U. S. Ship Operators Protest to Congress Over Neutrality Bill

Legislative Leaders Emphasize Prime Purpose to Keep America Out of European War

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Ship operators, fearing a sharp reduction in their business under the pending neutrality legislation, protested sharply today to congress leaders in charge of that measure.

Their requests for changes in the resolution were met, it was said, with a firm "no" and a statement that the legislation was intended to keep this country out of war, with other considerations secondary.

The congressional leaders further told the shipping people that it is by January when congress meets in regular session, the act should appear to be working to their serious disadvantage. Legislation could be enacted then for the relief of the shipping.

The protest came, it was said, from United States lines, from the Dollar Line, from firms operating their own ships to import fruit from South and Central America and the islands of the Caribbean, and from Pan American Airways.

They were concerned about the provision of the law forbidding American ships and aircraft to transport any materials whatsoever to belligerent countries. The application of this provision to the British and French possessions to the south of the United States was of particular concern to the fruit companies and the airlines.

May Stop to Refuel
The latter, on its passenger route to South America, makes several stops at French and British ports. Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the foreign relations committee, the author of the resolution, was sharply reported to have said that under the proposed law, Pan American air liners could continue to stop at these points for refueling, but could not deliver mail or passengers.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee contradicted in a radio speech tonight what he said was a popular impression that the administration was proposing the repeal of the neutrality act. He said the administration would "put teeth in our present neutrality law," and strengthen it vastly.

He asserted that numerous letters which have been received at the capitol urging retention of the embargo on arms shipment to belligerent nations were based either upon the ignorance of the intent of congress or are the result of vicious propaganda.

Borah-Lindbergh Center
Another development today was a joint conference between Senator Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Borah (R-Iowa), a leader of the opposition repeal of the present embargo on arms shipments to belligerents.

It was uncommunicative about what was said in the course of the conversation, beyond telling reports that neutrality legislation and the embargo were under discussion.

American Legion Demands Well Armed Neutrality

Veterans' Organization Declines to Take Sides in Congressional Contest Over Arms Embargo

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 27—The American Legion today demanded a well armed neutrality— but declined to take sides in the congressional struggle over the arms embargo.

Delegates to the 23rd national convention of the organization adopted a resolution insisting that congress continue in session during "the present grave crisis," that "appropriate action be taken to preserve the peace, sovereignty and dignity of the U. S., and that our armed forces be expanded immediately to maintain our neutrality."

No stand was taken on the Roosevelt administration's proposal to lift the ban on shipments of implements of war to belligerent nations, the only explanation offered was this sentence:
"In the present world crisis, conditions may change so rapidly that the position of the American Legion at this time on specific legislation may be wholly inadequate in the near future."

With an expression of "full confidence in the president and the congress," it called for steps to safeguard the nation's peace but left to the section and representatives the duty of determining how this could best be brought about.

The report of the Legion's foreign relations committee on the subject was adopted by a yeas vote with 10 nays.

Commander's Ruling
National Commander Stephen P. Chidwick ruled that neutrality was the only basis for action and that the Legion should not take sides in the congressional struggle.

"Immediate" steps by congress to provide a supply of raw materials and a hospital ship, the naval and military force of at least 1,000 ships, were demanded.

Nazis Expect New Deal With Russia

Unconditional Surrender Announced Of Poland's Capital After 20 Days Of Modern Siege

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, Sept. 27—Besieged Warsaw, reportedly laid waste by bomb, shell and fire, surrendered unconditionally tonight, the Nazi high command announced.

The German communiqué reporting capitulation of the Polish capital after 20 days of modern siege, shared attention tonight with the expectation in informed quarters that a far-reaching German-Russian accord would result from the flying visit of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop to Moscow.

Warsaw probably will be handed over to the "beating" Nazi army, it was said, and General Johannes von Blomberg has been ordered to arrange the terms of the city's surrender.

