German Bombing Fleet Lands in Central Rumania

Arrival of Air Force Strengthens Belief That Reich Supports Stand Against Further Russian Advances

(By The Associated Press)

BUCHAREST, July 2 (Tuesday) — A large fleet of German bombing planes arrived last night at the Brasov military airport, strengthening belief in diplomatic quarters that the reich is backing Rumania in its stand to prevent Russia from making further advances.

The planes' arrival at the airport in the center of Rumania, at a corner of old Transylvania, also reinforced the belief that Germany feels assured of success in its attempt to bring a peaceful settlement of Hungarian and Bulgarian territorial claims of Rumania.

Hungary claims Transylvania, while Bulgaria wants the return of southern Dobruja.

The possibility was seen that these two nations would cooperate in halting the Russian advance and in combatting the spread of Communist influences in southeastern Europe.

The number of bombers reaching Brasov was not disclosed.

Purchased by Rumania

Military observers said they were planes which had been purchased by Rumania, but delivery at this time was held to be highly significant.

The government, however, redoubled its defense preparations in Dobruja and Transylvania in fear of imminent Hungarian and Bulgarian attacks if German pacification efforts should fail.

Incidents on the Hungarian and Bulgarian borders were held in some official circles to be forms of pressure intended to force Rumania to accept the distasteful terms in negotiation.

Unconfirmed Hungarian diplomatic report issued Monday night said that another bloody encounter had occurred between Rumanian and Bulgarian frontier posts occurred simultaneously Sunday night and Monday morning.

A number of frontier outposts were attacked with rifles, machine guns and even artillery, the report said, and there were a number of casualties on both sides.

German Guaranties Sighted

The German bombing planes reached Brasov a few hours after the Rumanian cabinet had thrown out the old British guaranties of Rumania's territorial integrity and decided that Rumania henceforth must follow "the new orientation of Europe." Some diplomatic quarters interpreted this as strengthening the possibility that King Carol now has a good chance of getting German guaranties against further Soviet encroachments.

(Several days ago Rumania took political and economic steps in line with Nazi policy generally).

Bucharest was under ominous tension tonight. Guards were redoubled around public buildings and the royal palace. Defense squads appeared with full equipment.

FLASHES of LIFE

By Associated Press

Address

YORK, Pa.—A friend tried to stump mailman "Happy" Roland by sending a letter bearing this inscription:

"Look, Dick, see that boy? Tom is his father.

"Elmwood, York, Pa."

In a lower corner was this challenge to Roland:

"If ya Happy, see if you can dope this out."

Roland did. He delivered the letter to Tom (Dick see) Thompson (Tom's son).

Reason

LYNNFIELD, Mass.—The reason why the members of the United States fat man's club are fat was revealed at their annual outing. After 25 members consumed a 20-pound turkey, dozens other platters and pur away seven cakes of soda pop they gained an average of 2½ pounds per man. Top heavyweight was Charles F. Shaw, Melrose, 318 pounds.

Sunshine

KANSAS CITY, Kas. — W. H. Stone had been chief of police seven years. He carries no gun.

Two men held up the manager of his drug store while Chief Stone was working behind the prescription counter. He caught sudden, fleeting glimpses of the pair as they escaped with $18. It was the fourth time his store has been held up.

Hopkins

DALLAS—Charley Jenkins, who likes fish and fish stories, hooked his strongest catch in his own garage. And he caught even there.

Attracted by the bowling of the family pup to the garage where he had left some cookie, Jenkins found a big water snake hooked through the jaw.

HUNGARY'S ARMY READY TO MARCH

Government Warns Rumania In Protest Against 'Incidents'

BUDAPEST, July 1 (AP)—Hungary was on a war footing tonight and the dispatch of troops into Transylvania—which Hungary lost to Rumania in 1918—was expected momentarily.

Excitement was whipped to fever pitch when the government, protesting to Bucharest against "incidents" on the Hungarian-Rumanian frontier, warned Rumania of "unpleasant consequences" and called up more troops.

Responsible quarters said Germany and Italy still were striving to maintain peace in southeastern Europe, but the feeling was widespread that military action was imminent.

General mobilization was believed near after an "incident" on the frontier, in which three civilians were reported killed.

The foreign office admitted Hungary is "preparing for all eventualities."

Official reports alleged Rumanian troops had penetrated Hungarian territory at Nyak, but were driven back after an exchange of shots. Immediate quickening of military preparations followed.

Reservists flocked to mobilization centers. A full army corps was advancing toward the Rumanian border, officials confirmed.

In its reports from Transylvania (half Hungarian in population, according to Budapest) the semi-official Hungarian news agency spoke of urgently needed protection for Magyars. Thousands of Hungarian-born Rumanian soldiers in Transylvania are refusing to fight for Rumania.

GERMANY SEIZES CHANNEL ISLANDS

Nazis Occupy British Soil in Surprise Move by Air Force

BERLIN, July 1—Germany claimed her first foothold on British soil tonight, occupying the chained islands of Guernsey and Jersey in a surprise stroke by the air force.

The two pastoral islands in the English channel, famed for their fine breeds of cattle, lie like stepping stones between the French coast—now also in German hands—and Britain. The islands are closer to France than to Britain.

The high command gave little more than the bare announcement that they had been occupied. Guernsey on Sunday and Jersey today.

But its credit of a "coup de main" (surprise action) of the German air force blinded that troops had been landed on both islands by airplanes.

(The group's total area is about 75 square miles. The French-speaking inhabitants number about 150,000).

An earlier communique reported a

Balkan War Threat Diverts Attention of Axis Powers

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Soviet Russia has treated an intensifying crisis in the Balkans that could profoundly influence the course of the war between England and the German-Italian axis allies. It may already have tended to delay the Nazi "knockout" blow at Britain.

Whether for that reason or not, another week-end—Germany's favored time for launching a "blitzkrieg"—has gone by unmarked by any war incident of importance.

A virtual stalemate exists both in the west and in the Mediterranean theater, where official war bulletins reflect no major action by Italy.

Unquestionably, Russia's "blitzkrieg"—in Rumania, fashioned on the Nazi model, has precipitated a situation in the Balkans that could flame into a little world war in any moment. Nor can it be doubted that it has already diverted the attention of Britain's axis foes, for the moment at least, and diminished their hope of bringing the war in the west to a quick conclusion.

The best proof of that is to be found in the strict official silence in Berlin and Rome over the Balkan muddle, despite the fact that Russia's move, if not inspired by London-Moscow back-stage dickering, was welcomed by Britain.

NAVY PLACES RECORD ORDER FOR WARSHIPS

Army Promotes 1,350 Officers and Calls 9,000 Reserves as Navy Spends Half Billion for 45 Vessels

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 1—The navy placed the biggest order in its history today — for 45 new warships to cost about $500,000,000— just two hours after President Roosevelt signed legislation to speed up contract-letting and shipbuilding.

At the same time the army promoted 1,350 regular officers and called the first of 9,000 reserve officers to active duty for intensive specialized training while the president discussed with defense advisors a program for further army expansion with emphasis on mechanization.

Two new agencies set up by the reconstruction finance corporation arranged to buy 150,000 tons of rubber and 75,000 tons of tin for reserve stocks.

And work was started on a third set of locks for the Panama canal.

The navy, in its fourth contract-letting within three weeks, ordered 11 cruisers, 20 destroyers, 13 submarines and one large seaplane tender—193,000 tons of warship. This brought to 400 the number of vessels now under construction or soon to be started. Additional contracts are to be awarded shortly for three airplane carriers and two more cruisers.

The contracts were negotiated without competitive bidding as authorized by the new speed-up legislation.

Officials estimated that the elimination of the competitive bidding requirement would save $16,000,000 on $17,000,000 on the contracts let today and that the time required to build a vessel could be reduced 20 per cent if full 24-hour shifts were used.

WILLKIE LEAVES POWER CONCERN

Nominee Ends Business Connections in Preparation for Big Campaign

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie rid himself of business connections today, said he undoubtedly would campaign from one end of the country to the other and expressed the hope "Mr. Roosevelt is renominated because I'd like to beat him."

The Republican presidential nominee held a press conference in the small, rather plainly decorated board room of Commonwealth & Southern corporation, No. 20 Pine street, in the financial district.

Later in the day the corporation directors formally announced Willkie had resigned the $75,000-a-year presidency and directorship of the concern, effective July 10. The announcement said also that Willkie would resign all directorships and offices he holds in other companies of the Commonwealth and Southern system. Directors' meetings would be held within a few days to fill the vacancies.

Willkie, refreshed by his weekend aboard publisher Roy W. Howard's yacht, bantered with reporters but avoided specific statements on policy.

The keynote in my acceptance speech (in Elwood, Ind.) to give my views and interpret the platform as I see it," he said.

The acceptance probably will be after the Democratic convention in mid-July.

Willkie was asked whether John D. M. Hamilton would retain his job as Republican national chairman.

Three Meet Death When Boat Capsizes At Burley; Twin Falls Boy Plunges Into Canal

Tireless efforts of search parties on the mighty Snake river near Burley and in the treacherous main fine canal near Jerome had failed by early this morning to recover the bodies of four persons whose lives were claimed by the waters Sunday afternoon.

Tragedy in the Snake river where it flows past the country club at Burley came when a motorboat capsized and threw four persons into the water, only one of whom was saved; while the Jerome accident resulted when Bobby Gene McNeil, Twin Falls, 9, was catapulted into the canal as his new bicycle hit a bridge three miles north and two miles east of there.

Those drowned near Burley were Ladessa Stalnaker, 14, Junior Stalnaker 9, brother and sister, and Homer Beaver, 31. All members of the trio were residents of Heyburn and the two children's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Stalnaker.

Mary Bailey, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parley Bailey, Heyburn, was saved by Wilson Morehead of Declo.

Rescue efforts continued throughout the day yesterday after a seine across the half-mile wide river had failed to capture the bodies of the Snake river dead. Immediately after the tragedy occurred a fleet of boats combed the river, but without success. That night the shores were thronged as volunteers again sought to find the bodies.

According to Deputy Sheriff George Bray, State Policeman Holl Church and Burley Police Chief Clarence Phillips, efforts have varied from use of dynamite blasts to lines of waders on long ropes. A seine thrown across the river after initial efforts had failed was broken by pressure of the stream early Sunday morning, so that when it caught the bodies is uncertain.

The Burley accident occurred at

Glamor Girl Says She's Moved Out on Shaw, But He Denies It

HOLLYWOOD, July 1 (AP)—Lana Turner and Artie Shaw, who disagreed the day they met, still disagreed today—over whether their four-and-a-half monthly old marriage is on the rocks.

The pretty little red-haired girl from northern Idaho disclosed that she had left the dark and moody bandmaster and moved to an apartment. To which Shaw retorted:

"There's nothing to it. We were out together last night and we are still living together."

Lana, whose "exotic personality" has made her a favorite of cameramen, simply confirmed the separation. Tearful, she begged off going into details, but close friends said she already had consulted an attorney.

Hollywood was almost as agog as the separation reports as it was the morning last February when the news broke suddenly that they had eloped overnight to Las Vegas, Nev.

The Wallace, Idaho, girl who was plucked from the halls of Hollywood high school to movie stardom met the one-time idol of jitterbugs last year by the set of "Dancing Co-ed." They quarreled immediately and displayed dubious flashes of temper throughout the production.

But one night not long after they started to a party and ended up on the Nevada-bound plane. Around the tea tables, the talk was that Lana had won on the "amount of a tiff with Grayson Hatter, popular young attorney, in which she had been engaged for months.

Father Tied, Left to Die In Wild Area

Two Youths, 16 and 20, Sister And Young Husband Face Murder Charges

SHOSHONE, Idaho, July 1 — Four youngsters who bound their 48-year-old father and father-in-law, leaving him to die on the desert, remorsefully contemplated their own future tonight, some of them nearly hysterical.

The victim was Charles Sanders, about 48, a retired storekeeper at Yale, Idaho. The children had scattered to nearby towns of the Raft river and Rupert sections when the highway was rerouted to skirt the little community where their father lived.

But they held a reunion about June 21, and, as Sheriff G. M. Brown described it, enticed their father into the rumble seat of a car at Burley, slammed down the top and took out across the sagebrush.

In a gully about where the Cassia, Lincoln and Blaine counties intersect, they dumped him out and left him, a coroner's jury said, "in a condition of helplessness."

"We tied him up, so he wouldn't come back," the sheriff quoted Chester Phillips, 22, husband of Florence Sanders Phillips, 18, one of the accused children.

When Sanders was reported missing, Deputy Sheriff George Bray began to question the sons, George, 16, and Joseph, 20, their sister Florence, and her husband, Chester Phillips.

Inquest In Cemetery

After locating the body Saturday through help of one of the four and obtaining confessions, Sheriff Bray, who investigated with Cyber Cassia and Minidoka officers, State Officer Holl Church, Burley, and Deputy Sheriff Clyde Craig, Rupert, turned the case over to Sheriff G. M. Brown, Shoshone, who met the officers in the desert to take charge of the body.

While three members of the youthful group were held in the Lincoln county jail and the fourth, Joe Sanders, was held temporarily at Burley, a coroner's inquest was held Sunday evening in the cemetery at Shoshone, after which he was buried there. The jury returned a verdict that Sanders had died of exposure and that the four young performers were responsible. Coroner F. H. Howard indicated that the man had lived from four to five days before dying.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles G. Shaw of Lincoln county said tonight that first degree murder charges probably would be filed in Probate Judge Howard E. Adkins' court, morning, after which the foursome will be arraigned. They may then demand preliminary hearing or waive the hearing and be bound over to district court to enter pleas.

Statements Repeated

Statements were obtained from the three being held at Shoshone this afternoon and these corroborated earlier statements given to officers.

All contended that Sanders had been "driven as children and taken their money. They interlarded such vindicative statements as, "We gave him the same as he gave us," and "We hope that the sufferer suffers as he made us suffer," officers said.

