

Bomb Kills Two, Injures Five at New York Fair

Explosion Occurs After Detectives Rush Flame-Throwing Device From British Pavilion

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 4.—A flame-throwing bomb, disguised as a portable radio, killed two detectives today and injured five others at the British pavilion at the New York world's fair. The blast tore a hole five feet wide and four feet deep in the ground of a little-used plot, smashed two huge glass windows in the dining saloon of the Polish pavilion, 150 yards away, and ripped the clothing from the bodies of its mangled victims.

The explosion shook the lower end of the foreign section and sent tremors of fear through the Independence day crowd of more than 100,000 visitors. The bomb—police said it was a time device—exploded about two days after a mysterious voice in a telephone call yesterday had ordered the pavilion switchboard operator to get out of the building, a warning to "blow it up."

Killed in the blast were Detective Joseph J. Lanza, 34, of Queens, and Detective William J. Lanza, 34, of Queens, and Detective William J. Lanza, 34, of Queens, and Detective William J. Lanza, 34, of Queens.

The bomb had been seen in the room on the second floor of the pavilion. It had been there since yesterday morning, ignored, because the employees believed it belonged to a character.

Today, William Strachan, the pavilion's head electrician, took the case to Cyril Ruffalo, assistant to the Commissioner of the fair, and Mr. Ruffalo.

"I found a ticking bomb," said Ruffalo, who notified police.

The bomb was taken by them to a spot in the rear of the Polish pavilion, where it was placed in a heavy metal box.

Civilian in-charge, alerted by the sudden sound of police activity, were kept away from the case with difficulty. Pieces of clothing were blown 75 yards from the spot. Nearly all were knocked flat.

Thousands of fair-goers halted in their tracks as the roar filled the air. They exploded, despite the warning, and many were injured.

British Seize Bunkers of France's Fleet From Nazi Grasp

Clash Looms in Neutrality Zone

BURGOS, AUSTRIA, July 4.—Britain's use of force to seize French warships from the clutches of the Nazis has opened the possibility that the war may be carried again into American waters.

The French navy, which throughout most of the war has been a victim of the "bunker" policy of the Nazis, has a West Indian base at Martinique. The number of French vessels there now is unknown, but some informed sources say the cruiser which had maintained patrol and was on duty off Brazil today had sailed for Africa, perhaps leaving only small escort vessels as the only ships now based in the West Indies.

If that is true, it appears the British would be unable to offend American nations by attacking Martinique.

Pro-Nazi Cabinet Ties Up With Rome-Berlin Axis

Guns Send Portion of Navy to Bottom—Great Flotilla Enters English Ports

LONDON, July 4.—The British navy has fallen with a crash in the face of the French navy, in a battle and by threat of battle has won the great bulk of it from the reaching grasp of Germany.

With tears of his heavy cheeks and his voice tight in pride and sorrow, Churchill told commonsense how "aching hearts" the British government has seen to it that the French surrender conditions of Marshal Philippe Pétain would never carry out its promise to turn its battle vessels over to Germany—which only now allows the chance to strike a last great blow at Britain across the channel.

This, in substance, is what he reported:

In a ton-voice address, Churchill said that the British navy, which throughout most of the war has been a victim of the "bunker" policy of the Nazis, has a West Indian base at Martinique.

SUN VALLEY, Idaho, July 4 (AP)—Members of Kappa Kappa Gamma national college sorority, were warned today by their officers to keep their fraternities in step with the times.

SKATING STAR OF MOVIES MARRIED

Sonja Henie Becomes Bride of Wealthy New York Sportsman

CHICAGO, July 4 (AP)—Sonja Henie, blonde star of the screen and ice, today became the bride of a wealthy New York sportsman.

The ceremony was performed in a lake shore drive apartment by the Rev. John O'Donnell, pastor of the Holy Trinity Lutheran church, in the presence of a few friends of the bride and groom.

While their names had been linked romantically for more than a year, the bride and groom stood uncertainly for a moment after the nuptials were completed.

"Topping them gave his pretty wife," said Mrs. Henie, who was smiling and the couple laughed and quipped as they posed for photographs.

Hungarians Object To New Official

BUDAPEST, July 5 (Friday)—

Informal quarters said today the Hungarian government is displeased with the appointment of Hans Otto Roth, a German, as minister of minorities in the new Rumanian cabinet.

They pointed out that, according to official Rumanian figures, the German minority in Rumania numbers only 740,000, compared to 1,428,000 Hungarians.

Hungarians say the Rumanian minority actually numbers 1,000,000. Roth's appointment was regarded as an insult to the German minority.

They also pointed out that the Hungarian government had protested against the Rumanian border province.

BRITAIN SEIZES FRENCH FLEET

was carried out without the slightest interference from Italian warships.

