Berlin's Reply to American Note Calls for Hands Off Affairs in Europe

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 5 — Confronted with a challenging note from Germany telling the United States government's department today served notice anew that it would uphold the doctrine and, in addition, virtually threatened to oust any German diplomats in this country who publicly discussed American policy.

The latter action was evoked by the fact that Baron Edgar Von Spiegel, the German consul general at New Orleans, had been quoted in the press as saying that Germany would not forget the aid given her enemies by this country.

Out of Bounds

A state department announcement said it appeared the consul general thought he was not speaking for publication and that it was "perhaps due to a misunderstanding" that publication resulted.

"The matter has been taken up with the German embassy here," said the announcement, "and it has been pointed out that public discussion of questions relating to this country's policies and attitudes does not properly come within the province of foreign government officials in the United States."

Then the department added pointedly that permission granted to foreign government officials to remain in this country is dependent upon observance of this rule.

The exchange concerning the Monroe doctrine grew out of the United States action in informing the reich on June 18 that it would not recognize any "acquisition" in any manner of certain territory from one nation to another. This amounted to a notice to Germany not to try to take over French, British or other possessions in the new world.

German Reply

The German reply, as given out in substance by Secretary of State Hull today, made these three points:

That Germany has "given no occasion whatever for the assumption" that she intends to acquire territory in this hemisphere and that the American note to Germany was thus "without object."

That the interpretation of the Monroe doctrine implicit in the American note was "untenable" because it would "amount to conferring upon some European countries the right to possess territories in the western hemisphere and not to other European countries."

That the Monroe doctrine's principle that Europe must not intervene in American affairs can be "legally valid only on condition that the American nations for their part do not interfere in the affairs of the European continent."

Hull's counter-argument did not take the form of a direct reply to Germany. He issued a statement saying that "no useful purpose" would be served by "any further communication" to the reich on the subject at this time.

But his statement went on to reiterate that the United States would "not acquiesce in any transfer of new world land from one non-American power to another."

Sharply, Hull declared that the

FLASHES of LIFE

By Associated Press

Sweetened

WILSON, N. C.—Wilson county has the sweetest cotton crop in these parts.

Farm Agent J. P. Anthony told the county commissioners that all cotton fields in the county had been "mopped" with molasses to combat the boll weevil. An estimated 88,000 gallons were used.

To Trade

KANSAS CITY — Any tapirs, capybaras or patagonian cavies to trade?

Kansas City needs them for its zoo. It offers Tom and Virgie, 20-month-old tiger cubs, and Spot and Spangles, two-year-old leopards, for exchange.

Reverse

KANSAS CITY—William Neville, jr., 8, had had little experience with firecrackers. He threw away the match, held the cracker. His left hand was burned.

Liquidated

LAUREL, Neb.—A family of owls developed into "dive bombers" here.

As the young owls grew the parents gave them nightly lessons in swooping from telephone wires to attack passers-by.

An irate citizen, armed with a shotgun, liquidated them.

GROWTH SIGHTED IN DEFENSE BILL

U.S. to Spend Over $21,000,000,000 in Seven Years

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP) — Whether war or peace lies ahead, congressional sources estimated today, the country's national defense bill will run to more than $2,000,000,000 annually from now on and a good deal more than that for the next seven years.

In the period just ahead, the projected 5-ocean navy with its $4,000,000,000 expansion of the fleet, is to be under construction and the army is to be buying planes, tanks, guns and other equipment in huge quantities, as well as increasing its personnel to a total strength of 375,000 men.

Maintenance Cost

With the army and navy fully equipped, it was said, there will be a maintenance cost of as much as $1,800,000,000 annually for the navy and $850,000,000 for the army.

On top of these outlays, a third set of tools for the Panama canal has been authorized and such proposals as a second canal through Nicaragua and compulsory military training are pending.

In hearings before the senate military committee today, Senator Johnson (D-Colo), estimated the cost of compulsory military training at $1,200,000,000 a year, on a basis of 2,000,000 trainees annually at a cost of $600 each.

While capital speculated on these figures, other developments related to the defense situation arose.

Clark Objects

Senator Clark (D-Ida) announced his opposition to confirming Frank Knox as secretary of the navy and Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war. It was "travesty" he said, to place "two aging, wealthy, politician interventionists in these positions."

The senate, meanwhile, met briefly and adjourned until Monday

BOISE DEFEATS TWIN FALLS 9-2

Pilots and Cowboys to Play Here; League-Leading Bees Trim Ogden

Pioneer League Standings

| Salt Lake | 44 | 21 | .677 |
| Boise | 39 | 26 | .600 |
| Idaho Falls | 31 | 33 | .484 |
| Ogden | 30 | 35 | .462 |

Friday's Scores

Salt Lake City 9, Ogden 8.
Idaho Falls 10, Pocatello 5.
Boise 9, Twin Falls 2.

BOISE, July 5 (AP) — A trio of home runs added much to the color but little to the outcome tonight as Boise trimmed Twin Falls, 9-2, in a lopsided Pioneer league baseball game.

All three of the four-ply swats were the product of Boise bats. Walt Lowe donated the first, cracking a pitch over the fence with none aboard in the third inning.

Joe Kenaitz followed with a two-run four-bagger in the sixth and Bobby Adams culminated the slugging with a single-runner in the next frame.

All that contributed toward making the evening's pitching chore light for Jack Mentz, who hung up his eighth victory of the season, but even without such assistance the host Pilots would have been in.

Their major onslaught upon Singer Rube Sandstrum was unmerciful in the second and eighth sessions, when home runs figures not at all.

Mardi Gras Montage

EVERYTHING from soup to nuts appeared in last night's mardi gras parade in Twin Falls as the third day of the Magic City jubilee neared a close. Headed by the Union Pacific's crack band from Ogden, the line of march declared the float bearing winners in the whisker-growing contest in royal attire, a novelty band, miniature engine, various business establishment entries, including old-time and modern musical groups, comic characters, and even a synthetic diving performance. It was all in the spirit of riotous good fun, as shown by these photos of a junk wagon entry, with E. I. Shaw in the driver's seat, while at the bottom appears a bevy of old-time musicians as they swept down Main avenue. (News Photos and Engravings).

Wind, Heat Aid Spread Of Fire in Oregon Areas

Two Industrial Plants Burn at Bend; 1,000 Men Fight Flames on Mount Hood

(By The Associated Press)

HOOD RIVER, Ore., July 5 — Fires, with wind and heat for allies, broke out anew in Oregon today, sending vacationers scurrying from Mount Hood and destroying two industrial plants at Bend.

More than 1,000 campers fled the Mount Hood National forest as fire crews battled one large blaze and a number of spot fires covering at least 2,100 acres. The main fire front encompassed three miles south of Dee.

Bend, central Oregon's largest city, saw the Deschutes County Farmers' warehouse and the Oregon Trail Furniture Manufacturing company plants go up in flames with losses estimated by the owners at more than $75,000.

The Pacific Power and Light company was damaged, cutting off electricity from Westside Bend for an hour. Officials said the blaze was started by firecrackers.

Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia river, asked for a CCC camp to guard its threatened watershed, where 100 loggers from Crown Zeller-Bach Corp., camps completed toppling a 500-acre blaze today. The fire for a time appeared likely to destroy 4,000 acres of spruce shielding city reservoirs.

Business Leaders Report for Army Training at Plattsburgh

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 5 (AP) —The army demoted captain of industry to privates today as 800 civilians, bent on a month of military training, staged a homecoming at the birthplace of "The Plattsburg idea."

Like the first contingent which received lessons in soldiering a quarter century ago, business and professional men; firemen and policemen, bankers and farmers trooped into Plattsburg barracks to undergo a rigid training in behalf of national preparedness.

But vastly different from their predecessors in 1915, the civilians, ranging in years from 25 to 50, displayed that the "business man's belly," the pomp "middle-aged paddle," is out of style.

Lieutenant Col el E. T. Chamberlain, post surgeon, said the trainees were in the best physical condition of any of the civilian groups that have participated in the summer camp periods.

"They're fit," he asserted. "They exercise more now than the business man did 25 years ago. The bulging tummies are rare but even those will disappear after a month at this camp."

Between physical examinations and "processing" the new privates tended to other army chores. Winthrop Rockefeller, son of John D. Rockefeller Jr., was assigned to kitchen police and helped prepare the noon meal of frankfurters and sauerkraut.

Other enrollees include Newbold Morris, president of the New York City council; John Hay Whitney; Angier Biddle Duke; Robert P. Patterson, judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and polo star Michael J. Phipps.

HILARITY MARKS JUBILEE PARADE

Merriment Reigns as Celebration Nears Successful Conclusion

Twin Falls "let its hair down" last night with a mad, merry mardi gras parade through downtown streets as the Magic City jubilee celebration neared a successful conclusion.

In sharp contrast to the impressive historical and patriotic parades of preceding days, the riotous procession posed formality to the winds to provide excitement for participants and the thousands who thronged the streets to watch the passing show. Heading the march was "Big Virg" Barron as "Marshal of Mardi Gras," seated atop a white float and wearing a white pants including a picturesque turban.

Climax of Day

The mardi gras parade climaxed a day of rapid-fire events, which featured a children's historical parade in the morning. Playing prominent roles in both the morning and night parades was the Union Pacific band from Ogden, snappily attired and featuring five drum majorettes and a commanding drum major.

Then in the afternoon came the whisker judging contest at the reviewing stands in which about 25 contestants vied for cash prizes and places of honor in the mardi gras parade.

Winner of the $15 prize for the "most luxuriant beard" crop was S. Carl, and as a result he reigned as king of the mardi gras. Virgil K. Barron annexed honors for the "most artistic beard" and another $15 prize, while Howard Ainsworth won the $10 prize for the most colorful whiskers.

Honorable Mention

In the "most luxuriant" division Bud Wallace was accorded honorable mention.

France Protests at Smashing of Fleet

Hoax Telegram Aids Red Cross

MIAMI, Fla., July 5 (AP)—A "prank in the form of a hoax telegram culminated tonight in a $5,000 donation to the Red Cross war relief fund.

A crowd of 4,000, attending a lavish beauty contest, saw Mayor Alexander Orr, jr., present the check to Actress Irene Rich with the promise the donation would be increased when the receipts were tabulated.

It all began when Miss Rich offered in a national broadcast to collect personally all Red Cross donations of $500 or more. She received a telegram signed with Mayor Orr's name promising $5,000. The mayor disclaimed knowledge of the telegram but said Miami would produce the $5,000 anyway. The show then was arranged, and Miss Rich flew here.

Public Excluded from 12,000 Square-Mile Region on English Coast

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 5 — In a vast extension of Britain's "defense area" under new ramparts against German invasion —the government excluded the public today from the entire English east coast and substantially all of the southern coast, 12,000-square-mile region.

While the creation of this big no-man's land signaled the intensity of preparedness for the supreme test, British men-of-war searched the seas for the last fugitive units of the French fleet—and a final bitter dissolution of the old allied partnership appeared under way because of what already has been done by the British to the bulk of that fleet.

Preliminary to Break

In an apparent preliminary to a formal break-off of all diplomatic relations between Britain and France, the French Charge d'Affaires here presented, on orders, a "drastic and stern" protest against the British action against the French fleet in the Mediterranean.

This action destroyed or put out of action a 22,000-ton battleship, a 20,000-ton battle cruiser, a 10,000-ton seaplane carrier and two destroyers. Along with seizure of other ships at Alexandria and in British ports, it made an end to the old French navy as an effective force and destroyed the plan of France to turn it over it Hitler as France had promised to do.

Distribution of Fleet

Just how many French war ships remained at large was not discussed officially, but an authoritative source said that at the beginning of this week this was the approximate disposition of the French fleet:

One third in British ports.

One third off Oran, in the Mediterranean, the scene of the British attack.

One sixth at Casablanca.

One sixth at Alexandria.

Tile-order lengthening and deepening the defense area will, in supplement with the previously declared defense area, make a solid line, 20 miles deep, given over entirely to military operations from Berwick-on-Tweed, in Scotland, clear down the east coast and around to Dorset on the south coast.

Envoy Resigns

The French protest against the British fleet action had one unusual aftermath—the reported resignation of the charge who delivered it, Roger Cambon. The French ambassador, Charles Corbin, resigned last week.

Both Cambon and Corbin, long have been in London and have

BUCHAREST — New Rumanian government works to keep nation tranquil, orders 20 British oil men to leave country within 24 hours.

Canada Refuses Money for Fun

OTTAWA, July 5 (AP)—Canadians no longer can get money from their friends for fun across the line in the United States.

The foreign exchange control board, it was reported tonight, has advised banks that all applications for funds for foreign travel, except for business, education, health or an emergency, must be referred to the board.

Authorities explained there is no intention to interfere with serious business but if someone wants to go to Chicago to dance or to Palm Beach to swim he cannot have the money for such a purpose.

Spokane Chamber to Become Foster Parent to Refugees

SPOKANE, July 5 (AP)—The Spokane Chamber of Commerce, much to its surprise, learned today it was about to become foster parent to three refugee children from England.

The chamber received a letter today from William J. (Lighting) McKick, a former Spokane resident who fought with a Canadian regiment during the world war and now is living in England.

"France has laid down and left us holding the bag," wrote Mc Kick.

"Now we are not worried much, but our three younger children have to be evacuated to Canada, and as I don't have any friends in Canada I have chosen to send my children to your care."

A boy, 13 years old, and two girls, 9 and 6, are en route, Mc Kick wrote. The perplexed Chamber of Commerce reported the children would be cared for in Spokane institutions unless a family volunteered to "adopt" the trio.

RUMANIA ADOPTS NAZIS' METHODS

Two Newspapers Suppressed and Decrees Excluding Jews Prepared

BUCHAREST, July 5 (AP) — Rumania's new pro-German government suppressed permanently tonight, "in the interest of public order," two Democratic Bucharest newspapers, Semnalul and Jurnalul.

It likewise was reported that decrees excluding Jews from journalism and the army were being prepared.

Aside from this, the government devoted itself to keeping the nation tranquil and at work despite reports in other Balkan capitals—denied here—that Russia was placing additional troops in Bessarabia.

The immediate concern of the new cabinet was restoration of more normal conditions after many days of deep unrest.

Besides the reports of further Russian encroachments, the Hungarian press continued to charge that troubled conditions prevail in Transylvania, where a substantial Magyar population remains a constant source of Hungarian concern.

With Rumania generally considered completely allied now with the Rome-Berlin axis, British citizens were reported liquidating their interests in anticipation of governmental measures against them.

American authorities formally requested the Rumanian government today to grant an extension of stay for them and for all men ordered to leave the country within 24 hours. Two large American corporations would be directly affected by expulsion of the three British citizens, the Rumanian government was informed.

A government communique today said withdrawal from Bessarabia and Bucovina had been completed July 3.

Small Rumanian military losses were acknowledged.

The communique said that in Bucovina where the Russians immediately moved into the agreed line, they have fallen back."

GERMANS CLAIM SUCCESS AT SEA

High Command Announces Destruction of British Merchantmen

BERLIN, July 5 (AP)—The German high command reported increasing success of its counter-blockade against Great Britain today with submarines doing the deadliest work.

British merchantmen totalling 106,343 tons have been sunk "recently," a communique declared.

Submarines were credited with 86,000 tons of the total.

Dive bombers and torpedo speedboats accounted for the balance.

While Germany heralded its successes against British shipping an authoritative source charged that in sending the Arandora Star through "a dangerous war route" loaded with German and Italian prisoners bound for Canada the British were guilty of "irresponsibility" breaking "their obligations under international law."

The Arandora Star was sunk by a German submarine with apparently heavy loss of ex-prisoners' lives.

The German source said belligerents were obliged to keep prisoners out of war zones.

BRITISH WATCH FRENCH VESSELS

Situation Tense as English Await Decision of Commanders

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 5 (AP) —The British pledged themselves tonight to see that "no French ship shall ever leave Alexandria to surrender to the Germans."

With one French battleship, four cruisers and a number of smaller craft swinging at anchor in melancholy bondage of the British naval base, the situation was tense.

British naval authorities acknowledged they did not know what the French warship commanders would decide to do; they said the French were "deeply affected" by the fate of the French warships and men which were sunk or pounded to wreckage by the British Wednesday, off Algeria when they tried to escape to sea.

Still, the British added, the situation is "well in hand."

The French commanders have been advised formally by the British they cannot leave the harbor "to fall into the power of the German conquerors of France."

Today, however, no British had boarded the French ships, they still were under their own officers and crews, and it was believed the British were not pressing for an immediate showdown.

The British seemed to believe the majority of the French officers and men are with them.

Berlin Prepares To Greet Hitler

BERLIN, July 5 (Saturday) (AP) — It was announced officially this morning that Adolf Hitler would return to Berlin from the western front at 3 p. m. today (8 a. m. E. S. T.) and receive a great reception.

He will arrive by train for a Nazi welcome "of unsurpassed splendor" has never seen, Propagandist Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels declared in an appeal to the Berlin populace to turn out to greet the Fuehrer.

SENATORS HEAR MILITARY HEADS

'Official Views on Compulsory Military Training to Be Given

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The war and navy departments agreed today to give the senate military committee next Tuesday their official views on compulsory military training.

The committee had voted to suspend hearings until the war department was ready to present its views. Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) pointed out that department experts had been working on compulsory training plans since World war days and said it would be best to get their view before enacting any legislation.

The committee has been holding hearings on a training bill sponsored by Senator Burke (D-Neb.) and Representative Wadsworth (R-N.Y.).