Tracing through the grim proceedings of the night of June 21, the group went to where the father was staying in Burley, bundled him into the back of the car they drove to the deserted spot about 41 miles north of Shoshone where they trussed him with his halter and tied behind his back and left him to die. George, according to authorities, sat on top of the rumble seat and he was quoted as saying, "He hollered like hell."

Southwest Floods Cause Property Damage Estimated at $5,000,000

HALLETTSVILLE, Tex., July 1 (AP)—Flood waters swept down the Colorado, Guadalupe and Lavaca rivers tonight leaving at least 10 persons dead and property damage estimated unofficially at $5,000,000.

The Red Cross detoured temporarily from its war relief fund drive to aid centrals on flood relief in Texas.

TEXARKANA, Ark., July 1 (AP)—Near-cloudburst rains sent flash floods into cities and towns of southwest Arkansas today, forcing hundreds from their homes, beating down crops in rural areas, and stalling highway and rail traffic in this corner of the state.

Large sections of Texarkana, important highway and rail junction, went under water after a driving onslaught of rain, measured at nine inches for the 12 hours ended at noon.

SCHOOLS OFFER AID IN DEFENSE

Facilities for Training of Million Men Annually Announced

MILWAUKEE, July 1 (AP) — The National Education association today urged the government to use public school buildings, teaching personnel and educational facilities for training for national defense after one of its leaders reported that the schools could provide such training for a million or more men annually.

The association's action was taken in the form of a resolution adopted at the annual convention by its legislative committee, which is empowered to act for it. The resolution asked President Roosevelt and congress to use local and state public school facilities for defense training, rather than establish separate training schools under direct federal sponsorship.

Carroll R. Reed, of Minneapolis, president of the American Association of School Administrators, said the schools would be ready and willing to launch a defense training program when congress provided funds.

The educational association's business sessions got under way today with approximately 6,000 delegates in attendance.

Amy H. Hinrichs, New Orleans, president, in her opening address, declared that adequate education of all children was the greatest insurance America could take against foreign "isms."

"Simply stunned"

Mother of the murder-charged boys and girl, Mrs. Ione Sanders of Rupert who divorced Sanders at Rupert a year and a half ago, visited relatives in Burley today.

She said she was "simply stunned."

George Bray, Cassia county deputy sheriff for many years, said he had been called to the Sanders residence on a number of occasions before the divorce to investigate complaints that the children had been abused by the father.

The children had told him, he said, their father had tied them and beaten them and left them without food.

Since the divorce the children had made their home with their mother at Rupert.

The girl, Mrs. Flossie Phillips, was married about a year ago, and, with her husband, made her home at Rupert.

A native of Old Mexico, Charles Sanders came to Burley with his family in 1912 and a little later moved to a Cassia county dry farm near Idahome. Subsequently he operated a general merchandise store at Yale for about six years, quitting that business and returning to a stock ranch near Yale after the Old Oregon Trail highway route was moved away from Yale.

Following the divorce, Sanders was an occasional visitor at the home in Burley of Mrs. Mabel E. Nickerson, widow of Forest Lee Nickerson who died about a year ago, and the mother of 11 children, four of whom are at home.

It was from Mrs. Nickerson's residence that Sanders was taken on the ride from which he did not return.

Mrs. Nickerson had gone to the stock ranch at Yale when Sanders told her he was not feeling well, and he remained at her home, she said, to look after the garden.

Mishap Seen

She reported the disappearance to officers at Burley when she came back to her own home last Thursday, following Sanders disappearance the preceding Friday.

She found the doors open, she said, Sander's glasses were on the radio, his shoes in a corner of the room and his hat on a chair.

Officers at Burley were told the children had threatened their father.

Recently, the officers said, Sanders had visited the members of his family at Rupert, and on that occasion he told them, officers learned, that he did not intend to marry Mrs. Nickerson.

Sanders is survived by several brothers and sisters. One brother, Joseph Sanders of Scarsdale, Utah, came to Burley to take charge of the dead man's affairs. Other brothers are Martin Sanders, Mexico City, Mexico, attorney; Lee, William and Frank Sanders of Pasadena, Calif., and George Sanders of Palo Alto, Calif. Mrs. J. J. Patterson of Lehi, Utah, former Heyburn, Idaho, resident, is a half sister.

Drowning Victim Calls for Clothing

WEISER, Idaho, July 1 (AP) — Contrary to what some people thought, C. J. McPeak of Midvale did not drown in a slough near Weiser. He didn't even get wet.

Deputy Sheriff F. S. Faurot reported today McPeak failed to collect clothing and personal effects of his found on the slough bank June 21.

Finding the clothes had set off a search of the slough for McPeak's body.

What happened, the "missing man" said, was that the effects were stolen from his automobile at McCall June 14.

He first learned of his "probable" death by reading newspaper accounts of the search for his body, said McPeak, who is a lumber mill worker at McCall.

Warships Return To Pearl Harbor

HONOLULU, July 1 (AP) — A powerful group of warships of the United States fleet returned to its base at Pearl Harbor today after the absence of a week consumed in training exercises at sea.

The ships, including five battleships, an aircraft carrier, seven light cruisers and fifteen destroyers, entered Lahaina Roads, Philippine waters, was explained by Admiral James O. The nominee dismissed all criticisms of him by Democrats in Washington with:

At a second press conference, following his nomination as a utilities leader, Willkie was asked to comment on Senator Burton K. Willkie declared that "I never pay any attention to extravagant statements like those."

INSTITUTES FOR LAWYERS URGED

Idaho Bar Association Hears Argument for Meeting New Trends

POCATELLO, July 1, (AP) — Appointment of a committee on advanced legal education, to cooperate with district and local bar associations in development of legal institutes was advocated by Oliver O. Haga of Boise in an address today before the Idaho State Bar association convention here.

"Schools for practicing lawyers, or institutes, have become important because of the modernistic drift of the law," said Haga.

"Laws which the lawyers of today must interpret and apply are far from being the simple legal system that was for centuries the basis of the Anglo-Saxon law."

The committee on the proposed publication of an Idaho state law journal recommended the matter be referred to Dean Pendleton Howard of the University of Idaho, college of law, for further study during the coming year. It was propsed that Dr. Howard make a report at the next bar meeting and a definite plan for such publication be submitted at that time.

The committee reported that a survey showed a slight majority of lawyers in favor of the legal periodical to be published quarterly.

The present form of Democratic government may be preserved for individual freedom is challenged, willing attorneys, Mayor Robert M. Tayrill told the lawyers at the opening session this morning.

Other speakers included Walter H. Anderson of Pocatello, president of the association, who is retiring from office this year after six years on the bar commission, and George H. Van de Steeg of Nampa.

The committee report of Chairman W. H. Davison of Boise suggested the bar association attempt to institute unified action to decrease the costs of title abstracts by advocating—a law which would make unchallengeable titles secured clear by attorneys for 21 years.

Nearly 200,000 residents of Bessarabia and Bucovina managed to escape Sunday by nightfall, it was announced.

Many families were separated.

In southern Bessarabia, where the Russians had advanced to the Prut, the districts just east of the river were teeming with refugees who almost reached Rumania. Another river might was cut off by swift Russian motorized columns. Hundreds spent the night in fields along the roads, completely exhausted, and bitterly disappointed.

Across the river, hundreds of other refugees using blankets for tents were setting up homes in the open. Many had swum the Prut to safety.

All factories, business establishments, banks and large estates in Bessarabia and Bucovina were falling taken over by the Russian military as fast as men could be assembled to take charge.

The Red army was reported bringing heavy artillery to the northern bank of the Danube—which they control. No shipping was moving that could help the Axis, but Germany had expected to get vast stores of grain, sugar and other supplies this year.

Many crimes have been solved by police capable of reading 500 miles an hour, in the fact that the human body may not be able to withstand the terrific pressure of dives and turns at that speed.

Gunshot Fatal To Hailey Man

HAILEY, July 1.—Preston Pool, 22-year-old native son of Hailey, was dead today of a gunshot wound suffered Sunday evening after he and three companions had started on an automobile ride in a canyon west of Hailey.

Pool had gotten out of the car to turn the wheel over to LaVerne Davis of Hailey, and had started around the car to take another seat, when the shot rang out.

He was found back of the car, with a bullet from a .22 calibre rifle through his body just below the heart.

There was no reason to suspect suicide, Davis and the two young women in the car said.

Pool is survived by his widowed mother in Hailey.

BRITISH BATTLE GERMAN RAIDERS

Nazis Bomb Isle for Second Time in Less Than 24 Hours

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—German air raiders roared flight over the new coastal bases with barrages of explosive and heavily bombed this night little isle tonight for the second time in less than 24 hours.

At least 4 persons were killed and 22 injured in one northeast Scottish community.

Two raiders were shot down in blow-for-blow battle of the air, which followed extensive British bombings in Germany and the destruction of a dozen Nazi planes over France.

The invaders returned shortly before midnight and struck along the southwest coast of England and Wales, bombs were dropped in Bristol channel and anti-aircraft batteries went into action.

The spectacular aerial counter-punches came as Britain learned that at least part—an unknown part—of the French fleet has been saved for her by a doughty Gallic admiral, and posted a "keep out" sign to all the world on French mandated territory in the near east.

Vice-Admiral Mueller, World war hero in the defense of Ypres, and later a collaborator of Premier Premier Georges Clemenceau in the old diver's efforts to extirpate forever the German menace to France, was named to command the British French naval forces." General Charles De Gaulle, head of the French naval committee to continue the war, made the announcement here.

De Gaulle said there were "already several ships and air groups under his command—but their number and location were not disclosed.

While the British told all Somese that cessation of the French mandates Syria and Lebanon would not be allowed, sweating British Tommies completed a ring of barbed wire entanglements around the British shore. There is a sentry on every beach and every pier head, alert for the Nazi invasion which Britain believes will come.

The air ministry announced that storage tanks at Hamburg, Germany, were bombed and left burning. In further raids on the Royal air force last night and that British fighters over France shot down five German Messerschmitts and "probably" destroyed another seven.

Britain confirmed the German seizure of Guernsey and Jersey, channel islands, and announced that all communication with them had been suspended.

Telephone calls and telegrams were not accepted for the islands, which the British earlier had demilitarized.

SINGAPORE SPEEDS DEFENSE

SINGAPORE, July 2 (Tuesday) (AP)—Military authorities at this British base announced today the speeding up of defense precautions in view of the far eastern tension.

Trees and other obstacles along the coast are being removed where they interfere with the view from gun emplacements.

L.D.S. CONDUCT QUARTERLY MEET

Former District Attorney of Utah Delivers Main Talks

Twin Falls stake, L. D. S. quarterly conference, was held over the week-end with Charles E. Calles and Clyde E. Edmonds, both of Salt Lake City, Utah, as guest speakers.

Mr. Calles, former district attorney of Utah, is one of the most dynamic speakers of the church organization, and stirred the several thousand in attendance at Saturday and Sunday's meetings by using as his subject, "Sweet Are the Uses of Adversity."

Internationally famous as a speaker, he left the thought that it is well there you are but what you are that counts.

Mr. Edmonds, representing the central welfare committee, explained the plan of the church.

J. W. Richins conducted the meetings and spoke briefly on how international affairs may affect our lives. President and Mrs. Adamson of Dalton gardens, Roy Wood, Raymond Sedweeks, Mrs. Mitchell W. Hunt and N. W. Arrington all spoke briefly.

Wallace Strong, formerly of Twin Falls, chose as his subject, "The Power of Prayer and the Responsibilities of Parents."

At the evening services, a pageant, "The Obligations of Home and Heritage," a production built around the churchwide M. I. A. theme for this year, was presented. It proved of educational value of spiritual value and increased a greater appreciation for the dramatic arts for the packed audiences that witnessed it. Jerome, Rupert and Burley guests were in the audience.

It was directed by Mrs. Leota Bolingbroke assisted by M. I. A. stake board members. Miss Nellie McBride officiated as the reader and voices were Virgil McBride and Theron Knight. Music was directed by Evan Clyde and Hermah Christianson.

Invocation was given by Roy Wood of Buhl and benediction by Mrs. Lorinda Phillips of Twin Falls. Members of the Kimberly ward provided musical numbers during the afternoon program.

Need Ends for Water Rotation

Because Twin Falls' new 5,000,000-gallon reservoir is now in use, the system of rotating lawn and garden sprinkling may now be accomplished, according to Charles P. Larsen, superintendent of streets and water.

In pointing out that the rotation of sprinkling may soon be made necessary, Mr. Larsen expressed appreciation of the department for cooperation shown by residents.

Operating below its rated 6,000,000-gallon capacity, the filtration plant now is producing 5,000,000 gallons of purified water daily, and accumulating 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 gallons each night in the new reservoir, City Engineer P. B. Wilson said last week. During some consumption uses up most of that amount.

Before the new reservoir was completed, the engineer said, the filtration plant was operated at a rate of more than 10,000,000 gallons to supply the demand.

FOUR VICTIMS OF DROWNING SOUGHT

about 3 p. m. Sunday, and a high wind contributed to tipping of the craft, it was said, during the boating to Cassia County Coroner Joseph P. Payne. It is also believed that they encountered motor trouble and foundered.

An unsuccessful rescue attempt was made by Henry Van Engelen, Burley businessman, who was able to approach within 10 feet of where La Dean Stalnaker sank from sight.

Shut Off Water

Officials of the Northside Canal company last night announced that water in the main line canal had been shut off so that recovery of the body of Bobby McNeil by early today was anticipated. Searchers there have worked unceasingly in an effort to recover the body of the boy who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNeil, now of Twin Falls and formerly of Burley.

The lad apparently lost control of the bicycle on a steep grade between 2 and 3 p. m. and it crashed into the bridge where it clung after he had been hurled into the stream. He was returning from the home of a cousin on the new bike, which he had bought in Twin Falls Saturday night. Journeying to Jerome to visit relatives, the parents had taken the vehicle with them and Bobby then set out on the trip to visit a cousin.