"The Italian fleet," he said, "is now in the hands of the British command of the Mediterranean."

"From Geneva there had been reports that the Italian fleet was speeding to the aid of the French."

A final rupture of diplomatic relations with the French government was predicted by informed men.

Churchill began his report of all that had happened by saying that what he had to say was said with "sincere sorrow," and near his conclusion he said that the French fleet would be in the hands of the British command of the Mediterranean.

"Any idea of that," he said, "should be completely swept out of the way by the very logic and gravity of what we have felt ourselves compelled to take."

The seizure of the French fleet was the first step in the British command of the Mediterranean.

There was no bloodshed, he said, and there was a "sincere sorrow" in the British command of the Mediterranean.

Many French seamen, he declared, expressed an ardent desire to continue the war.

He made it plain that the British fleet was in the hands of the British command of the Mediterranean.

Standing tensely before a man cheering, now silent, home, Churchill said with confidence to parliament that the British fleet was in the hands of the British command of the Mediterranean.

RUSSIA TAKES REALISTIC VIEW

For Parisians in his conferences with political leaders today.

Hans Otto Roth, leader of the Transylvanian Germans, is in the new cabinet as minister of minorities. He is known as anti-Hungarian and foreign diplomats here surmise he was picked to strengthen Catholic bid for German support against Hungarian claims on Transylvania.

British oil men, deemed likely to destroy British-owned Rumania, were well rather than see the oil go to Germany, were ordered to leave the country within 24 hours. But tonight was learned that this order had been rescinded.

DEMOCRACY IN ACTION

It is the nature of democracy, perhaps, to put its worst foot foremost. Thus alien observers always find our American procedure in choosing our rulers, illogical and rather unorthodox business.

But the delegates did not nominate Shirley Temple or any other child star. The fact was, concludes the critic, "that the men most likely to be chosen were probably quakers."

WAR SENTIMENT

American isolation has evaporated, and our people are very frank about it. A public opinion survey by Fortune Magazine last week indicated that 67.5 per cent of our people are in favor of aid to the Allies.

HIGH SCHOOL SPEECH

A fellow speech making something of the remark that Wendell Wilkie is said to have made in a recent pre-convention speech in Indiana. If he should be nominated, he declared, he would like to make his speech of acceptance on the front steps of the high school in Elwood, where he was born and got his schooling.

DEATH TO LEARNING

Here is a characteristic sketch from Chungking, showing the nature of the Japanese war against China:

ALIEN BUGS

Imported pests—Insects, not ideologists—are getting to be a real problem. They come on airplanes and ships and they have to be fought by an army of entomologists.

But these are a mere beginning. The harlequin bug, the mole cricket, the cotton touse, and the striped blister beetle are all enemy insects. The worst sort, however, is the chinch bug and a false chinch bug, equally mischievous.

Other Points of View

DOCTORS OF MATRIMONY

Reducing the pathos of marriage to scientific formulae and likewise the methods of avoiding them, are the two chief occupations of the doctors of matrimony.

UNBETTERED GOAL

It is interesting and pleasing to see that Gen. William H. Arnold, who is a most efficient American officer, is transferred now to the front lines in Europe.

It is interesting and pleasing to see that Gen. William H. Arnold, who is a most efficient American officer, is transferred now to the front lines in Europe.

NO MONOPOLY ON BRAINS

Wendell Wilkie, whose stature as a Republican presidential possibility is growing steadily, made the mistake in his speech at Kansas City, Mo., to say that he was not for the Democratic party.

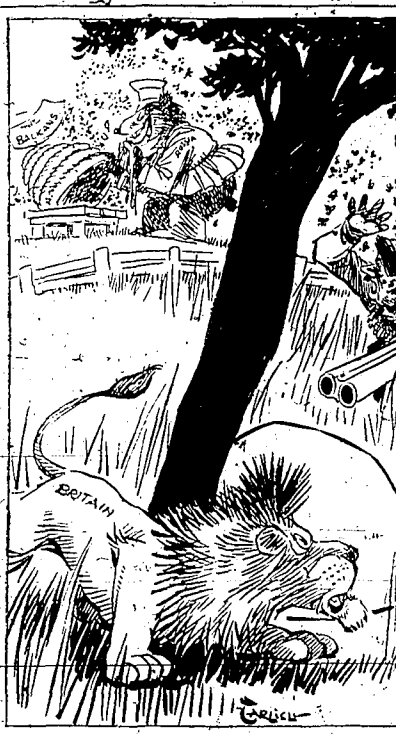

DISCOMMODORATE

President Roosevelt is quoted as having said that there is no reason for the country to become "discommodorated" by the war.

The Store in the reservoir now stands at 14,100 acre feet. It is planned to have about 13 more "running water" days this season.