During today's hearing Senator Minton, (D-Ind.) asserted that Adolf Hitler was attempting to prevent compulsory military training in the United States.

Minton made the assertion while Julius Ochs Adler, general manager of the New York Times, was testifying in support of the pending legislation, which would require registration and possible military training for all men from 18 to 65.

"There is subtle propaganda going around," Minton declared, "that there should be compulsory military training. It is part of the program of Mr. Hitler in his subtle way to weaken us at this point.

"If we are not willing to go ahead and meet our obligations as citizens, then we deserve what we'll get."

Minton's comment followed an assertion by Senator Downey (D-Cal) that he knew "no better way to create saboteurs and disloyal people than to conscript mechanics to service your planes."

Lewis Sanders, reserve officer and New York engineer, testified that years of dissatisfaction on the part of highly paid mechanics being brought into service at $5 a month were groundless because every mechanic in the army would automatically be kept out under this program because we can't spare them from industry."

He also disagreed with a contention by Downey that to provide the kind of troops needed for a mechanized army would require a training period of several years. A man could be trained in four months, Sanders said, to "operate any machine that was ever made."

FRANCE PROTESTS FLEET SMASHING

close British attachments." Their resignations indicate they do not desire to represent a government antagonistic to the British war effort.)

The counsellor, the Marquis de Castellane, now has assumed charge of the French embassy.

Dispatches from Vichy, France, reported that the government as early as yesterday had come to a final decision to break off with England because of what was officially described as "unjustifiable aggression" against the French fleet.

Destined for America

German radio broadcasts attributed to the French radio service statement "destined above all for America" in which the British action against the French fleet was called "an act of aggression without precedent in world history."

During the day, the British reported that enemy airplanes had made three unsuccessful attacks upon Gibraltar, the naval stronghold in the Mediterranean.

They reported also that British planes had been busy attacking German naval units and industrial regions.

The English coastal defense area — part of the country which would be handiest to Hitler's reach across the channel or The North sea—was taken under such complete control that no one may enter or leave the district save on business of national importance.

The east and south coasts of England now present a picture very close to that of a World war battlefront.

There are barbed wire entanglements, trenches, strategic fields, machine gun and heavy artillery emplacements, dugouts and redoubts. There are airfields, anti-aircraft batteries, listening posts, searchlight batteries and the toughest of all British troops—the survivors of Flanders and of Dunkerque.

Sentries stand on all roads and rail lines.

Mardi Gras Marshal

"MARSHAL OF THE MARDI GRAS" was the impressive title of "Big Virg" Barron as he surveyed hilarious crowds from atop a mammoth white float during last night's madcap parade through Twin Falls. # HULL THREATENS NAZI DIPLOMATS

Monroe doctrine has "not the remotest connection with the fact that certain European nations exercise sovereignty over colonies in the western hemisphere and that certain other European nations do not."

"The situation existed before the Monroe doctrine was proclaimed," his statement said. "The doctrine did not undertake to interfere with existing situation, but did announce that further incursions would not be tolerated."

Moreover, Hull disdainfully rejected the idea that there is any similarity between the Monroe doctrine and certain policies being put into effect abroad. In language which appeared almed at Japan as well as Germany, he said:

"It (the American Monroe doctrine) never has resembled, and it does not today resemble, policies which seek to be arbitrarily, in the geographical areas of the world, which are alleged to be similar to the Monroe doctrine, but which, in fact, are based on the sole policies of national defense and of respect for existing sovereignties, as does the Monroe doctrine, would in reality be found to be simply the pretext for the carrying out of conquest by the sword, of military occupation, and of complete economic and political domination over the internal affairs of other free and independent peoples."

Apparently defending the right of the United States to give aid to Britain or other nations, Hull declared the government was pursuing "a policy of non-participation and of non-involvement in the purely political affairs of Europe."

But it will be said, continued, to cooperate with all other nations "whenever the policies of such nations make it possible and whenever the circumstances of efforts are practicable and in its own best interest, for the purpose of promoting economic, commercial and social relations and of advancing the cause of international law and order, of which the entire world stands so tragically in need today."

FUNERALS

MRS. MARGARET MARSHALL

Requiem high mass will be recited at 9 a.m. today at St. Edward's Catholic church for Mrs. Margaret Marshall, wife of Joe P. Marshall, prominent Twin Falls potato grower, who died at Rosary hospital here Wednesday following a long illness. Rosary was said yesterday evening at the White mortuary.

CLAUDE B. ROSE

Final rites for Claude B. Rose, trained nurse, who died early this week here, will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. today at the Reynolds funeral home, with Claude Brown, Jr., of the L. D. S. church in charge.

Burial will be in the Sunset Memorial park.

BOLEN BEAVER

BURLEY — Funeral services for Bolen Beaver, who was drowned in the Snake river near here Sunday, will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday, instead of Sunday, as originally announced. Rev. Lewis Harro will officiate at the services at the Presbyterian church here, and burial will be in the Heyburn cemetery under direction of Vern B. McCulloch of the Burley funeral home.

LA DEAN AND JUNIOR STALNAKER

BURLEY—Last rites for La Dean and Junior Stalnaker, who were drowned in the Snake river near Burley Sunday, will be held at 1:30 p. m. Sunday at the Heyburn L.D.S. church. Burial will be in the Heyburn cemetery under direction of the Burley funeral home.

TWO MEN KILLED IN NEVADA AUTO COLLISION

RENO, Nev., July 5 (AP)—Two men were killed and two others injured in an automobile collision on the Carson City highway, six miles south of here, early today.

The dead: Hong Thick Yee and Lou Yet Fung.

Chinese Credited With Holding Jap

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP) — Ambassador Wu Shih of China said today that his country has kept Japan from joining the axis powers.

"Fighting our own battle," he said, "we have also helped those who are fighting the same sort of battle elsewhere. We have rendered one of the most formidable of the aggressors incapable of going to the aid of its European partners in aggression."

Speaking at the dedication of the World's Fair pavilion housing the American bureau for medical aid to China, Dr. Hu said China was determined to carry on its war to successful completion.

NO WORD FROM IDAHO AVIATORS

Brothers—Unreported—After Leaving San Francisco for Boise

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5 (AP) — Leon and Don Goodman, amateur fliers of McCall, Idaho, have been unreported by any major airports along their prospective route since they took off from the bay district on a newly-purchased plane—presumably headed for home.

The San Francisco bay airdrome at Alameda, which they left at 7 a. m. yesterday, said the Goodmans did not file a flight plan.

The man who sold them their ship, a low-wing, two-place open cockpit model, licensed NC14232, was surprised to hear the pair intended to fly to Idaho, as was reported from Boise. The plane has a cruising radius of only 200 to 300 miles, he said.

Neither Woodland, Calif., where the Goodmans for a time were believed to have been grounded by fog, nor Sacramento, Calif., had any report of the fliers, and Sacramento said they had not been expected to land there.

Airdrome officials said they had not yet been listed as missing, and that there had been no crashes reported anywhere in the territory.

New Peace Talk Heard in London

LONDON, July 6 (Saturday) (AP) — A neutral diplomatic source who had good contacts with both principal belligerents predicted early today that German peace feelers will be made within three or four weeks.

However, he said most-neutral diplomats were convinced by "the new British aggressiveness" that any such move would be a failure.

able mention for his abundant growth. He also was announced as winner of the $5 prize offered by the Twin Falls News and Idaho Evening Times for the best crop produced within the company.

Preceding the open judging, a special contest among postoffice employes for a cash award was held, this was won by Neal Hazard, with W. H. McDonald gaining the "booby prize" title.

Honorable mentions in the "most artistic" division of the whisker competition were given Walter Scott for his "Abe Lincoln" appearance, Fred W. Meech, Lloyd S. Pettygrove, Max Phillips and Herman Gillian.

All those competing in the "most colorful" classification were also given honorable mentions.

Whisker Judges

Judges were Mrs. Cora Stevens, Mrs. C. E. Potter and Walter O. Musgrave; and Robert H. Warner, president of the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce, conducted and announced the contest via the public address system. Co-chairmen of the event were George Detweiler and Max Miller.

Immediately following the whisker judging, the tug-of-war between Jerome and Twin Falls teams was staged on Main avenue near the reviewing stand, and Jerome won the $20 prize offered.

Final appearance of the Magic City cavalcade, historical spectacle, was offered on Lincoln field last evening before an estimated 3,000 persons. This brings total attendance for the three nights of the event to about 9,000, with many turned away on the second night.

Variety marked yesterday morning's children's parade in charge of Miss Vernis Richards, recreation director. Besides the U. P. band, other organizations and entries appearing included the American Legion and auxiliary junior drum and bugle corps, the 40 and 8 miniature train, Boy Scouts, 4-H Club, trained horses, Banjo and Silver, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Limbridge, Buhl.

Children Lead Pets

Children were everything and anything and many led their favorite pets in the line of march.

Awards were made as follows in the five pre-designated divisions: colonial division—Mary Lou Ochelter, first prize; forty-niner division—Helen Stone, first for girls, Alistair Campbell, first for boys; pioneer group — Barbara Harris, first; Indian division—Mary Williams, first for girls, Ralph Smith, first for boys; miscellaneous—Helen Hill for girls; Jack LeClair for boys.

As part of the jubilee's many-pleased features, the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce held an open meeting yesterday noon; and the Lions club was host to 50 pioneers during its luncheon meeting at the Park hotel.

During this meeting, Henry Wendling officially welcomed to the guests on behalf of the Lions and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Pioneers Reminisce

John B. Hull, Twin Falls told of early irrigation developments on the Twin Falls tract. Mrs. H. O. Milner viewed in retrospect her experiences after arriving pioneers of Twin Falls, telling of how within a six-month period the volume of mail grew from a handful to six bags.

Mrs. Henry J. Wall spoke upon reminiscences of early days and of the early dust storms and difficulties encountered by pioneers.

Mrs. John E. Hayes related the interesting story of the first Christmas party in Twin Falls and of how the great fur coat of Mr. Clouchek was used as Santa Claus attire.

J. H. Blandford, Twin Falls attorney, spoke upon "The Meaning of the Fourth of July," in which he called for national unity to meet the stresses of modern times to preserve democracy, adding that it is the great weakness of democracy that it activities. He also warned against subtle methods being used to bring intervention of America into the European conflict. Other talks given during the program was Mr. Erickson upon early buildings of this section, based upon his experiences as a resident of both the north and south sides.

Today the jubilee points toward a successful close with merchandising specials offered in Twin Falls stores. In the evening a featured attraction will be the baseball game between the Twin Falls Cowboys and the Boise Pilots at 9 p. m.

The Day in Washington

(By The Associated Press)

Germany, it was disclosed, has challenged as "untenable" the administration's interpretation of the Monroe doctrine, and the state department has reassured it. In addition, the department informed the German embassy that Reich representatives must not publicly discuss this country's policies if they desire to remain here.

Congressional sources estimated that the country's national defense bill would be more than $3,000,000,000 annually in the future with a figure much higher than that for the next seven years.

The war and navy departments agreed to give the senate military committee next Tuesday their official views on proposals for compulsory military training.

House leaders decided that a vote would be taken next week on the senate - approved Hatch political practices bill.

PHYSICIAN SLAIN BY UNKNOWN MAN

Ohioan Stops Four Bullets and Dies in View of Wife

AKRON, O., July 5 (AP)—An unidentified man shot and killed Dr. Malcolm B. Miller, 61, in view of his wife in his downtown office today.

His wife, Ruby, 54, said she and her husband were sitting in his office when a fairly well-dressed man with a trim mustache entered and fired four shots at the physician killing him. She ran down the stairs to a drug store and called police.

The gunman disappeared in a nearby alley.

Dr. Miller was shot four times. A big western style six shooter lay on his desk when police arrived and they deduced he drew it from his hand and tried to fire back. His wife advanced no notice for the slaying.

Dr. Miller was a marksman and a pistol expert.

when the question of confirmation is scheduled for consideration.

Majority Leader Barkley said the two Republicans named to the cabinet would be confirmed by easy majorities, but that the senate would have to listen to some speeches before voting.

The defense commission announced that Dr. Will W. Alexander, until recently head of the farm security administration, would become one of its aides, in charge of planning a youth training program to meet defense requirements. He is to have the task of coordinating the work of the C.C.C., the national youth administration, the office of education and other youth training agencies.

Officials noted a sharp upturn in trade with South America—at a time when a $1,000,000,000 system of controlling western hemisphere exports and imports is under consideration as a means of combatting totalitarian economic penetration. In May trade with South America jumped to $40,332,000 as compared with $22,668,000 in the same month of 1939.

TUNNEY SPONSORS NEW YOUTH MOVE

Former Champion and 'Pro-American' Friends to Rival AYC

LAKE GENEVA, Wis., July 5 (AP)—Gene Tunney and his young "pro-American" friends gave the initial push to a new youth movement designed to rival the American Youth Congress today.

The former heavyweight boxing champion, after traveling to nearby Williams bay from New York by plane and motor, said the movement had no definite form yet, but probably would have shortly.

While the annual American Youth Congress was in session at college camp here, Tunney established himself at the home of Robert Burton, just outside Williams bay, and there conferred with some 65 young people who had been refused official recognition as delegates to the AYC.

"I am convinced that the American Youth Congress is controlled by Communists," Tunney said later in a press conference on the Burton lawn.

"In fact, I don't think there is any sensible person who doesn't believe the AYC is a Communist organization."

"I think it is a splendid thing for these young people to unite on an issue of such importance," Tunney said. "And this is no time to allow any trojan horse to get control of any important youth movement."

The American Youth Congress, meanwhile, went forward with its discussions on health, housing and was preparing to act on resolutions on the questions of peace, national defense and U. S. foreign policy.

Vivien Liebman, AYC publicity director, telegraphed an invitation to Tunney to speak before the congress. Tunney said he had not yet received it but added, "I could not accept, with propriety, in view of the fact my friends have been refused seating by some rinky dink over registration deadlines."

DETECTIVE KILLS SPOKANE FUGITIVE

Crime Suspect Meets Death in Attempt to Escape Investigators

SPOKANE, July 5 (AP) — A man known to his neighbors as Martin Garner, about 40, was shot and killed today by a detective, who said the victim bolted from his home when the officer and a federal bureau of investigation agent arrived to question him.

Police Officer August Bettinger said the man was wanted for burglary, for car theft and in connection with the shooting of a man in Missoula, Mont.

Chief of Police Ira Martin said the man's identity was not known, but that fingerprints were being sent in an effort to identify him. F.B.I. officials refused to discuss the case.

Detective George Bexsmith, who fired the shot, said he rang the doorbell at the small east-side home and the man dived from a window and attempted to dodge behind a fence. He said he shouted at the man, then fired when he failed to halt.

Family of Five Reported Missing

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 5 (AP)—A family of five was reported missing tonight after a Fourth of July picnic trip into the mountains.

Husband Mrs. Wayne Hobden and their three children left Colorado Springs by automobile. They told relatives they would be "back in a little while."

Minus clues as to the family's whereabouts, peace officers and forest service workers continued a search tonight.

U. S. Shows Age, Writer Declares

LOS ANGELES, July 5 (AP)—"Uncle Sam was 164 years old yesterday and he sure looks it," Novelist Rupert Hughes declared in a Rotary club speech, today.

He was commenting on what he declared was the nation's unpreparedness.

"For instance, if any enemy fleet floated into San Francisco bay tomorrow—and I don't know what's to prevent it with our fleet doing a hula hula at Hawaii—what would happen?" he asked.

"Our big guns there could fire only one volley before they ran out of ammunition; the next size, if they conserved, could fire for a day, and the smaller guns perhaps a week."

Hughes assailed what he called "the sweetness-and-light pacifists" and added: "The peace we get comes from the preparedness we have."

WIND, HEAT AID SPREAD OF FIRE

In the Umatilla National forest region, at the northeast corner of the state, fire fighters suppressed 19 fires started by lightning, the largest covering 15 acres.

The Mount Hood fire, starting near the Hood river watershed, was fought by more than 1,000 men. It destroyed virtually all equipment of the Neal Creek Lumber company.

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont., July 5 (AP)—Hot winds late today whipped up new discouragements for the 450 men battling a forest fire in the remote Nyack valley section of Glacier National park.

Superintendent D. S. Libby said control work was well organized but that hot weather with the winds had resulted in long streamers of fire shooting out in several directions. Earlier rain afforded temporary help.

The fire zone did not appear to be spreading beyond the original area, estimated at slightly in excess of 400 acres.

Rugged terrain made it difficult to estimate accurately the full extent of the blaze. It also made more difficult the maneuvering of men and keeping them supplied.

NAZIS USE RAIL LINES IN SWEDEN

Government Permits Germany to Move Men and Materials

STOCKHOLM, July 5 (AP)—The end of the war in Norway caused Sweden to lift railroad restrictions and permit Germany to move men and materials over Swedish lines.

The foreign office said in announcing the change that Sweden's policy of neutrality remains the same.

Henceforth the German military, particularly soldiers on leave, can use Swedish railroads. Materials may be moved without restriction.

Despite the government's contention that its neutrality remains unaffected, the newspaper Nordens Frihet disagreed. Referring to reports that the Norwegian coast was being used as a base for attacks on Scotland, it asked: "If it wouldn't be true that a belligerent power now would use Swedish territory for its activity."

Spinsters Shun Husband Calling

BENTON, Ark., July 5 (AP)—Shouts of "Oh, phil," "Wait," and "Come to dinner, Roy," echoing through the crowded town square tonight in Benton's husband-calling contest, failed to bring any response from the bubbles but won silver trophies for the wives.