Because of the force of the stream at that point, he was probably short ly submerged and aid was sought, but help would have been muffled by the waters.

The bicycle was discovered by Aubrey Johnstone, who, summoned searchers immediately.

Besides his parents, the boy is survived by several relatives in Twin Falls. He is a nephew of Mrs. McNeil of Jerome.

The Stalnaker children who died near Burley were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stalnaker. Beaver was the son of Mrs. J. V. Beaver, Heyburn, and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ethel Beaver and a brother, Bert Beaver, Heyburn. He was married March 28, 1937, and was a trustee of the Burley Presbyterian church. He had been assisting in operation of his mother's farm near Heyburn.

La Dean Stalnaker was a sophomore at Heyburn high school at the time of her death.

Junior Stalnaker was a student in the grade school there and was born August 28, 1931, at Heyburn.

STATE BUILDING FISH HATCHERY

Work Gets Under Way on New Plant Near Hagerman

Construction work on a model hatchery for warm water fish at Idaho's new game preserve at Hagerman got underway yesterday, it was announced here yesterday by Burton Perrine, head of the state's fish programs, and John Boyle, Pittman-Robertson director for Idaho.

The 11 ponds and buildings will be completed by fall, the fish and game chiefs said, at a cost of $10,000. Plans developed by the state commission call for one of the finest plants of its kind in the west.

Starting with a crew of six men, workers engaged in the construction of the hatchery will be increased later in the summer.

Perrine said that the fish and game department intended to use its bass brood stock and that plantings of the large-mouth variety will be made in southern Idaho this fall and next spring.

The Day in Washington

(By The Associated Press)

The navy placed the biggest order in its history—for 45 new warships costing about $500,000,000—two hours after President Roosevelt signed legislation to expedite contract-letting and shipbuilding.

The president asked congress to pass a "steeply graduated" excess profits tax, declaring that no one should be enriched by the national rearmament effort.

Democrats denounced Wendell L. Willkie as a "champion of disunity" and said they could beat him "easily." The Republican presidential nominee said the Democrats "must have the jitters."

President Roosevelt signed a bill lifting a 28-year-old ban against interstate shipment of prize fight films.

British cruiser of the Ofion class torpedoed south of the French port of Brest, and credited one submarine with sinking 23,000 tons of enemy merchant shipping, including two steamers "torpedoed from a strongly protected convoy."

The United States embassy and, presumably, all other embassies in Berlin were advised to discontinue all diplomatic missions in Norway, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands by July 15.

All political questions affecting those countries must be taken up through the mission in Berlin.

It was noted that France was exempted from this group; that Denmark, which submitted to Nazi occupation without a struggle, was on a different basis with both diplomatic missions and consulates remaining; and that in Poland, which was left to the Russians, embassies, consulates as well as diplomatic missions were required to close.

An autogiro's vanes are started into motion by the plane's engine, but are disconnected from the engine, by means of a clutch, just before the take-off and then operate independently, depending on air pressure for their rotation.

THE SPIRIT OF '76
by JOHN CLINTON
Always Independence means fire-crackers, pic-nics, red ants and sky rockets, to all-ways, that is, till this year. And now, suddenly, none of these things matters. I'm thinking of the thing we celebrate on July 4th . . .
Independence—the right to say what we think, to do what we want, to own what we earn, and to pursue happiness as we desire—providing, of course, that pursuit of some doesn't interfere with our neighbors.
So I invite you to join me in what we do, to spend an hour reading the Declaration of Independence. Really read it. See for yourself what you have in this day, when all almost millions of people have lost everything. Then get that chin up, and be proud of your heritage.
I'd like to send you, with my compliments, a facsimile copy of this historic document. It's printed on heavy parchment-like paper, and looks swell, framed. If belongs on the wall (as well as in the heart) of every American.
If you'll drop me a post card or write a note to Room 732, Union Oil Bldg., Los Angeles, I'll send you a free copy suitable for framing. I know you'll like it.

WILLKIE RATES SCHOOL ANNUAL

GOP Nominee Was Coach at Kansas High School in 1914

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., July 1 (AP)—Shy hints of romancy which never blossomed and praise for his athletic teams—drat that poultry show any way—are chronicled for Wendell Willkie in yellowing pages of the Coffeyville high school yearbook for 1914.

Then the Republican party's 1940 presidential nominee was a popular professor of history and in the yearbook's own words, "fresh from the University of Indiana."

Then the name listed below a picture of a somewhat high-faced man read "Lewis W. Wilkie."

He was quite a man—professor, adviser to the Y. M. C. A., organizer of the debating teams, coach of "the best track team ever turned out of C. H. S." And also mentor of the basketball team—but drat that poultry show.

That year his basketball team played 10 league games, winning six.

"The loss of the other four," the yearbook dutifully explains, "was due to lack of practice caused by occupation of the coliseum by the poultry show and the poor referees that are found to show up ever so often."

His students fancied romances between their history professor and three women members of the faculty. One writer in the yearbook suggested a telephone between his room and that of one teacher. "It would save time." (The students guessed wrong—he went back to Indiana and married a Hoosier girl).

The man has promised the Republican party an "aggressive fighting campaign" was gaining a reputation 26 years ago as an energetic orator. One caricature in the yearbook presents him as an animated pepper shaker addressing a school assembly. The artist labeled him "the per-per can of C. H. S."

In listing all faculty members under a heading, "What a high school is for" the answer given in his case was: "To makes speeches in chapel."

The question he tossed at his first debating team was: "Resolved—that the president of the United States shall be elected for a term of six years and be ineligible for re-election." The negative side won.

Somewhere there's a writer who must be blushing over this imagined bit of correspondence appearing in a "chaperone" column in the yearbook:

"Dear Chaperone—Can you send me an address where I can secure a blue tie to match my eyes. Mr. L. W. Willkie.

"Don't worry about that. Try to get a soft hat to match your head."

The author of the class prophecy predicted events for 1940. It even described an imagined visit to the White House to see the president. The man the prophecy named wasn't Willkie. It was one of his students.

Balkans Seething Again

THE BALKANS have been stirred into ferment as the result of Russia's move into Bessarabia (1) and Bucovina (2), as well as a town in a province not ceded to the Soviets by Rumania. Rumania was reported to have protested to Germany over Moscow's actions, but it was indicated Germany was not opposing Russia's moves. However, the Nazis are desirous of keeping peace in the area so that supplies can continue moving to the reich. It was reported Hungary waited only assent from Germany to regain the Rumanian province of Transylvania. (3) and Bulgaria was believed waiting a go ahead from Stalin to take southern Dobruja (4). Turkey rushed its fleet into the Black Sea (5) and also watched the Bulgarian-Greek border (6) for any move Bulgaria might make to seize a corridor to the Aegean. Yugoslavia massed troops on the Italian border to forestall any move to extend the Italian control of the Dalmatian coast. Rumania's army was mobilized and Hungary's troops were gathered opposite Transylvania.

GROWERS SKETCH POTATO CAMPAIGN

Caldwell Session Maps Advertising, Disease Control

CALDWELL, July 1 (AP)—Growers of southwestern Idaho met with the state advertising commission tonight, outlined an advertising campaign for early Bliss Triumph potatoes and charted a plan to combat bacterial ring rot.

Dealer contact work, displays and newspaper advertising will be included in the promotion campaign, to be directed in the field by T. L. Watkin and C. G. Rice.

Win Cline of Boise, advertising counselor to the commission, outlined the program.

As explained by E. N. Pettygrove, commissioner of agriculture and commission chairman, ring rot often is not apparent when potatoes are shipped, but ruins the product by the time it reaches market.

Closer supervision of seed stock, together with abandonment of infected fields, were suggested as remedies.

Other commission members present were, William Wulf of Idaho Falls, Joe Marshal of Twin Falls, I. J. Longeteig of Cuslement, L. E. Hurst of Caldwell, H. G. Peckham of Wilder and L. E. Sargent of Boise, secretary.

Two other commissioners, Charles W. Barlow of Hazelton and Frank Westfall of Aberdeen, were unable to attend.

VETERAN MOVIE COMEDIAN DIES

Ben Turpin, Funny Little Man With Crossed Eyes, Succumbs

HOLLYWOOD, July 1 (AP)—Ben Turpin, the funny little guy with the crossed eyes who always maintained he could do a "10" better than anybody else, died today.

He was 71 years old, although kindly biographers through the years always made him six years younger.

A "10" is a somersault from a standing still, start. Ben made such somersaults, and himself, famous because he didn't come out of them on his feet as others did. He always fell on his face on his head or some other unconventional part of his wiry body.

Ben started in the movies more than a quarter of a century ago, at the old Essanay studio in Chicago. He had been in burlesque and vaudeville when Broncho Billy Anderson, starting making pictures. Ben's first film starred Charlie Chaplin. Charlie knocked Ben all over the studio with two-by-fours.

Ben came west about 1914 and soon he was working in Mack Sennett's Keystone comedies.

Ben appeared in good health last year, when he was in "Hollywood Cavalcade," but his physician said today he had been suffering from asthma for several years. He suffered a stroke Sunday afternoon and died early today.

Ben saved his money. But like most ofd-timers in the movies, he was reported broke. The rumor came up last year and, coincidentally or maybe because he wanted to show 'em, Ben bought two military buildings for $50,000 cash.

There are two stories about how he got his crossed eyes. One was that he used to balance a playing card on his nose and, because he had to look at the card, his eyes looked at each other. Soon the change became permanent.

The other is that he injured an optical nerve the first time he did his famous "10."

Will Distributes Trolinger Estate

Named as joint executors were his wife, Mrs. Marjorie B. Trolinger, and his son, Huston Trolinger of Philadelphia. The mother is a resident of Cassville, Mo. Surviving also are one brother and two sisters.

Probate proceedings were started for Mrs. Trolinger by Harry Povey and Rayborn and Rayborn, Twin Falls attorneys.

Cooperation of Many Needed For National Guard Success

Role of the national guard in present troubled times and how citizens may support it were asserted last evening by Captain J. H. Seavey jr., commanding officer of Company E, 116th engineers, of Twin Falls, speaking on behalf of the national guard units of this section.

"To citizens, who in the present troubled times, desire to do more than just talk about strengthening their country, the national guard now offers a real opportunity," the official observed. "The National guard needs men, some 50,000 of them, to fill the ranks to the present authorized strength of 250,000."

It is pointed out that in this section, Company D, 116th engineers at Buhl, and Company E, and the medical department detachment, Twin Falls, can use more citizen-men more men. The chance to assist the national guard is not limited to the physically qualified men of 18 to 35 years who are eligible to enlist in the guard, as the greatest obstacle to obtaining new guardsmen and keeping old guardsmen in service has been reluctance of some employers to give their workers time off for the three weeks of field training, and occasional extra duty required of guardsmen, The commanding officers appreciate the efforts of employers who encourage membership in local units, according to the official.

"The employer who will not only permit but encourage his men to join or remain in the guard—and to the small employer that is frequently a hard sacrifice — should know that they are rendering their country a real service. The cooperation between the employers and the men of the guard, who have been willing to give up their spare time and make other sacrifices, has made the national guard the backbone of the army."

For local citizens interested in national defense and desiring to take an active part in military affairs, besides managing their own businesses, local companies offer an opportunity, according to Captain Seavey. It offers a means of learning military tactics without leaving home or business, and such knowledge in the event of future conflict would be of inestimable value.

As an added appeal to the men, besides military education, is the pay which they receive for their time in attending drills. They are encouraged to carry on extra study, which leads to promotion, and most of their officers—all local officers—have started as privates and worked their way up through the ranks. Now that there has been a change in organization, more non-commissioned officers are required than before and so promotions will come more rapidly than in the past.

"The national guard is descended from the volunteer militia of colonial America, becoming since 1903 an integral part of the army. Pay is furnished by the federal government and the states in cooperation with the local communities which provide the armories. The combined pay of units throughout the United States and various possessions totals about $350,000 per week, of which well over $500 a week is earned and largely spent in Twin Falls county," said Captain Seavey.

COURT UPHOLDS WIDOW'S CLAIM

Lumber Company Held Liable for Shingler's Accidental Death

BOISE, July 1 (AP)—A widow's right to compensation for her husband's death and a point of court procedure were decided today in two opinions in Idaho's supreme court.

In an opinion by Justice Edwin M. Holden, the court affirmed an industrial accident board award of compensation to Beatrice O'Neil and two minor children, of Orofino.

Ted O'Neil, her husband, was fatally injured June 15, 1938, while shingling a roof for the Madison Lumber and Mill company at Orofino.

The company contended he was an independent contractor, not their employe, and therefore they were not liable.

The O'Neils were married at Ontario, Ore., and formerly lived at Rupert.

Attorneys in an action at law cannot be penalized for incorrect court procedure caused by a clerk's error, the justices held in the second opinion.

Written by Justice William M. Morgan, it reversed a decision by District Judge Thomas E. Buckner of Caldwell, in which he granted a $1,896 judgment by default to K. W. Kivell of Vale, Ore., against Claude Crouch of Grant County, Oregon.

Crouch's statement, with which the higher court agreed, declared the default judgment was made possible by failure of a court attache to file papers properly, so that his counsel was misled by the record.

Falls City Civic Club Ends Season

JEROME, July 1 — Falls City Civic club members closed the season's activities last Wednesday with an annual luncheon arranged at the C. O. Minor residence in Falls City. There were nineteen members and five guests present.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with seasonal flowers and the tables were centered with bouquets of roses and delphinium presentations.

Musical numbers were presented by Ella Jean Thomasson, Ethel Walters, Edith Mae Young, and Dolores Eldred. Especially appropriate was the piano selection, "Our Flag," played on the one keyboard by the group. The girls are pupils of Mrs. A. D. Moseley.

Mrs. Katherine Eakin gave a review of the contemporary play, "The American Way," as the concluding program number.

