German Bombers Blast at England, Scotland, Wales

II Raiders Reported Shot Down, Two British Planes Missing; Selsie Recognized

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, July 13 (Saturday).—German bombers carried their blasting attack on Great Britain into southwest England and Wales last night after striking deadly blows yesterday at Hardy, industrial Scotland.

The ministry of home security reported early today that Nazi aircraft dropped bombs last night "on places in southwest England and in Wales."

Little damage was caused and casualties are believed to have been slight.

Planes believed to have been German who were reported over northeast England.

The Germans yesterday snarled again, as they have done, day after day, at British shipping on the east and south coasts.

Eight long raids on Scotland went on into the night, the Germans, it was reported, dropping high explosive incendiary bombs in southeast and southwest Scotland and incendiary bombs in northeast Scotland. No indication of casualties or damage was given in the reports.

The most severe blows were aimed in northeast Scotland, where at least 10 persons were reported killed. This attack, which may have been directed from German bases in Denmark, Norway, or even from weeks British airmen have been pounding methodically.

Last night several of the raiders were reported officially to have been shot down. Two British planes were missing.

Reigning Raids
An air ministry communiqué today summarized the destruction of these Nazi craft, and illustrated how far they had ranged over British territory.

Shoshone Court Room Scene of Grim Reunion

NEARLY AS GRIM as the reunion of July 21, when they allegedly gathered to take Charles Sanders, 46, Yale, Idaho, out into the desert north of Butte to die, was yesterday's meeting of these four young people who have been confined in separate jails up to this time. This group during the preliminary hearing in the district court room at Shoshone are: (left to right) Mrs. Flore Phillips, Charles Phillips, his brother, George Sanders, and Joe Sanders. A portion of the spectators who jammed the court room may be seen in the background. (News Photo and Engraving.)

LIFE AND DEATH IN COURT SCENE

Shoshone Murder Hearing Interrupted by Report of Birth

BY JOHN BROSAN
SHOSHONE, July 12.—Forces of life and death appeared in sharp relief against the background of the Shoshone county court house today when a murder preliminary hearing proceeded for four minutes before being interrupted by the birth of a baby to the wife of the prosecutor.

The youthful quartet composed of three children and one son-in-law of the slain man, the defendant, 44-year-old Yale, Idaho, dry farmer, had heard the prosecutor's first witness, Deputy Sheriff George Bray, tell of how they had left Sanders bound on the desert to die. At this juncture the stock slowed the wheels of justice momentarily and the case was continued until 2 p. m. Saturday, following an urgent call from the hospital.

At 2:30 p. m. Saturday, following an urgent call from the hospital, the case was resumed. The father of a seven-pound boy.

Together for the first time since they were taken to separate county jails last July 2, the defendants, Joseph, son, and George, 16, sons of the murdered man and his sister, Mrs. Marie Phillips, 18, with her husband, Charles Phillips, 22, heard reading of the complaint by Probate Judge Howard E. Adkins. Charged with first-degree murder, proceedings were conducted in the district court room which was crowded to overflowing by spectators who filled all available seats, perched on the floor and lined the walls.

Only outward indications of emotion were seen when, during a brief recess, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips clasped one another's hands; while a relative of one of the defendants was taken sobbing from the court room at one juncture of the hearing.

With Attorney Paul B. Haddock of St. Albans, Vermont, for the four defendants, the case was continued until 2 p. m. Saturday.

President and Stimpson Decide On Training For 50,000 Men If Congress Approves

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 12.—A decision to call about 50,000 national guardsmen to camps as soon as possible for perhaps a year's intensive training was reached today by President Roosevelt and his new secretary of war, Henry L. Stimson.

The decision is contingent upon approval by congress which would have to authorize the unprecedented peacetime step. The authority will be asked when congress reconvenes after the Democratic national convention.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, announced the decision and said that four divisions, seven anti-aircraft regiments, and an undetermined number of harbor defense regiments would be called.

Division Chosen
One division, he said, will come from New York and New Jersey, a second from Tennessee and the Carolinas, a third from New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arizona, and Colorado, and the fourth from Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho.

Once their training is completed, he said, consideration will be given to the question of extending the training to other units.

The training will be designed to familiarize the guardsmen with modern weapons and military procedure, and to give them experience in training the thousands of conscripts who will be called to service if congress enacts a compulsory military training law.

Recalling First Step
The decision announced by President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Stimson is a first step in the new national defense program.

The strength is made up of peacetime regiments of cavalry and engineers, one squadron of field artillery, one company of infantry and one non-combatant ordnance company.