(The Warsaw radio, which almost throughout the siege had been on the air with exhortations to Warsaw's citizens and soldiers to resist the invaders, was heard in Budapest as late as 2:45 p. m. today; 6:45 a. m. M. G. T. its announcer insisted the city still held out and would resist to the last.)

The surrender, in the German view, marked the end of the short but furious fight, which started 27 days ago today.

The German high command, after the first brief announcement, issued a second communiqué as follows: "Warsaw has capitulated unconditionally. Formal surrender of the city to the German army command will take place September 29. (Friday.)"

It is estimated the military garrisons occupying the city exceeds 100,000 men.

Other terms of the surrender were not made known immediately, but it was indicated the German had insisted upon elaborate guarantees for the "protection" of the civilian population.

Castles Approach
It was reported, too, that the German army had secured guarantees to prevent attacks on the civilian population upon the occupying forces had a military government ready to enforce such measures.

It was also reported that the 4,000-ton freighter Metell had been torpedoed and that five of her crew of 24 were missing.

The Soviet press sharply attacked Estonia and accused the little Baltic nation of harboring naval bases for foreign powers.

Unofficial reports persisted the Soviet was making demands for concessions to erect fortifications in Estonian waters in the Gulf of Finland and the Baltic sea.

FRANCE EXPECTS NEW PEACE OFFER

Diplomatic Strategy Sighted in Massing of Troops on Western Front

(By H. TAYLOR HENRY)
PARIS, Sept. 27 (AP)—Adolf Hitler was reported tonight to be speeding the concentration of his troops on the western front to be used as a club to induce France and Britain to discuss peace terms.

Advices reaching Paris from Germany through neutral countries indicated the Nazi leader was preparing to make a formal offer of peace unless France and Britain, resulting from the partition of Poland between Germany and Soviet Russia.

Both France and Britain are officially and repeatedly on record with the declaration that there will be no peace until the Hitler regime has been destroyed and Poland's independence restored.

Most military as well as diplomatic opinion, however, pointed to the possibility of a German peace offer—perhaps before the end of this week.

It is for this reason that Hitler was believed to have sent his foreign minister Joachim von Ribbentrop to Moscow today ostensibly to discuss the partition of Poland.

Actually von Ribbentrop was reported to be trying to persuade Joseph Stalin to sign a pact at least give the impression that he is ready to discuss the partition of Poland.

Which Germany could use as a threat against the French and British unless they were willing to call off the war on his terms.

It was for the same reason that Hitler was believed to have issued urgent orders to his high command to clear up Poland quickly so there would be no time for a German peace offer.

It was also reported that the German high command was preparing to move in a steady stream across Germany pouring more and more troops into the western front.

DROUGHT THREAT IN FARM BELT

Government Officials Worried Over Late Sowing of Wheat Crop

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Agriculture department officials expressed concern today over the possibility of drought conditions which have developed in the heart of the nation's farm belt and have caused a considerable delay in seeding the important winter wheat crop.

Likewise, many livestock farmers, confronted with burned pastures and a shortage of feed and water supplies, are being forced to sacrifice some animals unfilled. Still, supplies in some sections have been curtailed.

W. E. Dodd, director of the agriculture adjustment administration's western division, reported upon his return from an inspection tour of the Great Plains, Rocky mountains and Pacific northwest that planting of winter wheat was "rather behind than ever known."

A wide area extending from the central Rocky mountains to the west through the Mississippi valley is affected by a four week shortage of moisture. Dodd said conditions were more "acute" than in the autumnal periods preceding the serious droughts of 1934 and 1935. Agriculture officials here have been unusually high temperatures.

The weather bureau in its weekly weather and crop bulletin, said wheat water was badly depleted in Ohio, Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Montana and Oklahoma. It said that in western Oklahoma, the ground water table was reported to be the lowest ever known.

Officials said that unless drizzling rains were received soon, prospects for next year's grain crops might be affected. Normally, fall rains have an important bearing on yields the following summer.

Dodd emphasized, however, that there was no danger of a shortage in wheat. He said that should the 1940 crop be unusually small, present supplies would make up the deficiency.