TWIN FALLS DEMOCRAT SEEKS COMMITTEE POST

PACIFIC TROUBLE

Japan at last comes into the open and shows her hand. She has a definite plan for extending her empire. She probably will start by taking over French Indo-China, which is not only a rich and desirable country in itself but controls the route by which China has been getting war supplies to resist Japan.

With that colony would probably go Siam and the Malay Peninsula, which controls the important Strait of Malacca and the route from the Pacific to India. Below and around that region are the big, populous and enormously rich Dutch East Indies. To the east are the South China Sea and our Philippines.

After biting off Indo-China and those Dutch Indies, Japan would be ready to gobble up the Philippines. Then she would have an empire, even without China, and would be truly one of the world's great Fascist powers. China might fall to her without much effort.

We Americans have to decide rather quickly whether we are willing to have Japan follow such a program and timetable. We don't want to see French China and the Dutch Indies absorbed in that fashion, but do we want to fight for them? We don't want Japan in the Philippines, but, after deciding to let them go in 1946, will we fight to keep Japan from gobbling them up?

With this problem is joined the problem of our war fleet. It is now guarding the Pacific. That leaves our Atlantic front exposed, for it is a one-ocean fleet, little stronger than Japan's. If Japan seriously weakened our fleet, we might find ourselves at Hitler's mercy in the Atlantic.

So this is a time of decision. Shall we pull out of the Far East, and make Hawaii our western front, at least until we get our new fleet built and have a two-ocean navy?

HASTY SOUNDING OFF

Robert M. Yoder, columnist of the Chicago Daily News, complains a little wistfully of the strange effect of war news on contributors. Every crisis, he finds, "brings forth a flood of pompous verse." He isn't quite sure whether it is a relief device which helps to settle the poets' nerves at the expense of the columnist's, or whether there is some special connection between hysteria and poetry.

If it were really good poetry, he wouldn't mind. But most of the "war-torn" poets whose efforts find their way to his desk belong to what he calls the "Screaming Meemies," a school of thoroughly dispirited versifiers.

It is only fair to add that not all the hysteria is found in contributed poetry. There are plenty of writers of letters to editors, not to mention a few editors, and even some columnists, who seem to be themselves of the "Screaming Meemies" type. A bit more gardening, or swimming, or sun-bathing, or nap-taking may be indicated for the public at large. It would be folly to ignore the news, or not to be vitally interested in it. But a period of meditation and exercise wouldn't be a bad thing before rushing into public expression of one's views about it.

ONE-FAMILY HOUSES

In the first three months of 1940, according to figures of the federal Department of Labor, more than 90,000 new dwelling units were built for American families in non-farm areas. That figure represented an increase of nearly 4,000 over the similar period in 1939.

The one-family dwelling predominates, in spite of the many apartment house structures of the slum-clearing projects. Many of the new houses are found on the outskirts of cities, showing the modern tendency to keep within reach of city opportunities while avoiding city crowding.

Furthermore, many of the one-family dwellings were built by those who live in them, or at least with their help. This country's pioneers put up their own houses, sometimes with the help of neighbors, but the custom was thought to have died out with the necessity. Apparently a lot of Americans are still competent to build their homes, and like to do so even when they don't have to.

WHILE ENGLAND RESISTS

"What comes next?" writes Freda Kirchwey, editor of The Nation: "Let us hope that it will not be panic and a tidal wave of despair. The greatest disaster in the world would be not the military defeat of France or even of France and Britain, but the acceptance by the United States of the myth that Nazi Germany is invincible.

"The terrifying union of organization and armed might with implacable aggression may overwhelm the unready European democracies. But it need not and must not overwhelm us. For we have their mistakes to warn and guide us. The record of the past four years, so packed with bitter wisdom, is open before us.

"The British Empire has not been defeated. It is fighting. It is strong in resources and men; its fleets still dominate the oceans.

"The greatest weakness of British defense is the shortage of trained man-power and planes. The United States should pour into Britain the redoubled aid promised by President Roosevelt to France in its last fighting hours.

"The United States should look upon England as an American fortress standing off the coast of Nazi Europe, a bastion between our shores and the most powerful aggressor the world has known. As long as England resists, we have armed protection and time to prepare to protect ourselves. In England and the British Empire survive, precariously, the last standards outside the New World to which free men can cling."

Other Points of View

LET'S NOT APE THE DICTATORS

A dangerous thought is creeping into a portion of American thinking. It is the belief that we can only prepare ourselves against the possible aggressions of dictators by aping the methods of dictators.

Columnist Walter Lippmann advocates "an organized collective power of equal force and authority" to the power and force of Hitler. He asks for a national plan "based upon an iron discipline." These words have the ring of totalitarianism. Radio Commentator Kaltenborn on more than one occasion has ominously hinted at the necessity of tightening up the national life at the expense of liberty, as we know liberty. The idea, with varying emphasis, is bruited about on the street, in restaurants and clubrooms.

This faulty thinking proceeds along the following line: Germany, a relatively poor country, made up for its economic weakness by yielding authority to one man. This man, being the law, proceeded to do away with all democratic rights; he subjected all things to one purpose—military might. This military might is the most powerful yet devised by man.

If we are to be prepared to meet it, these theorists say, we, too, must set aside certain of our liberties, for only by some modified form of dictatorial procedure can we adequately prepare to defend ourselves against possible dictatorial aggression.

Such thinking is made and unreal thinking; it is thought which is not thought; it is mental distortion which has its impetus not in the clean reaches of the mind but in midnight fears.

The European disaster has in no way lessened the validity of democracy. It has instead only pointed the historical fact, repeated again and again in the world's life story, that somnolent nations always are at a disadvantage before nations of vigorous leadership, whether those latter nations be democracies or dictatorships, or anything between.

The European disaster has pointed another truth. We now know, beyond reasonable doubt, that modern warfare is machine warfare—and the machine and the mass production of the machine is one of the nation's outstanding contributions to the modern world. There is no nation in the world so able through national resources, inventive ingenuity and mass mechanical ability to create engines of war as we are. Must we relinquish our liberties to accomplish the building of mechanical monsters? Nonsense!—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

2,200,000 NEW TAXPAYERS

By the stroke of a pen Tuesday President Roosevelt added an estimated 2,200,000 citizens to the roll of federal income taxpayers, when he signed the emergency defense revenue bill, which reduces personal exemptions for heads of families from $2,500 to $2,000 and for single persons from $1,000 to $800. It is calculated that this broadening of the tax base will increase the number of federal income taxpayers from 3,750,000 to about 5,050,000. Two million-odd more Americans will pay income taxes and presumably should develop a more direct and personal interest in just what is being done with the money which the federal government collects.

In the long run this substantial increase in the number of tax-conscious Americans may prove more important than the additional revenue which will be derived from the lowering of exemptions. The "supertax" of 10 per cent on normal individual and corporate income taxes—to say nothing of the extra 10 per cent added to the estate and gift taxes, the boost in surtax rates, the extra 1 per cent added to the corporation tax and the increase of from 10 to 50 per cent in excise taxes—will go far toward swelling revenues. But such increases in the burdens carried by present taxpayers will not do more than provide part of the additional revenue for defense purposes. The revolutionary change is in broadening the tax base to make it more democratic.

Some may take exception to that word, "democratic," in this connection; but its use is justified. Perhaps "soak the rich"—or rather "soak the moderately well-to-do"—is a soul-satisfying slogan to the politician who poses as a friend of the masses. But it is not a democratic slogan. The essence of democracy is an equitable sharing of the benefits and the responsibilities of government. And, since the days of ancient Rome, a "soak-the-rich" program always has culminated in a policy of soaking everybody—and soaking the poor the hardest of all.

As a matter of sober fact, the process of raising a tall, narrow structure of high taxes on a small base does soak the poor just about as hard as it soaks the rich. Inordinately high taxes paid by the "big fellow" usually do not come out of any private storehouse of riches of his own. He simply turns over to the government large sums which otherwise might be distributed among his less affluent fellow-citizens in the form of wages or other expenditures—or he charges enough more for the goods and services which he sells to make up for his additional taxes. Men who never made an income tax return in their lives may not realize it, but all of them are helping to pay the existing heavy surtaxes on individual and corporate incomes.

A taxpayer never feels a "hidden tax" as acutely as he feels a tax which he pays directly to the government. Therefore, the broadening of the tax base may be expected to have a salutary effect on public opinion in relation to government finances. The 2,200,000 new income taxpayers already have a real stake in sound federal financing. But they will be far more keenly aware of their stake when they pay a plainly labeled tax directly into the United States treasury.

WILLKIE IS THE MAN

The shouting is over in Philadelphia. Also the shooting. The Republicans have nominated Wendell Willkie for the Presidency and Senator Charles McNary of Idaho's neighboring state of Oregon for the Vice Presidency.

It is a strong ticket. And the candidates have a strong platform on which to run, for it pledges the party to a return to sanity in domestic government, to a program designed to prepare us against invasion by a foreign foe and, also vitally important, to a foreign policy designed to brake our present headlong rush toward entrance into the European war.

The Statesman believes the American public is sympathetic with these objectives. There is sound reason to hope for victory if the Republicans succeed in submitting their case in simple, straightforward fashion—explaining to the people what must be built up as well as what must be torn down in order to put an end to the present reign of insanity, which already has brought economic chaos and now threatens our very national existence.

Much may happen between now and election day. Wishful thinking doesn't necessary spell success.

In any event, the Republicans have a fight on their hands. A tough fight. They have entrusted the leadership to Mr. Willkie and Senator McNary. Every indication is that these leaders will wage the battle with force and skill and that victory will bring a belated and much desired Fair Deal to ALL the people of the United States—Boise Statesman.

"A traitor is a man who leaves our party and goes over to the other one."

"Well, then, what is a man who leaves his party and comes over to yours?"

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

PHILADELPHIA — Although Wendell Willkie has confided to friends that he would like to "take on President Roosevelt"—and really prefers him to any other Democratic candidate—Republican party managers predict that the nomination of the public utility magnate as the G.O.P.'s standard-bearer will be a red light to Mr. Roosevelt.

The new dealers professed to believe that Mr. Willkie would be the easiest man to defeat—and they may be right—but their actions suggested that they were more afraid of him than any of his vanquished rivals. For they realize that in him Mr. Roosevelt—or any other Democratic nominee—will face a new kind of political fighter. He is as different from the ordinary run of G.O.P. nominees—national or state—as Mr. Roosevelt himself was from John W. Davis or William Jennings Bryan.

Mr. Willkie is quite as fast on his mental feet as the president. He is probably a deeper thinker. He is more practical in his approach to public problems. He is equally resourceful. But he possesses assets which no foeman F.D.R. has ever met in New York or the nation has possessed. He has a sense of humor. He has good nature—tolerance and a smile. He can match the President in making phrases. He has just as deep a sense of the dramatic. And the record reveals that no critic can rival him in poking practical fingers into the chinks of the New Deal armor. For these reasons—and because of recent developments in Europe—the G.O.P. insiders doubt whether the forty-five million voters will be permitted to sit in on the most exciting political rough-and-tumble in many, many years—"Kid" Willkie versus Champion Roosevelt.

Republicans are boasting that a Democratic fifth column led by certain gentlemen close to Vice President Garner aided in the stunning victory of Mr. Willkie. The same forces—Democratic and Republican—which were backing the Texan for the Presidential nomination, according to this theory, got behind Mr. Willkie after flirting with Thomas E. Dewey for a while. The significance of this statement—heard in the corners of the now vanished Republican encampment here—is that the G.O.P. expects Garner Democrats to flock to Mr. Willkie's standard.

Meanwhile, confident of a Willkie triumph over the President or any other Democrat, Willkie Republicans are already choosing his cabinet. Tentative selections include Mr. Dewey for attorney general, Governor Stassen of Minnesota for agriculture, Governor Baldwin of Connecticut for a post which has traditionally gone to New England—navy. But the surprise of this premature political Christmas stocking is the rumor that Mr. Willkie, who dotes on the dramatic as the President does, may ask Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, of New York, to be secretary of war. Fiorello got one vote for the nomination here—and a few boos from the galleries.

G.O.P.-ers who were close to the conflict in the final phases concede that the most pressing problem will be to heal the wounds which were inflicted here. The fierce rivalry has left scars which call for a master dermatologist. The candidates and their managers used savage tactics on each other. The contenders themselves did not indulge in the duels, but their closest friends did. From many a headquarters there poured forth a stream of poisonous rumors about the other fellow. The notable exception was the Willkie G.H.Q.

Offsetting the danger of continued dissension, however, is the evident hunger of the G.O.P. for victory, and their belief that they have an excellent chance to return to power at Washington. It was reflected in the entry of the unusually large number of candidates. It was shown in the almost unprecedented shop-around instincts of the delegates. More than in many years, they felt it important to be with the eventual winner because it might not be long before it would pay heavy dividends in the form of patronage and other more profitable favors. Two states—Missouri and California—scattered their votes among almost all the candidates on several ballots.

An even more serious source of concern, in the party managers opinion, is the sectional differences reflected in the balloting—the east and middle west against the west. Most of the bedrock voters for Wendell Willkie came from the eastern and middle western states, while the far western delegates registered their opposition to him. It is in this section that President Roosevelt's policies have proved most popular, and it had a hangover effect at Philadelphia. But this latent hostility may be overcome if the Republicans so shape their campaign that they become identified as the no-war party. It is in the Pacific area that anti-interventionist sentiment runs most powerfully.

While the delegates had scant time to study the import of rumors of a possible European peace, the very suggestion stirred the leaders. In their opinion, such a development will almost clinch their triumph at the presidential polls. With the end of the first phase of the European war—and a fairly mild peace settlement—it is believed that hysteria will vanish, and the battle here could be fought on domestic issues.