Threatened competition from unmarried girls failed to materialize. Whether worried judges persuaded them to keep silent or the spinsters themselves decided, after a look at the contest, that discretion was golden, was not announced.

Germany Renews Raids on Britain

LONDON, July 6 (Saturday) (AP)—Keeping up their nightly forays German warplanes returned to attack Britain again last night and early today. First reports told of no damage.

The air ministry in a brief communique said "enemy aircraft renewed the coast during the night and anti-aircraft defenses went into action.

Two German bombers were heard over northeast England early today. They were reported to have dropped bombs but it was believed all bombs fell in open country.

Other reports said German raiders dropped incendiary bombs on southeast England.

VARIETY MARKS JEROME'S FETE

July 4th Celebration Features Many Contests During Holiday

JEROME, July 5 — Joe Cutler, 11-year-old son of Mrs. and Mrs. Mark Cutler, is proud possessor of first prize and a cash award of $15 for his float entry during the Fourth of July celebration in Jerome before 2,000 people.

The float made up of various figures who represented foreign countries of Britain, France, Holland and Finland. Standing in the center of the float was a central figure, representing Uncle Sam.

Second prize in the float section went to Joe White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter White, for his exhibit of "Idaho's Fifty Years of Statehood." He received $10. Third prize of $5 went to Vesta Davis for her exhibit of Jerome Tigers softball team. Her float displayed baseball figures on a diamond representing the Jerome team.

Parade Varied

In the parade were the American Legion and color bearers, the band of Jerome high school, the National Guard and their automotive equipment, the Hazelton and the Jerome girls' softball teams, the bathing beauties, Miss Betty Burke, Miss Lenore Jenkins, Miss Mary Lou Chojnacky, Miss Miriam Folkman, Miss Jacjie Calhoun, Shoshone, and Miss Alice Gulsasola, Shoshone; Odessa Tolman, Jewel Walden, Velda Peterson, Mary Gogenola, Janice Freeman and the winner, Miss Virginia Ikard. Miss Ikard was awarded a free trip to Sun Valley for three days. The expense of the trip will be paid for by the Jerome Chamber of Commerce, and also for Miss Ikard's chaperon.

In the novelty contests for children prizes were given, ranging from $1 down to 50 cents. In the greased pole contest, three young boys, Van Daniels, Tommy Walgamott and Aaron Daniels won the award of $5 by climbing the pole.

Pets Vie

In the pet section the main prizes went to Herchel Smith for his costumed goats, dressed to represent a bride and groom; Lorraine Aslett for her collection of puppies; and to Wilma Jean and Wanda Marie Cole and their trained Shetland pony.

Honorable mentions in the pet section went to Donald Rupert, Patsy Smith of Hagerman and her Shetland; Clare Osborn, Wanda Cole, Howard Johnson and Dorothy Miller.

In the character section the main prizes went to Aol Smith and his collection of animals; second to Kenneth Humphries and Dwight Burgener for their Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, and third to Johanna Reasch for nurse attire.

Ten honorable mentions went to Ray Dunn, Billy Burk, Thomas Henage, Robert Anderson, Logan Hack, Carol Troendly and Elaine Lundquist, June Myers and Josephine Conklin for their Jiggs and Maggie interpretation; Dwaine Shurtz and the Crothers boys for their elephant costume.

The water fight with the Wendell fire department was one of the major attractions of the day. It was staged on the east end of Main street where the teams of both Jerome and Wendell fought for over a half hour to change the course of a rolling barrel. Jerome fire department, composed of Ronald Burke, G. Pedersen, John Hosman and Lew Pratt, emerged victorious and received a prize of $15. Wendell fire department members who participated were Morris Jamison, fire chief; Bliss Jepperson, Dutch Bell and Buss Parr.

Hog Calling Too

In the hog calling contest for the men, the first prize went to Earl Erwin, $5; second to Ernest Hayhurst, and third to E. J. "Shorty" Main. Awards were $3 and $2 respectively. In the husband calling contest, Mrs. Jay Hoskins of the Pleasant Plains district received first prize of $5; second went to Mrs. Viola Morgan, $3 and third to Mrs. Phillip Hochalter, $2.

In the wife calling contest prizes of $5, $3 and $2 respectively went to Marvin Cole, Myron Oliver and Hank Janes.

Winners of the band mothers prizes included a cedar chest and linens, a silk cover and a tufted down bed spread. They were received by Fife Bingham, the chest and linens; Joe White, the spread and A. L. Pyle, the silk cover. Receipts from the drawing will assist in raising funds for the band uniforms.

A prize award of $18 was received for the winning team in the girls' softball tilt here on north park, with Jerome girls coming out victorious. The score was 11 to 10. Hazelton girls received $2 of the $5 voluntary collection.

Tipsy Motorist Pays $100 Fine

After pleading guilty to the charge that he operated a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, John P. Crockett, route 2, Hansen, was fined $100 and assessed $3 costs by Municipal Judge J. O. Pumphrey yesterday. His driver's license was suspended for one year.

He was arrested early yesterday morning after his car was involved in an accident with a machine driven by Dave Stayner, Buhl, at the intersection of Second avenue south and Fourth street south.

CAREY TAKES BROADWAY FOR SAKE OF THE KIDS

Harry Carey And Pal
"I Didn't Think I had it in me"

By TOBY WIANT
AP Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK — Weather-beaten Harry Carey, 62-year-old veteran of 304 motion pictures, learned something on Broadway that everybody else knew—that he could act.

He didn't have his tongue in his leathery cheek when he said, "I figured after the reaction I got from 'Mr. Smith Goes to Washington' (the movie in which he played the vice-president) that it was high time I found out whether I really could act."

For the Kids

"I sort of thought," he said, dropping his eyes, "it'd be a good thing if, after I kick off, my kids could say, 'My pop wrote a couple of plays and acted on Broadway.'"

From anyone else, such statements might be subject to doubts, but from Honest Harry, you couldn't help but believe. After all, it's only human for an actor to want to appear on Broadway.

Carey asked the producer of "Heavenly Express" not to give him any billing. He had only a minor role and preferred that the critics give him the billing, "if they think I deserve it." The producer, of course, ignored him because Carey's name meant boxoffice draw. But, without exception, the critics praised Carey's performance.

"Dawg-gone," exclaimed Carey after reading the notices, "I didn't think I had it in me."

He was so pleased he decided to go ahead with "play actin'." He told me he is going to a do a Broadway play every year "if they'll have me." He plans to do "Ah Wilderness" in stock this summer.

But he doesn't intend to give up the movies. A fellow who has been in something for 32 years, as Harry has been in the movies, doesn't break away if he can help it. He started with Biograph; his latest is the Lee Garms film, "Beyond Tomorrow."

He has played in dozens of horse operas, but Harry actually is a cowboy from the Bronx. He grew up in New York. His father was a special sessions judge, a politico, who wanted his son to become a lawyer. Harry did study law, but he didn't enter the profession. Instead, he wrote a play, "Montana," put the show on himself, played the lead, and toured it for five years with never a losing day. The die was cast. For 20 years after he joined Biograph, he played cowboy parts exclusively. Then he began to branch out.

Carey not only is modest and genuine. He's also an authority on agriculture (has a 1,000-acre ranch near Hollywood); He speaks Navajo (a lot of his hired hands are Navajos) and Swahili, which he learned while working in "Trader Horn" several years ago. He's an authority on early American history, east coast fish, boats and sports.

For 25 years years, he has been married to the same wife. They have two children, a 19-year-old son and a 17-year-old daughter. Mrs. Carey was in films before she was married, but retired to take care of the family.

Harry says his "kids" are free to choose their life's work, but he has a hunch they'll wind up as actors.

"After all," he says, "they both come from a couple of hams."

Simmons, sister of Mrs. King, and her son, Bobby, of Ogden. Also accompanying were Betty Lou Lamoreaux of Ogden and Carol Jean Lambourne of Idaho Falls. Miss Carman King of Nampa, student at Albion State Normal, is also a guest at the King home. The Ogden and Idaho Falls guests will spend the week-end at the King home, returning Sunday to their homes, with Shirley Lamoreaux of Ogden, who has been a guest at the King home here for the past two weeks.

ROOSEVELT MAPS ENDURING PEACE

Disarmament, Freedom From Fear Factors in President's Plan

HYDE PARK, N. J., July 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt suggested today that world powers, now pouring billions into war machines, must dump their armaments onto the scrap heap if a lasting peace is to be secured, and contrasted the American way of government with that of the totalitarian powers.

The first essential for a permanent peace listed by Mr. Roosevelt was freedom from fear, for, he said, people must not live in fear of being bombed from the air or attacked by another nation.

He conceded that what he termed a corporate state, like Germany or Italy or Russia, could operate more efficiently than a democracy, and added that he was sorry to say some Americans seem to favor such a state because of this.

Mr. Roosevelt started this discussion himself in a press conference and said he wanted to remind those who apparently favored such a government that the system has scrapped two safeguards to democracy—the legislature and the judiciary.

On the subject of fear, the president said the United States has held that freedom from such terror must be based on the removal of the weapons that cause it, and that means disarmament.

The chief executive made it clear that he believed disarmament alone offered no formula for permanent peace, any more than it did in the 1920's.

As corollary essentials to peace, when the time comes to propose it, he named:

1. Freedom of information. He said that meant not only freedom of the press but also of all channels through which information moves. Americans must receive news of what is happening in all parts of the country and the rest of the world, he said.

2. Freedom from want, brought about by tearing down cultural and commercial barriers between nations.

3. Freedom of religion, which Mr. Roosevelt said had been preserved fairly well by democracies but not by other forms of government.

4. Freedom of expression, with any individual permitted to state his opinions unless he advocated overthrow of his government.

DYNAMITE BOMB CLUES HUNTED

Police Seek to Link Theft of Explosives With Fatal Blast

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—Detectives, weary but grim, tonight sought to connect the theft of 39 sticks of dynamite with a bomb which blasted two of their comrades to death yesterday soon after it had been hustled from its hiding place in the New York world's fair British pavilion.

The dynamite was stolen May 20 at gun's point from a magazine guarded by a watchman for a synagogue excavation.

Investigators said the weight and size of the dynamite sticks approximated the weight—20 pounds—of the bomb explosive.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine described the bomb as a "dynamite shrapnel" type which was powerful enough to have blown asunder a wall of the pavilion.

Meanwhile, as police continued their roundup of all known radicals in an unprecedented effort to track down the terrorists who planted the bomb, detectives arrested Caesar Kroeger, 38, whom they described as a former member of the German-American bund.

They said they discovered in Kroeger's apartment two German-made pistols, one loaded; and they reported finding on the wall of the apartment a huge map of the world, which bore chalk and pin marks at intervals. The pistols, they said, were found in a drawer, under a copy of Adolf Hitler's "Mein Kampf."

Pin hole perforations surrounded principal United States cities on the map, said the detectives, who quoted Kroeger as explaining the marks indicated communities in which Communists were located.

Kroeger was booked on charges of violating the Sullivan law.

Associates of the two slain detectives—Joseph J. Lynch, 33, and Ferdinand A. Socha, 35—offered a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the bombing. Mayor La Guardia announced he would ask the board of estimates to offer a $25,000 reward.

The effect of the bombing spread to Washington, where the police guard was increased about the United States capitol and every visitor to the building was required to identify himself.

Utah Bulldogger's Wound Serious; Californian Recovers

RUPERT, Idaho, July 5 (AP) — "Butch" Inman of O'Neals, Calif., reported in some quarters to have been killed during the Rupert rodeo yesterday when he was thrown from the top deck of a wild Brahma bull, today allowed as how he'll be none the worse for his experience.

The California broncho buster and rodeo performer landed on his neck while attempting to ride the bull and was taken to a hospital. He was permitted to leave the institution today.

Keith Hunsaker of Tremonton, Utah, did not fare so well, however. Gored by a long-horned steer during a bulldogging event, he suffered what attendants described as a "serious wound."

About 7,500 people witnessed the rodeo, attended by Governor Bottolfsen.

According to military aviation experts, modern military developments tend to make warplanes obsolescent in three or four months, the life of the average fighting plane in service not exceeding three months.

Driver Pays for Lack of License

For driving an auto without lawful registration, Gilbert Crandall was fined $5 and costs yesterday after pleading guilty in probate court. He was given until July 13 to pay the penalty, in lieu of which he would serve a county jail term.

IDAHO MEN BUY LODGE AT LAKE

Group of Business Men Take Over Jackson Hole Resort

BURLEY, July 5—Wort's lodge on the shore of Jackson lake was sold July 1 to a group of Idaho and Wyoming business men. Purchasing the fishing and boating business were J. H. and C. W. Harris, C. C. Height and H. P. Deardorff, Burley; William Marland, Rupert; T. D. Nelson, Jerome; D. Harris and M. F. Harris, Evanston, Wyo., and C. C. Voeller, Buhl.

Under new management the lodge will be known as Signal Mountain lodge, the name being derived from its location at the foot of Signal mountain, a landmark in the Jackson Hole country.

The movie, "Bad Man of Wyoming," starring Wallace Beery, produced by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company of Hollywood was produced in Wyoming and the cast stayed at the lodge during the filming of the picture.

Chauncey W. West of Salt Lake City will be manager of the lodge.

THE BEAR MOVES ON

Stalin takes another bite out of Europe, in Bessarabia and Bucovina, and we Americans take it rather calmly. We are getting used to such things. There will be other bites, by Russia and the other gangster nations, and we shall try to be calm about them, too. For it's no use getting "het up" about something we can't help.

"'Tis a perilous thing to play with souls, and matter enough to save one's own," wrote Browning. We're learning that this truth applies also to nations.

The pity of it is that, as one aggression and annexation follows another, the little nations whose territory is stolen, whose names are violated, whose living opportunities are narrowed, yield more and more easily. They are frozen with fear like a rabbit in the presence of a snake. They know it is useless or suicidal to fight.

The hope of civilized and humane nations now centers in England. After that, if England falls, it will shrink to the limits of this hemisphere. Then the future of civilization will be up to us.

PRESENT FARM PROBLEM

Agriculture in this country does not need to repeat past mistakes.

"Never have the farmers of the United States been in such good position to produce the limit with the minimum of labor," said Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in a recent discussion of current problems. "Both our soils and our methods of agricultural management have greatly improved. Because of our organization, our agricultural efficiency, and our great supplies, we will not need to plow the hills and the great plains as we did in 1917 and 1918."

There is a growing problem which must be handled with foresight and efficiency. That is the problem of our rapidly diminishing markets. The mounting conquests of the totalitarian regimes have curtailed our foreign outlets for farm products. The Mediterranean area, the Scandinavian lands, Central Europe, the low countries and the Balkans are all closed markets at the present time and may remain so indefinitely.

At the same time, there is a great and growing need for our vast food supplies. There is our own under-fed population. There is also the hords of refugees and the populations of the war-stricken and war-fearing lands mentioned above.

"We have plenty," said Mr. Wallace, "for our own people, plenty for war relief, and plenty for reserves. Our present problem is one of getting the food we have to the people who need it, both here and abroad."

A people of enterprise and good will should be able to solve this, now that we are awake to the world's needs and perils.

MORE FIRES, LESS LOSS

A city which has had more fires so far this year than last finds that the adjusted fire loss has been lower than last year's. The average loss per fire has fallen from $538 in 1930 to $313 in 1940.

How can there be more fires but less loss? The fire department has the answer. There have been public educational programs and fire battalion contests in that city, beginning last November. The public has been taught how to stop fires quickly and also to report them promptly. It has also learned to lessen fire danger by keeping basements, attics and cupboards free of inflammable rubbish. The fire department has made thousands of home inspections as part of the task of preventing fires.

It may be asked, however, why there have been more fires in spite of all the preventive work? Again the firemen answer. The prolonged and unusually severe winter was to blame. It necessitated extra hard use of furnaces, stoves, electric heaters, and other warmth-producing devices for the home, and a good many of them got overheated and caused small fires.

At any rate, it is good to know that even with more fires breaking out it is possible to hold down the fire menace.

OUR WAY OF LIFE

Writing in Fortune a short time ago, Wendell Willkie said: "This effort to separate 'business' from the ordinary life of the people and to set it in a distinct and inferior category represents a profoundly false conception of our economic system. There are about 10,000,000 private enterprises in the United States, which employ about 34,000,000 people, who in turn support many millions of other people. Business is a part of life and a way of life. By it we earn our bread, build our homes, care for our children, find expression for ourselves. Every one of us lives directly or indirectly by business. . . . It is business, in the broadest sense of the word—including industry and technology, and including the modern farm, which is a business enterprise—that has made American people so great."

For a long time, we, the people, who live by business, have sat supinely by while the public servants who manage our governmental affairs denounced business, reviled business, fought business, and attempted to destroy private business at every opporunity. The result was the greatest and longest business depression in our history.

And now, almost overnight, we find it imperative that we embark on an unprecedented program of defense rearmament. Do we turn to politicians in this emergency? No! We turn to business, to industry, to the great factories of America. The principal members of the preparedness board lately appointed by the president are business men. And that is as it should be. Even as industry must provide us with the tools of peace, so must it provide us with the weapons of defense.

It has taken the direst of crisis to reawaken us to the role that private industry plays in our lives. Let us not forget it again.

Other Points of View

CHANGING FARM PICTURE

The preliminary figures of the 1940 farm census do not present an encouraging picture as to the agriculture situation in northern Idaho and eastern Washington, unless one agrees with some economists that more farmers should quit the farm. While the population of the ten northern counties gained 15,558 during the last decade, the number of farms has decreased from 10,938 in 1935 to 10,495 in 1940. Nez Perce county is credited with 1,250 farms, a loss of 140; Latah has dropped from 1,888 to 1,780; Lewis, 664 to 549; Clearwater, 570 to 531; Benewah, 653 to 644. That the same trend may prevail in eastern Washington is indicated by the fact that neighboring Asotin county has 643 farms this year, compared with 652 in 1935.

