ENGLAND TERMED PIPE FOR ATTACK

German Communiqué Tells of Increased Pressure Against Britain

BERLIN, June 22 (AP)—Evident is the pipe for attack on the Nazi quarters said tonight.

As this view widened in Germany the day's continuing flow of increased pressure against England from the air and on the sea.

British coast communities last night in another mass demonstration of air power, they will go back.

German service Director Aus Deutschland declared that England is "an ideal subject for attack" in that it is a "country of the destructive air forces and for blockade."

Moreover, every hour of delay in the French retreat at Compiègne forest helped the German army to make the French evacuation more hopeless, German sources said.

More than 20 per cent of the British Isles have been stepped since the entry of Italy into the war and the collapse of France, the news paper said.

British ships are now needed to bring the same amount of food from Australia that one ship formerly could bring from France.

Sea service continued, while 90 per cent of the sea transport has been lost.

Chickens and pigs must be slaughtered because there is no shipping available for their export.

The communiqué said 25 enemy planes were brought down June 21, 20 of them on the ground. Shipping tonnage 45,626 tons was destroyed by submarines in the Atlantic, and 11,000 tons of English transport of 11,000 tons.

government discussed with the German terms of armistice was said to have been held out for the "soldier's peace" which Premier Petain demanded.

There was no need of being order. Apparently the troops must continue to hold their lines until a better agreement is reached with Italy.

Not an inch, agreement spokesmen said, is the armistice effective.

Along the western front, the front, the German press reported, have made no advances south of the river Lahn. Eastward, however, they pushed the line of the wide front.

On a narrow plain in the north, the French resist and drove off French tanks and drove off German tanks.

Scarcely information available in the front of the remaining French troops in parts of Alsace and Lorraine, along the German border, indicated they do not completely cut off from the main French center and are believed to be in a tactical deep valley through the mountains bordering the Swiss frontier.

1,000 Tough Fighting Men Invite Nazis to Come and Get Us

They are cut off from other French troops. Completely surrounded, they fought on as "Isle of France" men were fighting in the Indian of the legion.

The forts where they have established themselves are Le Joux and Le Luchet, near the Swiss frontier. They are cut off from other French troops.

The German commander at Pontarlier received a telegraph call from the legionnaires at Le Joux and Le Luchet inviting him to "come and get us."

In one attack, five parachute soldiers were dropped on top of Le Joux fort. They were shot.

The forts, well stocked with supplies and ammunition, have the way of German troops attempting to push through the mountain country around the bulge of Switzerland to join Italian troops in the Alps. The defense works guard the gorge of the Rhone and Drava rivers and an international railway from France into Switzerland.

Paratroopers have been shot down in the night sorties in which the legionnaires attacked German positions and combed the countryside for barbed wire and cattle.

FRENCH COLONIES BRITISH PROBLEM

Overseas Possessions May Receive Place in Empire

By KIMBLE L. SIMPSON
The fate of France's overseas empire is of greater concern to the world at large than even the fate of her fleet, now reported in British hands.

There are definite limitations upon usefulness to the British of the French fleet—fourth in size among world navies. Lacking the industry ashore that created and maintains it, no fleet would remain an effective fighting force beyond the exhaustion of its available stores of ammunition for its guns and spare parts for its complicated mechanisms.

The greatest danger that Britain faces in the French fleet was that both the French fleet and an unimpaired French industrial establishment to repair and maintain it would fall into Indo-German hands. Given that, German or Italian crews could be quickly impressed and trained in the use of French naval apparatus to make that fleet a deadly added menace to Britain.

Out of Reach
In British hands, the French fleet of less value. British industry is not geared to French naval specifications any more than is German or Italian industry.

Deprived of the support of the industry and trained personnel ashore, the fleet would be of limited value in war.

But what of France's orphaned overseas colonies and possessions? They are definitely out of German or Italian reach while Britain still holds the sea. Not until they are forgotten that in the last dark hour before France reached the end of her endurance and sought assistance, Britain proffered her full political and economic union.

The two governments declare that France and Great Britain shall no longer be two, but one Franco-British union. The British have proposed and French rejected joint statements.

The constitution of the union will provide for joint organs of defense, foreign, financial and economic policy, and during the war, for a single cabinet command.