It would also mean, according to sentiment at Philadelphia, a general revulsion against the President's policies. His "aid short of war" to the crushed losers might plague him, also his patent sympathy with an England which made peace with Hitler. The political wise men apply the same reasoning to the possible candidacy of Cordell Hull. They figure that his role in the conduct of our foreign affairs will not bring him votes. Indeed, they feel that neither the President nor the secretary of state would be their opponent under such circumstances. And they are confident that Wendell Willkie can lick any other foeman without even extending himself.

NIGHT EDITOR

TRAGEDIES

Tragic occurrences often seem to come in epidemic form, and such was the case last week-end when four drownings and one apparent murder occurred in this section. Although occurring at separated points—near Burley, north of Shoshone and near Jerome—the incidents happened so closely together that the cumulative effect heightened the feeling of tragedy that marked the week-end and gave law enforcement officers some sleepless nights.

One officer remarked last night that he hadn't been in his home in two days.

SEQUEL

While L. E. Nichols, Twin Falls merchant police officer, was in a reminiscent mood the other night, he told the story of the young man who was trying to accustom himself to dynamite—a tale that was recounted by Night Editor.

The other anecdote which he related was of the time when he scared the living daylights out of a group of usually stout-hearted men.

A group had gathered in a blacksmith shop to eat their lunches when "Nick" drew something out of his pocket that resembled a stick of dynamite. To this he attached a fuse and began making remarks about the fact that he had stood all he could and had decided to end it all. As he was strategically located in the doorway and the shop was well equipped with tools, the others grabbed hammers, crowbars and all other available equipment and went out through the sides of the building unceremoniously and with much smashing of frame walls.

"Nick" then calmly went about eating his lunch, for the "dynamite" had been but a piece of broom handle.

RAIN

Motorists passing through Shoshone yesterday afternoon thought that they were in for a long period of rain, as they encountered a torrential downpour. Hardly had they passed the city limits, however, than the skies cleared and they were again on the hot, dry desert, which gave no hint of heavy rainfall a short distance back.

TIKET TROUBLE

There was a great flurry in the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce office last week-end after an applicant for queenship honors had come in for additional tickets and none could be found. After thoughts had started to turn to starting the presses rolling to print additional tickets, a glance at a nearby shelf revealed five packages of the needed ducats.

JEROME

To Summer School — H. Maine Shoun, Jerome superintendent of schools, left last week for California where he will enroll at Berkley summer school. He plans to be away about six weeks.

Sister Ill — Mrs. Stella Moore left last week for Des Moines, where she has been called by the serious illness of her sister, who is in a hospital there.

Eastern Trip — O. Oliver, father of Mrs. K. O. Martland, left last week for the east to visit relatives and friends.

Fisherman Fined — R. B. Brough of Jerome was fined $15 including court costs when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Worth Eldredge of Carey on charges of fishing in Little Wood river with salmon eggs. The arrest was made by Ted Davis, also of Carey, who is the game warden of that area.

Baby Clinic — The regular monthly Hazelton well-baby conference was held July 1, in the afternoon at the grade school. Patients attended according to appointments. Miss Harriet Russell was in charge.

European Writers Surprised When Convention Forgets War

NEW YORK WHIRLIGIG
By Gabriel Vogliotti

PHILADELPHIA. In a corner of the convention press section a handful of European correspondents watched the Willkie landslide and made as thoughtful a Philadelphia summary as any that went over the home wires.

Europe's scouts — from "democratic" and Toto states—saw it as incredible that a president making, policy making body could draw a parenthesis around an European war and forget it as completely as if Europe were back in the twenties. They were unable to believe, until they were overwhelmed by proof to the contrary, that during the week Marshal Petain signed over the French republic the convention actually forgot Hitler and Churchill. New York writers who left the city's war-laden atmosphere for the nomination story got the same jolt on discovering they had been writing from a political island; the Republican rank and file were mentally farther from New York than New York is from London. The nomination over, key members of the resolutions committee are confessing doubts that the foreign policy smash at the new deal is as much of an election asset as convention optimists had hoped.

Surveying their handiwork, they hope the GOP's foreign position and the Willkie candidacy will swing back the weight on the November scales. But a number of them doubt that the No. 1 plank of the Republican platform will be anything but a memory by August, and that President Roosevelt may still reverse the loss he took on the Philadelphia floor.

The GOP's first item of the platform can become an issue if President Roosevelt chooses to make it one. But party leaders here are ready for a complete reversal of policy by the Washington administration, an acknowledgment of the practical impossibility of doing anything about Europe, and a new deal drive for the non-intervention votes.

Political veterans (and here the foreign writers chime in) can make a case for the argument that at no time in the 10 months of war has the United States stood in any danger of being "drawn" in. They say that Hitler saw to that by taking all Washington abuse with a bow from the waist, and that the only chances of involvement lay in the president's option to declare belligerency. But the new deal can make the point, and prove it, that President Roosevelt was betting into a sure thing every time he raised the ante on aid short of war. It can be demonstrated with the advantage of hindsight that Hitler's velvet treatment of Washington's pugnacity was more effective than the neutrality law in keeping the president from making open war commitments.

The point needs only a vast publicizing campaign to recapture voters who were sympathetic to the allies but didn't want war. It will require a great face-saving drive by the new deal's publicity mills. But the political ammunition is there in the fact that the arms selling episode was as safe as corresponding sales to Mexico.

If President Roosevelt girds for the attack on the Philadelphia story, and capitulates to a passive foreign policy, the Republican non-intervention ace can be trumped. The campaign by November would revert to domestic issues. On this basis Mr. Roosevelt would lose his personal hold on a third-term drive, even if contemplated, which is doubtful. But it would draw the soreness from the "war party" wound just made by the Republicans, and give the new deal, or a Democratic nominee, a cleaner name by November.

This column is on the record as having caught the first hints of the Willkie surge some 20 months before the eight-week finale that climaxed in Philadelphia.

It was objective reporting to follow the perceptible growth of the Willkie candidacy at a time when the news value of the story was so slim as to appear like a New York buildup. A review of the printed record will show that the origins of the Hoosier's climb headed to so many sources—magazines, news organizations, trade unions, bankers' clubs and taxi drivers, that the total added up to the Philadelphia results long before people learned to spell the name with a double l.

Quite apart from the continental spread of Willkie's popularity, there is a forceful but self-effacing individual who figures in the climb better than par with any of the last minute organizers. He is Fred Rahter, Willkie's private secretary, and known to the New York newspaper craft as "the Faith." It was a newspaper rib over a year ago to hate Rather with the suggestion that he should try for Steve Early's job. The ribbing never took with Rahter, always a semi-religious expression took the place of the smile, and the secretary would speak: "I'm the only man in the United States who knows that when the public meets the boss, he's going to be president."

By JOHN DE MEYER

Only eight years ago they said nothing could be done. The party was dying of old age. All the political humane societies said they ought to take the old elephant out and put and end to her misery. But just out of sentiment they let her hang around. We knew it wouldn't be long. Then something happened. A young feller by the name of Willkie came along. As Republicans go, he was practically a boy, but he took over the party. He did it so fast that the politicians never had a chance to take him in hand. All they could do was watch the rooting and wonder why they hadn't thought of him before. Then it was all over before they could figure it out. The old Republican elephant was out on the lawn turning handsprings and the Democratic donkey was sitting on the sidelines complaining of the gout.

CHOOSE YOUR FRIENDS WITH CARE

"No, count me out. I won't go to any place where those two boys go. They're too raw for me."

"O, Naomi, do be a little democratic. You don't want to be snobbish. It won't get you anything. How do you expect to be popular if you're not democratic?"

"I'd like to know why you mix bad manners, ignorant manners, uncouth language and behavior with democracy. Can't a democratic boy be a gentleman?"

"O, well, you know what I mean."

Far Below Standard

"No, I don't, but I know what I mean all right. I mean I won't sit at the table with a boy or girl who eats with his knife, squats over his plate and shovels down mouthfuls of food with a noise like a suction pump. I won't go along with boys, or girls, who can't or won't use decent English.

"I can't see why being democratic should mean that one has to get down to the lowest level of the worst-mannered people on earth. If you're going to take the lowest I.Q. in manners and speech as the democratic ideal, why not say so and be done with it? Count me out."

"Well, I know they act tough and all that; but they're good fun—"

"I don't see the fun in eating like an animal, or in saying such things as, 'Dat dere guy's a hunk o'cheese.' I don't think it's a bit funny to have a boy like that paw me over, either. I am as much democratic as anybody but I just can't see where the good of the group is forwarded by taking the worst we have instead of the best as the standard. If that's it I'll stay with my own crowd and tall us what you like."

Avoid Those Who Sham

To which I heartily agree. The secondary schools and colleges have opened their doors wide enough to take in all comers, prepared or not, willing or unwilling, able and unfit alike. The ones who CAN'T soon begin to pose to impress their inability to meet standards upon those who can, as the swagger gesture, the thing to do. The democratic way of life, according to them, is the way of least resistance for them. They are ignorant and weak and undisciplined. Consequently, those who are informed, strong and disciplined are snobs while they in their uncouthness represent the people's strength and simplicity.

Only the most ignorant of minds could hold such an idea. The people's strength is in their directness, their acceptance of the facts of life, their willingness to carry whatever load they must to further the good of the group.

The people stand firmly on fundamental righteousness, and that means good manners, clear speech, straight thinking, sound judgment and purposeful work. They do not send their children to school and to college to avoid training and discipline and work. Quite the contrary. They know by experience that life demands the best a man or a woman has to offer and their best is gained by hard, purposeful, disciplined endeavor.

It is possible to be a democratic, friendly, likeable person and be good mannered, well spoken, sincere and honorable. This is a democratic country and our standard is high. Let's keep it so.

Do your children present a problem by their behavior when "there's company"? All these matters of adjustment to the world are wisely considered in Angelo Patri's booklet, "Your Child and Other People." Send for it, enclosing ten cents. # GAIN SHOWN BY COUNTY CENSUS

Now Totals 36,500 for Gain of 6,672 Persons; Cassia Also Increases

Twin Falls county's population as of last April 1 totaled 36,500, showing a gain of 6,672 during the preceding 10-year period, according to report on the 1940 census given out by Elmer R. Terry, assistant district supervisor at Pocatello. The 1930 census total for the county was 29,828.

During the same period the number of Twin Falls county farms declined from 2,785 to 2,746, a drop of 39, Terry said the county showed.

Population of the city of Twin Falls increased from 8,787 to 11,605, a gain of 3,178, during the decade, according to census counts.

Although the district office has now closed down, the 36,500 population represents only a tentative count and may be altered by subsequent compilation of figures at Washington, Terry said.

By climbing to 14,530, Cassia county retained its position as second largest county in south central Idaho. This total represents an increase of 1,440 persons over the 13,116 figure for 1930.

DEMOCRATS RAP G.O.P. NOMINEE

Opponents Denounce Wilkie as 'Champion of Disunity'

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Democrats denounced Wendell L. Willkie today as a "champion of disunity" and said they could bent him "easily"—statements which stirred the Republican presidential nominee to say that they "must have the jitters."

Political speechmaking and comments rolled out from Capitol Hill immediately upon the convening of congress after the recess for the Philadelphia Republican convention.

Senator Pepper (D.-Fla.) told the senate that Willkie was a "master of political blitzkrieg" who remained in the "shadow of his holled and mended precincts" while other candidates for the Republican nomination stumped the country. The nominee, Pepper asserted, employed "disunity" methods in attempting to block the Tennessee Valley Authority program.

Rep. Doughton (D.-N.C.), predicting an easy defeat of Willkie, said "The reason the Republicans didn't want one of their own number beaten," (Willkie supported the election of President Roosevelt in 1932.)

Speaker Bankhead who will deliver the keynote address at the Democratic national convention, said the Republican ticket of Willkie and Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon was a "weird combination," contending that McNary's record was in conflict with what Willkie has always stood for.

Willkie is expected to make his acceptance speech at his old home town in Elwood, Ind., after the Democratic convention.

McNary told reporters today he would like to have the acceptance ceremonies for himself held at his farm home near Salem, Ore.

Senator Nye (R.-N.D.) expressed belief that if Willkie should take an "interventionist" attitude toward war in Europe it "would give real definite life to a third party effort."

Judge Continues Negro's Hearing

Leroy Wilkins, giant 30-year-old Rogerson Negro, accused of arson and rape, wasn't ready for preliminary hearing yesterday and Probate Judge continued the hearing for a week until Monday, July 8, after two postponements.

Wilkins' mother, Cornelia White, lately released from the county jail after being convicted of permitting dogs to run at large and being incarcerated to serve out court costs, asked for postponement yesterday from 9 a.m., and then at 2 p.m. she reported she hadn't yet contacted an attorney.

Wilkins is held in the county jail. He is accused of burning the residence near Rogerson of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Diefendarfer, and then assaulting Mrs. Diefendarfer as she fled from the blazing building the night of last June 23.

Trio of Blazes Occur on Sunday

A blaze that broke out Sunday afternoon in the pump house and tool shed caused an estimated $300 damage at the A. A. Dahle ranch two miles north and two and one-quarter miles west of Five points west, Twin Falls. The call was answered by the Kimberly mutual fire department.

Within Twin Falls there were two minor blazes Sunday. One occurred at 3 a. m. in a pile of oiled boards near the Woody Seal garage, 130 Third avenue west, and no damage resulted.

A private garage owned by H. A. Holmes, 702 Second avenue east, was partly destroyed shortly after 8:30 a. m. The fire is believed to have been caused by burning weeds.

Added Musical Attraction Set For Twin Falls Jubilee Event

To the array of colorful Magic City jubilee features has been added the crack Union Pacific band from Ogden, General Chairman John B. Robertson announced last night following long-distance telephone communications with officials of the railroad.

Confirmation of the one-day appearance of the band came from William Hines, traffic director, and H. J. Knickerbocker, general manager, Salt Lake City.

The band is well known throughout this section and appeared in Twin Falls during the American Legion convention of two years ago. It has also appeared at Sun Valley and other centers.