No figures have so far been released as to the details of ownership and size of farms involved in this change but, in the wheat counties at least, it probably is a matter of fewer farmers cultivating larger acreages rather than of actual abandonment of farm land itself. The essential points include the rapid substitution of machinery and power for animal and human labor, the consequent steady reduction in the number of persons engaged in agriculture, the change from smaller to larger farms, and the steady drift of farmers and even farm workers to homes in nearby villages and towns, owing to better roads and the use of the automobile. Although few are aware of the trend, agriculture appears to be undergoing some of the most revolutionary changes in its history, with profound economic and social effects which cannot yet be measured.

It is quite possible that this change will be accentuated in the future. For centuries farming industry has consisted largely of planting and praying—planting the seed and praying for weather conditions to produce a crop and market conditions to insure profitable selling. Advances have been made in use of machinery to increase production, but the vast diversity that has revolutionized manufacturing industry through chemical research has not yet greatly affected farming. Now, if the predictions of the chemurgists are realized, it seems that the day of intensified, diversified, industrialized farming is about to arrive.

There are several factors in this development which may revolutionize agriculture. One is the increased demand of the chemical manufacturing industries for new agricultural products. Another is the advance made in recent years in agrobiology, which makes possible the greater adaption of any given soil and climatic conditions to variety of crop production. Still another, of course, is the continued mechanization of farming, which already has made its influence felt.

In the future the farmer may think more in terms of cellulose, carbohydrates and fats than of wheat, corn and beans. He may be forced to keep abreast of changes in industrial demands and quickly adapt his own production to meet new situations. Through his knowledge of agrobiology he may be able to greatly increase the yield per acre and be less dependent on weather conditions. These things will not come about tomorrow, of course, but it would be rash to say they will not come. When and if that time does come, Idaho with its variety of soil and climatic conditions should be relatively greater as a crop producer than it is today.—Lewiston Tribune.

CUM LAUDE

Fred Warner's "jam session" at last year's conference of eastern music educators, in support of "swing" in the school music curriculum, may not have been such a bad idea after all. Dr. Julian A. Steyermark, it is reported, on a recent expedition for the Field Museum of Natural History, was required to sing hot swing tunes to pacify Guatemala Indians. His traveling companion rendered "The Star-Spangled Banner" and between them they so "soothed the savage breast" that the tribal wooden beds were turned over to them, and their hosts slept upon the ground.

At the same time comes the news released, a trifle sadly one feels, by Boston university, that only one quarter of the male students at its college of business administration show any musical ability. A new rule testing all freshman by making them sing the scales revealed this alarming fact. There may yet prove to be reason as well as rhythm in Mr. Waring's contention. Let the freshman look well to the future. "The night is young and you're so bee-eautiful" convincingly swung may prove of valuable assistance in some wild or cultivated jungle.—Christian Science Monitor.

CONGRESS HAS WORK AHEAD MORE VITAL THAN FENCE FIXING

Congress should not adjourn until the present international crisis has passed its climax. Not only are there bills to be enacted and laws to be revised in the interest of unity and industrial activity, but our constitution vests national legislators with the sole power to declare war. No other government has been able to foresee emergencies that forced them to defend their rights and existence, and the United States is probably more unsuspecting and less prepared than any European country.

While defense legislation is undoubtedly entitled to first consideration, it should not be restricted entirely to outside enemies—the fifth column is the main dependence of totalitarian dictators and constitutes the immediate menace facing this republic. The F. B. I. should have the generous support of congress in the important and perplexing campaign of defense it is conducting with courage, persistence and intelligence.

There are several measures that cannot be delayed without deferring a realization of good will and unity essential to preparedness. Among them is the Hatch bill to prevent pernicious activity on the part of public employes. Another is the civil service program, and still another is the wage and hour statute that needs revision and interpretation. Congress should not adjourn while these matters are pending.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Breakfast Food

A negro preacher got up one Sunday morning and said: "There is twelve chickens thieves in this congregation this mawnin'—including Brother Johnson."

Brother Johnson did not like it much, naturally. After service he called on the preacher and told him he could not single him out in public that way, and that he would have to take that back and apologize at the evening service. The preacher promised to do so.

At the evening service, he said: "Brethren, at this mawnin's service I said there was twelve chicken thieves in the congregation, including Brother Johnson. But I want to take that statement back and apologize to Brother Johnson. I say now there was eleven chicken thieves in the congregation this mawnin'—not countin' Brother Johnson."

When Benito got together with Adolf he should have consulted Primo Carnera, who found out that managers take all the winnings in the end.

Latin American Republics Look to U. S. for Guidance

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Business and governmental leaders throughout the 20 Latin American republics, all threatened with economic and political domination because of the triumphant march of the German army, are looking today to Washington for guidance and strength.

All these leaders, finding themselves on the brink of the unknown, point out with varying degrees of emphasis that the fall of France and the new challenge to British mastery of the seas have enormous significance in Latin America.

The British navy has policed the world's sea ways and implemented the Monroe doctrine.

Behind that police power and that doctrine, these sources declare, the western hemisphere has achieved independence and wealth.

The wealth is immediately threatened, based as it is upon the exportation of staples and minerals which go mainly to Europe and upon certain fundamental business assumptions that are being destroyed on the European continent by revolutionary Nazi doctrines.

In Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Santiago, Lapaz, Asuncion and Montevideo the export figures for the first five months of this year compared with the same period for 1939 show that southern South America's trade has been "doing of tailspin" during the European war.

For some of these cities, Europe's belligerents have for generations been the principal markets.

Argentina grew rich selling grains, meat, wool, hides and other products to the united kingdom.

Seventy per cent of Uruguay's exports went to Great Britain and France.

Germany has been Brazil's latter day main market in a lively rivalry with the United States and Great Britain.

Bolivia's "staff of life" is export tin, which goes almost wholly to Great Britain and is operated by international cartel.

This then was the background against which Latin American leaders in business and government viewed the export surplus cartel proposed by President Roosevelt.

Their views are a cross section of Latin American opinion with allowance for increasing dependence on the United States as one moves northward.

Mexico and Cuba, for example, trade almost exclusively in the American market.

The Argentine, traditionally cool and suspicious in the face of proffers from the United States, appears nevertheless agreed with its sister republics that enormous changes impend and that the leadership the United States could give may be the salvation of the entire western hemisphere.

Argentines said, however, that they would want to examine any U. S. offers in detail before making a commitment.

Argentines as a whole were less spontaneous about the cartel plan. In Chile, Brazil, Uruguay, Bolivia, and Paraguay eagerness was expressed to see the plan in action.

NIGHT EDITOR

BEST LAID PLANS

Yes, the best laid plans of mice and men often go astray—much to the consternation of one O. A. (Gus) Kelker, who suddenly became bereft of his whiskers yesterday afternoon as result of straying plans.

The incident occurred at the close of the beard judging contest, and everyone, including Gusto, was startled when "Skip" Hunt, attired in barber uniform and bearing such tonsorial tools as pruning shears and clippers, mounted the platform and went to work over the helpless form of the Twin Falls newspaperman. The word "helpless" refers to the fact that Mr. Kelker had Big Virg Barron on one arm, George Detweiler sitting on his neck and one or two others holding onto anything that moved.

In glancing back over incidents immediately preceding the unveiling, Night Editor can discern a few of the reasons why the plot backfired upon the gentleman of the press. First, it was originally planned that Mr. Barron, commonly known—and justly so—as "Big Virg," was to be the victim. However, the burly patrolman changed the picture somewhat by winning one of the prizes which entailed riding in the mardi gras parade; and what would a parading whisker winner look like without whiskers; Then also the platform was rather small and it seemed to add stature to the already towering form of "Big Virg," and after all no one wants to risk being flicked off a platform while trying to become a hero by holding down the irresistable Mr. Barron while a barber plies his trade.

Thus we find that the perpetrators of the plot began to cast about for someone else as much in the public eye as a police officer, and a newspaperman was the logical selection. Thus did sudden and nearly complete destruction descend upon the unsuspecting Gusto's whiskers—to the amusement of all who witnessed the scene.

SIDELIGHTS

Probably next to peanut rolling race, a whisker growing contest offers the best opportunities for a master of ceremonies to engage in colorful commentary, and Robert H. Warner, president of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, in presiding at yesterday's beard event took full advantage of the situation. His descriptions of whiskers included everything from the hanging garden design to the intercepted pass variation. When the judges went into an extended huddle, Bob finally announced that "Willkie is coming up fast on the fourth ballot," and toward the end of the contest he suggested that judging be held in the "most colorful whisker" division before they (the whiskers) started to run, as the day was exceedingly warm.

INDIGNATION

Twin Falls or other police officers as a rule handle their duties without expressing their feelings, but they expressed them in no uncertain terms yesterday when two children, one but a baby, were found locked in a panel truck beneath a blistering sun. They had been left there by parents who apparently placed their own enjoyment above welfare of those of the children. One was nine months old, the other 22 months and both were on the verge of collapse when found. Women employes at the city hall revived them and joined with the police in condemning those responsible for the torment experienced by the little tots.

In the course of the entertainment for the Union Pacific band the Junior Chamber of Commerce solicited the aid of the senior chamber in providing transportation for band members to Shoshone falls and a scenic tour of the city. The time was set for 5 o'clock at the intersection of Main and Shoshone and at the appointed hour, the cars drove up, were filled and drove on.

The tall drum major—he of the shako—and two of the lovelies who act as majorettes—climbed into one of the cars and settled back against the cushions reveling in the prospect of a view at the famous falls. To their surprise however, the driver drove around about three blocks and then parked again near the intersection. Surprised, but curious, of course, the band members climbed out and asked how come. And then it turned out that they unknowingly had climbed in a traveling salesman's car which had just come in from Boise and was merely stalled in the line-up of the host cars. A slight adjustment in the situation by John Robertson and they saw the Falls with Dr. O. W. Burgess as their driver.

Hearing Waived On Check Count

A man of many aliases, Delbert Young, waived preliminary hearing when he was arraigned before Judge C. A. Bailey in probate court in Twin Falls yesterday on a felony charge of issuing a fictitious $2.50 check in Twin Falls last Nov. 10.

He was held under $500 bond to answer to the charge in the district court.

Young, known also as Tom Johnson and LaForrest Scarborough, was arrested and brought back from Helena, Mont., by Sheriff W. L. Hawkins earlier in the week.

In the charge on which he was arraigned he is accused of using the fictitious name of Tom Johnson as payor of the check issued to William Kemper.

Divorces Granted To Two Women

Two women were granted divorce decrees following uncontested hearings before Judge James W. Porter in district court in Twin Falls yesterday.

Mrs. Viola Ashford was granted a divorce from Ed Ashford and was awarded custody of their three children, a girl, 7, and two boys, 3 and 5. She alleged extreme cruelty. The marriage took place at Tazewell, Va., July 30, 1931.

On grounds of cruelty, non-support and desertion, Mrs. Ida M. Adams was granted a divorce from Ivor Adams and restored to her former name of Ida M. Fields. There were no children. The marriage took place at Galena, Mo.

Russian 'Arctic Station' Only 2 Miles From U. S. Territory

WASHINGTON, July 5—A new Russian "Arctic station" is being established on Big Diomede island, in Bering strait between the mainland of Alaska and the mainland of Siberia, according to news reports from Moscow. "Arctic stations" have been set up at various points in the Soviet's far flung icy domain in recent years. In May, 1937, such a station was established on the ice within 10 or 12 miles of the North pole, and later drifted southward. The various stations are announced to be set up primarily to facilitate scientific research, including studies of weather.

"The new Russian station on Big Diomede island is within sight of U. S. territory," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society. "Big Diomede's companion island, Little Diomede, on the U. S. side of the Siberian-Alaskan boundary line through Bering Strait, is only two miles southeast. But despite this short distance, it is noon Tuesday on Big Diomede when it is noon Monday on Little Diomede. This is so because of a man-made 'time fence,' the International date line which has been traced between the islands and on southward, dividing the Western and Eastern hemispheres.

Islands Sparsely Settled

"The two rocky islands rise almost exactly in the middle of Bering strait, where the easternmost mainland tip of Asia is 55 miles from the westernmost tip of Alaska. In clear weather one mainland headland is visible from the other. The weather is usually misty, however, in this region just south of the Arctic circle. Heavy fogs hid the island from their Russian discoverer, Vitus Bering, when he first passed them on his way through the strait which bears his name. When he first sighted one of the islands, he gave it the name of Diomede because the date, Aug. 16 (1728) was St. Diomede's day in the church calendar.

"Little Diomede is a two-mile-long oval rock rising steeply 1,000 feet from the waters of Bering strait. Big Diomede, to the northwest across the U. S.-U. S. S. R. frontier, is larger, higher and steeper. Fewer than 30 Eskimos live on Big Diomede, but the village climbing the rocky slope above the narrow boulder beach of Little Diomede has more than 100 inhabitants. In summer most of the Little Diomede Eskimos sail over to Nome, Alaska, for seasonal work.

Rocky Surface

"The rocky surfaces of both islands are covered with dark, scaly lichens, except when the summer brings blooms of blue monkshood and the walnut-sized 'Eskimo potato.' The only animal life is the host of auklets, puffins, kittiwakes and other Arctic birds that breed on the steep slopes. Occasionally a fox or white bear roams out over the ice from the mainland. The Eskimos on both islands live frugally on fish, sea mammals and birds, the latter caught in long-handled nets from rock blinds.

"On the trail of prehistoric Eskimo migrations, the National Geographic society and the Smithsonian Institution jointly sponsored an expedition in 1936 which visited both Little and Big Diomede islands. Evidence from kitchen middens on both islands showed that this was the route by which Eskimos entered America from Asia, presumably some 2,000 years ago, bringing with them the 'old age' culture of what is known as the 'old Bering sea' period of Eskimo history. It is highly probable, although not yet proved, that by this same route man first entered the American continent, by some pre-Eskimo migrations of the ancestors of the American Indians."

Our Children
by Angelo Patri

FOR FEAR

Nobody needs to be told that these are trying days for most of us. We cannot help but be distressed by the current news. If we try to forget for a moment we are drawn back into the noise and confusion and fear. The children catch the excitement and they too are nervous and jumpy and excitable. They talk too much and too shrilly. They move and shift and wiggle and there is no rest in them. We need inner peace.

How we are to get it is what concerns us all. How are we to keep calm, control the fear and the anger and the desire to do something—anything—that rises in us. We must find the way. As always, the best way to rid oneself of an unhealthy thought is to replace it with a healthy one. The thought we have to fight is fear—fear for ourselves and those dear to us; fear for our way of life; fear for our ideals and our possessions and our dearest concerns.

Stop being afraid of being courageous. What have we to fear but our own weakness? Why need we be weak? We are doing what is right and right makes might because God is right. We are hating nobody, threatening nobody. We are holding fast to what is good and for that we will fight and, if need be, die. That settled, we go steadily ahead doing what is in our hearts to do as decent, loyal citizens of these United States.

Once we have decided on our course and put the whole weight of our faith behind it, we gain that inner calm—that peace—that is our strength. Once past fear we stand firmly on our faith in our principles, our rightness and our work. Faith without work is dead, so we work.

Teach the children just that. There is nothing to fear because we are doing what we believe to be right. We have stopped questioning. We have set our course. The next thing to do is to put the whole strength of our bodies and souls into whatever work is needed and get it, sparing nothing.

And don't forget to direct the children to God. God is our word for goodness, that infinite goodness that rules this universe, that holds the universe in order and that will not fail to maintain order on this earth. Teach them to pray and to work while they pray. "Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, uttered and unexpressed."

Teach the children that they do not have to go to church or to stop work to pray. They have but to allow their souls' sincere desire to possess them and direct them, and their prayers will be effectual. They will know that inner calm that is the impregnable power of the spirit.

Get it for yourself first. Look beyond the noise and the confusion, hatreds, to where the shining ideal of human decency, human sacrifice for spiritual values, human devotion to the common good stands heaven-high for our beholding. Know that error cannot live. Know that righteous does not prevail. Know that the everlasting arms are underneath us and that we cannot fail.

Knowing, believing, trusting, we achieve that inner peace that is the impregnable power of the soul. It is ours for the taking.

Woman Named for President Can't Expect Brother's Vote

SEATTLE, July 5 (AP)—Brotherly pride and party ties clashed today and a retired business man said of his sister, Mrs. Thomsen Milburn, presidential nominee of the National Greenback party, that as for voting for her: "I don't know. I'm a pretty good Republican myself."

"She was a Republican once, too," he said.

But Charles M. Thomsen, former flour mills president, recalled that the woman chosen at Indianapolis yesterday as one of the first women nominees by any political party had "always been a pretty smart girl."

Mrs. Milburn, attractive widow in her fifties, has traveled extensively over the country the past several years lecturing on the party's "sound money" politics, he said. She maintains a home here with a son, Moritz, business man. Another son, George, lives at Vancouver, B. C.

Describing her nomination as the occasion for a "good Fourth of July celebration" for the family, Thomsen said he did not know of her campaign plans but that she had been "campaigning" for some time. In a jovial mood, he said: "That's all she talks about."

Educated in the east, her first political interests were in the extension of women's rights and she served several years as state chairman of the National Women's party. She was appointed to the city park board in 1928 and served one year.

