Idaho Legion Points To Wind-Up of State Convention Sessions

Delegates to Adopt Program, Choose Leaders For Coming Year After Eventful Day

Idaho's American Legion prepared last night for the wind-up today of its 21st annual convention after a day that was highlighted by National Commander Stephen F. Chadwick's visit, a two-mile long pageant-parade and contests last evening in which a dozen drum and bugle corps and school bands participated.

Convention sessions, resuming at 9 a. m. today after a day's recess while committees shaped their reports, will take action on committee reports, elect new officers and choose next year's meeting place.

In Lists Most frequently mentioned for department commander is H. W. Christy of Lewiston and Homer Hildner of Boise.

Commander's invitation to press the invitation to the 1940 convention. The national commander addressed an audience that filled the convention hall in a local theater.

He proclaimed a militant Americanism, declaring the Legion had been "looking through these districts for 30 years and found nothing in Communism or Nazism which is compatible with our ideals."

He left immediately after his address to attend the Washington Legion convention at Spokane.

Following the street view of the 22-block line of march, 10,000 persons witnessed the parade that moved off at 3 o'clock and took two hours to pass the reviewing stand. In line were school bands and drum and bugle corps that were to compete in the contests. All were composed of boys and girls, many of them sons and daughters of Legionnaires, and there were no adult musical organizations in either parade or contests.

Montana delegates distinguished guests at today's convention session will include George M. Gosman of Dillon, commander, and Herbert Kilber of Helena, adjutant of the Montana American Legion department. With Mrs. Gosman, Miss Gosman and Mrs. Kilber they arrived in Twin Falls last evening and will leave tonight for the Washington department.

Interests centered on reports of the convention's committee on budget and dues and constitution and by-laws to which the department Commander Price's sweeping recommendations for re-structuring state organization and re-arranging the department's financial set-up.

Officers installed following the election will include locally elected commanders of the Idaho Legion's eight districts: They are: District 1, Arthur Zimmerman, Bonner; District 2, Orrin A. Burroughs, Pocatello; District 3, J. J. Mannall, Boise; District 4, Elmo Pugh, Gooding; District 5, E. J. Schell, Dubois; District 6, Willie Page, Grace; District 7, William Fisher, Blaisy; District 8, Preston Thatcher, Salmon.

Federal Officers on Train Wreckers' Trail

Railway's Investigation Uncovers Clues in Tragic Derailment

RENO, Nev., Aug. 15—Federal officers today took over investigation of the wreck of the steamline train "City of San Francisco," and direction of the search for the man who, trainmen say, deliberately derailed the train, killing 23 people and injuring 109.

The search was spurred by clues toward the identity of the man, or men, who moved a rail car and thus hurled the 17-car train into a Nevada canyon last Saturday night.

"We have some definite evidence," said A. D. McDonald, president of the Southern Pacific company, who took charge of the railway investigation, "but it is of such a nature that we do not feel free to discuss it at this time."

An unrevealed number of men were seen on railway yards and "hobo jungles," and were questioned as the search spread over Nevada.

Reno police still held a man booked as Bob La Douce, 23, of Lewiston, Mont., although Police Chief Andy Welliver said previously he expected to release the man. He was mostly with the men who had been questioned by authorities investigating the wreck.

"We are divided in their opinion as to whether the crime was the work of one or two men, possibly with a third man who played it was the work of a lone band man—a man with a diseased brain—possibly one who entered the train as an individual on the train, satisfying that grudge without regard for the lives that might be snuffed out."

"A man would be a fool to take another into his confidence in a thing like this," he continued. "A confederate would sooner or later be exposed and the man would be exposed."

Authorities asked to see a letterhead addressed to "The City of San Francisco," Reno, Nev., dated August 15, 1939.

"I slipped on the tracks and stopped in 900 feet, about half the usual distance for that speed."

"Then I ran back to where the cars were. The lights had gone off and the cars picked up a lot of dust, so I couldn't see a thing."

"I followed the fireman, Jim Kelly, My God, Jim, I guess they're all dead."

He talks to Telephone "Jim said it sure looked like it. He gathered up some splintered pieces of tie to make a fire and started hiking about a mile and a half to a telephone."

"I was sure I was back with me, but we had to wait till daylight to do much good."

"I was spread something over the body of a woman we had killed."

"I'm thinking Democrats of the deep south and Republicans, through a coalition, have turned the left as far as the new deal is concerned, and turned the country south on the path toward sane thinking."

DWORSHAK HAILS COALITION VOTE

Business May Expect Greater Consideration, Declares Congressman

Idaho's second district congressman, Henry Dvorshak of Burley, is of the opinion that American business may expect greater consideration in the future than it has received in the past. He credits a congressional coalition of Democrats and Republicans with this development.