Appearance of the Union Pacific organization here is set for Friday, July 5, and it will play during the magic grab comedy parade on that night, which will appear on the streets.

Judging the mammoth parade which will open festivities at 11 a. m. Wednesday and bugle-reding, St. Louis, Mo., Buhl, Filer and Kimberly, it was announced yesterday. These judges are Harry Guest, St. Louis, instructor and band director; John Barker, Buhl business man, H. E. Powers, Kimberly businessman and formerly state legislator, and Tom Parks, Filer, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls county fair.

Among late additions to the parade are six old pioneers to whom others will be added. They are Mrs. Lucy Bricker, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Murray, Al Jones, Bill Trotter, and Robert Brue, it was announced last evening. They will ride in a special car.

Parade Chairman Stanley Sturgeon indicated that arrangements for the parade are progressing smoothly and that the event should give the jubilee period an impressive send-off. Floats will play a prominent part in the march.

Long hours of preparation have resulted in a cavalcade spectacle—night events of the celebration—which will form the focal point of interest during the evenings. F. P. Gorman is director of the event which employs the efforts of a cast of 700 persons.

Appearance of Pierce "the mad-cap magician" is expected here today, and during the jubilee the skull-of-and artist will rove the streets to present impromptu and fascinating performances.

Four parades will highlight the celebration—the opening parade, the July 4th parade, which will be followed by an independence day program at the city park at which Frank L. Stephan, Twin Falls attorney, will speak; then the children's parade with miniature floats Friday morning, besides the mardi gras event.

Also scheduled are numerous contests, such as the horseshoe pitching event, old fiddlers' contest, beard judging, races, and numerous other attractions which will keep a steady flow of action before jubilee throngs.

Federal Loans Interest Reduced

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Legislation reducing land bank commissioner loans from 4 to 3½ per cent and continuing federal land bank loans at 3½ per cent was signed today by President Roosevelt.

The rate on land banks loans was scheduled, under previous legislation, to increase to 4 per cent today.

About $2,560,000,000 of loans are outstanding and most were made at 5 per cent. The reduction, ordered by congress during the depression as an emergency farm measure, requires an appropriation of about $30,000,000 a year to reimburse the land bank for the difference between the 3½ per cent rate and the original contract rates of the loans.

The legislation signed today is effective until June 30, 1942.

Final Session of Jaycees Tonight

Urging 100 per cent attendance, President Robert H. Warner of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce today announced that the final Jaycee meeting before the Magic City jubilee will be held at 6:30 o'clock this evening at the Park hotel.

Final and important details of the jubilee celebration, which opens Wednesday with a rafa parade in the morning, will be checked at the session.

Also pointed out by President Warner is that cavalcade tickets no longer are on sale at the Jaycee office and those distributed at the last meeting should be turned in today at the earliest opportunity.

Court Suspends 60-Day Sentences

William Colbert and Norman Davis, Negroes accused of burglary in connection with theft of a truck tire in Twin Falls last June 5, pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge yesterday and then assured the sheriff the court had been plenty generous in suspending for 24 hours a 60-day jail sentence to permit them to get out of town. "Six hours would be plenty," one of them declared.

The prosecutor did not resist the plea to the lesser charge, and advised the court there was lack of evidence to support the burglary charge. The stolen tire was returned to the Consolidated Freight Lines.

Probate Judge C. A. Bailey received the plea and pronounced judgment.

The accused men were arrested and brought back from Pocatello early last month.

Four Persons See Man Kill Himself

ELK CITY, Idaho, July 1 (AP)—Intervention by four men scattered at his beer parlor failed to prevent Carl Fuller, 51, from killing himself with a shot from a .22 caliber pistol, Coroner Glenn Allor said today.

Allor said that after Fuller had informed one of the men at the counter what he intended to do, the four followed him into a back room. There he held them at bay with his gun, then fired the fatal shot.

Ascribing the suicide to despondency over poor health, the coroner said no inquest would be held.

HISTORY SHAPES STYLE OF DRESS

Study of Fashions Indicates Hoop Skirts May Return in 1950

HOLLYWOOD, July 1 — Women's fashions change from fad to fad and year to year, but a study of styles through centuries of milady's foibles and fancies of dress discloses that history has a strange manner of shaping customs and a stranger way of repeating itself.

Such a study reveals that what might be considered immodest in this so-called prude age was accepted without a blush by our grandmothers; that wars and business depressions invariably decorated the back and that women wear fewer clothes. She traced this fact back as far as 1647 when England and Scotland engaged in a civil war.

"Manners and customs," the recollect concluded, "move in strange cycles. Whatever we wear has already been worn by somebody else. Whatever we can think of to do, we need not be too proud of it, for the chances are, grandma did it first."

Mayor and Mrs. Koehler Hosts At Tenth Golden Wedding Party

In August, 1931, Mayor and Mrs. Joe Koehler presided as hosts at the first Golden Wedding Circle party with eight couples as guests. Yesterday, they presided as hosts at a theater party and luncheon attended by sixty-five of the one hundred and sixty members of the novel organization. Opening the afternoon's activities, Mr. and Mrs. Koehler entertained their golden wedding "kiddies" at the Roxy theater, where the group enjoyed the humorous presentation of "Pop Always Pays."

Preceding the luncheon, served at 1:30 o'clock at the Baptist bungalow, by granddaughters of members of Dan McCook circle, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, the group held a brief business session and elected officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Anna Kunze of Buhl was named president to succeed Mr. Halferty of Kimberly; Mrs. W. Studebaker of Buhl was named vice-president to succeed Herschel Sonner of Twin Falls and Mrs. Ida White of Twin Falls was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Guests were seated at one long "L" shaped table and three small tables. Red and white sweet peas in twelve blue bowls centered the tables, which were covered with white table linens, to carry out a patriotic theme.

A large golden bowl, filled with red and blue sweet peas and golden poppies, centered the table at which Mayor and Mrs. Koehler and officers were seated.

Cuts Wedding Cake

During the dessert course, Mrs. Koehler cut the decorated wedding cake, which was served to all of the guests.

Mrs. James Tyce was in charge of the program, presented during the three-course luncheon. Rev. Morgan pronounced the invocation.

A trio, Miss Lillian Laubenheim, Miss Norma Dickey and Miss Muriel Tyce, accompanied by Miss Lorean Fuller, sang "God Bless America" and "Love's Old Sweet Song."

At the request of the program leader, Mrs. Mary Wall, eighty-four year old member, played two piano selections, winning the enthusiastic applause of her audience for her excellent presentation. Her numbers were "Origin of the Harp" and "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," with the entire group singing the final number.

The trio sang "Put On Your Old Grey Bonnett" and "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," after which the four girls gave a clever toast to Mayor and Mrs. Koehler, presenting them each with a basket of flowers.

Kenneth Rudolph sang "Grandfather's Clock" and "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," accompanied by Miss Pat Graves. Concluding number was group singing of "Idaho," led by Mayor Koehler.

Members of the Kiwanis club furnished transportation for many of the guests, to the theater, the luncheon and back to their homes.

New members who registered yesterday included Representative and Mrs. Hyrum S. Lewis of Declo, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Eggleston, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Benton, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rigdon, Mrs. Armour, Mrs. Mary Wall, Mrs. Alice Adkins, Mrs. W. C. Lewis, Mrs. Jessie Yokum, Mrs. Mary Sudleson, Mrs. Lulu Carr and Mrs. Amanda Kautz.

Mulkey-Walker Rites Performed At Bride's Home

Miss Hazel Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Walker, became the bride of George Mulkey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Mulkey, at a ceremony performed Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents. Rev. Roy E. Barnett, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated at the single ring ceremony, performed before an improvised, fern-banked altar.

Only immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Funke were matron-of-honor-and-best man. Mrs. Funke wore a pastel plaid silk afternoon frock and a pink rosebud corsage.

The bride chose a gown fashioned of white silk with val lace details, and her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Later a wedding dinner was served at the Walker home. A miniature bride and bridegroom topped the wedding cake and bridal place cards indicated places for the guests, including Mr. and Mrs. George Mulkey, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Mulkey, Rev. and Mrs. Roy Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Miller, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Funke, sister and brother-in-law of the bride.

At Twin Falls Playgrounds

Safety week marked opening of a third playground in Twin Falls—the City park. Miss Ruth Wilcox, primary grade teacher, is volunteering her services so that an average of 25 children a day may enjoy the wading pool, crafts, stories and games.

About 100 highly-colored "twirlers" were made at the three playgrounds during the week, some of which will undoubtedly put in an appearance at the Children's Historical parade July 5. Costumes were also planned and some made in craft classes. Mary Williams at Drury Park was busy painting her Indian costume with bright colors. Other Indians will be content with simply a bathing suit and bright blanket.

Pick-up Parade

Harmon park children have established an efficient method of keeping their park clean. Each day they form a line across the park and march through, it picking up all debris.

Nurses from the County Health unit call at the playground each Wednesday to check on any injuries, rashes or diseases. This system has been used for that past three summers very successfully.

Leaders Named

Junior leaders appointed at Harmon park are Rex Fulmer, Verna Lohr, Tutt Smith and Flora Campbell. They were chosen because of their leadership ability, sportsmanship, dependability, and willingness to cooperate.

True, 'tis a woman's world. Ann Allen beat several boys at a game of mumblety-peg at Drury Park last week.

Older playground boys and girls joined in a swimmer at Dierke's lake Monday afternoon. Isadore Stecklien would not let a little incident like getting dizzy and falling out of a boat backwards discourage him in a new aquatic venture. He left this week to join the navy.

Junior Boys Win

Softball games were played during Safety week. Harmon's Junior boys edged Drury's in the final inning with a home run by George Gikiu, score 14-13. Drury girls came to the fore over the Harmon team to win 11-7. Helen House, Drury pitcher, held the spotlight for her fine work behind the bat. The Drury Indians trounced the Westside All-Stars 22-7. Drury batteries were Collins and H. Hoover; All-Stars, H. Dunn and Hachiya.

Filer girls drubbed the Drury Indian Maidens 15-8 Thursday evening. Virginia Williams, Drury shortfielder, and Tina Joslin, pitcher, were outstanding.

Drury Junior and Senior boys walked away with their games with Filer. Red Higgins and Jack Collins were Junior home-run kings. Senior H. Hoover's homer in the third with the bases loaded highlighted the game which ended at 16-4. Drury batteries were Gill and Hoover.

The equipment prize, a new croquet set, to be awarded to the playground having the fewest accidents, best attendance, least equipment breakage, and the cleanest park, went to Drury park children Friday. The children nearly spoiled their week's record in their eagerness to put the set in play. They immediately put an age limit of 12 years and under on usage of the new set.

Next week all attention will be centered on the children's part in the Magic City jubilee.

Buhl Pair Wed At Church Rites

BUHL, July 1—At a single ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Cecil G. Hannah at the Buhl Methodist church, Sunday, June 30, at 12:30 noon, Miss Frances Grow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Grow, was united in marriage to Darrol Womack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Womack of Buhl.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, softly played by Mrs. John Briggs of Seattle, Wash., the bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her wedding gown was a floor-length model of embroidered silk net over satin, with square neck and short full sleeves. She carried a shower bouquet of Talisman rosebuds and white baby breath, tied with white satin. Her hair adornment was an arrangement of three tiny white flowers, at the back of the head.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Mallon Guest of Twin Falls, was matron of honor. She wore a light blue afternoon frock, and her corsage was of red rose buds.

Mallon Guest acted as best man for the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the banquet room of Mercer's cafe. A beautifully decorated wedding cake was the centerpiece for the long table, at which places were marked for thirty-four guests.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dunken, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hays and Guy Hays, and Mrs. Vivian Kerley of Jerome, Mr. and Mrs. Juan Moore of Clear Lakes, Mr. and Mrs. Mallon Guest and Mr. and Mrs. Norval Crowley of Twin Falls. The bride cut and served her cake.

After a short wedding trip, the bridal couple will be at home this summer at the Womack farm. Mr. Darrol Womack is employed at the Merrick Hardware in Buhl.

Both bride and groom were graduates of the Buhl high school. Mr. Womack attended a school of mechanics in Portland, and has since been affiliated with the Merrick Hardware and Furniture company.

Mrs. Womack graduated from Albion Normal, and has been an instructor in the intermediate grades at the Lincoln school at Buhl for several years.

And the Bride Cut the Cake

IN TRADITIONAL fashion, Mrs. Merl Leonard cut the first piece of wedding cake for her bridegroom at the wedding breakfast yesterday morning, following a nuptial mass at St. Edward's Catholic church. She was formerly Miss Lenore Diebolt of Twin Falls. The couple, now on a wedding trip, will be at home on Mr. Leonard's ranch near Filer after July 15. (News Photo-Engraving).

Lenore Diebolt, Merl Leonard Pledge Vows at Nuptial Mass

When Miss Lenore Diebolt, daughter of Mrs. J. R. Diebolt of Twin Falls, became the bride of Merl Leonard, son of Mrs. George Erhardt of Filer, yesterday morning at a 7 o'clock nuptial mass at St. Edward's Catholic church, she carried her first communion ivory prayer book and a handmade handkerchief of Duchess lace and linen. Father H. E. Heitman was the celebrant. Now on a wedding trip to an unannounced destination, the couple will be at home after July 15 on the bridegroom's ranch near Filer.

For her wedding, the bride chose a tailored summer suit of lightweight wool, with which she wore a white tucked satin blouse with lace insets, and an off-the-face white felt sailor. A shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds and all-white accessories completed her wedding ensemble.

The handkerchief which she carried was made by her mother for her own wedding trousseau.

An all-white decor was featured, both in the altar flowers at the church and in the floral appointments at the wedding breakfast served later at the home of Mrs. A. C. Victor. Hydrangeas and daisies banked the altar of the church.

Mrs. Frank G. Kleffner and Miss Marjorie Driscoll sang "Ava Maria," "O Sanctissima" and two hymns to the Sacred Heart during the nuptial mass.