She is of Danish stock, the daughter of the late Moritz Thomsen, one of the city's pioneer business leaders, capitalists and philanthropists, who came to this country from Denmark and obtained his first work in Chicago at $1.50 a day. Later he moved to California and in 1889 to Spokane.

The National Greenback party was organized at an Indianapolis convention in 1874.

Candidates File For Nominations

R. H. Stewart of Buhl, candidate for Democratic nomination for Buhl district justice of the peace, and R. A. McDonnell, candidate for election as Democratic committeeman for Deep Creek precinct, filed declarations of candidacy in Twin Falls county recorder's office yesterday.

Four Candidates Record Petitions

BOISE, July 5 (AP)—Petitions of candidacy for four office seekers, including Rep. Compton I. White, were filed with the secretary of state's office today, bringing to 11 the number of aspirants to state and national posts who already have filed.

Forty-one candidates have announced, with eight days remaining before the July 13 deadline for filing.

White, Democratic incumbent from the first congressional district and Clark's Fork mining man, seeks reelection to a fifth term.

Secretary of State George H. Curtis, a Democrat, turned in petitions for a second term and William N. Hardwick, veteran Jerome county assessor, filed his candidacy for the Republican nomination in opposition to Curtis.

Stewart Campbell of Boise, mine inspector from 1921 to 1932, submitted his papers for the Republican nomination to the same office.

Granddaughter of Pioneers Weds At Attractive Garden Ceremony

The attractive garden at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Eldred, was the scene last evening of a wedding of charming appointments when their granddaughter, Miss Elaine Eldred of Fullerton, Calif., became the bride of Robert Baker of Santa Monica. Mrs. Baker is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Eldred of Fullerton and A. R. Eldred of Twin Falls; and Mr. Baker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Baker of Filer.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a green and white flowered print crepe dress, with a chiffon redingote of identical floral design, and carried a bride's bouquet.

Following the traditional custom her "something borrowed" for the occasion was her mother's class ring. Mrs. Eldred graduated from the Twin Falls high school with the class of 1915. The "something old" was represented by the wedding handkerchief of the bridegroom's grandmother, and a rare belt pin belonging to his great, great grandmother. Her only other ornament was a necklace, the wedding gift of the bridegroom.

Bridesmaid was Miss Neoma Larrick of Filer, who wore a crepe frock in a light raspberry shade, and a floral corsage; and Thomas Shouse also of Filer, was best man.

A flower strewn path led from the house to a curved arch formed by watteau baskets of choice flowers from the gardens of William Lambing and Byrd Walter, with delphinium, roses, and lilies predominating, placed beneath a large tree, where the ceremony was performed. The bridal party entered the garden as Mrs. Nellie Ostrom played the wedding march. Mrs. Ostrom also played softly during the ceremony, also accompanying Milton Peck who sang "Beloved, It Is Morn," and "At Dawning."

Mrs. Eldred, mother of the bride, was gowned in a dubbonet crepe ensemble, with which she wore white accessories, and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Baker chose a light blue sheer frock, her accessories were also in white and her corsage of gardenias.

Only the immediate relatives and a few close friends witnessed the ceremony, performed by Rev. E. L. White, Methodist minister.

During a reception hour, refreshments were served from an ecru-lace covered table, centered with a bouquet of mixed garden flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker will reside at 512 North Pomona, Fullerton.

The bridegroom is employed with the Douglas Aircraft at Santa Monica. He is a graduate of the Filer high school, and his bride of the Twin Falls high school.

Guests at the wedding included Mrs. Eldred, Fullerton, California; the bride's mother; A. R. Eldred, father of the bride; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Eldred; Mrs. Corinne Ivory, her aunt, of Beverly Hills, California; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hirrel, aunt and uncle of the bride of San Carlos, California; her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Eldred Jerome; Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Baker, parents of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baker, his grandparents; his brother, Paul Baker; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baker, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. K. McCauley and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. McCauley, all of Filer; Miss Carmen Dewitt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hansen, Twin Falls; and Mr. and Mrs. L. Sterling, Burley.

CHURCH MEMBERS ATTEND PICNIC AT CAMP

With several families making an overnight camp and others going up Thursday morning, the site of Camp Penstamen in the Shoshone basin beyond Rock Creek canyon, was the scene Thursday of a jolly Fourth of July picnic.

Serving of the picnic lunch was preceded by the group singing "God Bless America." Invocation was pronounced by F. G. Edwards.

The remainder of the day was spent fishing, hiking, attending an impromptu ball game, and general camp activities.

Special guests at the affair included Mrs. Elfrieda Williamson and son, Kay, of California, house guests of Mrs. Williamson's mother, Mrs. Rose Fix; Mrs. M. Brown, Louis Holloway and Roy Holloway.

INFORMAL DINNER ARRANGED FOR SONS

Complimenting her two sons, Daniel and Allen, who have been spending their vacations at home, Mrs. J. E. Langenwalter arranged an informal dinner for members of the family and a few intimate friends, Wednesday evening.

Daniel Langenwalter left last evening for Atlanta, Ga., returning to the Georgia School of Technology; and Allen Langenwalter of Weiser will leave in the near future.

INVITATION FOR OUTING EXTENDED TO CLUB

An invitation to a week-end mountain outing at the Anderson cabin in the Sawtooth mountains, July 27, was enthusiastically accepted Wednesday by members of the Thalia club at a meeting at the home of Mrs. William Bruley. Club members and their husbands will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Gray.

Arrangements were also made for guest day, July 17, the affair to be held at the city park, with Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Carl Weaver and Mrs. Moore as hostesses.

An interesting letter from Mrs. John Flatt, who is spending the summer in Seattle with members of her family, was read.

TWO OUT-OF-TOWN COUPLES WED HERE

With Justice of the Peace H. M. Holler officiating C. A. Jones of Gooding, and Miss B. A. Lenz, Los Angeles, were recently married. The ceremony was witnessed by C. J. Chapman, Los Angeles, and S. W. Jones, Gooding.

The second couple married by Judge Holler, yesterday, were William Henry Grove, Roanoke, Va., and Margaret Hansen, San Francisco: Witnesses to their marriage were Mrs. Louise Hughes and D. E. Ryan, both of Twin Falls.

Final Rites Set For Mrs. Graves

JEROME, July 5—Funeral services for Mrs. Helen Mar Graves, who died Thursday at the home of her daughter, Miss Lula Graves, will be conducted at Miss Graves' home Saturday morning at 10 a. m. with the Rev. Albert E. Martin, Methodist minister, officiating.

The body will be forwarded, by the Wiley funeral home here to Roche Port, Mo., home of Mrs. Graves, for interment.

Mrs. Graves was almost 100 years of age at the time of her death.

Expert Studies Spud Shipments

BOISE, July 5 (AP)—Case histories of Idaho shipments of Early Triumph potatoes, to determine how bacterial ring rot is manifested, will be made in southwestern Idaho the next two weeks.

Edward Graves, University of Idaho plant pathologist, will do the work, announced Paul Rowell, state director of plant industry. Rowell said early potato shipments still were fairly light, with little increase from the present 5 to 10 cars daily expected until mid-July.

Few immature potatoes have been moved, he added.

Tests Discussed For Auto Drivers

BOISE, July 5 (AP) — Compulsory examinations for applicants for driver's licenses was discussed today at a meeting of Idaho officials with Ralph Robinson of Chicago, representative of the National Safety council.

Commissioner of law enforcement Harry M. Rayner, C. P. Humphrey, state highways director, C. E. Roberts, assistant superintendent of public instruction, conferred with Robinson on means of reducing traffic accidents.

Officials Watch For Show Driver

Law enforcement officers of the Twin Falls section have been asked to apprehend Harry Simpson of the Hollywood Daredevil Aces, believed to have failed to pay the percentage agreed upon to sponsors of Hailey's July 4th celebration.

Sheriff Dave Howes, Hailey, made the request that Simpson be picked up and held for Blaine officers, but investigation indicated the wanted man avoided Twin Falls or passed through before the search began.

CALL GOES TO BANKS FOR FINANCIAL REPORTS

BOISE, July 5 (AP)—G. L. Jenkins, Idaho commissioner of public investments, issued a call to the 32 state banks and 16 branches today for a report of financial condition at the close of business June 29.

The call followed that made by the comptroller of currency for national banks. Four are made each year.

House to Vote On Politics Bill

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP) — House leaders have decided definitely, it was reported tonight, to permit a vote next week on the senate-approved Hatch political practices bill.

Informed sources said that notices had been mailed out to all members informing them that debate would start Tuesday. A vote is expected Wednesday or Thursday.

The measure, barring political activity by state employes paid with federal funds, won approval of the house judiciary committee on May 29, after more than two months of stormy, subcommittee and committee sessions.

ALL THIS, AND HEAVEN TOO TOPS MOVIES OF MONTH ON ITS MERITS

No small addition to the film story of the Duc de Praslin and the little governess in "All This, and Heaven Too" is made by four un-picture-like children. The three here are Virginia Weidler, Ann Todd and June Lockhart.

By ROBBIN COONS
(AP) Feature Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD—There'll be two schools of thought on the "best picture" previewed in June.

There'll be those who insist that the movies right now have a special job of dealing with current realities, of "waking up America" with dramatic propaganda. And these will vote for "The Mortal Storm," which is truly a fine picture for today, and a fine production for any day.

There'll be others who maintain that a movie must be judged on its own merits, apart from the times and other considerations. And these will plunk for "All This, and Heaven Too," which will be the same timeless entertainment ten years from now that it is today.

Rather regretfully, because "The Mortal Storm" is so timely a picture, and such a good production besides, I have to join in for "All This, and Heaven Too."

Just in case there are a couple of people who haven't read the Rachel Field book or read about the picture, this is the story of Henriette Deluzy Desportes, a little governess who took a job tutoring the four children of the Duc de Praslin in Paris in the 1840's. All innocently, she was walking into a hornet's nest of emotions, psychoses, and domestic turmoil. The Duc had a jealous wife, to whom he grew colder as he warmed up—on a plane that was, for her at least, always high—to the girl from outside who had brought warmth into his home and happiness to his children. The outcome was murder of the wife, presumably by the husband—which left Henrietta decidedly on the spot.

The role of the governess gives Bette Davis an opportunity to prove her power in fitting into the pattern of the picture instead of dominating with frenetic and spectacular histrionics. This she does, exhibiting unexpected restraint—which is not to say that when the situation requires dramatic emotions she does not play a scene for all it's worth. It is an interesting and welcome departure for this actress, or as I heard it remarked, "It's Davis' first non-shoulder-shaking part."

Charles Boyer is the Duc, a balefully romantic, often unsympathetic figure, integrally weak and selfish but understandably so—as Barbara O'Neil makes his jealously deranged wife a creature who might drive even stronger men to worse than drink.

Delightful assets to the film are four of the most un-picture-like children yet assembled in a film: June Lockhart, daughter of Gene and Kathleen, who shows real dramatic sense along with unspoiled charm; Virginia Weidler, of course; Ann Todd, who is pretty and gay and altogether charming, and Richard Nichols, a little boy who is precocious without saccharinity.

The production is richly dressed, and conveys a fine feeling for the period immediately preceding the decline of Louis Philippe—a decline in which the de Praslin murder had no small part historically, affecting as it did a distinguished family of Louis' aristocracy. However, settings are not overstressed, nor is any attempt made to use lavishness as a cover for defects.

Anatole Litvak, the director, weaves the dramatic materials into a smoothly flowing narrative. Some other device than the one used (Henriette, starting anew in New York, is made to tell the story of her past to a group of little girls) could have been employed to advantage, and perhaps the film is a bit too lengthy for its content, but on the whole "All This, and Heaven Too" is an engrossing movie, tenderly made and worthy of the attention it will receive.

Jerome Girl Becomes Gooding Man's Bride at Church Ceremony

JEROME, July 5 — Miss Betty Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Turner of Jerome became the bride of James Wesley Crow, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Crow of Gooding, at a pretty ceremony performed at nine o'clock Monday morning at St. Jerome's Catholic church. Officiating was the Rev. Father Eric A. Schermanson, pastor of the Jerome church. Altar boys were Dick Turner, brother of the bride, and Danny Connor.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in an all white gown of sheer net with which she wore a finger tip veil and a flower garlanded hat. Her bouquet was fashioned from lilies and white gardenias with fern. Sole ornament worn by the bride was a gold locket.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Dorothy Turner, who was dressed in a chiffon organdy of pale green. Miss Turner wore a shoulder corsage of rosebuds with fern. Best man was George Hulbert of Gooding.

The altar where the nuptial mass was solemnized was pretty with a mass of summertime blossoms of regal lilies, daisies and other flowers.

Mrs. F. N. Trappen and Mrs. Henry Trappen sang a group of selections in solos and duets, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. E. Connor, Jerome.

Immediately following the wedding the bridal party and thirty-five guests were served at breakfast at the E. H. Turner residence, which had been prepared and was served by the sister of the bride, Mrs. Gordon Gray of Twin Falls, and Miss Eunice Clabby of Weiser.

The guests were seated at individual quartet tables and the bridal table was pretty with an arrangement of orchid clematis and gypsophilia, and was also decorated with the wedding cake which was cut and served in traditional fashion by the bride. Room decorations were attractive bouquets of pink and white blossoms of larkspur and gypsophilia.

Following the breakfast the couple left for a brief honeymoon trip to an unannounced destination. They will be at home after a few weeks in Gooding where the bridegroom is employed.

For almost three years Mrs. Crow has been a deputy in the offices of the Jerome county treasurer. She completed her elementary and secondary education in Jerome school system and was graduated from the Henager's business college at Salt Lake City. Mr. Crow is a graduate of the Gooding high school, attended the University of Idaho at Moscow and the Gonzaga university at Spokane.

Present among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crow Twin Falls; Miss Eunice Clabby of Weiser; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clabby and family of Boise; Mrs. Myrtle Turner and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Crow of Gooding; Mr. and Mrs. George V. Crow of Murtaugh and Vernon Clabby of Weiser.

ENTERTAIN FOR HOUSE GUEST

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Larson entertained Wednesday evening honoring Mrs. Larson's uncle, Wallace Strong of Salt Lake City.

Guests numbering twenty-five enjoyed a picnic supper at Kiwanis Nook at Shoshone Falls.

Mr. Strong, who has been visiting here for the past week expects to leave for his home Saturday or Sunday.

Vows Exchanged By Wilda Small, Robert Haggardt

At eight o'clock last evening Miss Wilda Small became the bride of Robert F. Haggardt, with Rev. Mark C. Cronenberger officiating. The ceremony was performed at the Christian church parsonage, and was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tyler and Miss Dorothy Schlund.

The bride was gowned in a street length frock of navy blue chiffon, with white lace trimming, and wore a white flower hat. Her corsage was pink rosebuds and gladiolus, and Mrs. Tyler and Miss Schlund wore similar corsages of coral color gladiolus.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the Twin Falls high school.

Following a short wedding trip to northern Idaho, they will be at home in Twin Falls, where the groom is employed in the clerical department of Swift and Company.

A number of pre-nuptial affairs were arranged in honor of the bride by her friends.

MUSIC INSTRUCTOR IS PARTY HONOREE

Miss Inez Rogers and Miss Miriam Cunningham of Buhl entertained Wednesday evening at the Rogers' home in honor of Mrs. Nellie Ostrom, Twin Falls music instructor, who will leave soon for San Francisco to take an advanced course in music and voice.

MISS IONE WESTFALL WEDS C. E. SIPE

Miss Ione Westfall of Jerome became the bride of Charles E. Sipe of Twin Falls at a ceremony performed at 10:15 o'clock Thursday morning by Bishop N. W. Arrington at his country home.

Witnesses were Miss Bernice Westfall, sister of the bride, and Paul Whitehead.

Other guests at the wedding were Miss Elda Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Cook and James Westfall.

Coming Events

PICNIC POSTPONED

American War Mothers picnic arranged for July 12 has been postponed to a later date.

PRO-TO CLUB

Pro-To Home Demonstration club will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. Harvey Wood in Kimberly. The lesson will be on flower arrangements.

FALLS AVENUE

All members of the Falls Avenue club are invited to attend a family picnic at Harrington park July 7, a pot-luck luncheon to be served between 1 and 1:30 o'clock. Those desiring transportation are asked to telephone Mrs. Sackett or Mrs. Hansen.

Wildlife Group Slates Session

WALLACE, Idaho, July 5 (AP)—A special meeting of the north Idaho Wildlife Federation will be held July 12 in Coeur d'Alene to draft game law recommendations, President Charles E. Bunnell of Burke announced today.

The recommendations will be placed before the state fish and game commission at its July 13-14 meeting in Coeur d'Alene, Bunnell said.

Staight and Narrow

THE FALL SILHOUETTE will be straight and narrow, with lowered waistline. You don't like it? That's too bad. Because, of course, you too will adopt the silhouette, come fall. "They" have spoken. Right now, whether you realize it or not, you're probably a living example of a transition silhouette. Notice that print dress you have on. Doesn't the skirt fit a little closer than last year's? And how about your spring suit? Wasn't the jacket rather long, with fullness starting below the hipline?—Transition again — a device used by dressmakers to accustom you to gradually changing times.

VACATION GUESTS FETED AT BARBECUE

Mrs. Claude Milligan of Los Angeles and Mrs. Byron Averett of Boise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Richards, were honorees at a barbecue supper arranged Wednesday evening by Mrs. O. C. Hall, mother of Mrs. Milligan.

The supper was prepared over the outdoor fireplace in the garden, and served at one long table appointed in bright-hued pottery, and centered with an arrangement of marigolds.