Unions of Nations
There was more of it to unity citizenship, merge all resources, share all costs of war rehabilitation and presumably weave into a single nation the whole vast world fabric of French and British possessions and interests.

The latest word from the French temporary capital at Bordeaux said that France, Britain and the British offer because there was no time to put the plan in operation.

But it is a striking illustration of British thought at this dire hour in her history, and of the post-war Europe she is planning to create. It is the first long step, involving even preferred submergence of Britain's national identity, to attain a United States of Europe, even of the world, for there is little question that should such a union ever be solemnized it would be open to all the little nations of the Near-Eastern continent and to their overseas dependents.

HARDWICK ENTRY FOR STATE POST

Jerome Assessor Fourth in Field for Republican Nomination

BOISE, June 22 (AP)—The field for the Republican nomination for assessor of state is narrowed to five today with Hardwick, veteran Jerome assessor, leading the field.

First to make the plunge was Walter V. Day, Twin Falls, former farmer. Next was Frank F. Swan, Gooding publisher 23 years. Then James W. Keating of Harrison, the party candidate in 1938, came out again.

On the Democratic side, George H. Curtis of Boise, the incumbent, has yet to meet opposition.

Hardwick, well-known throughout Idaho, has been Jerome county assessor 15 years, serving from 1927 to 1933 and continuously from 1939.

He has attended practically every legislative session since being in office and shepherded the $5 automobile license tax bill to enactment in 1937.

He was born in Paola, Mo., in 1876 and came with his family to Pullman, Wash., in 1893, moved to the New Price prairie in 1906 and has since lived in Idaho.

He attended Washington State college and studied law at Stanford university.

He is married and has a son and a daughter. The son, Eric Hardwick, is engineer, serving from 1939 as Black canyon project at Emmett.

He attended the University of Idaho in 1906 and 1907.

Justice Alfred Budge and John Carver, United States district attorney, both may step in, capital case looking on.

Budge, a Republican, has had nothing to say publicly. Neither has Carver, a Democrat.

Reliable sources, however, said Carver either would announce or renounce his intentions by July 1.

All the signs pointed more and more this week toward C. E. Roberts as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for superintendent of public instruction, now that John W. Condie has given up the job in favor of that of state high school inspector.

Condie is assistant now. Friends say he plans to announce this week. So far, the only Republican after the position is J. M. Murray of Elmer.

Condie's resignation took capital democracy by surprise. None out of his department had even an inkling he would not run again.

The gray-haired, deliberate school superintendent at Preston always has been a good sportsman, able to pick up comfortable votes for the party.

Nevada Reclaims Parole Violator

BARRY BADE, 32-year-old truck driver, yesterday afternoon began the trip back to Nevada state prison which he left under parole. He had been held here since his arrest earlier in the week on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, and was taken into custody by Deputy Warden Berryman of Carson City, Nev., to be returned there as a parole violator.

Bade had previously waived extradition proceedings and had been held in the Twin Falls county jail.

Axis Partners Turn Eyes to France's Empire

THIS ASSOCIATED PRESS MAP shows how the French empire (black area), parts of which may go to Germany, Italy and even Japan in the event of a final Axis victory, is the axis dictator to keep hands off French — or any other — possessions in the western hemisphere. The Japanese government is interested in what is going to happen to French Indo-China. France herself has a population of 42,000,000. Her colonies have a population of more than 21,000,000. Besides the principal ones shown, France has several cities in India and islands too small to be shown on this map.

WARTIME DRAFT SYSTEM CHANGES

U.S. Would Call Recruits to Factories as Well as to Trenches

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Machine warfare would work a change in the draft of manpower if the United States should again be drawn into war.

The system now in use by the war department, recruits would be called to the assembly lines of factories as well as to the front line trenches.

Sixty per cent of the 10,000,000 eligibles under the prospective first call for compulsory enlistment would be kept at home so they may make the most of their skills to speed up production of arms, ammunition and supplies.

Even skilled workers who volunteered to fight would be carefully sifted from the ranks into those branches of the army and navy which require technically trained men.

This method of guaranteeing the highest possible output of military needs to support the fighting front has been adopted as a result of World war experience, which taught that withdrawal of men from industry as to make efficient operation impossible.