The one unit is from the 41st division, the cavalry is the 11th regiment of the 5th cavalry, the field artillery is from the 11th field artillery, and the engineers are the 11th, as the remainder unit.

Warfare strength would mean 100 men in each unit with an average of only 65 in each at present.

At present, the guard is scheduled to leave August 4 for 21 days of special maneuvers in western Washington.

The artillery unit is equipped with nine 75-millimeter guns and anti-aircraft guns. It is in command of a change-over to a full regiment of 100 men.

Two armored wood cars and one truck are in command of the cavalry unit. It is in command of a change-over to a full regiment of 100 men.

The engineers, equipped with trucks, are commanded by Colonel Frederick L. Russell of the 11th field artillery. They are in command of a change-over to a full regiment of 100 men.

The infantry headquarters company is at Blackfoot and the ordnance company is at Pocatello. Artillerymen are concentrated at Boise, and the engineers are at Pocatello. A medical detachment is at Boise.

HUNGER BLOCKADE TERMED SUCCESS

Only Hitler and Associates Know Zero Hour for British Attack

BERLIN, July 12 (AP)—Spectacular success for the starvation blockade against Britain was claimed and officially emphasized today, when German sources remarked that only Hitler and his associates knew the exact hour when and how—or whether—a full-out military assault on the island would be made.

This significant and unannounced declaration was made under circumstances equally significant. It was the second successive day in which the communiqué of the high command was issued in connection with the progress of the economic warfare substantially to the exclusion of the military side.

It has been three weeks now since France was knocked out, and there has been no sign of a major attack on Britain's kingdom.

Farley, Wheeler Pledged To Convention's Nominee

Impression Prevalent Among Delegates Arriving at Chicago That Roosevelt Will Accept

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 12.—Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National committee, long a foe of the third term movement, made it plain today that if next week's national convention renominates President Roosevelt, he will go along with the party's choice.

In the course of a press conference hastily devoted to groups and laughter, Farley dropped suddenly into a mood of intense seriousness when asked whether, if the chief executive runs again, he would emulate the 1928 example of Alfred E. Smith and "take a walk."

"Everybody who knows anything about me," he slowly answered, "knows that Jim Farley is a Democrat."

This harmony move was reinforced, too, by a statement from Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, himself a candidate, upon whom much third party discussion has centered, that he would support the convention's nominee.

These developments occurred during a day which saw every incoming train loaded with delegates and convention goers, most of them convinced that Mr. Roosevelt will accept the nomination. Many speculate upon the meaning of the president's statement today that he would not come to Chicago during the convention.

It was recalled that Mr. Roosevelt appeared in person before the 1928 and 1932 conventions to accept the nomination. But the inference continued on Page 5, Column 4.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Domestic political and European uncertainties continued to weigh on the market. Speculative movements in today's stock market and leading issues reflected this uncertainty.

Scattered issues emerged to emerge with moderate gains, but these were overshadowed by declines in the foreign picture.

The Associated Press, average of 60 issues, was off 1 point at 41.1. In the four preceding sessions the average had risen to 41.2. Transfers of 255,000 shares were the second smallest for the week to date and compared with 223,000 yesterday. Of 574 individual stocks changing hands, 201 were down, 100 up and 173 unchanged.

As in the past several days, blame for today's lackluster performance was laid mainly on the fluctuation of speculative sentiment. To keep decks reasonably clear pending next week's Democratic convention outcome and clarification of the foreign picture.

Truncations in boardrooms included: motor car production this week dipped under the corresponding 1939 period for the first time this year; residential construction was keeping in an exceptionally slow pace; Democratic convention housing administration mortgage applications; retail sales distribution was down a year ago, and steel mill output; production of commodities uneven.

The Associated Press, average of 60 issues, was off 1 point at 41.1. In the four preceding sessions the average had risen to 41.2. Transfers of 255,000 shares were the second smallest for the week to date and compared with 223,000 yesterday. Of 574 individual stocks changing hands, 201 were down, 100 up and 173 unchanged.

As in the past several days, blame for today's lackluster performance was laid mainly on the fluctuation of speculative sentiment. To keep decks reasonably clear pending next week's Democratic convention outcome and clarification of the foreign picture.

Truncations in boardrooms included: motor car production this week dipped under the corresponding 1939 period for the first time this year; residential construction was keeping in an exceptionally slow pace; Democratic convention housing administration mortgage applications; retail sales distribution was down a year ago, and steel mill output; production of commodities uneven.