YESTERDAY: Taking an interest in Jan since Derek arrived, Johnny asks her out, then criticizes her for her girlish evening dress. Derek quarrels with Johnny for being "crude and rude" and offers to take Jan out himself. Johnny invites Rose instead.

Chapter 16
DANCING FEET

Derek tapped at her door and she met him smiling. Arm in arm they went down the stairway, Jan's head triumphantly high as she passed Johnny. "I'm going dancing with Derek," she called gaily to Lance and Norma.

When they entered the huge dim ballroom which stretched out over the ocean, she threatened: "I'll probably stumble and step all over you."

He grinned down at her and drew her bright head against the lapel of his coat and danced her out onto the long polished floor. He danced smoothly and well and after a minute or so Jan found herself following him easily enough. By the third dance their constraint lifted to the extent of experimenting with a rhumba. She nearly slipped, he caught her, and they laughed extravagantly. Couples around them performed amazing gyrations to the tune of "Dipsy Doodle," swinging apart, then together, whirling back-bending, tap dancing, shuffling.

"Gosh, I feel old and out of date," Derek deprecated his ability. "Think we could do some of that stuff if we practiced?"

"They give free lessons here once a week."

"Let's come? It might be fun."

"Love to," she smiled happy.

They sat out one dance and sipped root beer at the green marble soda fountain: "I'm practically a plutocrat," he announced. "I earned fifteen dollars this week, I bought clothes, and I still have fifty cents."

"I didn't think you'd stick the job." Her blue eyes twinkled at him over the top of her frosted mug.

"Neither did I, frankly. I don't like it and I still don't believe in work, but I've learned one thing from you and that is, to pay my own way. This is the first money I ever earned in my life. You know, it's a queer thing, but money you earn at hard manual labor has an entirely different touch and quality than money somebody else gives you."

She couldn't resist asking. "Still wish I hadn't pulled you out of the ocean?" Then immediately wished she had resisted, for the carefree smile left his face and it closed to her.

He set down his mug and stood up. "I still wish you hadn't I feel as if I'm living on time borrowed. Mostly I try not to think of it at all."

"Oh, Derek, I'm sorry. I thought maybe—maybe you'd changed."

"Let's dance," he said.

She hoped his former mood would return with music and movement, but it didn't. A little later she asked him to take her home. He left her at the front door, mumbled something about walking and flung off into the darkness.

"He's hungrier for music than he ever is for food," she dignosed with sure intuition.

A light burned in Lance's room, although it was past twelve. Deciding to go in for a minute, she had her hand on the doorknob ready to turn it, when she heard curious sounds from Norma's room. She found Norma huddled in a chair by the window, crying as if she'd been condemned to die at sunrise.

"What is the trouble, Norma?" she implored. "You're so cold. Here, let me slip this jacket over your shoulders."

"It's Lance," Norma whispered, clutching at Jan's hand. "He was furious when Mrs. Cornwall went out with Johnny. He snapped at Frank and ordered me out of his room—said I looked like a sick cat. He's been banging things around in there all evening. I wish I knew what to do. He's in love with her and it's making him rebellious and wretched and—oh, Jan, I love him so!"

Jan perched on the chair arm and put her arm about the other girl. "It isn't love, Norma. It can't be. It's infatuation and he'll get over it. He will have to. I'm sure she doesn't know, doesn't realize what she is doing to him. She only wants to be kind. We mustn't blame her."

"I know," Norma said. "I'm being silly. I guess all women in love are beyond the reach of logic. I'll go to bed now, dear. I'm glad you came in and talked some sense into me. It wouldn't do for me to appear at school with red eyes and a swollen nose. Goodnight, dear."

Jan went out softly and closed the door. Better to leave Lance alone, she decided, disliking to admit how she dreaded his bad moods, and from what Norma said, this was a very bad one.

She lay awake in the darkened room, unable to sleep. She heard Derek come in and climb the ladder to the roof. If he went away now, she thought, I'd get over it. I'd get over this smothering, wishy-washy feeling every time he comes near me; I'd stop wishing he'd kiss me again. It can't be love. It's the mystery, the curiosity, the attraction of something unknown. If I knew all about him he'd be just—no, it isn't so and I know it. I'm slipping into the same boat with Norma, falling in love with a man whose heart doesn't know I exist!

Dozing off to sleep a long time later she came wide awake when the door below banged open. Rose, laughing stridently, could be heard all through the house. "Too many cocktails," Jan thought, not caring much. Then she heard Lance opening his door and wheeling himself into the hallway.

"Rose," he called urgently. "Rose!"

Jan crept out of bed and opened her door a crack. Rose, reeling a little, leaning on the balustrade, swayed up the stairs to Lance. "H'lo, darling," she pouted. "Poor li'l Rose had too many sidecars."

"Where is Johnny?"

"Car. Putting the car away. So much fun, honey. Lotsa fun."

Lance reached out fiercely and grabbed her wrists, pressing the heavy metal bracelets into her flesh. "I hate to see you this way, Rose," he said. "Did you come straight home from a night club? You—you didn't stop anywhere?"

Rose became sickeningly coy. "Now, what would you say if I said yes, huh? What wouldya say?"

"I'd feel like killing you!" he exploded.

"Ummmm . . ." she swayed backward and forward like a lazy pendulum. "Well, I didn't, so there. Johnny's all right, but not handsome like my Lancey. Honey, you're hurting my wrists. Please let go my wrists, honey boy."

"Kiss me, then," he ordered. "Kiss me, Rose."

Jan, watching, shuddering, saw Rose twine her arms about his neck. Jan hesitated only a moment, then she padded into the hall, lifted Rose and half-carried, half-dragged her into her room, stretched her out on the bed and pulled the quilts up over her.

Lance met her sick eyes with hot defiance. "You were watching, weren't you? Spying."

"I couldn't help it," she whispered, "I heard her come in."

"Well, I don't care whether you saw or not," he shouted, his emotions quite beyond control. His hands shook and his face was livid. "I've been buried alive for two years. Two years. I know she doesn't care a damn for me, I know I can't give her anything but I'm going to take what I can get. It might have to last me a lifetime!"

In silence she wheeled him back into his room, left him, and went on into her own room to creep again between the covers, now chill and damp.

Rose woke late with a headache. Before she came completely awake her conscience began nagging her with guilty post-mortems. Vaguely, yet clearly enough to know it was not imagination, she remembered the scene in the hallway with Lance. Johnny's fault, she decided, he'd insisted on her mixing her drinks. Should have known better. Rose, my bonny lass! 'Member the last time, rather the first time, you experimented that way? It gypped you out of a nice, solid fortune.

Making a wry face she struggled up, held her whirling head a moment, then observed the wrinkled mess of fuchsia-colored crepe that had been an expensive evening gown. Taking it off over her head she reflected she should be grateful to whomever it was, Jan most likely, for putting her in bed and covering her up and pulling off her velvet sandals. How that forthright, unsophisticated youngster must despise her.

Stripping off all her clothing, donning a satin robe, Rose pushed her heavy black hair off her face, pinned it back, and rubbed a thick layer of pink cold cream, scented and expensive, into her skin. This was Sunday. A big day at Club. Field Day for a handsome grass widow—handsome if she could erase those dark circles under her eyes. Still, they might be considered intriguing.

"I'm thirty," she thought, taking herself to task as she removed the cream with tissue. "I've been twice married and twice divorced. It's high time I did something about securing my insecure future."

The Literary Guidepost

By JOHN SELBY

"PRESS PASS," by Kathleen Ann Smallzried; (Dutton: $2).

Two newspaper books in one week may be loading the dice, but Kathleen Ann Smallzried's "Press Pass" is too good to miss, even if there had been six newspaper books published. This is not only a look into an active and shrewd mind, but also the complete picture of the clever girl reporter who exists in every newspaper office, and is familiar to every person who ever worked on the editorial side of a paper. There are hundreds of them over the land, and they have had too little attention in books.

Kay (you always call these girls by their first name) was born in Wabash, Ind. She started writing for the papers at home; one day McCready Huston took her on to write the "glooms" for the News-Times (now folded) in South Bend. She has left the fold now, and periodically she left it in earlier years. But she still thinks reporting is more fun than anything else, she still has prickles of resentment because they never would let her cover a really good murder, and at the end of her gay and moving book she admits that actually has been writing the longest "situation wanted" ad in history. It seems she is assistant to a professor down in Marietta, O., which is probably a pleasant job but not fun, like the city room.

What makes "Press Pass" is Kay's frankness, and her amazing memory for detail. This, and the fact that both these qualities are applied to the study of an active mind as it grows up. So far as this department knows, nobody ever thought of showing what happens to the mind of a girl in a newspaper office. What a girl learns about undertakers and the bereaved by calling a list of undertakers every day for years; what she learns about bishops and laymen, about club women, about visiting notables, about politics, literature, crime, chambers of commerce, the "poor" and the rich. And about newspapers.

Kay remembers South Bend's revenge on K. G. Chesterton when he called the city "a Polish peasant town"—some club woman recalled that he ate the crumbs off his own vest. She remembers what the nuns at St. Mary's college got for Christmas, how her paper handled Knute Rockne's death, what they ate on her first office picnic, how her black silk underwear faded onto her skin, about failing to save the life of a 23-ounce baby, about the reason the police chief committed suicide. These and a thousand other things do not add up to a recipe for foiling dictatorship, but they add up to life on the home newsfront.

GOODING

Entertain Husbands—Members of the junior aid of the Christian church met in the city park Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock for a brief business session. Following the meeting the husbands of the women present, joined the group and all enjoyed a picnic supper. Mrs. Charles Winnett had charge of arrangements.

At Fish Fry—Gooding people attending the fish fry on Big Smoky Sunday as guests of the Fairfield American Legion post were Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Will Schrieber, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lucke and son, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Shotwell, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Faith, Mrs. C. A. Nettleship, Mrs. Francis Oldaker and Miss Edna Robinson and V. V. Gillispie and son.

Bursar Resigns—A. E. Mann, bursar at the State school for the deaf and blind since 1936, left this week for Salmon City. Mr. Mann resigned before leaving. Mr. and Mrs. Mann will visit in Kansas and Illinois and other eastern points before locating again.

At Convention—Mrs. Milton Roberts, as representative of the Gooding Christian church; Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Reynolds, Mrs. C. F. Sanderson and Mrs. E. E. Adams attended the 41st convention of south Idaho Christian Missionary society which was held at Boise June 24 to 26. Mrs. Adams was reelected as recording secretary for the coming year.

Grange Meeting—The Gooding Grange met Friday evening at the Odd Fellows hall. Mrs. Percy Varin had charge of the program, at which time Mrs. Gabe Beyer read a paper on the history of the Grange. Mrs. Varin read an article on flowers and conducted two flower contests. Master William Bryan presided at the meeting, during which time a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the Grange display at the fair next month. The committee consisted of Gabe Beyer, C. E. Bissell and C. I. Brown.

Bridal Shower—A bridal shower was given Friday evening at the Baptist church, honoring Miss Dorothy Broadie. Twenty-three guests were present. The evening was spent playing games. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Dene Broadie, mother of Miss Broadie, and Mrs. Ira Kistler. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Elwin Jacobs of Glenns Ferry, Mrs. J. R. Broadie and Mrs. Hewett of Bellevue.

Attend Assembly—Fourteen young people of Gooding plan to attend the annual Baptist assembly to be held in the Sawtooth national forest from July 8 to 19. Those who will attend are John Alexander, Esther Heller, Alice and Ada Harms, June and Gene Heller, Bobby Northrop, James and Jack Peterson, Geraldine Gillespie and Ralph Lucke.

Proud Grizzlies Stage Annual 'Baby Show' in Yellowstone

YELLOWSHONE PARK, July 5—Proud mother grizzlies are staging their annual baby show extraordinary for visitors this week at the Grand Canyon grizzly bear grounds in Yellowstone National park.

Among the 37 bears which got wind of last week's opening of the grounds and have taken out meal tickets there are two sets of triplets, one set of twins, one single cub and three yearlings. The number of grizzlies on hand the first week has been considerably higher than that for the same period last year, and will increase as the season progresses. Yellowstone's last grizzly census showed a total of 300 in the park.

Bowlegged and clumsy, the cubs steal the show—at least between fracases, when one old grizzly finds another encroaching on his territory. When the cubs misbehave or get into mischief the mothers usually reward them with a cuff on the ear.

An opening day crowd of 1,127 spectators witnessed the bear show from within an enclosed area. Also present were two uninvited guests—coyotes—who slinked in for a share of the booty, but remained a respectable distance from the grizzlies.

SHOSHONE

Cabin Opened—Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Erpelding and daughter were at their cabin on Warm Springs creek Sunday to open it for the summer.

Son Born—Word has been received of the birth of a son June 19 to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Starlin of Iowa City, Ia. Mrs. Starlin was formerly Miss Mariam McFall.

Outing Trip—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blacker and Archie Nisbet of Rupert and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blacker and son left Wednesday for Stanley and other mountain points on a several days outing trip.

Guest Day—The Hailey Civic club entertained at a guest day in Hailey last Thursday at the Legion hall. Those attending from the Shoshone Study club were Mesdames J. J. Wise, C. M. Wilson, J. W. Stoddard, A. I. McMahon, H. O. Haight, F. H. Howard, J. J. Lockie, R. W. Swope, J. M. Thebout, L. Brietrick, Henry Hill and Miss Angie Durgee; Mrs. Howard Adkins and Miss Ruth Kelly.

From Hawaii—Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Child and son arrived Monday from Hawaii for a several days visit at the F. W. Dice home. Mr. and Mrs. Child are from Kailua, and the son is from Honolulu.

Vacation—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hoff and sons left Sunday for Horseshoe Bend on a three weeks vacation.

Bon Voyage—Monday evening at the Memorial building, the Shoshone Legion auxiliary and Shoshone Eastern Star chapter gave a joint bon-voyage party in honor of Mrs. Carrie Wilken, who is leaving for Washington, D. C.

Brooklyns, Bees Play Five Hours And 19 Minutes

Leo Durocher's Club Chalks Up Sixth Straight Win

BOSTON, July 5 (AP)—It took the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers 20 innings to subdue the seventh-place Boston Bees today 6-2.

In a five-hour and 19-minute struggle that ranks as one of the longest games in modern baseball, the durable Dodgers punched across four runs in the twentieth and then blanked the Bees in their half for victory in the longest game in either league this season.

The two teams are not unaccustomed to playing long over-time matches. Last year they went 23 innings to a 2-2 tie and in 1920 they set a major league record for the longest game by struggling through 26 innings to a 1-1 deadlock.

The Dodgers, in winning their sixth straight game, pulled 12 hits off four Boston pitchers, while five Dodger hurlers gave up 14 blows.

Newsl Kimball got credit for the win, while Joe Sullivan, who got the winning runs on base in the 20th before he was relieved, was charged with the defeat.

Reds Rally for 5 to 4 Victory

CINCINNATI, July 5 (AP)—The Reds came from behind with three runs in the ninth for a thrilling 5 to 4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today and a clean sweep of their series-of-three.

Neither Jim Turner nor old Danny MacFayden finished their starting mound assignments, but the former won was charged with the loss, his second of the year. Joe Beggs was the winning pitcher, his fourth triumph in a relief role.

For eight innings, the Reds kept punching away, once aided by one of two Pirate errors, loading the bases in the fourth.

But until the ninth inning splurge, they left 10 men on base, and the game looked hopeless. Their only tally to that point was racked up on Ival Goodman's sixth homer of the year which scored Lonnie Frey, who had singled.

The Pirates lost little time in forging to their long-held lead, Arky Vaughan's infield single and successive doubles by Manager Van Robays and Vince DiMaggio netting two in the second.

In the ninth, with one away, Frey doubled for his third hit of the day, Goodman was safe on Vaughan's fumble and Frank McCormick singled to score the first baseman. Mace Brown replaced Mac Fayden. He forced Ernie Lombardi to line out but Harry Craft singled to score Goodman with the tying run and another one-bagger clout by Morrie Arnovich sent McCormick across the plate.

Pilots and Cards Acquire Players

Boise Announces Signing of Gordon Williamson to Replace Donovan

BOISE, July 5 (AP) — Signing of Gordon Williamson of Portland, Ore., infielder with the Lewiston club of the Pioneer league last year, was announced today by Manager Andy Harrington of the Boise Pilots.

Williamson, who joined the team tonight, was called in to replace third baseman Jimmy Donovan, taken ill with what appeared to be appendicitis.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 5 (AP)—Bobby (Jabo) Jones of Boulder, Colo., high scorer of the Arizona Texas-league, today signed a contract to play with the Pocatello club of the Pioneer league.

The 24-year-old star outfielder of the Albuquerque Cardinals is to be traded for Earl Fallon, Pocatello third baseman, St. Louis Main, Cardinals' president, announced. Fallon's home is at Jerome, Idaho.

Jones receives a $5 monthly raise in salary in the deal which was recommended by Branch Rickey, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals farm system, to which both Albuquerque and Pocatello belong. His salary was not announced.

He came here from Houston of the Texas league in mid-season, a shoulder injury. Last year he batted .348 and scored 128 runs in new Arizona-Texas league record. Although handicapped by an arm injury, he turned in .327 this season, scoring 86 runs in 89 games.

ENTERS CHALLEDON

BOSTON, July 5 (AP)—W. L. Brann decided to enter Challedon in an overnight allowance race here next week after that 1938 champion of the turf worked six furlongs in 1:15 today on a muddy track at Suffolk Downs.