The system was used piecemeal during the World war, but only after development of a labor "bottleneck" national defense forced it. Next time it would be used fully from the beginning.

First Step Taken
The first step—enabling laws and regulations, drafted and waiting for war department piecemeals for presentation to congress with the time comes—has already been taken.

The second step—educating employers to the necessity of churning in advance the employees most vital to wartime plant operation — is now underway.

On that day, the war department's "protective mobilization plan" automatically would call out the army and the national guard.

At the end of that time, the draft—selective service—would go into effect, with machinery almost the same as that used during the World war.

A wide-spread organization would be set up, stemming from the president through the Governors to local boards. The area covered by each of these boards would correspond roughly to counties within the states, except that if such areas included more than 25,000 persons it would be divided among several boards.

The boards would be composed of citizens unaffiliated with the military. It would be their task to decide which of their neighbors should go to war and which should, for one reason or another, stay home.

Physical disability would be an excuse for keeping a man home. Family dependents, who cannot be separated from their relatives, would be another.

Ministers of the gospel would be exempt.

So would licensed marine pilots. From the military standpoint, however, the most important deferments are those workers listed as "necessary" for "necessary" industries.

Full-Time Employment
"Necessary" in all cases means full-time employment, which, if withdrawn, would lower the efficiency of the industrial plant in question.

The available labor supply would always be known to those in charge of the mobilization plan because all those eligible for war duty would be registered and would be required first to questionnaires listing their skills and experience.

Skilled workers in "non-essential" industries would be encouraged — by high wages and exemption from warfront service—to move to essential industries when shortages developed.

This might involve movement of workers from city to city to meet the demand. In that case, the worker either would move or his exemption from fighting would be revoked.

DISABLED AIDED BY ORGANIZATION

Association of Crippled Persons Finds Jobs for Handicapped Workers

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—The golden rule is paying dividends in jobs for the disabled.

This report came today from the men behind a Golden Rule club whose members—all crippled by accident or disease—spend much of their time looking for work for other handicapped men and women.

The group is part of the Disabled Persons Association of America, chartered in Illinois as a nonprofit organization, campaigning to rehabilitate the visibly disabled and eliminate any discrimination against them.

Its president is O. M. Brodhead, who had made a success as a construction and expansion director despite the crippling effects of infantile paralysis. Its vice-president is J. A. Schell, a prominent musician, as a boy, lost a leg as a result of a high school football game accident.

Among its 7,000 members listed by the officers is Selma Stedel, brilliant young Chicago pianist, who has distinguished herself with musical societies despite the fact that she was born with but one hand.

"My club is attempting to interest employers in the warably handicapped on the basis of efficiency," said Stedel. "But of the more than 100,000 unemployed set up by the United States employment agencies there is not one that some handicapped workers can't fill as well if not better than others who are physically perfect."

Miss Mary E. Hamilton Weds E. Laubenheim at Home Rites

At a ceremony performed at 9 o'clock last evening at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Miss Mary Eleanor Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hamilton of Hazelton, became the bride of Elmer Laubenheim, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Laubenheim, Rev. H. G. McCullister, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated at the simple nuptial ceremony, performed before a flower-decked fireplace in Laubenheim home. The couple was unattended.

Mrs. E. Laubenheim

Delphinium and madonna lilies were combined for the decorations before the fireplace, and a similar color scheme was carried out in the room dress and table arrangements.

The ceremony was witnessed by members of the immediate families of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hamilton, son of Twin Falls parents of the bride, with whom she has made her home for several years.

The lace-covered table was centered with a tiered wedding cake surrounded with wedding lilies and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was flanked by lighted white tapers in crystal holders.

Mrs. Laubenheim was graduated from Twin Falls high school with the class of 1938 and is now employed in Twin Falls.

Mr. Laubenheim was graduated from Twin Falls high school with the class of 1935 and later attended Long Beach Junior college. He is now employed at the Orange Transportation line in Twin Falls. The couple will reside at 409 Jefferson street.

DETROIT, June 22 (AP)—Philly Higgins' timely single in the ninth inning that scored Hank Greenberg gave the Detroit Tigers a 7-5 victory over the New York Yankees today and kept the easterners five and a half games ahead of the fourth place Yanks.

The victory, coupled with Boston's defeat at Cleveland, lifted the Tigers into second place.

