California Gives Roosevelt Wide Margin at Polls

Garner Forces Quickly Concede Victory to Third Term Advocates; Indiana Incumbents Lead

(By The Associated Press)
Incomplete returns from yesterday's primary elections showed California—President Roosevelt running far ahead of Vice President Garner and two other states.

Indiana—Incumbent Governor seeking re-nomination all in the lead, including those opposed by Townsend old age pension organization, Florida—Senator Andrews ahead in his contest for re-nomination, Francis P. Whitehall leading for Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7 (AP)—Roosevelt third term forces were sweeping virtually every county in California and supporters of Vice President John Nance Garner quickly conceded victory to the president's backers as returns from the presidential primary rolled in rapidly tonight.

Incomplete counts from 10,462 of the state's 13,511 precincts favored the Roosevelt "harmony" ticket with a commanding lead of 450,384 compared with 72,549 for the opposition.

An unopposed "ham and eggs" delegation headed by Willis Allen received 50,162 and the liberalized "New Deal" group headed by Louis E. "Governor" Ella Patterson, who bolted the Roosevelt state and formed a ticket of his own, got 30,650.

Republicans also turned out in force despite the fact that they had no choice of tickets. There was only one unopposed state on their ballot.

Their count in 7,301 precincts was 240,554.

The Roosevelt ticket, headed by Governor Gilbert L. Olson, who has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential nominee, showed overwhelming strength in nearly all the major counties, particularly in densely populated Los Angeles.

Garner forces did best in some of the valley counties, namely Kern, San Joaquin and Shasta, but even there the Roosevelt strength was overwhelming.

County "wrecks" the Roosevelt ticket in the "Rocky Mountain" state, where the leader of the Garner movement in California, said he was not a vote for Mr. Garner x x x we extend our congratulations to the president and to the delegates to the national convention.

Cal. P. Erickson, executive secretary of the Democratic state central committee, immediately called upon the various Democratic factions to "unite for a splendid victory in November."

"We said victory would be gained unquestionably."

INDIANAPOLIS, May 7 (AP)—Incomplete returns from today's election primary indicated that the efforts of the Townsend old age pension organization to unseat incumbent Governor Charles A. McNabb, George W. Gillette, both Republicans.

The youthful Gillette, who with McNabb, incurred the enmity of the pension planners by voting against their proposed legislation, fought ahead of the elderly, portly opponent, Frederick Landis, Jr. for the second district nomination as returns were tabulated tonight.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Representatives of the fruit and vegetable industry in Idaho urged the wage-hour administration today to exclude processing plant workers from the maximum hours and overtime pay provisions of the wage-hour law.

The request was presented at a wage-hour hearing by E. L. Hunt, chairman of the Idaho Fruit and Vegetable Association, who said that the industry is not in a position to compete with other processors in the state unless it is exempted from the law.

Holland Reports Tulips in Bloom

New York, May 7 (AP)—The Netherlands radio station reported the tulips in bloom tonight by announcing its customary weekly report from an English language broadcast picked up by NBC at 7:45 p.m. (EST).

In sending off the broadcast, the announcer said "due to conditions which are known to you" he would not give any weather report and would say "only that it is spring in Holland, with the tulip fields blooming and making a most spectacular sight for television."

German Columns Advance On Leeuwarden, Arnhem

Dutch Cut Communications To Outside World, Call Men To Arms

(By The Associated Press)
Official German sources today emphatically denied foreign reports that two Nazi columns were advancing toward the Netherlands frontier.

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Two German columns are advancing toward the Netherlands from Bremen and Dusseldorf, a highly reliable source said here tonight, adding that they were the cause of intense military preparations and disruption of the four country's international communications.

This source, kept informed from Europe despite rigid restrictions against communications in the area involved, was the same which advised the Associated Press a short time previously that the German minister in Washington had been ordered to take control of Holland's interests outside the mother country, in spite of a clash with Germany.

This latter report was contradicted in Washington within a few minutes. In Washington there was no such report.

Objective Named
The German troops were expected to advance rapidly, and this source stated that they were heading "for Leeuwarden and Arnhem." This would mean that the German objective is believed known in Holland.