He is the only member of the Idaho American Legion department. Dvorshak is in Twin Falls attending the annual convention of the organization's state convention, which he was invited to address. He returned from the convention Thursday and stated that he expects to remain in Idaho until the next session of congress and to visit a number of communities in the district.

Ants Behave Like Fascists With 'Women' as Dictators

(By the AP Feature Service) Do you have any little fascists around your house? If you are bothered by ants, chances are you do.

They love to "boss" you. "Ants and Men," Dr. Carl P. Haskins, director of Haskins laboratory and research associate at Harvard, tells of many "fascist" traits, between locusts and ants, and large ant colonies. For example, "Common to both," writes Dr. Haskins, "is the absolute complete subservience of the importance of the part played by an individual in the community to the interests of the greatest activity of that community as a whole."

Overward with the Ants Dr. Haskins believes that, for many, these similarities are worth noting. For instance, he says, a still wet behind the ears compared with ants, who 20 million years ago, had just begun evolving. "They are, in fact, highly-developed ants, and are showing off 'primitive' traits," writes Dr. Haskins. "It is possible to reconstruct the story of their evolution much more accurately than the story of man's, since the stories show up in particular patterns. He believes they are a better idea of our own future by studying the more advanced 'civilized' ants."

Dr. Haskins says that the "boss" nature of ants is not new. "While the ants have matured through millions of years and in some cases are existing in great numbers as relative upstarts, the evidence still indicates that the human totalitarian state is too immature to be anything more than a local development, and that it is poorly fitted to be imposed upon a culture which as a whole has hardly outgrown its entry youth."

Reassuring Factors But for those who fear that fascism is about to sweep the human world, Dr. Haskins offers these reassuring factors. Inherently, ants tend toward totalitarianism because the reproductive process is centralized with the queen. "Thinking, fortunately or otherwise, are exercised almost entirely of its greatest physiological quarters of democracy—the general distribution of reproductive capacity among all members of the colony," Dr. Haskins says.

45-Day Shooting Season to Open On October 22

Bag Limit on Geese Reduced in All Zones

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Duck hunters throughout the United States will be allowed a 45-day shooting season again this fall.

From 1935 until last year, the season was 30 days, due to a diminishing supply of the fowl. But in 1938, upon recommendation of the Bureau of Biological Survey, hunters were granted an additional 15 days of shooting.

The rules for 1939 were announced today by Secretary Ickes after they had been approved by President Roosevelt, accepting a few recommendations made by the biologists.

The principal changes are: Hunters in the 72 zones that form the intermediate zone—a strip of states across the middle of the United States—will be permitted to wait a week longer before launching away at the year's first duck.

Idaho, Oregon, Montana, Utah, Wyoming and Washington are included in the intermediate zone. The season for ducks, geese, wild swans and coots will be from Oct. 22 to Dec. 31.

The daily bag limit on all zones was reduced from five to four in all zones.

Ickes said the Biological Survey recommended the reduction in the bag limit of geese because the birds did not appear to be in an actual factory condition as last year.

Other details: The regulations place the daily bag limit for ducks at 10, but the possession limit is 20.

When a daily limit includes three ducks, geese and coots, hunters may take no more than six of any one, or more than three in the aggregate of these birds.

Regulations place the daily bag limit for ducks at 10, but the possession limit is 20.

WHEAT FAILS TO RETAIN ADVANCE Prices Retreat From Day's Highs, Closing Below Monday's Mark

By FRANKLIN MULLIN CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Wheat prices reached the best level in about two weeks today but then tumbled 40 cents yesterday.

The day's price range was only about a cent a bushel, which limited the narrow character of the market. Nervous fluctuations in quotations, reflecting comparatively minor transactions, resulted from the small interest in wheat.

Part of the late weakness in wheat was in sympathy with a decline in corn, which some traders attributed to signs of harvest over-forecasting from the country and to uncertainty regarding out of various crops, covering the manufacture of wheat which will be detailed on 1939.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/2 lower compared with yesterday's closing. September 45-1/2, December 45-1/2, and 1940 45-1/2.

Legion Commander Declares 'Isms' Holds Nothing for United States

The American Legion has been looking through dictators for 20 years and has found nothing in the past that has been compatible with American ideals of life or government, declared Stephen Chadwick of Seattle, national commander, who urged in Twin Falls yesterday that people maintain the American way.

Commander Chadwick spoke to 300 Legionnaires, Auxiliary members and laymen at an open meeting held at the Orpheum theater in the morning.

"We members of the Legion found during the war, when many of us traveled in the far corners of the earth, that there was no government on the face of the earth that offers so much freedom and peace as does the government of the United States," Chadwick declared.

It was welcomed by J. D. Price of Malad, Idaho department commander, and laymen at the open meeting held at the Orpheum theater in the morning.

Chadwick declared that the American Legion has been looking through dictators for 20 years and has found nothing in the past that has been compatible with American ideals of life or government.