The winning rally was made at the expense of Oral Hildebrand, who came to the relief of Spud Chandler as the inning opened. Alton Benson who hurled the last inning for the Tigers got credit for the win after he relieved the tiring Tommy Bridges.

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Milton Johnson of the Cincinnati Reds outpitched Bill Lohman of the New York Giants today in a tight pitching duel, 3-1, and the Giants dropped back to third place in the hectic National League pennant race.

The pitcher had by Ernie Lombardi to thank partly for the victory for it was Lombardi's eighth inning home run that decided the game.

It was the first time the Reds had been able to master Lohman's deliveries this season, and last year he was their worst nemesis, beating them four out of five times.

The Giants blew a chance to stage a ninth inning rally on some hits, but failed to score when Babe Young singled to right. Moore, for some reason, stopped at third after rounding the bag and then was cut down at the plate when he made a belated attempt to score.

The Giants got their only run in the seventh on Moore's double and Billy Werber's hit through Joe Judge's safe hand.

Returns to Dodger Camp

MAKING a speedy recovery from an attack on the head by one of Joe Bowman's pitches, Joe Medwick returned to the Brooklyn lineup yesterday, as a pinch-hitter. But his appearance didn't help the Dodgers any as the National League leaders went down to defeat at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

CLEVELAND, June 22 (AP)—The rampaging Cleveland Indians found Boston pitching to their liking today and rolled up their seventh straight victory, 7 to 1, to clinch game Boston's sixtieth defeat.

Bill Nicholson of Chicago Soars Into Second Place in Bat Rankings

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The slug and downhiller of the National League's championship race has nothing on the individuals seeking the league's batting crown.

Harry Danning was back on top the loop again today with a .392 percentage, and Merrill May of the Phillies, who was in front last week, is down in sixth place.

Bill Nicholson of the Chicago Cubs was not even among the first 10 but he soared right into second in the rankings after Friday's games with a .328 percentage.

Arrayed behind Danning and Nicholson were Joe Moore, New York; Dixie Walker, Brooklyn; Frankie Frisch, Pittsburgh; and Jimmie Foxx, Philadelphia.

Johnnie Mize continued to set the home run pace with 18. McCormick has made the most hits, 70, and is tied for second in doubles, with teammate Bill Werber with 10.

Lonny Frey of Cincinnati has scored the most runs, 41, and stolen the most bases, nine.

Medwick Fails in Pinch-Hitter Role

BROOKLYN, June 22 (AP)—The return of Joe Medwick to the lineup (as a pinch hitter) failed to spur the Brooklyn Dodgers' identity, and they lost a decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates today.

Medwick appeared in the eighth inning and hit the bases filled and two out, but he grounded weakly. It was his first time in uniform since he was "banished" Thursday by Bob Bowman of the Cardinals, an action which precipitated a National League scandal.

By WHEATNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—A different day but the same old Cross, and the same golf stars who nearly a quarter of a century ago were always in the hole for funds for the humanitarian organization again are ready to do their bit.

In 1917 and 1918 it still did named Bobby Jones, suave young man named Francis Ouimet, and the Irish hunky named Jesse O'Connell, and a dapper chap named Chick Evans played innumerable matches for money.

New Englanders probably carry a vivid memory of Ouimet and O'Connell's swindle along over the quiet countryside, their army uniforms an incongruous note in the peace-time symphony.

Field and mature sun, with bludge and rain, the latter of which might break playtime on occasion, the four are ready for duty. They have to play in the presence of some of the top-flighters. In fact, the entire P.G.A. is behind the Red Cross fund drive.

Freddy Coconino, P.G.A. tournament man who has been in charge, pointed by Tom Walsh, association proxy, to help local committees arrange for the event. It is a living thing, he has been and will be done. "You know," he said, "that in 1918, in the year the P.G.A. was organized, it donated $1,000 and an ambulance to the Red Cross. In the next two months it hoped to raise $100,000 through a series of matches topped by the Ryder Cup-Barnes team match and Detroit July 23 and 24.