Likewise, the nation has large supplies of livestock feed crops.

George, my neighbor, has been feeding a pair of cattle every winter. Folks who know George give him credit for being a real farmer. At least he always seems to get big yields on everything (including kids) and everything he raises on his place looks good (including the kids). I asked George whether he made out better on just plain farming, or if the income was better from the cattle. He said he didn't know which was the best—the two seemed to work well together. I suppose he meant that by having cattle he could "eat" up his alfalfa, bean straw, clover, hay, corn, etc., and by having lots of manure he naturally raised better crops.

BERGDOLL TELLS OF EVADING LAW

World-War-Draft Dodger Says He Sneaked Back to United States

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll calmly informed a federal court today that during seven of the 10 years he was supposedly a fugitive in Germany he was actually living in his mother's home in Philadelphia.

Moreover, the World War "No. 1" draft dodger, who had been indicted for evading the draft, said he had been in a Maryland hotel, usually, Bergdoll testified, the money was hidden in a closet in his mother's home.

Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, his mother, also corroborated his testimony at his trial for desertion and escape and added, under the questioning of the civilian defense counsel, Harry Weinberger, that she had loaned $500 of the money, perhaps $400, in Liberty bonds to him.

His pretty blonde German-born wife, Bertha, also corroborated her husband's testimony. Bergdoll, now grown plump and middle-aged, said he visited the United States twice during the period of his self-imposed exile, staying four years the first time, and three years the second, but never venturing from the Bergdolls' castle in Philadelphia.

As actually he dodged the military authorities, he dodged the immigration laws, he disclosed. The first time he came home was in 1929, Bergdoll said. He traveled on a passport, issued to J. Amman, a German hotel porter; the second time under the name of John Sparks.

Weinberger put Bergdoll on the stand to combat the army's contention that the statute of limitations was still in force since the time spent out of the jurisdiction of the army doesn't count. The statute of limitations, Weinberger said, was two years.

After Bergdoll testified, the army prosecutor, Major Archer Lorch, called Eugene (Mike) Weeber, former Bergdoll family chauffeur, who testified with Bergdoll to Germany and remained there five years, and technical Sergeant Frank Zimmer, who identified Bergdoll as the man he tried to arrest in Eberbach, Germany, in 1931.

The government hoped in this way to establish a prima facie case of Bergdoll's long residence in Germany; and even produced a passport application made on Oct. 1, 1934, in which he swore he had lived in Germany since 1929.

Weinberger's move, therefore, was something of a surprise.

GAME ROOM OPEN EVERY SATURDAY

Recreation Center Moves to Fill Demands of Patrons

Demand for game room activities has increased so rapidly that it has been found advisable to keep the "game room" at the Recreation Center open on Saturdays. Miss Vernie Richards, city recreational director, announced yesterday.

Hours on Saturdays will be 1:30 to 6:00 p. m. and 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. she said.

Purpose behind the move is to give access to the game room to persons who do not have the opportunity of using it during other days of the week.

It will also be available to persons who come to Twin Falls only on Saturday. Miss Richards stated. Games available to participants are ping pong, basketball, deck tennis, bola ball, ring toss, bean bag throw; quilt games downstairs are checkers, rummy, pick-up, steele, and others. New games will be added throughout the year.

FLIGHT CAPITAL WAS FOREWARNED

BY RICHARD WALDO

New York—Today is number-day harm for flight capital. As custodians of the huge fortunes which have come here from all corners of the earth, New York bankers have some strange things. There is seemingly no end to human ingenuity when it comes to safeguarding one's own money.