Arnhem, on the other hand, is 100 miles south of the Belgian border, and is connected with Germany by rail.

If this advance were correct, Germany could be preparing another "action" movement such as it used so effectively in Poland—sharp, lightning strikes to break up the invading forces to spread out and to occupy intervening territory after reaching their first objectives.

Telephone Lines Cut
AMSTERDAM, May 8 (AP)—The Netherlands cut off all outgoing telephone calls to all points abroad from 10 p. m. last night until 8 a. m. (2 a. m. EST) tonight.

It was officially explained that the telephone lines were severed during the night for the use of the government, which yesterday canceled all army, navy, air force and anti-aircraft communications.

Telephone calls to the Netherlands from abroad were not affected. Telegraphic service was only nominally disturbed. Telephone calls to the Netherlands were stopped at 8 a. m. last night, it was announced.

Troops on Move
Holland's trains were crowded with soldiers and sailors returning from the front after the war in Poland, in a sweeping order, had canceled all army and navy leave.

Two more were being stopped at German hands as last night, it was announced.

That virtually no exceptions were made was also announced.

INVADED NATIONS' FLAGS WAVE AT WORLD'S FAIR

NEW YORK, May 1 — Flags of five invaded nations will wave this summer at the New York World's fair, whose slogan is:

"For peace and freedom."

Czechoslovakia was absorbed just before the fair opened last year, and Poland was invaded just before it closed. Finland resisted Russia during the winter, Denmark and Norway were overrun just recently. But all of them will have exhibits at the fair, which opens May 11.

Not far from their exhibits will be the statues of the four freedoms, symbolizing everything France, which the United States stands for, has the billerolls will also exhibit at the fair: France is assembling a display, "France at War," for her big white pavilion, and Britain will continue to show examples of its traditions, industry and culture.

The price again replaces "The World of Tomorrow" which was shown for the first edition of the New York World Fair in 1939. The pictures have been lowered and new shows and exhibits planned.

The Czechoslovak pavilion and the Polish pavilion will be the foundations, principally from American orations, of Czechs and Slovaks.

On the pavilion's facade will remain the three words of Communist, Tito-Communist, and Communist.

"After the tempest of wrath has passed the rate of the country will return to the, O Czech people."

The Polish pavilion will be financed by the Polish government. It will contain a gallery of photographs. The pictures will show Poland's public institutions, and the ruins before, during, and after the war. The pictures are new. The theme will be that Poland's foundations have not been shaken, and the nation will be reborn.

At the end of the pavilion will have been forced out. At the end of the main hall a Polish flag will Flank at half staff, a symbol of national mourning.

Shock undimmed by the catastrophe that overtook it last winter: the exhibit has proceeded with plans for its exhibit. Articles in wood, particularly in oak, are the most noticeable part. The official announcement that Denmark would participate again in the exhibition was made in 1945, when war was being waged. Occupation of the country did not alter its plans. The exhibit will feature sculpture, porcelain and glass, famous Danish artists, and a collection of old and new. The exhibition is a testament to the country's resilience and its ability to deal with the social reforms and legislation that have made the country outstanding.

The exhibition is dedicated to the independent government, at least during suspension of sovereign rights in Denmark, plans to have an exhibit in the exhibition. The exhibit is a testament to the resilience of the nation and the resilience of the nation's people, which kept the nation alive in Europe.

Sweden's display contains many of the same items as the Danish exhibit, but it is a testament to the resilience of the nation and the resilience of the nation's people, which kept the nation alive in Europe.

Surveys Results of Campaign

POISKE, May 7 (AP)—The Idaho advertising commission, preparing for its meeting later this month, looked today at the potato industry's efforts to publicize the product of 20,000 potato producers.

Members of the present commission, which was organized in 1926, six years ago, surveyed results of a nation-wide campaign and pointed to facts and figures that showed the potato had become the most popular at the highest point in two years.

They looked back to 1932, when 25 million acres of land in Idaho produced an average of 25 bushels to the acre—a crop of 250,000 bushels, virtually all of it sold to processors.