Endress Clouts Two Homers as Cowboys Defeat Russels

"Twin Falls topped two runs in the sixth and Endress had something to do with both, too, but Al Morrison and Tony Lombardi were the standouts in that inning. Endress took first when he was hit by the pitcher. Cannon sacrificed him. Tony to score, and he completed his third scoring trip of the evening on Morrison's play-ast. double by Lombardi brought Morrison in.

The Russels scored once in the fifth. One of Hayes' pitches struck Beard, following a single by Forni. A Redder's choice put Forni out at third. But Hayes' single enabled the Russel receiver to scamper across the plate.

The Russels walked in the eighth, advanced to second on a passed ball, and scored when Oldenburgh sacrificed. Willie's single enabled the Russels to win one edge in the series, the two teams wind up their four-game set tonight.

SHORTAGE SEEN IN STATE FUNDS

Discrepancies Charged to Former Law Enforcement Employes

BOISE, Idaho, June 22 (AP)—Robert Beckwith, assistant attorney general, today made public a report which said there appear to be certain shortages in the accounts of 16 former employes of the law enforcement department.

The report was made by State Auditor Calvin E. Wright and said that he had advised the auditor to institute an action against Harry M. Baynon, as head of the department, his director, as well as the two persons directly and their subordinates, to collect the sums.

Baynon has been sitting in the inventoried books held last year under the bureau of public accounts and was continued by Wright when the two persons in court gave him supervision over the affairs of that office.

"We enclose," said Wright's letter to Attorney General Taylor, "a copy of a recent report showing what appear to be certain shortages in connection with the drivers' license accounts of 16 former employes of the department of law enforcement."

The audit lists the alleged shortages as $886.50 in one case and $1078.24 in other, some of the latter being due to auditing in 1939.

Beckwith said in his opinion that under Idaho law the auditor is required to collect all moneys due the state, and make settlement of the state.

Under the act, each account must be paid within 20 days after receipt of demand or 25 after damages are to be ascertained and 10 per cent interest assessed on the sum.

Any claims under civil law thus would not be paid until such time as might be brought, Beckwith said.

The matter was out of town today and could not be reached for comment. Wright refused to comment.

British to Get Speedy Torpedo Boats

A STORM of criticism followed an announcement by the navy that it had cleared the way for the Electric Boat company of Groton, Conn., to sell to the British 20 high speed submarine chasers and motor torpedo boats originally ordered for the United States fleet. The torpedo boat shown here in the Anacostia river of the navy yard was built at the Bayonne, N. J., plant of the company and is the only one the navy has received to date. It carries four torpedoes, four machine guns in two twin mounts and a smoke generating apparatus. It will not be turned over to the British.

15,000 WORK ON NEW SUPER ROAD

Mechanized Army Constructs $70,000,000 Highway in Pennsylvania

By CHARLES FRY
PITTSBURGH, June 22 (AP)—A mechanized army of new pioneers, 15,000 strong, is pushing over the rugged Allegheny mountains, where 150 years ago the more bold of the nation's founders tolled wretched pack trails through the wilderness with their cumbersome Conestoga wagons.

Seven mountain peaks and seven miles of tunnels are being cut through the mountains by the mechanized army of 15,000 men and 300 tanks. The highway will be 100 miles long and will cost $70,000,000 to construct.

The highway links industrial Pittsburgh and Erie with Pennsylvania's capital city. Generally, it follows the route of the never completed Erie and Allegheny canal, a child of financier William H. Vanderbilt and steelmaker Andrew Carnegie.

They dumped $10,000,000 into their "pipe" railroad, then quit.

Builders of the new super road bought for $2,000,000 all Vanderbilt and Carnegie had done, and got their "wreckers" and 300,000,000 worth of equipment to take the task of making a mountain road nearly 100 miles long. There are two PWA provided $2,250,000 of the cost and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation purchased bonds for the remainder.

Its bulldozers expect this road to be the first link in a chain of super roads that will ribbon the nation.

So slight are its grades and so straight its curves that the heavier trucks and trailers will be able to negotiate the entire route without difficulty.

There isn't a red light, a "stop" sign, a left turn or a grade intersection on this ribbon of steel which is carried over streams, railroads and crossroads by 38 bridges—nearly two for every half-mile. It bypasses all towns.

One hundred and eight of the 100 most dangerous curves in the country will be straightened, and 10,000 feet of the old routes cover the massive and often mist and fog-shrouded ridges of the Alleghenies, sometimes at altitudes ranging to 4,000 from 2,000 to 3,000 feet.