Miss Ann Heitman played all accompaniments.

Honor attendants were Miss Juanita McKray of Twin Falls and Glen Leonard of Filer. Miss McKray was frocked in a sea blue redingote ensemble with white accessories, and a white off-the-face turban. Her corsage was of sweet peas and rosebuds.

Wedding Breakfast

At the breakfast, the bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake, flanked on either side by crystal cornucopias holding white sweet peas and gysophilia.

A second table was centered with a crystal bowl of white phlox and daisies. Nuptial motifs featured the place markers, ten guests being seated at each of the two tables.

When Mrs. Leonard left on her wedding trip she wore an old rose bolero ensemble with a matching hat and black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Twin Falls high school and of Link's Business college.

Mr. Leonard, following his graduation from the Filer high school, attended the Honolulu business university in the Hawaiian Islands, from which he was graduated, and also attended the University of Hawaii.

He is engaged in farming. Mrs. Leonard is associated with the Southern Idaho Production Credit association.

YESTERDAY: Lance and Jan have their first quarrel since his accident, over Derek. Lance reproaches himself bitterly. Johnny wants to get Jan a job as hostess at the club but she refuses.

Chapter 13
Room for Rent

Johnny pushed the chair out to the walk, then came back to Jan who was scraping food remnants off plates and stacking dishes to be washed. In the unkind glare of the overhead light she looked tired, he thought. Damn it all, why couldn't she take the job and hire someone to do this drudgery!

He said as much. "I couldn't," she sighed. "You saw how Lance behaved. I wish you hadn't mentioned it in front of him. It's bad for him to be aroused that way." She didn't tell him she felt like a wornout buffer from constantly trying to keep things running smoothly in the growing turbulence of her household. For Lance, despite his good resolves, had not apologized for storming about Derek. Instead he had chosen to ignore the whole episode with the consequence that it hung like an opaque curtain between them. Granting that she was entitled to romance, to a sweetheart, he yet resented it should be a man of whom none of them knew anything.

"I'll dry the dishes for you," Johnny offered in an unexpected access of generosity. His actions broke her bad mood, for he was so afraid he'd get a drop of water on his too perfect clothes that he stood far back from the drainboard and reached for dishes with an awkwardness worthy of a movie comic.

When they finished Johnny put his arms around her and peered anxiously down into her weary eyes. "I wish I could take you out of all this, Jan. I'm crazy about you, honey. I will take you out, too, the minute I get my own band."

"If I let you," she parried, too tired to resent his arms about her because they were, somehow, comforting and friendly. He drew her head to his shoulder and laid his cheek against her bright, tousled hair. "You're so little so sweet," he said, gently stroking her shoulder.

The kitchen door swung inward and Derek observed the tableau. "Sorry to intrude," he barked, "but I would like some lotion. My face burns like the very devil."

Jan, embarrassed, shy, drew away from Johnny, detesting the blush she felt dyeing her cheeks. Why should she feel guilty? Certainly she meant nothing to Derek.

"I'll get it for you," she offered, hurrying to the little chest over the sink and taking out a bottle of honey and almond lotion.

While Johnny watched, glowering, she poured some of the liquid into her palm and distributed it carefully over Derek's face and neck. By the time she finished Derek was grinning.

"Did I enter before or after the kiss?" he inquired impudently.

Jan glared at him. "That's hateful of you."

"Oh, don't mind me folks. I'm an ideal chaperone. Right now I intend retiring and leaving you all alone!"

"Listen, you," Johnny began, but Derek was already through the door.

Jan giggled helplessly. "He's terrible—absolutely outrageous—and so delightful!"

"Not to me he isn't," Johnny growled. "I don't see anything funny. It'll be the happiest day of my life when he leaves this house for good! Well, I guess I better be getting to the club. See you later, honey."

Another Coney Island

Jan, alone in the big silent downstairs, took her account book from the kitchen cupboard and settled down at the table, worrying a stub of pencil with her teeth. Taxes were due in April. Outrageous taxes, because the house stood on a choice piece of beach front. She could not possibly pay the taxes with what she had saved and what little money would be coming in.

Upstairs there were five bedrooms, all in use. Derek, she decided, would have to give up his room and either put up a tent on the roof or take the davenport in the living room, for she must have another twenty dollars a month to add to Johnny's twenty and Norma's forty. It was fortunate that Norma liked boarding with them, as she was so little trouble and the extra money was a life saver. Eighty dollars a month plus a little now and then from Derek and the sale of Lance's plane models would pull them through.

She found a hammer and a few tacks, located the "Room for Rent" sign she'd used last year and tacked it up at the side of the front door. Putting down the hammer, she shoved her hands into the pockets of blue jeans and strolled up toward the pier, thinking she'd drop in and talk to Frank awhile. The night was clear and chill. A slice of moon hung like a suspended cradle over the water and thousands of clean, white stars dotted the upturned cup of the sky.

Several persons called to her as she passed them and she smiled answer. Most of the concession owners had been here every season for years. They formed a clannish resident colony all their own which was closed to transients. Jan was accepted almost as one of them. They liked her, trusted her, these curious people, spawn of carnival and circus who shouted all summer long at prospective customers with complete and hardened indifference to heckling and starring, happy when warm summer night drove hordes of "suckers" to their gaudy beach stalls. This new world had opened to her fascinated eyes only two years ago when, of necessity, she had to leave school and care for Lance. Every moment of freedom she spent in exploring what seemed unusual, bizarre and intriguing in this small west coast replica of Coney Island.

Little by little these people became accustomed to seeing the small, blue-eyed girl with the shy smile. In due time she was permitted the run of the shows. She learned more from these elemental, boisterous, shrewd people than any book could have taught her about their sort of life. Her young ears, often shocked, heard of bloody battles, drunken mischief, faithless wives, roving husbands, and all the colorful doings of nimbled-witted show people.

Jan passed Frank's office at the lifeguard station, saw through the window he was talking to some men, and went on out to the pier's end. She liked just to stand here and look down at the water battering night and day at the pilings below.

Usually the unremitting roll of the surf lulled her, but tonight it did not. She kept thinking of Derek and of Johnny, wishing that scene in the kitchen had not occurred. Not that it mattered. Derek had made that quite clear on the rooftop the day he kissed her. Nevertheless, it made her miserable to think he had seen her the first time she had ever been in Johnny's arms, and probably the last.

Too Sensitive

"Am I falling in love with Derek?" she wondered. If this was love, she thought she'd rather skip it. One moment exultation; the next depression. She was becoming too sensitive, too vulnerable. "I ought to get rid of him," she thought, and the thought made her feel empty.

Soon after she reached home Norma returned with Lance. He greeted his sister with feverish enthusiasm, telling her in detail all about the airplane sequences of the pictures. He liked Gable and Tracy, he said, and the scenes were almost too real.

"Tell her what happened," Norma prompted, looking a little white, more than a little disturbed.

"Remember all the photographs of me when I won the west coast air races?" he asked, his face radiant. "After the picture tonight the lights went on, Jan, and somebody recognized me. Pretty soon everybody in the place was craning to see me, saying 'That fellow was a test pilot. He knows all about it. He was over at the Lockair Plant.' They crowded around me, Sis, and talked to me and wanted my autograph."

They talked a while longer, waiting for Frank. Jan had stopped in just long enough to tell him of Lance's theater venture and, he'd promise to run in when the show was over. When he came, taking Lance upstairs, Norma seized Jan's hands, squeezed them fearfully.

"I didn't know," she whispered. "Test pilot was just a name, of something to do with aviation. Oh, Jan, I couldn't bear it if Lance were ever to fly again! I—I'd go mad imagining disaster. How do you bear it?"

"I didn't know, either," Jan told her quietly. "He never allowed me near the field. I was in school. I didn't learn how dangerous it was until—until afterward. I can't even talk about it. I get sick inside."

Their hands clung a moment in silent understanding, then Jan said, "Let's make coffee and sandwiches for the men and stop being tragic!"

Following Derek's advice to forget her painting awhile, Jan sprawled in a sun suit on the beach before the house the next afternoon, watching the hordes of people crawl around on the sand, for all the world like ants, happy because the sun was hot and the water not too cold, overjoyed to see their white flesh burning a painful red, uncaring of tonight's irking blisters.

Through her amber sun glasses she saw a smartly dressed young woman turn in on the short cobbled walk to the red house and scrutinize the "for rent" placard. Springing up, Jan caught her just as she reached the wide oak door with the curtained port hole set in its upper half.

"I'm the landlady," Jan smiled. "Did you wish to see the room?"

The Literary Guidepost

By JOHN SELBY

BRIGHT SPOTS IN THE SUMMER LITERARY DOLDRUMS—

The June drop in number of publications is usually matched by a comparable, or greater, drop in the quality thereof. Perhaps it is merely the fact that anything contrasts favorably with news from abroad that makes it seem the level this summer is higher. But in certain productions it indubitably is higher.

There is Dr. Hans Zinsser's "As I Remember Him," which he subtitles "The Biography of R. S." Those initials stand for "remembered self," or something like that, and the book is really the autobiography of the German-American boy who has distinguished himself in medicine while viewing the world with whimsical, tolerant eyes. The book reads much easier than most fiction, and has its importance as a window through which to view the medicine of the last few decades. (Little, Brown; $2.75).

Albert Maltz's "The Underground Stream" is another of those powerful novels. One cannot read it without acknowledging the gift of the author for arguing a cause, for that is obvious. But he makes the old mistake of many novelists—the personnel manager of his Detroit factory is essentially a harsh and cruel man; Princely, his Communist hero, is essentially a simple and earnest seeker. The Right is wicked; the Left is poor but holy. The result is a novel written like a whirlwind which has the effect of rather clumsy propaganda. (Little, Brown; $2.50).

More suited to the mood of the land is G. B. Stern's "A Lion in the Garden," in which a segment of the careers of two English servants, and several others, is considered in Miss Stern's very best manner. Norman it was who was one day was clipping the privet hedge and found a lion, which last he "enrigled" into the kitchen. Brooks it was who inherited a little money and had a flyer at Monte Carlo, plus additional adventures at Brighton. This is another voice out of old England, and because Miss Stern is probably the finest living practitioner in the field of the light English novel, it is worth listening to. (Macmillan; $2.50)

Lastly there is an almost wholly delightful book on murder called "Some Like It Gory." In this product John Kobler considers the art of murder, from several odd vantage points—the bridge table, poisonous wives, unsolvables and so forth. The book is pretty close to tops in a field that apparently will never lie fallow for long. (Dodd, Mead; $2.50).

Ace Waitress Finds Humanity Is Only 50 Per Cent Affable

OAKLAND, Calif., July 1 (AP)—Democracy, whatever its troubles elsewhere, is making good in the restaurant business, says Dorothy Uttecht, hotel men's choice as the Pacific Coast's No. 1 waitress.

"We seem to be be getting out of the servant class," she says. "People recognize our line of work and their attitude is more human and friendly."

But, there's still trouble; she wouldn't classify more than 50 per cent of her customers as really good natured. Although she's a pretty blonde of 26, Dorothy says she doesn't get any special breaks from men customers. She rather likes to wait on women.

In eight years of waiting table, Dorothy never spilled soup down a patron's back. Her worst accident was dropping a tray of dishes.

Girls who don't make good at waitress jobs, says Dorothy, are usually temperamentally incapable of keeping sweet tempered and getting on with people. "Sometimes they regard their job as just a temporary job while they're waiting to get married, so they won't learn how to serve properly," she adds.

Dorothy got part of her training from a boss who was quite strict with her. Later she married him.

Jack Dempsey Kayoes Wrestler in Second Round

Texas 'Bad Man' Knocked Out of Ring at Atlanta

Former Champ Cuts Cowboy Luttrell's Face to Ribbons

ATLANTA, July 1 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, the former world heavyweight champion of the ring, knocked out a husky wrestler, Clarence (Cowboy) Luttrell of Texas in the second round of their scheduled 10-round fight tonight.

Dempsey, weighing 205 pounds, battered down the 224-pound Luttrell after one minute and 58 seconds of the second frame. The former champion, while showing none of the old fire and dynamite that carried him to the heavyweight crown, badly beat the awkward and clumsy wrestler who was almost out at the bell that ended the first round.

Luttrell hung on almost from the opening gong as Dempsey cut his face to ribbons. After Luttrell had gone down for counts of seven and eight in the second round, Dempsey moved up and cut loose with a looping left that caught Luttrell flush on the chin and knocked him all the way out of the ring.

The Texas bad man, who challenged the one-time Manassa Mauler to settle things with the six-ounce gloves after Dempsey had clashed with him in refereeing a wrestling match, failed to get up off the ground and had to be carried to his dressing room.

Dempsey seemingly had a good bit of snap to his punches at a target that was wide open, but there was no test for his speed.

The affair was witnessed by what promoters claimed as a crowd of close to 12,000. The fight did not last long enough to provide a test of what the popular former champion might be expected to do if he should continue his return to the ring.

"Luttrell was pretty game," Dempsey said, "but I knew I had him soon after it started. I feel pretty winded, but he didn't land a punch that hurt. As for my future I'd rather not say anything."

The wrestler, when he went through the ropes and out of the ring, struck his head on a photographer's cage and was semi-conscious in his dressing room. After a hurried examination by the boxing commission physician, Luttrell was taken to a hospital.

Attendants there said merely that his condition was "good."

Browns Defeat Cleveland Tribe

CLEVELAND, July 1 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns, currently the American league's No. 1 trouble-makers, defeated the Cleveland Indians 2 to 1 tonight under the lights to cut the Tribe's lead over second-place Detroit to a single game.

A homer by Harland Clift in the sixth inning with the bases empty after two were out gave the Browns their run. The other came in the eighth after Ray Radcliff doubled and came home on a wild pitch, after advancing to third when George McQuinn was thrown out at first.