FROM A careful inspection of funds of the "democratic" camp far from the East Coast, it is clear that "leaders" refers to top-notch politicians, bankers and industrialists. That they have no real confidence in their country's future is obvious. It is interesting to note how utterly the Kaiser was criticized when he became apparent that a major portion of his fortune had been transferred to Holland long before there was any hint of trouble. The Taxation Department found that the Kaiser's holdings were understood to have exceeded 100,000,000 guilders by 1917. The British and French slanks also take shelter here. However, because the Austrians can't afford to build a shelter, they are forced by mail from one bank to another, and they have to find somebody else and somewhere there is always a clue to the identity. It's a very simple game, and in just a few days, the Austrian capitalists have been completely wiped out. I have already praised the small fry in their flight by several ticks. It was thus that the Austrian market was stirred into a reflex of trouble abroad. Even the financial markets of the world were stirred. The world's people began to sign property at the beginning, but the Austrians were not. At the present time a huge wave has been sweeping over the world. Just how many ticks of those little arrows have been sent to the members of the French ruling class, I am unable to say. It is impossible to say accurately, because the French ruling class is the conservative estimate for both the British and French individuals.

The same can be said, in a general way, for the Austrians, the American families and ex-kings. The Kaiser's family and the American investments have been stirred into a reflex of trouble in the form of mortgages on high class property. The world's people are not in exception. The Emperor of Austria, the Royal family of Austria, the Kaiser's family and others have sent sub-politics. As it is, the dignity of the social sciences can be maintained. But what can be said with emphasis and absolute authenticity is that a goodly number of English and French scholars have been so much more here for reasons of their own. The term was first struck off the pages of stereotypes, and prior to that of the French franc to most of the slugs, judging by what has been going on in the flight capital market. It was coolly anticipated, those in the know. They acted accordingly.

POOR PENMANSHIP
POOR PENMANSHIP is a fine accomplishment. No matter how fine the writing machines may be, handwriting will always be a scribble, an indelible art that anyone can't possess. We cannot all become experts, but every one of us can learn to write with grace and with some regard to beauty of form.

Some children have poor coordination, and this makes penmanship difficult. With which teaches a child how to examine himself and check up on his behavior, and for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of Twin Falls Normal, P. O. Box 16, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. Enclose a self-addressed stamped 4-cent envelope.

finds a pupil whose penmanship is so good that he is asked to be the child's coordinator, and exonerates himself by having the necessary papers.

Little children in the early grades are clearly intelligent and capable of adjustment of the accessory muscles, but find it difficult to make the adjustment of what control the finger and thumb muscles have. The child has power, the fingers are large muscles so they can do a great deal of work, and direct his eating implements so he can eat, like he can have developed a pen, or he needs. That comes with the age, and the child's hands are still the hands of a child. He must not be asked to make fine adjustments in his penmanship or in any other activity. Let him be a child, and let him learn for the time being. Let him learn to write and to print and to write with the large letters.

The older children usually learn to write and to print, and to write especially if they have first made a study of the letters. That is, they ought to be first made to write and are made to speed up their writing and to print. They are likely to have this good form of ly in their attempt to keep time. If that form has been the speediest, it has not been so much harm to the form.

In this older group we find children with faces so full of life, and coordinations which yield slowly to treatment; and it is for such children that the letters are especially useful. We do not let them learn to write, or use any form of penmanship, but we do not ask too much in form or in content. The letters are written, typed, or stenciled, to use the typewriter. Typing is useful to all who write to us, and the letters are written in cursive and hands get help faulty coordinations and so improve the penmanship that the letters form a true handicap.

Some poor spellers are helped by the letters. We find that the letters are the children who do not see the letters clearly in terms of the letters that enter the mind. We find that the children who do not see the letters clearly in terms of the letters that enter the mind. We find that the children who do not see the letters clearly in terms of the letters that enter the mind.

Typewriters are expensive and all schools are not equipped with them. It is usually possible to get caught of them for the children. The machine is designed for purposes other than the writing practice for which machines are used. It is a good idea to look for a second-hand machine for their special needs can get one, and it is a good idea to get one. Even one would help in the training of children whose writing is often defeated by poor coordination.

BAPTISTS TOLD INDIAN HISTORY

Redmen Still Retain Human Values, Says College President

After one hundred years of mismanagement and a hundred years of abuse and intolerance by white men, the American Indians still retain human values, President R. D. Weeks of Eastern Illinois College, Danville, Ill., said here last evening.