The turnpike was struck. The project is altitudes ranging to 4,000 from 2,000 to 3,000 feet.

Walter Musgrave, sr., Dies at Age of 80 After Heart Attack

Funeral services for Walter Musgrave, sr., 80, prominent Filer pioneer, who died yesterday morning in California, were yesterday arranged for Thursday at the Filer Methodist church, Rev. E. L. White officiating.

Mr. Musgrave was a retired farmer, died at the home of his son, Howard Musgrave, Livermore, Calif., where he had gone a week ago with another son, C. Musgrave, Twin Falls county auditor and recorder, and Mrs. Musgrave. At that time he was apparently good health, and died following a sudden heart attack. Mr. and Mrs. Musgrave had returned in the afternoon to Twin Falls.

The body will be returned here from California and will be received Monday by the White mortuary.

Following the funeral services, the Filer Masonic lodge, of which Mr. Musgrave was a member, will conduct rites at the graveside in the Filer I. O. O. F. cemetery.

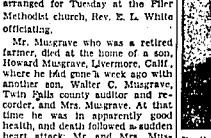

Born April 3, 1860, near Mount Vernon, Idaho, Musgrave resided in Illinois for 25 years and then moved to Mt. Rose, Colo., where he lived for 25 years and conducted a harness and saddle business. In 1890 he came to Filer, purchasing a farm in that section.

Besides being a Mason, he was a member of the Methodist church.

His wife, Mrs. Effie Musgrave, preceded him in death four years ago. Five sons, Frank Musgrave, Walter C. Musgrave and Clyde Musgrave, Filer; Harry Musgrave, Twin Falls; and Howard Musgrave, Livermore, survive; as does a sister, Mrs. Florence Wagner, Glendale, Calif.

'CLINIC' MAKES MARRIAGE STUDY

Professors Expect To Predict Matrimonial Success or Failure

BY RUSSELL LANDSTROM
CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—"Marriage doctors" at the University of Chicago are setting up a "clinic" which they believe will enable them to predict matrimonial success or failure with remarkable accuracy.

Some nine pairs of investigators headed by Dr. Ernest W. Burgess and Dr. Leonard H. Cottrell, Jr., sociologists, have convinced them that the probability of marital happiness can be determined by means of scientific scoring not unlike the principles used in intelligence tests.

The second phase of the professors' work will be a 10-year study, which includes the establishment of an institute for research in marriage relationships. Their findings up to now have been based upon 500 detailed case studies and 200 questionnaires from married persons.

"The institute," Dr. Burgess said, "will be of such a nature that not only our predictions be made, but it will be possible to check up periodically to find out how the predictions worked."

"We should find that the greatest problems in your marriage; these are the personality clashes that seem inevitable. You must recognize these temperamental shortcomings and accept them."

"It is most important that all persons seeking consultations at the institute, but beyond that, couples would have the benefit of counsel from various specialists, such as the psychologist, the psychiatrist and the home economist."

Dr. Burgess said the number of marital consultations was increasing, and that he had found an excellent resource on the part of those seeking help.

"Modern young people," he continued, "are very cooperative. They do not want advice to such as the later knowledge to use in their own way to make marriage a success."

"I agree that there has been in recent years a decline of romantic love, the love-binding sort of infatuation which made a couple incapable of seeing each other objectively. I have found that couples who can see size each other up reasonably well. What we involve is reasonable love without excessive idealization, a recognition with an eye for practical considerations. There still is romanticism but the young people of today are not so naive."

WHEAT FLOURS

Extreme Advances - Shaded Only Slightly Before Close of Chicago Market

By FRANKLIN MULLIN CHICAGO, June 22.—Wheat prices advanced today early today, but were held back by a heavy volume of a week ago, before the sharp decline that accompanied the fourth crop report.

Prospects of government farm buying this week-end and reports by some crop distributors in the early part of the week had led to the belief that wheat prices would advance.

In connection with this interest two recent developments which may have been overlooked.

The first was a development in the wheat market in the British market yesterday of important handling of hard and common wheats.

Extreme gains of 1 1/2 to 2 cents were shaded only slightly before the close and with the market higher than yesterday.