The Indians got their ninth inning run gratis after Elden Auker, whose victory was his seventh in 13 starts this season, walked Hal Trosky with the bases loaded, scoring Lou Boudreau.

Kimberly Filer Junior Pioneer Teams Triumph

Kimberly turned back the Twin Falls Junior Cowboys, 13 to 7, and Filer hammered out a 16-8 triumph over Burley in Sunday's Junior Pioneer league attractions.

Enough runs were scored by Kimberly in the third inning to defeat the visiting Twin Falls club. The winners recorded nine counters in the third, three in the fourth and the 13th run in the seventh frame. Six passes issued by Junior Cowboy pitchers figured in Kimberly's nine-run splurge. Emerson hurled a six-hit game for Kimberly and struck out 10 batters.

Top hitters were Felton, Pollard and Savage for Kimberly and Gibb for Twin Falls.

At Burley the Cassia county team grabbed a healthy 6-0 lead in the first inning, but after that could score only two more runs while the Spudding Filer outfit uncorked a 17-hit bombardment to double the tally on the home forces.

Bledsoe, Filer pitcher, was the shining star of the contest. Taking the mound in the second inning, he hurled no-hit ball for the remainder of the seven-frame game.

Curtis, Johnson and Peterson led Filer's batting attack.

The Junior Pioneer loop schedule sends Burley to Kimberly and Twin Falls to Jerome this afternoon.

McNeill Captures College Net Title

Kenyon Star Triumphs Over Joe Hunt by Score of 7-5, 6-1, 6-1

HAVERFORD, Pa., July 1 (AP)—In a masterful performance 22-year-old Don McNeill of Kenyon college defeated Joe Hunt of the Naval academy today for the national intercollegiate tennis championship. The score was 7-5, 6-1, 6-1.

Stanford university's Larry Dee and Jim Wade won the doubles title from the University of California's Bob Peacock and Robert Harmon in five sets, 6-3, 3-6, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1. California held the title three years straight.

McNeill's victory more than justified his top-seeded ranking in the tournament at Merion Cricket club and gave his alma mater its first title in national college tennis.

Veteran followers of amateur tennis agreed his performance was the equal of the best in the tournament's 56 years.

Repeatedly, he lured his sturdier opponent toward the net and looped the ball over his head, or laid swift backhand drives within an eyelash of the sidelines. His forehand was no less telling.

Shoshone Scores 10 to 0 Victory

SHOSHONE, July 1—Nine innings of shutout pitching by Whitey Jenkins and an encounter of 13 hits from Shoshone bats netted the locals a 10 to 0 triumph over Buhl in an S.C.I. league game played here Sunday afternoon.

Jenkins held Buhl to five hits while his Shoshone teammates, paced by Bill Thomason who connected in three out of four trips to the plate, landed on the offerings of Shepard. Lee Betts homered for the winners and Crothers made three hits in five tries.

DETROIT, July 1 (AP)—Louis (Buck) Newsom won his eleventh consecutive pitching victory today, holding Chicago White Sox batters to six hits and fanning seven as the Detroit Tigers won a 3-1 decision.

The big right-hander has not been charged with a mound defeat since the opening game of the season.

Except in the fourth inning when the Sox scored their only run, Newsom did not permit a runner to pass second base.

Even the one Chicago run would not have occurred except for an error by Dick Bartell, Detroit shortstop.

John Duncan Rigney pitched seven innings for Chicago and limited the Tigers to four hits, but he walked four batters and was charged with all the Detroit runs. Pete Appleton finished, after Rigney gave way to a ninth hitter.

Tony Galento Fights Despite Sliced Chin

Brother Hits 'Two-Ton' with Beer Glass But Doctors Put Okeh on Baer-Bout

By SID FEDER

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 1 (AP)—The case of the gashed chin, the final daftest touch to an already hilarious set-up, was more or less cleared up today, and it appeared only the constabulary could prevent Tony Galento and Max Baer from keeping their fistic date in the local ball park Tuesday night at 9 p. m. (E. S. T.)

A beer glass, thrown by Tony's brother, Pete, picked out Tony's chin in Galento's "arch-drink emporium" in Orange last night, and the results threatened for a time to force a postponement of the "battle of the bums." The glass sliced Tony's chin for about an inch, right where his dimple would be if he had a dimple.

A couple of doctors looked it over today, however, and reported to State Boxing Commissioner Abe J. Greene that if the sliced chin was the only cut Tony received in there tomorrow from the playboy of the Pacific, he needn't worry.

So Greene asked Promoter Mike Jacobs and Herman Taylor, one of Two-Ton's managers, how they felt about it. All hands, including Tony, decided the "minor abrasion" was not serious enough to keep this epic from an eager public.

An interesting sidelight on the episode came to light with more thorough investigation. It seems Tony made a slight mistake, during an argument with his brother, Russell, by placing the glass on the bar with the thick bit should have picked it in the safe or at least put it out of reach.

For when the two got excited, Russell picked up the glass and threw it. His pitching arm, and also looked so good that after being taken to headquarters by police and then released, he spent most of the rest of the night turning down offers from major league clubs.

Meanwhile, the bravos for the championship of the screwballs has a certain appeal to lovers of both the sublime and the ridiculous, officials expect more than 30,000 and a gate flirting with the $150,000-mark.

Sliced chin and all, Galento still was the betting "cheerce" tonight. The only change made by his little scrape, which Russell was that the betting fraternity cut the price from 5-0 to 5-8 with Tony favored.

The winner in this one won't be happy for long. He is scheduled to meet up with Joe Louis in September, and, as each discovered in being knocked out by the bomber in the past, there are pleasanter ways to spend an evening.

St. Louis Cards Win Over Reds

ST. LOUIS, July 1 (AP)—Enos Slaughter, Lon Warneke and Ernie Koy were key men in St. Louis' 3 to 2 defeat of the Cincinnati Reds today.

Slaughter's two home runs, his third and fourth of the season, accounted for all the Cardinals' runs. Warneke allowed only seven hits and was tight in the pinches. Koy made a great catch of Bill Werber's long clout for the last out of the game which, had it been a hit, would have tied up the score.

And it might have been a hit. Koy crashed into the left field wall

Track and Field Records Smashed

Cornelius Warmerdam Tops Own World Mark for Pole Vault

FRESNO, Calif., (AP)—America's greatest track and field athletes broke ranks and headed homeward Sunday leaving behind a new and glowing chapter for the record book in the wind-up Saturday night of the National A. A. U. championship.

Denied international competition because of war-wrecked Olympic games, the cream of the country's clinderpath and field stars staged their own "American Olympics" in spectacular fashion, topped by Cornelius Warmerdam's world's record bettering pole vault of 15 feet, 1¼ inches.

The big blond Tulumne, Calif., school teacher, who earlier in the season set a new ceiling of 15 feet for the event, increased that mark on the first try. He failed in three tries at 15 feet, 3¼ inches but the crowd of 7500 fans in Fresno State College stadium agreed he had turned in a substantial night's work at it was.

The 52nd annual A.A.U. meet also saw the world's record for the 200-meter dash tied by Fred Wilcutt of Rice Institute. He was clocked in 22.6 seconds, equalling Jesse Owens' time set in 1935.

Three records were forced, the 200-meter and 1500-meter runs and the 110-meter hurdles, were bettered and two, the 200-meter and 400-meter hurdles, equalled.

Echoes have been known to repeat as many as 20 syllables.

Jacobs in Charge Of Cowboy Club

Former Coast and Major League Player Takes Tobin's Place

Hopeful that a change in the pitch command might make the difference between a losing and a winning ball club, Owner Bill Ulrich today had installed Ray Jacobs, former Coast league veteran of major and minor league play, as the second Cowboy manager of the 1940 season.

Jacobs, successor to Frank Tobin, will make his Twin Falls debut at Dayton park tonight when the last-place Punchers entertain the Boise Pilots. The two teams leave for Boise after the one engagement here, then again later in the week.

Tobin's decision was announced after the owner of the Spudders and Twin Falls clubs made a flying trip to Ogden to confer with Tobin and business manager Hugh Pace. Tobin, according to reports while the Cowboys were completing a debacle with the Reds, was complimented for his efforts by Ulrich, who said: "Some new material has not lived up to expectations, and it may be that a managerial change can help the situation. Mr. Tobin has done a good job for the Twin Falls club, has made some fine changes and I hope that he will be able to catch on with some other team."

Jacobs started in baseball in Salt Lake City in 1923, later played for Ogden and then moved to Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast league in 1922. He was the regular first baseman for the Angels for four years and in 1929 was sold to the Chicago Cubs. After suffering a broken ankle Jacobs was returned to Los Angeles, playing there until 1933 when he was acquired by the Hollywood Stars. He ended his days in the Coast league as a member of the San Diego Padres in 1935 and 1936.

For the next three years he managed Yakima in the Western International league and at the end of the 1939 season retired from baseball to go into business in Salt Lake City.

Before leaving the Cowboys, Tobin personally conducted the team to a 5-2 victory over Ogden Sunday. With the score tied 2-2 in the tenth inning, the manager came through with a base-clearing double as his first contribution to his new team, helping to register his seventh mound victory.

den rally by doubling off the right field fence. A moment later, however, he was caught off third base when he tried to go down on Price's bunt. Price went to third when Sinnott singled and scored on Lanny McConnell's one-base blow.

Tom Canavan was the Cowboys' best man at bat. In the times up he got three safe bingles, two of them doubles.

The day night Ogden engagement Salt Lake City in the opening of a four-game series and Twin Falls goes home to make a one-game appearance against Boise's Pilots at Jaycee park, then the two teams will move on to Boise.

Salt Lake Takes Five-Game Lead

SALT LAKE CITY, July 1 (AP)—The Salt Lake City Bees made it four straight over Pocatello here tonight, defeating the hapless Cardinals 9 to 5 in a Pioneer baseball league game.

The victory hoisted the Bees one full game ahead of the second place Boise Pilots, who were idle when wet grounds forced postponement of their scheduled game at Idaho Falls.

One big inning, the second, was enough for the Bees. Seven safe hits in that frame produced six runs and sent Cardinal hurler Warren Saddel to the showers. Hal Osborn took over and did a good job but his teammates were unable to get enough hits off Larry Jansen, Bee pitcher, to, even things up.

Tomorrow Salt Lake City goes to Ogden to open a four-game bill that will climax with a Fourth of July double-header—the afternoon game of which will be played here and the night game at Ogden—and Pocatello goes home to entertain the Idaho Falls Russets in a similar engagement.

By FREDERICK GARDNER

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—It was a drifting session for the stock market today as most traders reserved buying ammunition pending more light on foreign and domestic affairs.

The proceedings were the second slowest in 18 years and declines of fractions to more than a point predominated at the close. Steels, motors, aircraft and specialties were counted for the principal recessions.

Lack of speculative vigor was attributed partly to the inability of financial experts to determine just what the Nazians were up to in the Balkins, whether it meant a threatened Stalin break with Hitler or was in line with the axis program.

In addition, the cheering in boardrooms following the Willkie nomination seemed to have waned and more attention was being given the forthcoming Democratic convention.

The presidential recommendation to congress for a "steeply graduated" excess profits tax received debate as to just how much industry would be affected when the government starts collecting the bill for huge rearmament.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .4 of a point at 40.9. Transfers at 272,200 shares compared with 1,173,100 last Friday and were the smallest for a full session, with the exception of July 3, 1939, since 1922.

Bonds and commodities were unsettled. "Free" sterling steadied.

Aluminum of American took 4 points in the cup. Lesser declines were registered for American Cyanamid "B," American Can, Electric Bond & Share, Republic Aviation and Brewster Aero. The volume in this market was around 74,000 shares against 288,000 in the preceding full session.

CHICAGO WHEAT MARKET RALLIES

Prices Close Higher After Falling to 10-Month Low Marks

By FRANKLIN MULLIN

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—After dipping to the lowest quotations here in the past 10 months, wheat prices today rallied almost two cents, closing ¾-⅞ higher than Saturday.

Estimates of bushels against flour sold to the government relief agency, indications that large quantities of new wheat are being stored for loans and reports that two British Islands in the English channel had been occupied by Germans were factors in the rally.

After selling at 73¾ and 73¾, new lows for the season July and September contracts closed at 74⅞-75 and 75⅞-¾, which were the highs of the session.

Corn closed ¼-½ higher, July 60½, September 58-57¾; oats ¼-⅜ up, soy beans ¾-1¼ higher; rye 2¾ higher and barley higher.

Appointment by Court Proposed

BOISE, July 1 (AP)—Revision of the state constitution which would call for appointment of a prison probation and parole board by the Idaho supreme court was advocated today by Ira H. Masters, former secretary of state and chairman of the recently adjourned session of the Western Parole and Probation association.

"If we want a strictly non-partisan board we should ask the supreme court to appoint said board," Masters declared. He said appointment of a non-partisan board "by a partisan governor would be virtually impossible."

Q. P. Duvall Speaks on Local Program Before Rural-Urban Group

An explanation of operation and purposes of the U. S. housing authority program and its local application was offered by Judge O. P. Duvall in addressing Saturday's meeting of the rural and urban council in the Twin Falls public library basement.

Judge Duvall, who is attorney for the local authority, discussed the Idaho housing authority law which enables operation of the program in this state. He pointed out that the reason for creation of the authority nationally was that a survey showed that one-third of all families in the nation were living under conditions impairing health and morals and had no other way of obtaining sanitary living conditions. Problems conducive to juvenile delinquency will also be corrected by the slum clearance aspect of the authority's work.

According to Judge Duvall, the low-cost housing program does not compete with private enterprise, and housing needs in the United States exceeds the construction rate. Finances for such programs are derived from rentals and annual contributions by the government.

"Under the Twin Falls plan, two sites have been tentatively selected, one for new construction and one for clearance work," Judge Duvall said.

At present the local commission is awaiting approval of its application from the regional office at San Francisco, after which it will go to Washington, D. C. Federal funds earmarked for the Twin Falls project total $343,000.