Today, with 12 million acres, Idaho land produced an average of 23 bushels an acre—a crop of 276,000 bushels, according to figures reported by federal experts at $11.75 a bushel.

During 1935 with a budget of $50,000, the commission carried through a campaign that has won it wide public contact—the story of the Idaho potato; the seal the commission says makes it particularly noticeable; and educational material made public in the best way: to cook Idaho

China, and perhaps she is also weakened militarily, in numbers and fighting power. The famous remark made by a Chinese to Will Rogers, when there was some lightning over there a few years ago, deserves to be remembered. The day's news told of something like 200 Chinese killed to five Japanese. And the Chinese gentleman smiled contentedly. "Bime-by," he said, "no more Japanese!"

The Chinese, vast in numbers, can bide their time and whittle down or absorb the invaders, until finally, as has happened many times in history, nothing is left of the enemy but a human ripple.

Other Points of View

OUR OUTWORN CONSTITUTION

The Tribune has for many years advocated the calling of a convention for the revision of Idaho's constitution. Indeed has harped upon the subject so much it suspects its readers may be weary of it. But it is gratifying to note that the cry is being taken up by the press and influential leaders in many parts of the state, indicating the dawning of a more general recognition that Idaho really does need a new constitution. The latest reiteration to the ranks is the Idaho Daily Statesman at Boise, which declares that "a general re-vitalizing would do the country no harm, and in all probability save the people annoying expense of continual repair."

The Statesman points out that in fifty years the constitution has been amended forty-two times; twenty-five amendments have been proposed and three have been to be voted on next November. It continues:

No one can pretend that a 1940 collection of lawmakers could do a more sane job, more intelligently speaking, than did the convention members of 1890. Nobody knows what new amendments may arise in five, ten or fifty years. But experienced legislators and laymen do know portions of the constitution are so out of touch with present conditions that they are impossible to use.

Constitutional conventions have been urged since 1890. Time after time the proposal has been sunk by partisan fear. If the call is heeded by the people, the framers fear a democratic revolution, and the voters fear a revolution.

It might not be kind to the life members of the last convention drastically to revise their work on the fiftieth anniversary of statehood, but it would be a healthy sign that days of growth and progress.

The arguments the Statesman advances are persuasive. The heretofore document that at present serves as the fundamental law of Idaho is a hodge-podge of provisions, many of which are out of date.

The revision of the constitution is a difficult problem. The legislature, by two-thirds majority vote, is authorized to call a convention to revise the constitution. It is a question of whether they desire a constitutional convention should be called. If the vote is against it, the constitution will remain as it is.

A convention, preferably small in number and selected on a non-partisan basis, undoubtedly would be the best way to revise the constitution. It would be a member of such a body and the material and wisdom of the state would be a privilege.

Idaho's second half century of statehood. The duty of the convention is to make a revision of the constitution, retaining what is good, rejecting the obsolete, and creating a new constitution.

The Statesman's article is a good one. It is a reminder to the people that the constitution is not a sacred document, but a living one. It is a document that should be revised and improved.

Stockholm Forced to Comply With Nazi Economic Demands

NEW YORK WHIRLIGIG

PASSIVE. No previous item in the news has been so passive. The passive attitude in diplomatic and banking quarters as the British retreat in Norway. Now delivery is regarded as the beginning of the end, the allied Nordic reversals have the consensus agreed on a number of consequences.

Swedish neutrality is safe—probably for the duration. Under the allied fleets risk more tonnage than can be spared for a mass attack on the German "rescue" of the Swedish archipelago, Stockholm, seemingly isolated from allied help, is expected to comply with all German economic demands. Even in the event of British success, Swedish neutrality is expected to occupy the Swedish mine belt off the coast of Norway. The British navy is expected to be ordered to the south without an allied ship to contest the sea.

Spain, German and Italian agents have been telling, rather than asking, the Spanish government what it will do. If the fight involves Gibraltar, France has similarly insisted that the Spanish government must make a decision in favor of either axis power on either side in North Africa. BRIDGE TRAFFIC BRINGS WARNING

State Officer Asks Drivers to Aid in Making Bridge Travel Safe

Citing the devastating destruction to old cars that were sent over the rim near the Twin Falls bridge, Jerome intercommissary at the recent toll-taking ceremony as an example of what could happen to the new bridge, state police officer at Jerome, has issued a driving warning prompted by great increase in travel since the bridge became toll-free.