Pilots Rout Cowboys, 9-2; Bees Beat Reds

Indians Rely on These Stalwarts

THESE THREE are the stalwarts on whom the Cleveland Indians rely, to help keep the club ahead in the American league. Right now they're busy watching a fly ball (left to right) Pitcher Al Milnar, Manager Oscar Vitt and Pitcher Bob Feller nervously have their eyes on that pennant-race standing. Not long ago Vitt was the target of a mild insurrection among the players, including Feller.

Chicago 10, St. Louis 8.
Philadelphia 6, New York 3 (night game).
(Only games scheduled).

PHILADELPHIA, July 5 (AP)—Home runs by Bob Johnson and Frank Hayes, coupled with Johnny Babich's seven-hit pitching, gave the Athletics a 6 to 3 victory over the New York Yankees before 25,620 at Shibe park tonight.

Joe Gordon and Joe DiMaggio blasted roundtrippers for the Yanks, but both came with the bases empty.

Hayes connected for his 20th base clout following Dick Siebert's single in the fourth. Johnson's smash came off relief pitcher Steve Sundra with Benny McCoy on base in the eighth.

Babich, who beat the Yanks in a 10-inning game at New York last Sunday, was in trouble in the second and eighth, but pulled out with a minimum of damage.

Foxx Hits 20th Homer of Year

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox stopped their American league descent today as they pounded out 14 hits to defeat the Washington Senator, 9 to 4.

Jimmy Foxx hit his 20th homer of the year with none on in the third and Ted Williams walloped his 11th in the fifth with one on. Jake Early hit a bases-loaded triple for the Senators in the eighth. Washington got 12 hits off Jim Bagby, but he went the route.

The Sox started early on young Walter Masterson, getting three runs in the second on Lou Finney's single, a—walk, a wild pitch, and singles by Gene Desautels and Bagby. Foxx's homer gave them a 4 to 0 lead in the third.

Washington tallied in its third, however, as Buddy Lewis singled, moved to third on two infield outs and came home on Cecil Travis' single to right. The fifth inning saw plenty of scoring with the Sox counting four times and the Senators twice.

George Case, Washington outfielder, who got 9 hits out of 10 trips to the bat in yesterday's doubleheader, singled on his first appearance today to make it seven consecutive safeties, but Bagby tamed him the rest of the way.

White Sox Win Slugging Match

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox unloosed a 13 hit attack today to defeat St. Louis 10 to 8 in a slugging match which gave the Chicago team its fourth straight victory, and three in a row over the Browns.

The Sox assault was made at the expense of Eldon Auker, who was knocked out in the fifth inning. Roxie Lawson and Emil Bildilli.

Champ Defeats Injunction Move

BROOKLYN, July 5 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice John M. McGeehan today denied the request for an injunction to prevent Lew Jenkins, lightweight boxing champion, from meeting Welterweight King Henry Armstrong at the Polo grounds, July 17.

The injunction was asked by Promoters of Broadway arena, who claimed Jenkins was scheduled to meet Jack Sharkey, jr., there April 2 and then asked for a postponement until June 10. In the meantime, Jenkins won the title from Lou Ambers.

Lajoie Votes for Helmets

"IT'S BETTER TO WEAR A HELMET than to be carried away on a stretcher," says Napoleon Lajoie (above), one of baseball's immortals, as he joins the controversy over headgear to prevent "baseball" injuries. Lajoie, now 64, is ranked among the best second basemen in the game's history. Sponsors at Manior-on-the-lake, Ohio.

2,000 See Bees Win Over Ogden

SALT LAKE CITY, July 5 (AP)—Some 2,000 wildly partisan spectators filled Community park tonight to see their Salt Lake City Bees whip Ogden, 9-5, for the third time in three starts and hold on to an already long Pioneer league lead.

The Bees, with Larry Jansen pitching careful ball for his ninth victory of the season, lost no time in grabbing a considerable advantage and stayed ahead through to the finish in spite of occasional Ogden threats in the latter innings. Three runs were pushed across the plate by the winners in the first frame, another came in the fourth, and in the sixth Salt Lake City added it all off with a final five-run sortie.

Doubles by Ray Perry and Earl Owen and triples by Roblado and Earl Owen figured largely in the proceedings as the league leaders earned all nine of their runs by strategical plastering of their ten hits.

The Ogden Reds also collected ten safe blows, of which Dick Adams' triple was the longest, but of their five-run total, Jansen was responsible for four one.

Russets Thump Pocatello, 10-5

IDAHO FALLS, July 5 (AP) — Scoring runs in triplets, the Idaho Falls Russets climbed within striking distance of the Pioneer league's .500 mark tonight by defeating the Pocatello Cardinals, 10-5.

After two scoreless innings, the Russets got away to a four-run midgame lead on the strength of a trio of tallies in the third frame and a single counter in the fourth.

Pocatello tied the score at 4-all by the seventh inning, when Steve Patrin cracked a homer with the bags empty, but the neck-and-neck nature of the battle was short-lived by the least.

In its half of the same proverbially important session, Idaho Falls put together its second series of three runs and followed with a third threesome in the eighth.

The victory was credited to Al Emmertson, although he was relieved in the eighth by Ed Smith, when Pocatello threatened momentarily with its fifth and final run.

Warren Sandel lasted out the game on the Cardinal mound, in spite of being touched for 18 assorted safeties. His fellow Pocatellans committed a half-dozen miscues to make certain of the more futile.

2,000 Fans Watch Spears Permitted On Some Rivers

BOISE, July 5 (AP)—Use of spears, snag-hooks and salmon eggs for taking salmon is permitted in only a few rivers in western Idaho, Game Director Owen W. Morris pointed out today, in explaining the law on the question.

"Many persons have inquired whether it is legal to use snag hooks and spears for taking salmon and steelheads," Morris said. "At present license holders will note the fish and game law synopsis attached to the license they will find a list of streams where it is permissible to take fish with equipment other than a rod, line and artificial lure."

State Amateur Tourney Opens At Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY, Idaho, July 5 (AP)—Firing into the teeth of a high wind which raised scores well above par 72, 16 Idaho golfers today qualified for the championship flight of the state amateur tournament, but only eight remained in the title running tonight.

First round play over the Sun Valley course brought defeat for Bill Bavinone of Caldwell, defending champion, who bowed to Eddie Harper of Pocatello, 5 and 3.

Besides Harper, other winners were: Russ Morris, Boise, Lynn Robidoux, Pocatello; Bud Boyd, Caldwell; Bob Davis, Nampa; Newt Carter, Boise, Don Lindsey, Nampa, and Paul Aveson, Boise.

Morris defeated Dr. J. A. Knox of Boise, 3 and 1; Robidoux beat Jerm Manley, Idaho Falls, 2 and 1; Boyd beat Jack Wittrock, Idaho Falls, 2 and 1, and Davis downed Art Schultz, Pocatello, one up on the nineteenth hole.

Carter outshot Earl Johnson, Pocatello, one up, and Aveson defeated Kent Undhjem Idaho Falls, one up on the nineteenth.

The losers will play in the presidential flight tomorrow, while the winners meet in quarter-final matches.

Quarterfinalists in the first flight are Ford Johnson, Idaho Falls; T. R. Scott, Nampa; Tom Gamble, Jerome; Harry Denton, Twin Falls; S. Fa Matthews, Soda Springs; Jeff Williams, Boise, and Jim Roper, Burley.

In the third flight, Ernie Lehman, Pocatello, defeated Russell Tigert, Idaho Falls, 3 and 2. Three others, H. D. Spencer, Boise, and John Vodder and Bill McRoberts, both of Twin Falls, drew byes.

Harper was medalist with a 77.

Al Patnik Retains AAU Diving Title

Ohio State Star Defeats Perennial Opponent in Tournament Finals

BY ROBERT MYERS

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., July 5 (AP)—Ohio state university's Al Patnik bowed out of the American diving picture late today by retaining the three-meter springboard championship.

The 23-year-old star turned back the challenge of his friend and perennial foe of collegiate days, Earl Clark in the finals of the National A. A. U. swimming and diving tournament.

The event, which followed Clark's by yesterday, Nakama of Hawaii in the one mile freestyle race, featured the second day of the A. A. U. meet in coral Cabrillo pool.

Beaten by Clark in the qualifying round yesterday Patnik came back like a champion today to earn the verdict of the judges and the plaudits of the crowd with a brilliant exhibition off the three-meter board. Clark was the only diver who ever defeated Patnik in four years of major competition, and was generally favored to lift Patnik's crown this afternoon.

At the finish, Patnik had scored 163.8 points, Clark 160.94 points.

Patnik, newly graduated from Ohio state, announced his retirement from A. A. U. competition. He plans to go into business in Cleveland.

At the end of two days of competition, four records scored. Towers club, Chicago, 18; Alexander House, Maui, Hawaii, 11; Ohio state university, 8; Los Angeles athletic club, 5; Detroit A. C., 2; Hale, 2.

Sammy Angott To Defend Title

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 5 (AP)—Charley Jones, manager of the National Boxing association's world's welterweight champion, Sammy Angott of Louisville, announced today Angott had agreed to defend his title for the first time for Promoter Art Rooney in Pittsburgh, Aug. 1.

Jones said Rooney informed him Baby Arizmendi, who recently fought a draw with Angott in Los Angeles, had rejected an offer to be Angott's Pittsburgh opponent because he considered the percentage too low.

He said Pete Lello, who drew with Angott recently in New York, and George Latka, Los Angeles, were being considered as opponents.

By FREDERICK GARDNER

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—Selected stocks edged forward in today's market but the advance was accomplished on the second smallest volume for a full session in more than a year.

There was a slight show of activity in the first hour. Thereafter the ticker tape frequently slumbered and transfers for the five hours amounted to only 283,030 shares which, with the exception of last Monday, was the lowest aggregate since July 3, 1939. It compared with Wednesday's pre-holiday total of 337,170.

Gains for several steels, aircrafts, motors, rails and specialties, running to a point or so in the forenoon, were reduced at the close. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended up .2 of a point at 41.2.

Mounting taxes, the waning outlook for exports due to the shifting tides of the European conflict, and the desire of speculative forces to keep commitments light pending results at the forthcoming national Democratic convention, tended to restrain buyers, analysts said.

Finishing on the upside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, General Electric, N. Y. Shipbuilding, White Rock, Great Northern, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit and American Smelting. A shade under water were Anaconda, Kennecott, U. S. Rubber and Western Union.

Secondary railway bonds exhibited strength. Commodities were mixed.

HEAVY RECEIPTS DEPRESS WHEAT

Chicago Grain Market Contends With Profit Taking Sales

By FRANKLIN MULLIN

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Heavy receipts of wheat at principal southwestern market where the 1940 harvest is in full swing helped to depress domestic prices today.

The market also had to contend with profit taking sales as a result of forecast of partly cloudy weather and probable showers in the spring wheat belt where moisture is badly needed. Many traders who bought Wednesday during the price advance sold today.

After rising as much as 1¼ cents early in the day due to failure of moisture relief to materialize over the week-end, wheat tumbled 2¼-2⅜ from the highs following the forecast and when hedging sales against the heavy movement of new grain increased. Wheat closed ⅜-1¼ lower than Wednesday, July 77¼-⅜, September 77⅝-¾. Kansas City prices were 1⅛-1⅜ cents lower but Minneapolis quotation closed ⅛ off to ⅛ up.

Corn finished ¼-⅜ higher here; July 61⅜, September 58⅝-¾; oats ¼-½ lower; rye ⅜-¾ lower and lard 5-8 higher.

Chicago received four cars of new wheat, the first to arrive here this season, coming mostly from Indiana.

Failure of the Winnipeg market to rise off the minimums helped to restrain early buying here. Beneficial moisture was received in Canada over the holiday.

Wool Market's Weekly Review

BOSTON, July 5 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"With little more than the government awards for a stimulus to the manufacturers, Summer street has been a rather dull market for wool this week, especially with the holiday intervening. Few wool houses dared take advantage of the long week-end on account of the possibility of overnight developments of major importance. For the same reason, there is no disposition to take undue risks.

"Buying in the west has dwindled to minor proportions because of the situation here. Most of the larger operators have withdrawn bids for the time being, although growers for the most part are firm at recent peak prices. Here and there, however, modest quantities are picked up at prices 2 to 5 cents under the recent high levels.

"Mohair is dull and hardly changed."

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Domestic, scoured basis:

California northern 84-86; middle county 81-85; southern 82-83; fine scoured 78-80; carbonized fine 80-81.

Oregon—fine and F.M. staple 85-86; wine F.M. clothing 77-79.

Territory:

Montana and similar fine staple choice 88-90; ½ blood combing 85-87; ⅜ blood combing 75-77; ¼ blood combing 71-74.

Pulled:

Scoured: Delaine 94-95; AA 92-93; fine A supers 87-88; A supers 83-87; B supers (choice) 83-84; B supers (white) 80-82; B supers (stained) 77-80; C supers (average) 73-77.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—Trading interest in sugar switched to the raw market today as rates inquiry mounted.

About 12,000 tons of Cuban, Puerto Rican and Philippine raws sold at 2.70 cents a pound, a 5-point decline in the spot price from the last reported sale.

Futures slipped down.

The domestic list closed 1 to 2 points lower on turnover of 4,050 tons. Producers sold and speculative liquidation developed.

World futures ended 1½ to 2 points lower on sales of 3,350 tons, Sept. .0911, Dec. 1.02½B. Switching deals accounted for most business.

Refined remained at 4.50 cents a pound in eastern territory. Local refiners also withdrew recent concessions in competitive selling areas.

Body of Drowning Victim Recovered

OGDEN, July 5 (AP)—The body of Dennis B. King, 31-year-old Malad truck driver, was pulled from Pine View reservoir with grappling hooks this morning in a tragic sequel to an early morning swimming party. King evidently was seized with cramps and shouted for help, but others in the party thought he was "just fooling," said Sheriff John B. Watson.

WILLKIE DELAYS MANAGER CHOICE

Republican Presidential Nominee Confers With Party Leaders

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP) — The question of who will manage Wendell L. Willkie's presidential campaign was still unanswered tonight after the nominee and a special 12-member sub-committee of the Republican national committee concluded an all-afternoon session.

Willkie said any mention of names in connection with the post was "pure speculation."

At the same time he stimulated the speculation with his announcement that he would have as a dinner guest Representative Joseph W. Martin, jr., of Massachusetts, house minority leader and permanent chairman of last week's Philadelphia convention.

Martin's name frequently has been mentioned in connection with the campaign manager's job as has that of Samuel W. Pryor, jr., Connecticut national committeeman and others.

Willkie and the sub-committee will resume their session tomorrow and he said he was hopeful the executive committee as well as the entire campaign setup could be announced after the meeting.

"Almost the entire time today," Willkie said, "has been taken up with a discussion of the whole problem of national organization and the question of a campaign manager and a national chairman has not come up."

FAIRFIELD

Pioneers Picnic — Pioneers of Camas prairie will hold their annual reunion and picnic at the Pioneer park on Soldier creek, Sunday, July 21.

Freight — During the month of June, 163 cars of lambs were shipped from points on the Hill City railroad branch, four cars of wheat, one car of cattle and 24 cars of ore.

Fire Warning — Wallace Saling, ranger at the Soldier station, warns motorists and campers in this section of the Sawtooth national forest to use special caution in regard to fires. A heavy growth of underbrush and grass is particularly dry at this time and growing more so as the season advances.

Honor Guests — Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nelson, newly-weds, were honor guests at a party given recently by their Sunday school class at the Nelson ranch. The evening was spent looking at the wedding gifts and playing games.

In Training — Bruce Spratt, jr., and Dick Turner left Monday for the civilians' training camp at Fort Douglas, Utah.

Visitor — Mrs. J. H. LaValley of Portland, Ore., is visiting friends and relatives on the Prairie. She formerly was Marjorie Struble.

Guests — Mrs. Margaret Geisler has as summer guests her sister, Mrs. Richard May of Ottawa, Canada, and her daughter, Miss Florrie May who has just recently returned from the West Indies.

Reception — Rev. and Mrs. Harold G. Cowdrick and daughter have arrived from the east to take over the Fairfield Community church pastorate. A reception was held for the new minister and his family at the church annex Tuesday evening.

In Fruitland — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Durall and children spent three days this past week with relatives in Fruitland.

Week-End Visitor — Miss Margaret Cotter, Fairfield grade school teacher, visited friends in Fairfield over the week-end. She returned to Boise Monday morning.

Skis used on planes generate such a high amount of friction that on speedy, fast-landing military planes, the skis have been known to burst into flame.

CAREY

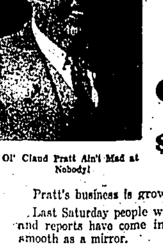
Address Set—All women in this community are invited to hear Miss Margaret Hill when she talks on "Budgeting the Family Income" at the L.D.S. church in Carey Wednesday afternoon, July 10, at 2:30 o'clock.

Guests at Hailey—Those from Carey who attended the guest day entertainment given by the Hailey Civic club to neighboring clubs were the Mesdames J. P. Burkhart, L. S. Robinson, Ray Ivie, Ed. Cameron, T. C. Parke, Albert Albrethsen, T. O. Stanford, A. B. Stanford and C. E. Tulloch. Mrs. Burkhart read five original poems as the Carey number on the program.

Meeting Set — William Aiken, James Turnbull, Arlie McCarter, and W. D. Richards, all board members of the Little Wood river irrigation project, will meet with the state and federal representatives of the WPA and the RFC when they hold their meeting at Boise Friday, July 5. This meeting is to determine whether the Little Wood river dam will be completed at this time.

