28 (AP)—Gene Smith, an amiable Berkeley (Calif.) high school English teacher who came over here to look at candidates, blasted Germany's sign-the-Robertson Menzel, the seventh-round pitcher in the 1938 season, who of Wimbledon's slippery turf today in one of the biggest upsets of this season's season.

Entered somewhat obscurely as E. Smith, U. S. A., the Californian produced a magnificent kicking attack which had the German jumping him during the air afternoon.

Recent winner of the French championship and second runner-up in the 1938 season, he largely on the strength of that, McNeill skidded all over the rain-soaked turf in the 1938 season.

Another Californian, Wilroy Gaters, finished second in the 1938 season, scored an ace by defeating Mrs. Ronald Ellis, 6-3, 7-8. Gaters had been runner-up in the 1938 season.

Two other Americans went through, however, a 1938 season, by squalling wild and sudden assaults, Henry Wilfred (Alamy) Austin, British, 1938-1939, and the back court in almost every rally.

Which probably prompted Sheeley's remark.

GROUP CONFERS ON ALLOTMENTS

County ACA Committee Sets Tentative Wheat Quotas

Twin Falls county committee of the Agricultural Conservation association worked with the state ACA committee in setting the 1940 wheat acreage allotment during a conference of ACA officers at Boise last weekend.

Walter Reese, Castleford, Twin Falls county chairman; J. E. Pohlman, Hollister, and T. T. Creed, Plover, committee members, had returned yesterday after attending the conference.

Tentative county wheat allotments were established during the assembly, Reese said.

"The gathering was understandable in that it resulted in better understanding between counties on ACA problems," the chairman declared.

"As soon as figures are established on the Twin Falls county wheat allotment are reviewed and approved, the allotment will be finally set," Reese said.

"Then, the county committee will proceed immediately with the work of setting individual wheat allotments to county farmers."

Members of the Twin Falls county committee who attended the conference participated in discussions of the agricultural adjustment programs as they apply to agricultural problems in counties over the state.

Discussions also were held on the farm program for the coming year, and informal round-table meetings dealt with range, crop insurance, wheat loan and other problems.

BRIDGE DAMAGE MYSTERY SOLVED

Jerold V. Hopkins of Buhl Admits Driving Car in Accident

Mystery of who drove the motor vehicle that smashed into the side of the Rock Creek bridge west of Twin Falls on U. S. highway 30 was solved yesterday.

Jerold V. Hopkins of Buhl informed police officers that he was driving the automobile that smashed first into one side and then into the other.

The impact, in each case, bulged in front on each side of the span.

Hopkins told state police that a tire blew out on his car, throwing the machine out of control. He said the accident occurred at 2:30 a. m. Sunday, June 25.

His charges will be filed against Hopkins but officers said he must pay damages to the bridge railing.

It was lucky for Hopkins the bridge railing bulged instead of breaking. The bridge is 100 feet above the Rock Creek canyon stream at the point of the impact.

Movie-Jobs Seen For Local Youths

Two Twin Falls youths, Bill Folsom and Gaylord Toler, hope that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will continue filming of "Northwest Passage" in the Payette lakes country this summer, because if the movie producers return to complete the film, Folsom will serve as a lifeguard when river and lake scenes are filmed and Toler will be employed in the property department.

Folsom returned yesterday from Ponderosa, the Boise Y.M.C.A. camp on Payette lakes, where they aided in construction of six new cabins. One of the cabins is sponsored by Twin Falls residents.

The six cabins are the first unit of a series planned, they related.

In July they will return to the camp, Folsom to serve as lifeguard and the saving instructor and Toler as a leader. Both are prominent in the Twin Falls high school activities.

Chicago Agency Asks Data on Twin Falls Attractions

Pan American Tourista Society, Inc. will help publicize the Twin Falls country, the local Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

The society has requested that a "check list" of attractions in this locality be provided for group publication.

Twin Falls is one of only 200 cities in the United States that was requested to submit information on tourist attractions.

Mrs. Vivian Anderson, Chamber of Commerce secretary, said that she was preparing an itinerary for the tourists society. She will include a dozen natural and scenic attractions on the tour schedule.

The society claims a "nationwide membership of discriminating motor tourists" offices are in Chicago.

Military Service For Albin Fann

BURLEY, June 28—Final tributes were paid Monday at the Albin L. D. S. church for Thomas Walter Humes with Bishop Belliston officiating.

Veterans of Foreign Wars and members of the Auxiliary received the final cortege at the church and acted as escorts to the cemetery where graveside services followed the church service.

At the church the Albin State Normal school quartet sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and prayer was offered by H. P. Lloyd. The quartet sang "Crossing the Bar" and President Leonard Ball of the Idaho Falls D. S. Stake and Joseph P. Payne, Burley, were speakers. Mr. Ball is an uncle of Mrs. Humes.

Mrs. Joseph P. Payne sang "Sleep, Soldier Boy, Sleep On." Bishop Belliston made brief remarks and Mrs. Payne sang the closing number, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Benediction was pronounced by Mr. Hoosinger.

Graveside services consisted of the playing of the Foreign Wars Veterans, a volley was fired and taps sounded by the ladies of the Auxiliary Legion who also assisted in the service. Burial was in the Albin cemetery.