Although the speed limit on the bridge is 25 miles an hour, motorists are failing to observe this, as well as the light-dimming statute; and a blinded driver, as a driver out of control on the bridge could too easily cause a fatal accident, he pointed out.

"Guard rails on the bridge are not heavy enough to hold a motor car to avoid an accident. The metal-rails from the question of how to place them," declared the officer.

Hinting at the increase in travel which has made special safety practices essential is a survey conducted from 8:45 to 10:45 p. m. Sunday when 322 cars passed over the span. This would not include the heavy truck crowd.

"Reduce your speed on the bridge," Officer Small warned. "There is a 40-mile-an-hour limit on the bridge and within a few days we expect official signs to mark the northbound side of the bridge to the Jerome toll gate. Maximum speed on the bridge is 25 miles an hour."

Perry Breckington, state police officer, with headquarters in Twin Falls, who issued the warning, operate in keeping auto travelers from marring the free bridge record.

Double lines warning against passing should be observed. An example of how accidents have occurred Sunday when a motorist cut in front of a car carrying a boat, and an approaching car, which was also traveling at excessive speed, was unable to avoid the shoulder of the road to avoid an accident.

Monkey Business in Twin Falls

JUST HOW MUCH respect Wally, the mischievous little monkey owned by H. G. "Chick" Hays of Twin Falls, has for newspaper photographers is still uncertain, but he is definitely interested in their equipment. Here he is shown as he appeared over a press camera yesterday in his home at the Hays Batcher. Wally is now about seven months old and is passing through the "cute" stage when his antics amuse many who pause to watch him and his Java monkey parents. The parents were obtained from California five years ago by Mr. Hays, and Wally is their third offspring. The name was inspired by the visit of Wallace Hays of the movie fame to the Twin Falls section at the time Wally put in an appearance. In an adjacent cage are housed several red squirrels which attract their share of attention. (News Photo and Engraving.)

HOUSE REVIVES HATCH MEASURE

Committee Chairman Denounces Bill as Hillman

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—The House Judiciary committee reversing itself, voted today to give further consideration to the Hatch political practices bill which Chairman Sumners (D-Tex.) later denounced as "infamous" and as tending toward a Hillman form of centralized government.

With Sumners not voting, the committee decided on a 14 to 11 roll call vote to take the bill "from the table," thus reviving it as a live committee issue. This would be a 14 to 10 record vote of last Wednesday to shove it.

A few hours later, the chairman arose in the house to say emphatically he opposed the measure's chief provision, curbing political activities of all state employees to whom pays the federal government contribute.

Assuming that state rights would be infringed, he said: "Where business is it to tell the people of my state what they can do? Have we got to come here and have some two-by-four tell us free people what they can do? We are at the greatest system of government or keep right on the road we're on."

He said one of the routes could not help lead to a "Hillman, a Stalin or a Mussolini" and asserted: "I can't believe that our people have so degenerated that we go to have Uncle Sam down there and keep them from being crooked in some little backwater."

Representative Guyer (D-Iowa), who favors the bill, forestalled approval "without delay." Representative Dempsey (D-NH), house sponsor of the legislation, surmised that the committee would give the legislation its sanction at its next meeting Thursday.

The Day in Washington

(By The Associated Press)

The House Judiciary committee reversed itself and voted, 14-11, to reconsider the Hatch bill banning political activity by state employees paid with federal funds. Chairman Sumners (D-Tex.) said the measure would tend to "destroy the republic."

Secretary Edilton told the senate naval committee that the German air force could not destroy the British fleet and that the battleship still "backed up" the defense.

James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, said at the White House that the United States would be in "great danger" if Germany won the war.

The treasury lifted penalty duties on Italian silk imports in a step interpreted as a gesture of friendship for that country.

Senator Norris (Ind-Nev.) called "Edger Hoover" the greatest hoodlum for publicity on the American continent and criticized the federal bureau of investigation on the senate floor.