VETERAN STOCKMAN DIES

OREANA, Idaho, July 5 (AP) — Thomas Alden Foreman, 70, stockman in Owyhee county since he came from Texas 40 years ago, died yesterday at his home eight miles south of Oreana.



Ol' Claud Pratt Ain't Mad at Nobody!

From A PEACH ORCHARD To A PEACH OF A BUSINESS $200,000 A YEAR!

Pratt's business is growing faster all the time.

Last Saturday people went wild in buying the Ethyl Resolute gasoline, and reports have come in all week about mileage and how motors run smooth as a mirror.

Now, boys, we're going to do the same thing today, except we're going to go one step further: We're going to set all of our pumps back for today only—and will stand this extra federal tax and give you the Resolute Ethyl gas for the same price as the regular. This also means that you farmers can bring in your oil drums and buy your farm gas the same as you did before July 1. We are putting on extra help. And if we don't have enough gas to last all day, we just can't help it. But we sure have a lot of it in storage right now.

Come in and get your binding twine for $4.91 a bale today — every ball is guaranteed.

You can also get the Pennsylvania tires—less the federal tax. You may have to be patient with us, as a great crowd will be here, but we'll wait on you just as fast as we possibly can.

BUHL

Farewell Party — Complimenting Mrs. Harold Piercy before she left to make her home in Pendleton, Ore., where Mr. Piercy is employed in a grocery store, a group of her friends gave a swimming and picnic party at Banbury natatorium Tuesday evening. Mrs. Piercy was presented with shower gifts of lingerie. She and her small son, Dale, plan to leave Buhl July 6 or 7.

INJURIES FATAL TO CRASH VICTIM

18-Year-Old Girl Dies at Meridian of Fractured Skull

MERIDIAN, Idaho, July 5 (AP)—Struck by an automobile while walking along U. S. highway 30 near here shortly before midnight, 18-year-old Elaine Howell of Meridian died of a fractured skull in a Boise hospital early today.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvid E. Howell, who moved here from near Preston five years ago.

Two companions, her sister, Mildred, 15, and Dorothy Guy, 18, told Sheriff Don Headrick the three were returning home after a bus trip to Nampa when the accident occurred.

William D. Adams, 27, of Melba, driver of the automobile involved, reported to the sheriff he did not see the girls until it was too late to avoid striking Miss Howell, although he swerved the machine sharply. His lights had been dimmed, he said, in preparation for meeting an approaching car.

Adams and his three brothers, all riding in a sedan, brought the injured girl to a Boise hospital, where she died.

An inquest was scheduled before Clyde Summers, Ada county coroner, at 11 a.m. tomorrow and funeral services will be held Sunday at Nampa.

REICH ENFORCES LABOR CONTROL

System of Strict Regulation Governs German Workers

BY PRESTON GROVER

BERLIN—(Correspondence of the Associated Press) — The methods adopted by the German authoritarian government to manage its labor supply in the interests of the Reich might readily appall an American working man, but the system is looked upon in this country as the best possible one for a country at war.

For one thing, there are no strikes in Germany. Such a thing was looked upon as disloyal to the Reich long before war began and now would certainly be dealt with harshly. As a matter of fact, Germany entered the war with its labor subject to strict control under a decree of Feb. 13, 1939. In that decree it is stated:

"For tasks which the high commissioner for the four year plan (Goering) considers imperative and urgent the labor offices are empowered to enlist the inhabitants of the Reich for service."

That means just what it says. To make it, perhaps, even plainer, Dr. Friedrich Syrup, the secretary of state in the ministry of labor, stated that the summons to service by the labor office "is the equal economic counterpart to an order for military conscription."

Decree Already in Effect

The rapid shift from a peacetime economy to a war economy was undoubtedly less disturbing in Germany than in England, partly because the labor decree already was in effect, and in part because Germany had been steadily progressing into a war economy in her rearmament program. Thus labor dislocations due to closing down of peacetime production and opening of war production was held to a minimum.

But even if there had been dislocations, there would have been no shilly-shallying about moving labor from one industry or locality to another industry or locality where it was more urgently needed.

Under the system a man may be separated from his family and moved to another part of the Reich to work. He is compensated for that by special allowances in addition to his wages.

In Germany, a workman may not shop around for a job to his liking and then move into it the moment he finds a good "break." Even before the war workmen in many industries were prohibited from leaving for other jobs without special consent of the labor office.

"At the beginning of the war," says a survey of the German institute of business research, "this restruction was extended to all industries. The practical application of this restriction is handled in such a way that employers as well as employees can give notice of termination of employment only after the consent of the labor office."

Labor loitering is "verboten." By a supplemental decree of last July an absence from work without an excuse or failing to carry out a task assigned could bring a jail sentence. Promptly two men were sentenced for a one month each, while a third was sentenced for a year for drinking and laziness.

Even as long ago as 1937 there were fewer than a million unemployed in the reich. There are none now except in cases occasioned by temporary dislocation. Instead much labor is being imported. Southeastern European areas are combed for laborers to be brought to the reich, specially for agricultural work.

Germany captured about 700,000 Polish prisoners of war, who now are at labor in the reich, mostly in agriculture.

In addition, about one million Polish workers were expected during the crop season this year, double the number commonly coming in during past years.

Quite a number of Americans have come over here to escape the prevailing unemployment there, more especially those of German extraction. Some are happy about coming, some less so.

Women are increasingly employed, although the business research survey said this is held to a minimum "because it is detrimental to the aims of German social and population policies."

Women postmen and tram conductors are common sights in Berlin and in other major German cities. In an airplane plant this writer recently visited, about one-third of the employes were women, many of them in middle age and early old age.

Must Make Sacrifices

More than one man and woman has discovered that mere employment in a lucrative position is no protection from conscription for other service. Women in white collar jobs have found themselves at times required to step into industrial factories at sacrifices in pay when a need for increased help was felt.

Even with the fullest mobilization of workers within the reich there is ample evidence of the need of still more. Cafes and hotels frequently are short staffed. It is a common sight for store patrons to be lined up far out into the street waiting for their turn at the services of a clerk.

With all this there has been no appreciable increase in labor prices, for wages are regulated, just as are the prices of commodities and services generally. A 10-hour day was imposed in some of the Rhineland industrial sections in November without a special increase in pay. While there was no outright protest there was sufficient grumbling at the time that employers were authorized to make wage adjustments. For the most part, they had to do so out of profits, however, as increases in the price of their commodities were rigidly restricted.

In instances where overtime work was permitted without extra pay the employer was not allowed to benefit from the saving, but had to turn such saving over to the government in taxes.

Further, a comprehensive census of employment possibilities was made last spring with the purpose of finding where the shortages existed. A primary purpose was to prepare for a long-time training schedule to fill these needs. Young men training for one trade or profession might abruptly be told that the ranks were overcrowded in that direction and they must train for less crowded pursuits.

SOFT SHIRRED AFTERNOON STYLE
PATTERN 4484

by Anne Adams

A lilting approach to summer festivities — this new Anne Adams frock! For Pattern 4484 is full of romantic, feminine appeal. Select a dainty, soft print or sheer for its fabric . . . and follow the Sewing Instructor's clear directions. Isn't the neckline delightfully shaped? Use ribbon bows, clips or simple shirring to gracefully hold it back at either side. Rows of shirring or darts at the sides of the front waistline are a new and arresting touch, concentrating fullness in the skirt directly below. The gathers of the short sleeves are held-in for smooth fit. Lace edging about the neck and sleeves gives a final, becoming note to this afternoon style.

Pattern 4484 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3¾ yards 39-inch fabric.

TRAPPED BABIES' PARENTS ACCUSED

Children, 22 and 9 Months Old, Overcome by Heat in Closed Truck

Parents of two little children were arrested by police officers after the babies, one 9 months, and the other 22 months old, were found overcome by heat in a closed, steel-bottomed panel truck parked in the sunshine on a Twin Falls street while temperature ranged about 97 degrees and a celebration crowd sweltered here yesterday afternoon.

The older child was unconscious, and the younger one was bathed in perspiration and on the verge of complete exhaustion when they were found late in the afternoon, officers said.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Francis of Twin Falls were arraigned before Judge C. A. Bailey in the probate court on a misdemeanor charge of assault, and hearing was set for 10 a. m. today.

In default of $500 bail, Francis was lodged overnight in the county jail. The mother was released on her own recognizance to appear at the hearing this morning and returned with the children to the family residence.

Francis said he had left the children in their mother's keeping when he came down town earlier in the day.

MILITARY ROAD PLEA REJECTED

War Department Denies Request for Designation of U. S. 93 Sector

Asserting that the U. S. 93 route between Twin Falls and Missoula, Mont., is primarily of commercial rather than military importance, war department officials have rejected Twin Falls' request for military designation of the road, according to word received by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Joe Koehler.

The unfavorable report by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war was sent here by Senator D. Worth Clark, who points out that he still holds hope for a change in the war department attitude resulting from changing future circumstances. He added that he will continue to keep in close touch with the matter.

Road Twice-Viewed

After stating that careful re-examination of the road system has been made since receipt of the requests for designation by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the city council, the war department official wrote:

"Except two comparatively short sections, from Ely to Wendover, Nev., and from Missoula to Kalispell, Mont., no route following the course of U. S. 93 from Las Vegas, Nev., to the Canadian border is included in the road in question is primarily of that system at the present time.

"The war department feels that commercial importance, and in view of the recent inclusion of U. S. 95 through Nampa, Idaho, in the strategic system, it would not be justified in adding the suggested route between Twin Falls and Missoula as a road of strategic importance.

Funds Lacking

"You know, of course, that there are no military highways in continental United States, and that the war department has no funds for road construction except on military reservations. The strategic system referred to herein consists of general routes and is primarily for the information of the public roads administration in connection with its responsibility for the administration of the federal highway project."

Weather

IDAHO: Generally fair Saturday and Sunday; warmer in north portion.

Maximum temperature here Friday 97 degrees, minimum 60; variable winds; clear. Barometer 26.12 at 5 p. m.; humidity 10 to 54 per cent of saturation.

(By The Associated Press)

A weak low pressure trough extends from central Montana into extreme southern Nevada and pressures have risen somewhat over the northwestern states.

Fair weather prevailed over most of the far west Friday, but scattered thundershowers with only small amounts of precipitation occurred in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico.

Temperatures continue high in the intermountain region, with maxima being generally 90 to 100 degrees Friday.

Impediments

After an elephant's tusks reach a certain size, they become a hindrance to him. The enormous weight often exerts such a downward pull upon his neck that he is unable to keep up with the rest of the herd, and frequently is forced to live a solitary existence.

They Win by a Whisker

Little Wood River Director Confers With Federal Officials

BOISE, July 5 (AP)—Arrangements to expedite a loan from the reconstruction finance corporation for completing the Little Wood river dam project near Carey were made today at a meeting of directors of the Little Wood river irrigation district with RFC and work projects administration officials.

"It is hoped that funds will be available in sufficient time to complete the dam this fall," said Dean W. Miller, state WPA administrator.

He added approximately $400,000 already has been expended on the dam, which is to furnish supplementary water for the district.

It is estimated an additional $200,000 will be necessary to complete the work," Miller said.

Directors of the irrigation district are O. J. McCarter, president, James Turnbull, W. D. Richards and William Aitken.

Frank Keenan and L. S. Worthington represented the RFC.

Other than Miller, WPA officials present were Joseph M. Tracy of the regional office at Denver, and Lewis Roberts, state operations director.

ACCIDENTS BRING CHAMBER ACTION

C. of C. Requests Immediate Safety Measures at U.S. 93-30 Junction

In action spurred by two recent serious crashes at the intersection of U. S. 93 and U. S. 30 near Curry, the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce yesterday went on record as calling for immediate safety measures at the junction. The action was during the regular luncheon meeting at the Rogerson hotel, which was an open meeting as part of the Magic City Jubilee program.

Following discussion which indicated that a similar hazardous point on the road near Gooding had been improved by electric warning devices, the chamber highway committee was instructed to move toward elimination of the hazard four miles west of Twin Falls.

The junction was the scene recently of two crashes, one of which injured four New York City nurses, while the other resulted in death of a Seattle physician.

The chamber approved gift of 250 Twin Falls informational folder to the Walther league of Immanuel Lutheran church. These folders will be distributed by the church before its fall convention of Idaho and Utah Walther groups.

Other business before the session included a vote of thanks to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the manner in which it conducted the Magic City Jubilee celebration, July 3 to 5, and reading of a letter from Senator D. Worth Clark informing the chamber of unfavorable action by the U. S. war department on the request for military designation of U. S. 93 between Twin Falls and Missoula, Mont.

Rites Conducted For Fire Victim

Funeral services for William T. Hall, 24, Murtaugh, who died from effects of burns, were conducted yesterday afternoon at the Twin Falls mortuary chapel. Rev. C. W. Severn, pastor of the Mennonite Brethren in Christ church, Murtaugh, and Rev. F. S. Kasey, of the Filer Mennonite Brethren in Christ church, officiating.

Music was by E. H. Ferrel and Mrs. C. W. Severn, singing "Sweeter Than The ... ll" and "Jesus Is Mine."

Pallbearers were Dell Hinman, Lester Graf, Bud Whitney and John Marshall, Murtaugh, and Lawrence Selinell and William Whitehead, Twin Falls.

Burial was in the Twin Falls cemetery.

SHOSHONE

Farewell Party—The senior Baptist Young People gave a farewell party at the William Floyd home Thursday evening last week in honor of Mrs. R. S. Withrow.

Baptist Mission Aid—Mrs. E. C. Hahn was elected president of the Baptist Mission Aid society at the meeting Wednesday. Mrs. W. M. Floyd, vice-president; Mrs. Everett Fields, secretary, and Mrs. E. G. Driskell, treasurer.

Files Papers—Charles V. Pethick filed papers Friday as a candidate for precinct committeeman from precinct No. 1, Shoshone, on the Republican ticket.

Local Red Cross Asks Support

"SUFFER LITTLE CHILDREN" was never truer than during the present European conflict when towns and cities and their civilian populations are often military "objectives." As throughout the nation, the local Red Cross is aiding in raising the war relief fund, and contributions to assist refugees are being received at the booth of the Perrine hotel. Mrs. Faye Kopke, enrolled Red Cross nurse and district health unit members, appears here with a representative drive poster. (News Photo and Engraving).

IDAHO, WYOMING GOVERNORS SPEAK

Executives Present Two-State Monument on Old Oregon Trail

MONTPELIER, Idaho, July 5 (AP)—Governors C. A. Bottolfsen of Idaho and Nels T. Smith of Wyoming today dedicated a monument in the scenic Thomas Fork valley to mark 50 years of statehood for both commonwealths.

Each governor spoke in presenting a part of a two-state monument on the Old Oregon Trail. Acceptances were made for Idaho by Mrs. M. B. Nash, state historian, and for Wyoming by Warren Richardson, chairman of the Wyoming landmark commission.

"We westerners," Governor Bottolfsen said, "are great people for getting together, and I think that a joint birthday party after our national birthday celebration is a splendid arrangement."

"These imaginary state boundaries don't amount to much," Governor Smith declared. "Happy are we together here in true western fellowship to honor pioneers and observe our fiftieth anniversaries."

The Montpelier and Cokeville chambers of commerce sponsored the border ceremony.

Representing the Idaho Fifty Years of Statehood committee were Governor Bottolfsen, James F. Ailshie, Idaho chief justice; Secretary of State George H. Curtis; Mrs. Nash, and John W. Condie, Idaho superintendent of public instruction.

CONTINUED AID RED CROSS PLEA

National Drive Near Goal, But Local Campaign Still Short

Although encouraging information upon the national Red Cross war relief fund drive was received yesterday by Mrs. Arthur J. Peavey, Twin Falls county chairman, the local campaign is still far short of its $3,000 goal.

Drive Chairman Joe Koehler said last night that about $1,250 has been raised to date, and that the final check-up will open this week-end.

From A. L. Schafer, Pacific branch manager of the Red Cross, came word that the war relief fund now stands at $16,952,101, leaving $3,047,-899.

"Every chapter in the Pacific area has been exerting tremendous effort to bring the campaign to an early completion. It has been a long-drawn out task, with frequent hurdles," according to the letter, which also pointed out that the only supplies that the American Red Cross now has in France are those purchased by our own representatives for immediate emergency use. The million dollar cargo of the "mercy ship," McKeesport, being unloaded in Spain is to be used only in unoccupied France.

Distribution in any German-occupied territory will be undertaken only upon receipt of satisfactory guarantees that supplies will be used exclusively for needy and civilian populations, supplies will not be requisitioned by the military authorities and that distribution will be under direct supervision of American Red Cross representatives. No relief has or would be given to the German Red Cross, which is handling its own problems.

The official also pointed out that the American Red Cross has had no request from the Italian Red Cross for assistance and that it has extended no relief in Italy. No part of the proceeds of the present American Red Cross $20,000,000 European war relief fund would be used for Italian relief. Should designated contributions be tendered the American Red Cross for use in Italy, he added, each case will be considered by the national headquarters in the light of circumstances at the time.

STUFFED BACON SLICES

12 slices bacon
1 cup soft bread crumbs
½ cup melted butter
1 cup milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
Salt and pepper.

Make a bread dressing. Place 1 heaping teaspoon on one end of slice of bacon. Roll the bacon slice around the dressing and fasten with a toothpick or small skewer. Place on a cool broiler rack about 5 inches from the flame. Set the oven regulator for a moderate oven. Turn frequently. When the bacon becomes a light brown and evenly crisped, remove to a hot platter and serve garnished with watercress.