Dr. Weeks gave an interesting talk on Indian history to 180 persons assembled at the Christian church here for the annual fellowship supper of the Idaho Baptist convention.

Three day sessions conclude today with election of officers and presentation of resolutions major items of business.

George Warberg of Twin Falls was toastmaster of the evening and introduced President Weeks.

Indian's thought that of their group, never "individual," President Weeks said.

"They were communalistic in their ways. When they were communistic, they didn't hunt to secure enough food for individual hunters and their families. Rather, they secured enough for all in the village."

"That American never realized that present. We think only of ourselves."

"He told me that reference to Indians as treacherous is false. 'America has kept no treaties they made with the Indians. White men broke every treaty first,' the president of the Indian college said in respect to the Indians."

"There are a total of 350,000 Indians in the United States, at the present time and 800,000 in the past. I have never heard the gospel of Jesus Christ," Dr. Weeks related in pointing out that the Indians have a missionary field with a supreme opportunity to do good.

As the supper concluded, Baptists heeded a call to worship at the Baptist church, the evening service.

Miss Corrine Opper, Salt Lake City, associate city pastor, discussed the Indian problem, and Dr. Sanford Fleming, president of the Berkeley Baptist church, discussed the Indian problem.

During a two and one-half hour afternoon session at the Baptist church, Rev. Ezra Durston, Salt Lake City, discussed Christian education, and Dr. William G. Brown, president of Linfield college, McMinnville, Ore., again lectured.

Rev. H. Brown, president of the "Right Side of Our Money" and Rev. Lem A. Carter, Salt Lake City, covered spiritual work in various fields.

Guest speaker, Rev. George L. Clark, Twin Falls Presbyterian minister, treated "The Church and Social Issues" as a guest speaker on the afternoon program.

Comprehensive discussion of values and educational opportunities available at Linfield college was given by President Brown at the morning meeting.

Later, President Fleming covered kindred material on his school, the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School.

Closing sessions Meetings conclude today, final day of the three-day assembly, with Judge W. H. Witte, Pocatello, to discuss "Ordination to the Gospel Ministry" at 10:45 a. m. and Dr. L. E. Barnett, Twin Falls, to cover "Leadership Education Adult Program."

Morning meeting opens at 9:15 a. m. with the call to worship. Afternoon meeting starts at 1:28 o'clock and the concluding evening gathering at 7:28 o'clock.

Committee appointed yesterday, whose work will be confined to this convention, included:

Nominations: Mrs. B. C. Pandey, Pocatello; Rev. I. G. Roddy, Boise, and Henry Lehman, Boise; Resolutions: Rev. B. C. Speer, Pocatello; Mrs. C. C. Hargrove, Boise, and Walter Macgregor, Pocatello; and presider: Rev. I. G. Roddy, Pocatello.

Registration: Rev. Chester Northrup, Boise; Mrs. Dodson and R. C. Munro, both of Twin Falls; Review meetings: Mrs. Mayhew, Salt Lake City, and Rev. J. S. Bailey, Idaho Falls.

Reception Set for Castleford Teachers CASTLEFORD, Sept. 27.—The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church will sponsor a public reception for the Castleford Teachers Friday evening, Sept. 29, at the Methodist church.

At the meeting Thursday, Mrs. Martin Miller, program chairman, reviewed the book, "In the Steps of St. Paul." Mrs. Bill Kinyon played a piano solo, "Thine Own," Dorothy Clement and Thelma Taylor sang "The Lord is My Shepherd," accompanied by Mrs. H. A. Kinyon and Anna Laframman sang "Little Gray Home in the West," accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence O'Neil.

Mrs. H. A. Kinyon and Mrs. George Clement were hostesses. The next meeting will be Oct. 5 at the Methodist church at which time Mrs. C. O. Smithson, Buhl, will give a talk on the McKinley Memorial health camp.
